“Occupation is violence”

(World Council of Churches Press Release, 6th August 2001)

“Some believe that at this stage activities with Israelis must halt unless those activities are aimed at ending the occupation”

Settlement Products are listed first (The list that follows is a work-in-progress)

In 1950 the Israeli Government proclaimed the Right of Return Law which means that any Jewish person anywhere in the world may go and live in Israel and become an Israeli citizen. Thousands flocked to illegal settlements on the West Bank, Gaza, East Jerusalem and the Golan Heights, tempted by offers of tax breaks and cheap housing, or fired by fundamentalist zeal. Armed to the teeth and protected by the Israeli 'Defense' Force, many settlers choose to live in Jerusalem or Tel Aviv and commute daily along the highways constructed specially for their use on large swathes of confiscated Palestinian land.

"Israel continues to export products manufactured in the settlements to EU markets despite such actions blatantly contravening the EU-Israel Association Agreement. Such products labelled as as Israeli receive preferential access to the EU. By refusing to take action therefore, EU states are actually abetting violations of the Fourth Geneva Convention.

"Settlement products are easily available for purchase in the UK. For example CAABU discovered that Selfridges, the major department store in London, sells products made in illegal settlements."

(Focus Vol 7 No.4. Journal of Council for the Advancement of Arab-British Understanding)

PLEASE CONTACT YOUR MEP AS WELL AS YOUR MP ABOUT THIS

Agricultural products (vegetables, fruit and flowers), constitute a major part of settlement production. When mixed with products made inside Israel, or re-labelled, their exact origin is impossible to determine. In any event, the Palestinians are oppressed by the State of Israel as a whole - therefore we need to boycott all Israeli produce and not just goods from the settlements. However, we do welcome your support even if you can only see your way to boycotting produce which you definitely know is from the settlements.

The list below is for your guidance.

The following list is not comprehensive: it has been assembled from lots of other lists which themselves can never be absolutely up-to-date. However the items and companies listed form a basis for choosing where to focus our attention.

You are invited to do your own research and send details of products, importers, or retailers etc. for inclusion.

If you are organising picketing or other actions please write to the store or company asking them for their current buying policy and giving them notice that you intend to picket their premises. The Zionist lobby have a reputation for obnoxious behaviour which we do not want to mirror.

[This is the subject of a special study by PSC exec member, Neil Sammonds, and actions will be designed to focus on the findings of that group, for example the Docklands arms fair.]

Since the General Armistice Agreements were signed in 1949, Israel has maintained an aggressive policy of military attacks across the Armistice Demarcation Lines, repeatedly invading territories of neighbouring Arab States. Israel has constantly harassed UN observers and other personnel stationed along the Armistice Demarcation Lines: it assassinated the first UN Mediator and his military aide; it has detained some truce observers; it has militarily occupied and illegally searched the HQ of UN personnel; and it has boycotted meetings of the Mixed Armistice Commissions.

Israel is the only country in the Middle East that has nuclear weapons, the only country in the ME that refuses to sign the nuclear non-proliferation treaty and bars international inspections from its sites.

Under Article 2 of the Euro-Israel Association Agreement (which calls for respect for human rights), the European Union has the right to invoke sanctions to protect Palestinians from violence.

Enquiries referred on to their PR firm PR Revolver: 020 7251 5599

Background: New Yorkers for a Just Middle East Peace (NYJMEP) wrote to Perry Odak, former Ben and Jerry CEO about an article published in the June 8, 1998 edition of the Hebrew newspaper Ha'aretz. According to the article, "the Ben and Jerry's ice cream company yesterday [i.e. June 7, 1998] concluded an agreement with the Mei Eden [Eden Springs] mineral water company, to use only Mei Eden in its sorbet products."

Their concern was based upon the fact that the Eden Springs company is located in Katzrin in the Golan Heights. "The fact that the agreement is apparently with a major spring water company adds insult to injury: Israel is notorious for its expropriation of water resources, including from the Golan Heights, at the expense of the occupied Arab population."

The NYJMEP letter can be viewed in full at a website thoughtfully provided by a pro-Israeli "Veto the Boycott" group at www.yerushalayim.net/organizations/veto/bj.htm.
<<http://www.yerushalayim.net>>

Perry Odak has since resigned and B&J have sold most of their shares to Unilever. Ben & Jerry still try to maintain their reputation for ethical trading. But gestures such as giving money to the Mumia Campaign are history. The Israeli licensee ended up cancelling its contract with the water company. But we have written to Ben and Jerry to invite them to provide us with up-to-date information about their supplies. Their email address is: webmaster@benjerry.com
<<mailto:webmaster@benjerry.com>>

Israel allots 85% of the water resources in the occupied territories for Jews and the remaining 15% is divided among all Palestinians in the territories. In Hebron 85% of the water is given to about 500 settlers, while 15% must be divided among Hebron's 120,000 Palestinians.

Ben and Jerry have not answered our recent request for up-to-date information about where the water comes from for their sorbets.

In August 99, BK cancelled the right of Rikamor Ltd, its independent franchisee in Israel to operate a BK food court counter at "Ma'aleh Adumim" in the West Bank, accusing Rikamor of misrepresentation. The franchise owner has kept the restaurant open and continues to sell trade marked BK menu items. BK is part of Diageo whose other brands include Pillsbury Haagen Dazs, Johnnie Walker and J&B whiskies, Smirnoff, Gordon's gin, Baileys cream liquor and Guinness. BK has 46 outlets in Israel and about 90 in various Arab countries. The American Anti-Defamation League has tried to use US anti-boycott regulations against the American-Arab groups who co-ordinated the successful BK boycott.

Shmuel Schnitzer, president of the Israel Diamond Exchange, issued a call to the heads of all diamond exchanges to adopt this decision to bring a halt to the trade of conflict diamonds. Schnitzer urged the industry to trade only diamonds originating from official government sources. The board said its position concurs with that of World Federation of Diamond Bourses President Itzhak Forem, whose group will meet in July and issue an official decision.

The Israel Diamond Exchange's decision is a follow_up to its agreement to join the United Nations and human rights groups in the struggle against the illegal uses of diamonds."

The hypocrisy of the Israeli Diamond Institute in condemning the purchase of "conflict diamonds" is also demonstrated in a statement issued by Mr Moshe Schnitzer, Chairman of the Institute: "This is a matter of conscience, and our standpoint is clear: there is no place in Israel for diamonds paid for in human suffering and death."

"Fine Words from the Israel Diamond Industry, But What are they really doing?", British group, Global Witness, asked in a press release dated 24th March, 2000:

"The recent admission by Ran Cohen, Israel's Minister of Trade and Industry, that conflict diamonds are causes of human suffering around the world is a belated admission of Israel's failure to constructively tackle the issue of conflict diamonds. This is at a stage when other key elements of the diamond industry have finally responded to severe criticisms and are actively searching for some potential solutions. It is to be welcomed that the government of Israel will 'investigate ways in which Israel can help fight the war against illicit diamond buying.

"Global Witness would like to know how the Israeli government and diamond industry intends to 'investigate' ways in which to help. 'Will the government of Israel and the Israel Diamond Institute publicly state what controls and measures they intend to put in place to ensure that conflict diamonds will no longer enter into Israel, thus protecting the long term future of the Israeli diamond industry,'" said Alex Yearsley of Global Witness.

Finance - see also, Israel-Britain Business Council

The finance sector must come under close scrutiny both at the level of inter-governmental arrangements and dealings on the London Stock Exchange. During the 2001 British general election, while total silence was maintained on the subject of Israel's spiraling aggression, the Labour Party took out a full page advertisement in the "Jewish Chronicle" listing "Labour's achievements":

"Trade between Britain and Israel has grown incredibly by 20 per cent, while there have been 34 official trade missions to Israel from the UK since 1997. The unique BRITECH agreement signed by Trade Secretary Stephen Byers means there is now a £15.5 million joint fund to encourage co-operation between British and Israeli hi-tech industries in research and development for their own benefit."

The same issue of the Jewish Chronicle (May 18th 2001) reported:

"Britain is to allocate £1 million to promote trade, investment and joint projects with Israel, the British ambassador to Israel, Francis Cornish, told the Israel-Britain Business Council in Jerusalem this week..."

"More than 60 Lloyds brokers and underwriters as well as 30 UK insurance company representatives attended the Lloyds market insurance conference in Tel Aviv....meanwhile, seven British companies, representing the insurance, mobile telecommunications and construction industries, were among participants in a Dorset Chamber of Commerce and Industry trade mission to Israel over the course of the week."

Israel gets $2.76 billion as U.S. Senate passes foreign aid bill

The United States Senate overwhelmingly passed a $15.6 billion bill for foreign aid on Wednesday, including $2.76 billion in assistance for Israel, more than any other country. Egypt was second, and will receive a total of $1.955 billion.

U.S. law-makers said the move would give the Bush administration a tool to help fight terrorism through diplomacy.

At the request of Secretary of State Colin Powell, senators dropped an amendment to require the White House to report on the Palestine Liberation Organization's compliance with its commitment to renounce terrorism and violence. Powell said that requirement could have hampered efforts to forge an international alliance against terrorism.

The bill, which had stalled for several weeks in a partisan dispute over judicial nominations, cleared the Democratic-led Senate 96-2 without significant amendments.

It was written well before the Sept. 11 attacks on Washington and New York, but language was added to bar aid to countries that harbor or help finance individuals or organizations responsible for the hijacked airline strikes that killed some 5,000 people.

Gaia House newsletter advertises retreats in "the raw beauty of the Negev." A disappointed former visitor to Gaia House in Devon has pointed out to them that the traditional inhabitants' semi-nomadic lifestyle has been all but destroyed. They are confined to arid reserves or soulless towns, quaintly portrayed for the purposes of tourism, their calls for human rights consistently rejected. "Bedouin settlements in the Negev, no matter how large, are treated as illegal. Fruit, olive trees and crops planted by Bedouin in ancestral land are regularly uprooted. Goats and sheep grazing..confiscated..houses demolished...financial aid, mainly from overseas, is readily available for the new kibbutzim and moshavim in the Negev, but there are no similar funds available to the Negev Bedouin."

International Red Cross

Hilary Clinton has been among prominent Americans lobbying the International Red Cross to lift its ban on Israel's membership. Write to the IRC to express your concerns and supporting the stand they have taken in resisting the pressure. New York office - 800 2nd Ave, 3rd floor, NY 10019. International Federation secretariat in Geneva: Secretariat@ifrc.org.

The International Red Cross has consistently criticised Israel's occupation and behaviour and could benefit from a show of public support for this at the UK office: International Director of the British Red Cross is Mr David Alexander, 9 Grosvenor Crescent, SW1 7EJ.

ISRAEL-BRITAIN BUSINESS COUNCIL & the Israeli economy [list of companies continues after these extracts]

From their self-promoting website: www.ibbc.org <<http://www.ibbc.org>>

[One of the more bizarre business entries is for Beni Tal - an Israeli security company which has projects throughout the world, including "military and civil weapon training". They have proudly posted a picture of their body-guards "securing the Late P.M. Yitzhak Rabin.". To see it, go to www.beni-tal.co.il

"The Israel-Britain Business Council is an ambitious initiative, undertaken to expand trade and economic co-operation between Britain and Israel. Established in 1995, joint Councils were created in both countries under the co-chairmanship of Sir Richard Greenbury, Chairman of Marks and Spencer and Dan Propper, Chairman of the Osem Group of Companies. The Council in each country is made up of 8-10 executives who are of the highest calibre in both the corporations they represent and their individual capabilities. Objectives of IBBC The prime objective of the IBBC is to accelerate the growth of the two-way trade between Israel and Britain The Councils have established working groups who have identified six major sectors to focus their activities on finance, health Care, education, high tech and R&D, infrastructure and tourism. The High Tech Working Group, chaired by Mr Edgar Miller, has members from industry and research interests in both Israel and the UK The joint working groups have developed their own plans for initiatives and a series of missions, seminars, conferences and one to one business meetings have been designed to facilitate the aims and objectives of the Council. Two Executives have been seconded by two companies to the project under the Government's Export Promotion initiative. Brian Cohen, ex Marks and Spencer has been appointed as Director General, with the role of co-ordinating the working group plans, and David Sharp, GEC/Marconi, to the High Tech working group. Council Members Sir Richard Greenbury, Chairman, Marks & Spencer Sir Martin Jacomb, Chairman, Prudential Corp Michael Lester, Vice Chairman, GEC Lord Sterling, Chairman, P & O Lord Young, Chairman, Young Associates Sir Trevor Chinn, Chairman, Lex Service David Lewis, Chairman, Lewis Trust Group Richard Giordano, Chairman, British Gas Andrew Stone, joint managing director of Marks & Spencer, is adviser to the British Delegation Lord Stone of Blackheath, British Director-General, IBBC Despite all the conflicts affecting the peace process, Israel is still seen by the UK as a great opportunity for Business. Considerable success was achieved in 1996 when the Council supported an Education Seminar in Tel Aviv, a visit by Robin Cook, a Finance Conference in London and Edinburgh and an inward R&D mission. "In January of 1997, in conjunction with BOTGI, the IBBC led a major British Delegation to Israel's first international Telecommunications Exhibition. Other 1997 activities included a joint visit to Israel for the four major UK pharmaceutical companies to pursue joint ventures, a mission to the UK of 18

Israeli Technological Incubator Companies, a seminar on the National Health Service in Israel, an Insurance Conference and an Invest in Britain Conference. Further sector-specific missions and conferences are planned for the future."

The Islamic Human Rights Commission has pioneered the M&S boycott with its careful research into historical zionist links - available on their website at www.ihrc.org

The out-moded clothing side of this company is sinking of its own accord but its food retailing is flourishing. M&S were the first to introduce Israeli avocados to Britain and specially-bred crustacea from Israel fill the stomach-churning M&S "prawn with mayo" sandwiches. Consumers who care about their physical as well as ethical health should note that most food from Israel is irradiated to lengthen shelf, not human, life. M&S has a long history of involvement with the State of Israel, dating back to its founders' support for the Balfour Declaration.
