GENERAL H. D. G. CRERAR, C.H., C.B., D.S.O.

I have been asked to write a foreword to the Album of Honor, which is being published by the Kinsmen Club of Brantford to commemorate those of that locality who served in the Armed Forces of Canada during the Great War 1939-45.

Some six thousand men and women of the County of Brant and City of Brantford were included in this gallant company. Nearly three hundred of these gave their lives, in fulfilling their high responsibilities. These factual figures are more eloquent than any words of mine could possibly be. This Album will ensure that the proud record of these Canadians will not be forgotten.

Album of Honor

for

Brant County

Introduction

During the Second Great War some 6,000 of Brant County's population of upwards of 57,000 enlisted in the armed forces. Six thousand men and women — a formidable force in themselves — donned the King's uniform and followed their assigned paths of duty. A relative few were destined to go no farther than Ontario training centres. Others were posted to more remote places in Canada — to eastern Debert or to far western Nanaimo. More embarked on the great troop transports and were carried to the preparatory fields of Great Britain, before proceeding to the battlegrounds of distant Africa, Sicily, Italy and Europe. Still others, particularly those who wore the blue of the Royal Canadian Navy, sailed the high seas half across the world. They fought and many of them died, following their hazardous courses through the ice-ridden ocean that tops our land, or over the grim Atlantic, or into the waters of the tropics. And while the majority of the men in the grey-blue of the Royal Canadian Air Force trained in Canada and Britain and went on missions in the skies over Europe, not a few found themselves in countries until then no more than exotic names in their geography books.

And so it was that even the youngest school child here grew familiar with names such as Burma, Rangoon, Singapore, Hong Kong, Reykjavik, the Po, Monte Cassino, Normandy, Bergen op Zoom, Nijmegen, Hochwald, and the rest — wherever their fathers or brothers or other relatives and friends were serving. Indeed, the places Brant County men and women reached in waging the good fight were so varied and at such distant points that, if a list were compiled, it would resemble a Baedeker guide-book.

A glance at the photographs in this Album of Honor will show that it was the youth of our County, the young in heart and years and physical fitness, between the ages of 18 and 50, who made up this great force. They went from the classrooms, the factories, the farms, the offices and the shops. They were our young professional men — doctors, lawyers, teachers, engineers, chemists. They were our store clerks, mechanics, carpenters, bookkeepers, reporters, photographers and schoolboys. Some were still students. Still others, having left school during depression years, had not been fortunate enough to secure permanent positions. Some were leaving behind their first jobs, their new marriages, their infant children. But all possessed a singleness of purpose. Once they lost their civilian tags in the common denominator of a uniform, their aim was the same — "to finish the job". It would be superfluous to say that the photographs and names in this Album of Honor represent the best of our youth. A glance at the pictures shows that. But we who remained at home can appreciate, remember and honor the valor they displayed after they were transplanted from our community.

We shall remember our Navy and our dauntless sailors who served on waters infested by enemy submarines and surface craft of war, all carrying their deadly freight. There was such little fanfare accompanying the Navy's job — sometimes all the more deadly because of the monotony and the necessarily cramped quarters — that we give those who went down to the sea in ships a special place in our hearts and our limitless gratitude.

We shall remember our forces who fought at Dieppe and the essential service they rendered. We shall remember that hot July 10, 1943, when the invasion of Sicily began, precursor to the battles in Italy from Reggio to the Po. We shall remember the lonely heart-breaking years our men spent training in England preparatory to June 6, 1944, and all the grim days that followed invasion of Normandy. We shall remember Beny-sur-Mer, where so many were laid to rest in consequence of the bloody struggle that preceded Caen and Falaise. It was our youth who fought through Italy, France, Belgium, Holland and into the depths of the enemy country until the foe surrendered, and it is hoped that this Album of Honor will serve to keep alive the recollection of their glorious deeds.

And finally, there are those who were numbered with the Royal Canadian Air Force, a mighty factor both in the averting of defeat and in the winning of victory. We shall remember, as a glowing and radiant light that shone in the dark pre-invasion days, the bravery of our airmen who flew above the enemy's flak-filled skies. Then it seemed almost suicidal to be among those gallant crews who blazed the trail to the final and mighty battles that were to end the war.

Let us also not forget the sturdy ground-crew personnel, who besides devotion to duty were possessed of the knowledge and skill to "keep them flying".

We have still one more group to which to pay tribute in our remembrance: the nursing sisters, whose skilful and sympathetic ministrations were so indispensable, the Wrens, the Cwacs, the R.C.A.F. W.D.'s, who shouldered the heavy, unglamorous and routine tasks that men might be spared for sterner duties. They did the humdrum willingly and well, and their recompense came with the successful conclusion of the war.

In this Album of Honor we have a special section devoted to our war dead, who were not here to break ranks when the peacetime "dismiss" came. It seems fitting to print what one, destined to join their immortal company, wrote on the eve of D-Day. It sums up what must have been in many hearts that night, and its high courage, like a banner that will long flutter in our minds, reminds us that

*"We who remain can never call them back
This side of memory to pay our debt.
It is our urgent duty not to lack
The qualities they gave, nor to forget."*

This, then, is the excerpt:

". . . . I find myself staring into space wondering what I can write about, what I can say to you at home. Much will have happened by the time you receive this. The radio and newspapers will burst forth with news of all the latest events . . . But the radio or the newspapers can not convey to you the thoughts I have at this time. . . .

"You and I have heard of many chaps who, under circumstances such as this, write touching letters to be forwarded to their loved ones — 'just in case'. I must admit that I thought of it myself, but decided against it.

"As you know, I am a very practical person. I am also a bit of a fatalist, feeling sure that what is to be will be, that whatever happens it always happens for some good reason, although we may not realize it _____

"Great things are in store for me — for us. I will speak only of myself, but what applies to me applies also to thousands like me. I am a part, however small, of a great force which, in the months to come, will bring the war in Europe to a victorious conclusion.

"It will be hard. Yes, I realize that, and am ready. .. You may wonder if I am afraid. I have wondered about that myself, and have decided that if I do feel any fear it must be over-run by other emotions, such as curiosity, the will to fight and win, and many others which I am finding awfully hard to put into words.

"Of this I am sure: I am not afraid of Death. I believe sincerely in a Hereafter, and I have no regrets for the life I have led on this earth. I have had more than my share of joy and happiness. . . .

"Now I am wondering what your thoughts are after having read my letter thus far. Have I been too outspoken? I don't think so, for I have only spoken OUR thoughts.

"It's like this: We have a job to do. We'll do that job, and we'll look after ourselves while doing it. I know it won't be easy for you folk back Home, but we do ask you to keep smiling and not to worry. Just carry on as usual, for us. 'Monty' himself says we can beat Germany in six months. Think of that! Just six months — if all goes well. Of the Canucks. 'Monty' is quoted as having said that 'the only thing the Canadians will stop for is to read their mail.' He can say that again!

". . . . And now there doesn't seem to be much left for me to say. Once again I ask you — all of you — not to worry too much, to keep the Home fires burning, and, with all us lads over here, look forward and hope and pray for that glorious day when we'll all be together once again. . . ."

It was written June 3, 1944, by L/Sgt. Walter Roy Dowden, fourth son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Dowden, 5 Dover Avenue, who was killed in action six days later.

We shall not forget them nor those who fought and labored at their side. The publication of this Album of Honor reflects the conviction and the faith that the Freedom so dearly bought by so many lives and so much effort will be treasured and nurtured in the hearts of all for whom it has been preserved.

From the President of the Kinsmen Club

H. F. Norman, President

In the year 1920 a few returned servicemen, looking for the comradeship of the war years, began meeting in Hamilton and so evolved the first Kinsmen Club. Its membership, they decided, should comprise young business and professional men between the ages of 21 and 40. Organized for fellowship and service, their watchword was, "The Community's Greater Need."

From this humble beginning the Kin Clubs have emerged as Canada's national service organization, with, at present, 175 clubs and 8,500 members. Brantford's Kinsmen Club was chartered in 1940 and is the youngest of the local clubs of this type. But though numerically small it has become well known as an energetic unit.

The Association of Kinsmen Clubs raised $4,000,000 for the Milk for Britain Fund in two and a half years — the greatest single effort by any such group in the British Empire. Brantford also made excellent contribution to this cause, thanks to the generosity of her citizens.

After the war, the local Kinsmen Club welcomed back its veteran members and almost immediately became concerned with the problem of cancer. The Club's President, as Chairman of the 1946 Brant County Cancer Drive, was able to report that this Telephone City was the largest contributor, per capita, in the nation-wide campaign, the sum of $31,000 being raised here.

Brant County has always been one of the most loyal and patriotic communities in Canada, and one is greatly impressed by the long association of Brant County families with the proud record of this Dominion and Commonwealth in the periodic defense of freedom. As in the First Great War, so in the Second, thousands of her citizens joined the colors.

In pondering what suitable tribute might be paid to these gallant men and women, it occurred to me that the ordinary form of recognition or memorial, while impressive, lacks the personal touch of something treasured within the home. With this thought there came to me the idea of a plan by which everyone so desiring might possess an appropriate reminder of the service and sacrifice of Brantford and Brant County men and women, and have it as his or her individual property.

This record of recognition was to be in the form of an Album of photographs, including, to the greatest extent possible, the likenesses of those from Brant who donned the King's uniform.

When the idea came first, it was limited as to scope, but by progressive planning and development it grew into the Brant County Album of Honor, a work of such detail as to be truly outstanding among service club projects.

Having conceived the idea of the Album, and realizing that it was not a work for an individual, I placed it before the Kinsmen Club. For a unit so small as to numbers and so young as to years, it was a tremendous undertaking, but the prospective benefits to the community were so evident that there was no hesitancy on the part of the members and the task was soon under way.

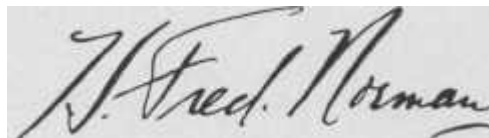

The official start was made on August 27, 1945, and we are grateful indeed for the manner in which the merchants and the public assisted us. With their support and the counsel of good friends and the inspiration of the goal we had set ourselves, we carried on to this successful conclusion of our endeavor.

As one turns the pages of this volume one is impelled to reflect, not only on the tragedy of those who sacrificed their lives, but upon the enduring glory of their accomplishment, and also upon the great debt we owe to those who offered their time, their health and, if need be, life itself that our way of life might be preserved. Should the call come again, there would be loyal response thereto, but it is the earnest hope and prayer of us all that, through the guidance of wise world statesmanship, a repetition of such sacrifice may never again be required.

I sincerely hope that my humble contribution, dedicated to those commemorated within these pages, will bring its reward to myself and the members of the Kinsmen Club in the service we may thus have rendered to this community.

Acknowledgments

It was due in no small measure to the kindness of friends that material was gathered for The Album of Honor. The manner in which the citizens assisted whenever asked for help was a fine example of community friendliness and also demonstrated how grateful Brant County residents are for the task so well done by our service personnel.

Special thanks are due to the late Mr. W. B. Preston for making available the war files of The Brantford Expositor and for his kindly encouragement and assistance in the original planning of the volume. The work of the following was invaluable in connection with the collecting of pictures in the areas in which they live: Mrs. Howard Disher, Burford; Mrs. J. R. Rousell, Cainsville; Mrs. W. H. Mowat, Echo Place; Mr. C. W. Wetmore, Mount Pleasant; Mrs. H. W. Richards, Paris; Mr. D. Robinson, St. George; Mr. Hilton M. Hill, of the Six Nations Reservations and Miss Mary Henderson, of the Indian Office Staff.

Acknowledgment is also made of the assistance of the churches, schools, local firms and organizations in providing copies of their honor rolls; of the Y.M.C.A. for material assistance; Mr. Ray H. Mann, President, and Mr. Neil Prior, Secretary of the Brantford branch of the Canadian Legion; of Col. R. Y. Cory, O.B.E., V.D., and Major George Reives, of No. 20, C.I.B.T.C.; of F/L H. Halpin, of No. 4, R.E.M.U.; of A/Comm. C. S. Glassco, of H.M.C.S. Star, Hamilton; of Mr. W. Ross Macdonald, K.C., M.P.; of Messrs. J. P. Ryan, John Ross, R. L. Beckett, H. J. Vallentyne, and P. A. Shultis and the editorial and reportorial staffs of The Expositor for their unfailing courtesy and help when called upon for assistance.

The Album of Honor also appreciates the skill of the Brantford photographers who re-photographed the pictures submitted, particularly Mr. F. R. Brown, of Meyers Studios, Mr. George Free, of Free's Photo Studio, Mr. F. W. Weekes, of Connaught Studios and Mr. D. L. Brontmier, Paris. It is grateful to them and to Mr. H. E. Porter for making many pictures available.

Particularly is the Album of Honor appreciative of The T. Eaton Company for providing free of charge, office space for the work in connection with the compilation of the volume.

HON.-MAJ. JOHN W. FOOTE, V.C.

Introduction to Casualties

It is with a deep sense of privilege that I write this Foreword to the Casualty Section of this Book of Remembrance.

Clearly it is impossible for anyone to express adequately our sense of obligation and gratitude to those whose names appear here.

Nevertheless it is necessary — and it is good — that we attempt to record our appreciation and acknowledge our tremendous debt to these men.

True all that they fought and died for has not materialized completely — nor will it in one generation. The battle is by no means finished and in this fact lies the opportunity for succeeding generations.

The record of sacrifice contained in these pages should provide a mighty challenge to young Canadians — a challenge to live and work with vision, energy and purpose.

Others have sacrificed and died that you might live and that living you may do your utmost to create the civilization they envisaged.

It is with the hope that many lives will be offered to this end, that I dedicate this Roll of Honor, in sincere appreciation of those whose sacrifice has taught us how to give.

With the deepest gratitude, we silently and reverently, pay humble tribute to those who went forward from our midst to serve in the hour of their country's need, and paid the supreme sacrifice to preserve the life and liberty we love and know.

On behalf of the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the Township of Brantford.

TOGETHER WE SERVED

THE COCKSHUTT HONOUR ROLL AT THE COMPANY'S HEAD OFFICE

In association with the citizens of Brantford and Brant County we salute the men and women of this city and vicinity who served the cause of freedom in World War II. Among them were many hundreds of our own employees who chose the more dangerous paths of duty and whose presence in the Armed Forces gave added incentive to the Company's production of the implements of war. Their service and sacrifice high lighted a common contribution to the achievement of final victory.

Among them also were many who sealed their service with their lives. Their names occupy the place of honour on the Company's Roll of Service and in the memory of their associates. They will be missed in the years ahead but the remembrance of their sacrifice will constitute our inspiration to strive for the attainment of a better world. The contribution we may make in this direction will be the measure of our recognition of the debt of gratitude we owe them.

In the Fight For Freedom

Residents of Brantford, birthplace of the telephone, may reasonably take special pride in the great contribution which the telephone and its allied communication accessories made in assuring victory over the enemies of human liberty.

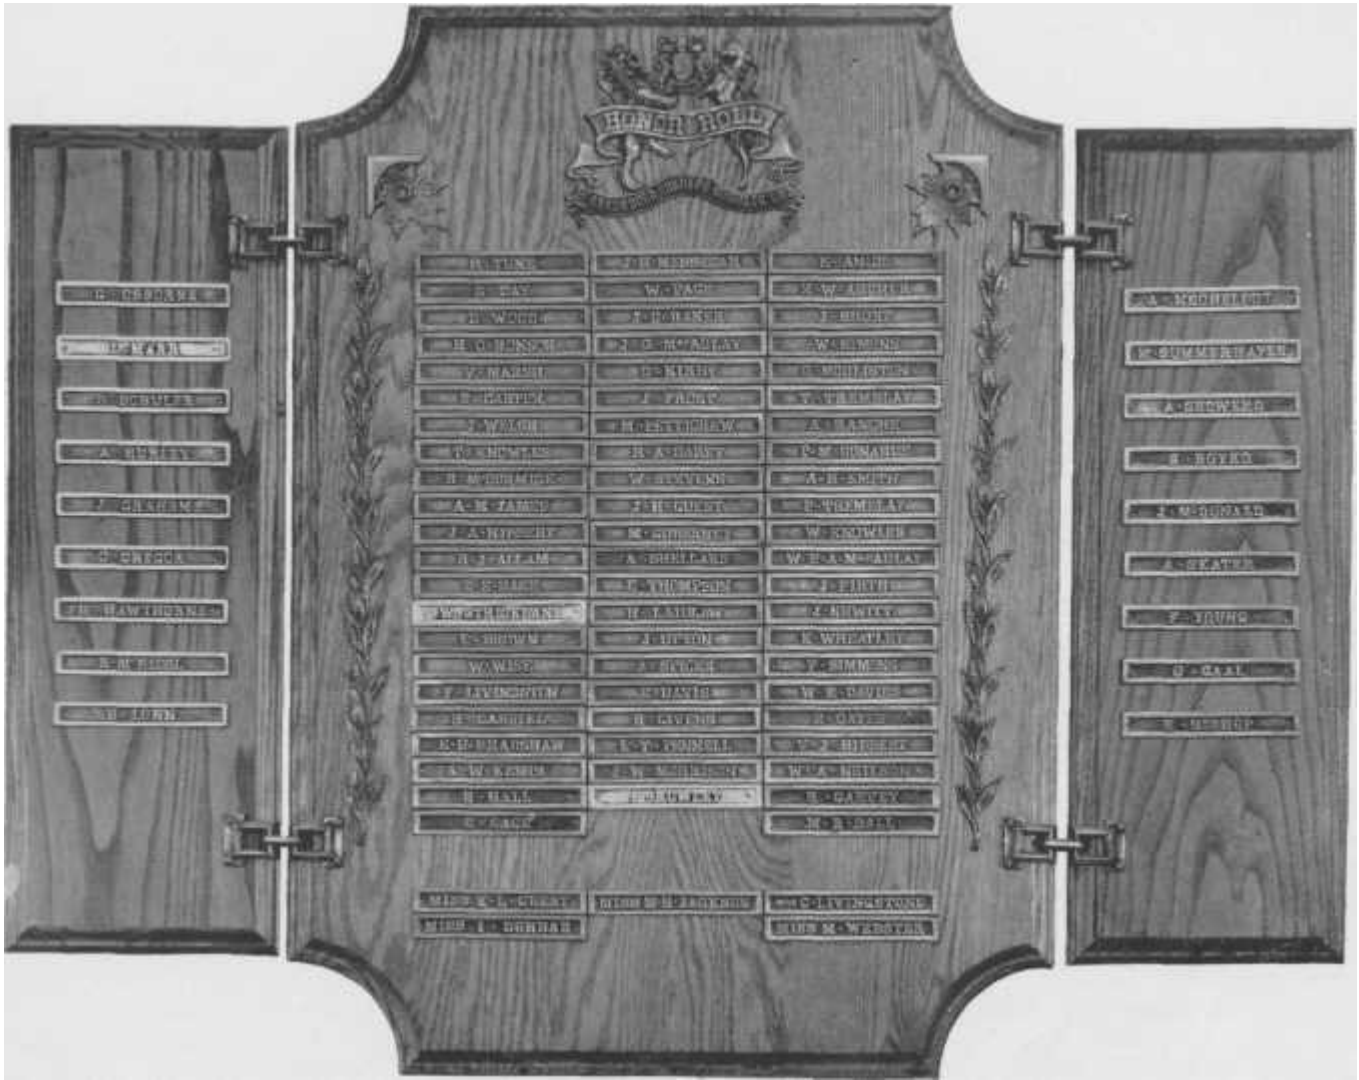

In the fast-moving conflict on land and sea, and in the air, word-of-mouth communication played a part vastly more vital than ever before. On the home front the battle of production was speeded up to an unprecedented degree by the telephone. It is surely an arresting thought that Alexander Graham Bell's invention — immeasurably expanded and improved by telephone scientists — was able to render such signal service in the fight for freedom.
