The Canadian Peace Alliance (CPA) is Canada's largest umbrella peace organization. CPA member groups range from grassroots community groups to major pan-Canadian organizations. Our goals include redirecting funds from military spending to human needs; working toward global nuclear disarmament; making Canada a consistent leader for world peace; strengthening world institutions for the peaceful resolution of conflict; and protecting the rights of all people to work for peace, social & economic justice. To this end, we organize cross-Canada campaigns and actions; lobby government representatives, facilitate the development of strategies for the Canadian peace movement, and produce and distribute education and action materials.
