12. GREENING OF THE MEETING

The Secretariat of the Convention on Biological Diversity and the Government of Japan want to create a setting that is true to the spirit of the Convention and meets the requirements of environmental protection in general. Japan is therefore organizing the meeting in line with a comprehensive and ambitious environmental plan with the purpose of ensuring that, to the extent possible, environmental impacts resulting from the meeting are avoided or at a minimum reduced, to give participants first-hand experience of the ideas behind the environmental concept and thus indirectly also promote the goals of the meeting.

The main areas that the concept will address are: waste management, travel of participants, and efficient use of energy and water during the meeting. Climate protection will also play a key role as it is closely connected to biodiversity.

12.1 Waste Management

The starting point for waste management is waste prevention. Proper organization will prevent large volumes of waste from accumulating at the meeting. To facilitate efficient waste recycling, waste will be collected separately.

In 1998, a garbage emergency was declared in Nagoya. The increase in the amount of waste had exceeded the capacity of incineration and landfill facilities. Citizens, businesses and the Nagoya City Government joined forces to enforce the separation of waste according to categories for recycling. As a result, the volume of waste fell by 30% and that of landfills by 60%.

For this reason, waste separation and recycling is the core environmental principle that symbolizes Nagoya. The Government of Japan and the Aichi-Nagoya COP-10 CBD Promotion Committee will take advantage of COP-MOP-5 to introduce and apply Nagoya's waste separation system, in order to promote waste reduction and recycling.

Pictographs for separate waste collection:

Paper Containers and Packages (with marking)
Used Papers	Newspapers
	OA Papers (paper for copying and computer)
	Cardboard
	Others (Magazines, Brochures, etc.)

It is hardly possible to imagine a meeting without documents and brochures, but it is a great help to the environment if participants only take, distribute or copy what is really of interest and will actually be read. Different waste containers will also be placed throughout the meeting venue, including the public areas, enabling participants to dispose of their waste separately. This means that every participant can actively support environmentally sound waste management.

12.2 Energy and water

Energy and water consumption for the meeting will be kept as low as possible. Electricity needs will be supplied by certified green electricity for the duration of the meeting.

12.3 Transportation

In order to promote the use of environmentally friendly public transportation, the Aichi-Nagoya COP-10 CBD Promotion Committee will provide a free subway pass valid within Nagoya City. More details about transportation are available in section 14.

12.4 Climate protection

The Government of Japan is committed to minimizing the negative impacts on the climate. All greenhouse gas emissions, e.g. in the transport and energy sectors, will be kept as low as possible. All non-avoidable greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions, for example emissions resulting from the long flights which many participants must take to and from Japan, will be offset by investments in climate-protection projects elsewhere. These projects will comply with the highest ecological and social standards.

To offset GHG emissions accurately, the Government of Japan needs to know if there are participants that are independently offsetting GHG emissions from their personal flights. Those who have are requested to provide us with their country/organization, point of origin, participant names, via e-mail or fax before their arrival to Japan.
