

The Vidal Sassoon International Center for the Study of Antisemitism

Call for Applications For Research Grants

is an interdisciplinary research center founded in 1982. The Center is dedicated to an independent, non-political approach to the accumulation and dissemination of knowledge necessary for understanding the phenomenon of antisemitism. The Center supports research on antisemitism through the ages, focusing on relations between Jews and non-Jews, particularly in situations of tensions and crisis.

The Center will consider sponsoring projects in a variety of disciplines, such as history, political science, psychology, sociology, economics, literature, arts and any other discipline which might assist in the understanding of antisemitism in the past or present. The principal criteria for an allocation are academic relevance and excellence.

The Center invites researchers to submit research applications which focus on the subject of antisemitism, which may contribute to the understanding of its history and impact as cultural, political and social phenomenon.

The deadline for submitting applications is 8 November 2012.
