Sky News on TV

Sky News is available to around 145 million people in Europe alone, plus viewers across Africa, the Middle East and Asia. The channel is now also available to stream via the Internet to viewers in the European Union and USA. To find out how you can see Sky News wherever you are, go to skynewsinternational.com/watch for our full list of operators and more details.

Europe

You can receive Sky News in the United Kingdom and Republic of Ireland through Sky digital channel 501, or speak to your local cable operator about availability. Sky News is also available in the UK on Freeview channel 82.

Sky News is available across Continental Europe on a free-to-air basis on the Astra 1 satellite, and also through main cable, IPTV and satellite operators, including:

- CanalSat, Free, Orange TV, Numericable, Neuf Cegetel, Alice (France)
- Kabel Deutschland, Unitymedia, Alice (Germany)
- Canal Digital, Com Hem, GET (Scandinavia)
- Digital+ (Spain)*
- Sky Italia (Italy)
- UPC, @Home, Canal Digitaal (Netherlands)
- UPC Direct (Central and Eastern Europe)
- Cyfra+ (Poland)*

A full list is available at skynewsinternational.com/watch, or check with your local operator for tuning and package details. If you have a DTH satellite system that receives channels from Astra 1 (19.2° East) you will be able to receive Sky News on Transponder 26, 11.597MHz, vertical polarity.

Customers in the European Union can also watch Sky News live online through our partners. Further details are at skynewsinternational.com/live. In the UK and Ireland Sky subscribers can watch Sky News live via Sky Player at sky.com/player.

Middle East

We are available in Israel through Yes (yestv.co.il) and HOT Cable (hot.net.il), and on a pan-regional basis through ART's range of packages (artonline.tv or starselect.com) available via satellite.

Existing Showtime and ART customers can receive Sky News simply by subscribing to the ART, Pehla or Firstnet package.

Africa

Sky News is available on the DStv platform in South Africa – dstv.com and across the African continent – dstvafrica.com.

Other operators which carry the channel include:

- GTV (gtv.tv) in sub-saharan Africa
- HiTV (hitv.com.ng) in Nigeria

Asia

For more information on Sky News distribution and availability across Asia, please visit the website of STAR – startv.com – and select your country for more information and local distributor information.

Australia and New Zealand

Please visit the website of Sky News Australia – go to skynews.com.au

United States of America

Sky News is available live online through our partners. Further details are at skynewsinternational.com/live

Sky News Radio

From March 2009 Sky News Radio will supply agency news to all UK commercial radio stations with over 30 million listeners, taking a mixture of a live radio news bulletin directly from the Sky News Centre and a 'rip and read' service of scripts and audio. All can be accessed via a normal radio and some via DAB.

Sky News in Film and Series

In past years, Sky News has selectively taken part in television and film product placement. From the opening episode of Life on Mars to Mission Impossible and Hustle to Independence Day and The Day After Tomorrow, Sky News can provide leading correspondents to record news sequences, or supply footage for dramas. In recent years, Jeremy Thompson has reported on the emergence of zombies in the hit comedy Shaun of the Dead, appeared in Paul Greengrass's The Bourne Ultimatum, part of the critically acclaimed Bourne series and will soon appear alongside Sky News' Kay Burley in Incendary. Kay Burley and Adam Boulton worked on the popular spy thriller Spooks.
