92. The first of this series of workshops was held for Southern African countries in Kasane, Botswana from 14 to 20 March 2011. A major focus of the workshop was on setting national and regional targets in the framework of the Aichi-Nagoya biodiversity targets including integrating biodiversity into relevant national and local planning processes. As financing the NBSAP is an important issue in most regions the workshop also covered the issue of resource mobilization for NBSAP implementation as well as stakeholder engagement, strategic communication and South-South Cooperation. The workshop also spent time discussing valuation and incentive measures as tools for mainstreaming biodiversity. All participants find this workshop very useful, particularly tools and materials provided for updating NBSAPs and means of implementation of NBSAPs and mainstreaming biodiversity, and proposed elements for updated NBSAPs. The SCBD also engaged in one-to-one discussions with each of the participating countries in order to provide them with detailed assistance to address their specific issues. In turn, most participants pledged to start the process of revising and updating their NBSAPs as a follow-up to the workshop.

120. In terms of information exchange, collaboration took place with the MEA Information and Knowledge Management initiative to prepare the pilot version of the InforMEA web portal now available with core CBD information.

Decision X/19: Gender mainstreaming

121. As support to UN General Assembly resolution A/RES/64/289 of 2 July 2010, which aims to help the United Nations system to be accountable for its own commitments on gender equality, including regular monitoring of system-wide progress, the Secretariat of the Convention on Biological Diversity initiated a call to action to the gender focal points of the United Nations Convention to Combat Desertification (UNCCD), the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) and the Global Environment Facility (GEF) to work towards a coordinated framework on gender mainstreaming.

122. In this vein, the Secretariat in collaboration with the International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN), with financial support provided by the Netherlands Humanist Institute for Development Cooperation (HIVOS), held the first workshop on a coordinated framework for gender mainstreaming in the Rio Conventions and the GEF. The workshop was held from 11 – 12 March in San Jose, Costa Rica with representatives from the CBD, UNCCD, UNFCCC, GEF, IUCN, Women's Environment and Development Organization (WEDO), the Ministry of Environment, Costa Rica, the Network of Indigenous Women on Biodiversity, United Nations Development Programme – Regional Bureau for Asia and the Pacific (UNDP/RBAP) and the GEF Small Grants Programme (GEF – SGP).

123. The workshop was a success in that it was the first time that the Rio Conventions came together to discuss in length the possibility on working together in a coordinated manner on gender mainstreaming across the conventions and the GEF. Concrete joint activities were identified for the coming years, including dates and responsibilities. This will be an on-going process as a road-map for these joint activities on gender mainstreaming was elaborated.
