

No War On Iraq

Workers' Rally - Iraq 2002

Workers

We are workers. We are in Australia. We are in Iraq. We are in the USA. We are in every country. We march against the governments that start wars for oil and profit. We stand against the killers who want to see workers fight each other, for country or religion.

Everywhere

Everywhere, workers need the same things. We need fair wages, secure jobs and safe working conditions. We are on the same side. If we struggle together, we can win.

Everywhere, capitalists try to get workers to fight each other. They try to divide us with racism. They try to divide us with sexism. They try to get us to go to war.

But we can stand together with other workers. We don't have to go to war. Together, we can fight for fair wages, secure jobs and safe working conditions.

Working together, we can stop war.

Solidarity

The strength of workers comes from solidarity. When workers stop fighting each other and join together instead, we have new strength. When workers in different countries refuse to go to war against each other, we have new strength.
