The Shorty's Team

Managing Director: David Short

David leads the team with 14 years corporate and fine wine retail experience, which has well served him to develop the Shorty's Liquor CBD business to be the leading corporate beverage supplier in the country. David has acted as the wine buyer for the Keystone Group, a collection of Australia's leading bars and restaurants, where he facilitates the wine purchases for the Gazebo Wine Bar and The Winery, winning Australia's Wine Bar of the Year four out of the last five years. Together with the leading corporate beverage database and on premise affiliation, David has built Shorty's to have the strongest buying power and close contacts within the industry.

Best wine experience: My wife Liz and I enjoyed a private, seven-course degustation matched with 12 of the world's best 2001 Bordeaux blends at Terrazas de los Andes in Mendoza, Argentina. Epic!

Chairman: John Vamos

John is the founder and Managing Director of Business Coaching Systems. Additionally he holds Chairmanships with a number of notable privately owned Australian Businesses. In his twenty five year career as a Business Coach, helping companies close the gap between performance and potential, he has had the privilege of working with iconic companies such as Telstra, ANZ and KPMG. As our Chairman, John brings his skills in Business Strategy, Organisational Design, Operational Effectiveness and Business Development to assist Shorty's Liquor in realising our ambitions to deliver total customer satisfaction and a strong bottom line.

Best Wine Experience: My most recent wine experience will always be the best!

Chief Financial Controller: Tim Crowe

Tim has over 20 years of experience in some of Sydney's best hospitality venues in both General Manager and Licensee roles. Tim decided on a career change and completed a degree in Accounting and as Financial Controller, an intimate understanding of the Shorty's business model. Tim ensures that the spreadsheets all add up and that the books are kept up to date with the increasing level of customer demand.

Best Wine Experience: Italy – drinking local wines and taking recommendations from local waiters

Senior Sales Manager: Matthew Anderson

Matthew has been in corporate beverage sales for the past nine years, three of which have been in a Senior Sales Manager role at Shorty's Liquor. He manages many of Sydney's top corporate businesses and has also been the driving force in securing our national accounts. With his impeccable customer service skills and exceptional knowledge of the corporate domain, Matthew provides the platform for sales and customer service that has become the Shorty's benchmark.

Best Wine Experience: Lunch with close friends and the guys from Thousand Candles at their incredible Yarra Valley homestead

Sales and Purchasing Manager: Matthew Whitaker

Matt has been in corporate beverage supply for over eight years and in that time he has managed a range of leading accounts in Sydney. His knowledge of the corporate market and his passion for wine make him a brilliant fit for the Shorty's team. His wine knowledge and understanding of the customer's beverage requirements allow him to manage and grow existing accounts, along with managing our extensive wine offers. He also brings a premium personalised service standard that Shorty's are renowned for.

Best Wine Experience: At my 40th birthday I had 40 of my closest friends for a dinner party at home all catered for with wines matched to each course: Louis Roederer Brut Premier Champagne in Magnums on arrival, Leeuwin Estate Art Series Chardonnay 2007, Pierro LTC Semillon Sauvignon Blanc 2009, Kaesler The Bogan 2005 Shiraz, Cape Mentelle Cabernet Sauvignon 2008 and De Bortoli Noble One Semillon with dessert.

Business Development Manager: David Miller

David is the latest member to join the Shorty's Liquor team and he comes on board with over seven years of business development and account management experience. His experience and a passion to meet the customers' expectations are the key reasons for joining the Shorty's team. David's role involves maintaining and growing our existing customer base along with opening up opportunities for new business.

Best Wine Experience: Long Lunch at Bistro Molines in the Hunter Valley (hands down the best restaurant in the Hunter)

Marketing and Business Development Manager: Vicki Brownrigg

Vicki has over 20 years' experience in the liquor industry in Australia and the UK. Since returning back to Sydney in 2003 she has been involved in corporate beverage supply and more recently has been the Trading Manager for one of the largest national wine clubs in Australia. Vicki brings a commitment to a fabulous wine experience and excellent customer service. This year whilst managing both the Diners Club and Citibank Wine Clubs, Vicki will also be implementing and executing Shorty's digital and online strategy.

Best Wine Experience: Drinking 1990 magnums of Louis Roederer Cristal while eating canapés cooked by a Michelin Star chef in Reims, France.

Operations Manager: Andrew O'Brien

Andrew has been with Shorty's for over seven years and is a true wine industry professional. With over 12 years liquor retailing experience, Andrew is responsible for all stock movements in the business and makes sure every delivery arrives promptly. Andrew is our beer specialist. He also specialises in shipping and can get wine and beers to all parts of the country in the wink of an eye!

Best wine experience: Visiting Grant Burge in the Barossa Valley

Junior Operations Manager: Blake Mitford

A passion for wine and 8 years' experience in the liquor retail makes Blake the ideal employee for his operations role a Shorty's. He enjoys the fast paced environment and loves the versatile role, alternating between the warehouse and customer service. By the way, wine is not the only passion, he also enjoys the art of home brewing beer!

Best wine experience: At a recent weekend away with my partner we had a private tasting at Grant Burge Cellar Door, followed by a gourmet lunch platter and a glass of wine in the gardens, overlooking the Barossa Valley.

The Delivery & Warehouse Team

The Shorty's delivery team is made up of Brett, Rene, Hamish and Mitch, all experienced drivers with the majority of them in the business for more than 18 months. Expect a smile and helpful hand with every delivery. Cam runs the warehouse like a machine, keeping our new facilities in perfect order and deliveries correctly packed, ready for prompt shipment.

Announcing the Launch of Shorty's Liquor Online!

The personalised service you enjoy as a valued client of Shorty's Liquor is everything to us. That's why we've spent over a year hard at work developing a new, powerful way to make your Shorty's experience better than ever.

Shorty's Liquor is taking bold step into the online future. With the value of web purchases made in Australia skyrocketing from 12 billion last year to an estimated 31 billion in 2013, we're well aware that online is how many of you prefer to shop. So we're going to give you all the choice and convenience you love about Internet shopping while never compromising on the high service standard you've come to expect from our corporate beverages team.

As of November this year, you will be able to place your Shorty's Liquor orders through our brand-new, state-of-the-art website. We brought in all sorts of experts with express instructions to make this the user-friendliest website the Australian liquor supply industry has ever seen, 100% geared toward fulfilling your needs. Everything from our team's combined knowledge of fine wines to our extensive range of beverages will be available for your reference whenever you need it – our expertise becomes your ease.

As a thank you for all your support over the years, Shorty's Liquor online account holders will be granted access to special perks and exclusive offers that the general public will never hear a whisper about. We're also throwing a party to celebrate our online launch, so keep an eye out for your invitation!

Sparklings

Sparkling is the generic name for all wines outside the Champagne region of France that have carbon dioxide in them for their signature fizziness. This can be the result of natural fermentation in the bottle (known as méthode champenoise for Champagne), in a large tank designed to withstand the pressures involved (known as the Charmat process), or as a result of an injection of carbon dioxide. Outside of Champagne, the French sparkling Crémant boasts a creamy style unique to that region, whilst popular international white Sparklings include Prosecco (Italy), Cava (Spain), and Sparkling Sauvignon Blanc (New Zealand). Major French Champagne houses like Chandon and Deutz are also now producing Sparkling wines in Australia and New Zealand in the méthode champenoise manner. The style of Sparkling wines can range from brut (very dry) to doux (sweet) and all make a fantastic apéritif, brunch or dessert accompaniment.

Restless Rebel Blanc de Blancs

South Eastern Australia NV

Restless Rebel Blanc de Blanc presents attractive aromas of fresh stonefruits followed by a delicate and flavoursome palate, which offers a creamy texture and a long, clean finish. Drinking well above the price point, this is the perfect sparkling for every function and all occasions.

Champagne

History credits blind monk, Dom Pierre Pérignon as discovering the secrets of Champagne in his abbey's cellars in the 17th century, and British and European nobility for spreading the message of this unique Sparkling wine. A careful blend of Chardonnay, Pinot Noir and Pinot Meunier, its rules are strict, demanding secondary fermentation in the bottle to create carbonation. Vintage Champagne must come from a single vintage and matured for at least three years, whilst Non-Vintage must be blended from grapes from more than a single vintage, and matured for at least 15 months to the style of the maison (house). The resulting styles include the very dry and savoury Brut, perfect with food; Sec, a medium-dry style, perfect for a party or breakfast event, Doux, a sweet, dessert style; Rosé, made by blending some still red wine into Champagne; Blanc de Blancs, a creamy fruity style (usually made from Chardonnay but sometimes a blend); and Blanc de Noirs, a punchy, full-bodied style made from the two Pinots.

WAITAN

A new concept in luxe asian dining where east meets west and old meets new like never before

Sydney's love affair with luxe Asian dining is set to reach new heights with this Novembers Launch, the ultimate contemporary Asian foodie experience.

A veritable diamond in the rough, set in the midst of Sydney's Chinatown, Waitan promises truly authentic Asian flavours influenced by cuisines from around the world, with an appropriately luxe dining experience to match.

With a price-tag surpassing the $10 million mark, the ambitious two-level, 2500sqm venue extends beyond serving the most delicious and unique contemporary Asian cuisine this city has yet to bear witness to; Waitan will act as a cross-cultural ambassador, introducing Australians to the reality of a new-age Asia.

Taking the lead in the kitchen is esteemed Sydney-based chef, John Rankin, whose resume boasts some of Australia's finest kitchens including Quay, Astral and Sean's Kitchen. Rankin brings a wealth of local culinary know-how to the Waitan kitchen and will act as Executive Chef to the specialist team.

Twelve private dining rooms have been designed for cocktail events, business and corporate functions and intimate gatherings for family and friends. Each room is a different size to cater for the event. Of note are the Grill Rooms which cater for parties of 6-24 and offering a private chef, taking the Chef's Table concept to a new level.

Finally, the Library is a members-only space where guests can sit back, sip on a glass of the finest cognac or single malt whisky and ponder over which of the beautiful artworks they'll be adding to their collection. 405 Sussex St Sydney

Sauvignon Blanc

If one word has more put this popular style on the map it is Marlborough, now a brand in its own right. But long before Marlborough's fresh and youthful style Sauvignon Blanc was known as a Kiwi staple, the French Loire appellations of Sancerre and Pouilly-Fumé stole the show for the finest expressions of this highly aromatic variety, with wines that are slightly oaked to add texture and a richness allowing for ageing. New Zealand's heady tropical herbaceous style is distinctly popular and emulated by winemakers in Chile and South Africa. But we do a pretty good job with it in Australia, especially down in the cool climate Adelaide Hills, where the region's signature zesty, grassy, light-bodied style will always quench a thirst. Sauvignon Blanc is a sensational food friendly wine for all occasions.

White Blends

The blend of Semillon with Sauvignon Blanc (also known as a Classic Dry White or SSB) is a stylish Western Australian heroine. The fresh and herbaceous style that is crisp, fresh, tropical and vivacious is a Margaret River signature. Often compared with Bordeaux, Margaret River shares a similar cool maritime climate and gravelly soil. The blend delivers sunshine in a bottle with the fruity exuberance from the Sauvignon Blanc married to the complex and textured Semillon. Sometimes even a touch of the aromatic muscadelle is added. Fresh seafood or spicy Asian cuisine commands a match with this popular and iconic white wine style, which is also a hit when produced in the Yarra Valley, the Adelaide Hills and Orange.

Over the recent years Australia has been known for its Semillon wines on the world wine map with our unique signature style loved by winemakers and lauded by wine critics everywhere. This unique bottle-aged buttercup yellow wine was pioneered by Lindemans, Tulloch, McWilliams, Draytons and Tyrrell's and is distinct for its toast and honey characters and complex flavours. The modern youthful style of Hunter Semillon is almost always dry with citrus flavours, which blend well with Sauvignon Blanc and Chardonnay.

Another distinct trend in Australia is the rise in popularity of the Italian varietals such as Arneis, Vermentino and Fiano. Due to the Mediterranean climate and the popularity of Pinot Grigio these varietals are thriving in "Little Italy", Victoria, in particular the King Valley where De Bortoli, Pizzini, Dal Zotto and Christmout are leading the charge.

Pinot Grigio

While a native varietal of France known as Pinot Gris, it is the Italian take on the grape that we have to thank for its rapid rise in both popularity and quality. Pinot Grigio is a noticeably fresher and crisper dry wine style than its neighbour, offering a lighter body and less floral aromatics. Australian examples of the varietal are labelled as both Grigio and Gris, with each term chosen to usually refer to the weight and aromatics of the wine. The Grigio style lends itself well to being enjoyed both as an aperitif and with light food dishes

Chardonnay

This most famous variety has a passionate following of connoisseurs who appreciate its depth and complexity. It is integral to the crafting of Champagne, whilst the great white wines of Burgundy, Pouilly-Fuisse and Chablis are Chardonnay. It first came to Australia in the late 1920s but it wasn't until the 1970s that Chardonnay garnered its local fame. Aussie Chardonnay's heyday was built on rich, buttery and full-bodied warmer climate styles from the Hunter Valley, Riverland and South Australia, however our modern style is lean and austere with subtle oak, grapefruit and lemon from the cooler climates. Regardless of the style, give yourself an education in Chardonnay, it's a food wine made in heaven.

Rieslings

Dating back to around 1435 to the banks of Germany's Mosel and Rhine rivers and also thriving in France's Alsace region, Riesling is one of the most beautiful aromatic varieties around thanks to its flowery perfumed aromas and high acidity. Used to make dry, semi-sweet, sweet and sparkling white wines, Riesling is exceptionally versatile. Young Rieslings are enjoyed as crisp, fruity and aromatic wines bursting with apples, grapefruit, peach, gooseberry, honey and rose blossom, however Riesling's naturally high acidity and range of flavours make it suitable for extended ageing. Perhaps the best examples of this style are Australia's world-class unique fresh and dry citrus Rieslings from the Eden and Clare Valleys in South Australia.

Never has a wine style had such a revival as the berry-hued Rosé. Their aromas and flavours are influenced by the varieties they are created from but Rosé wines have well and truly evolved from the sweet styles of the seventies, re-emerging as refreshing and light wines with very low tannins. Best served chilled, this style has long been championed by the Europeans and is a way of life in the south of France, especially in Provence and Tavel, as well as in the Rhône, Loire Valley and Champagne. Old world Rosés tend to be more bone-dry than new world styles and are made from almost any red, red blends or red and white blends.

Pinot Noir

A notoriously tough little grape named for its tightly clustered dark purple pinecone bunches, Pinot Noir contributes to the grandest of wines like Burgundies and Champagne. But on its own it needs a cooler climate to flourish and produce elegant, medium-bodied wines of great complexity and structure. Some of the best come from New Zealand's Central Otago, a wine region that acclaimed British wine critic Jancis Robinson says is where "many believe the Pinot grail is to be found". Also look for other New Zealand Pinots from Marlborough and Martinborough, whilst closer to home it is in Tasmania, Yarra Valley, Mornington Peninsula, Canberra District, Eden Valley and the Adelaide Hills that you will discover why this expressive French grape is making its mark on dinner tables across the globe.

Lake Hayes Pinot Noir

Central Otago, NZ 2012

"The bouquet is full and up-front with aromas of ripe, dark raspberry and dark cherry fruits, lifted with floral and confectionary nuances from whole berries, underlined by a thread of fresh herbs. Medium-full bodied, juicy and lush flavours of bright dark raspberry fruit and dark plums laced with dark herbs form an up-front and packed palate." 18/20 4 Stars - Raymond Chan

Ten Minutes by Tractor 10X Pinot Noir

Mornington Peninsula, Vic 2012

This 5 Red Star rated winery (winecompanion.com.au) produces stunning cool climate wines and this entry-level pinot noir is no exception. Aromas of wild strawberry, sous bois and some nutty oak delight the senses while in the flavours of red fruits and a sappy, mouthwatering acid line dominate the palate. The tannins are lightly grainy adding a styled texture to the wine.

Shiraz

Our love affair with Shiraz began when the 'father' of Australian wine, James Busby planted clippings from France and Spain in the Sydney Botanical Gardens and Hunter Valley in 1832. Better known as Syrah in its home in the Rhône in France, the variety can actually be traced back to ancient Persia. The Australian style is richer, riper and more full-bodied than its European counterpart and as our most planted variety, there is incredible diversity from cooler climate, medium-bodied and spicy styles through to more full-bodied, richly flavoured and textured warmer climate wines. Aussie Shiraz story is a regional discovery through the Barossa, McLaren Vale, Heathcote, the Grampians, the Hunter Valley, Hilltops and the Canberra District, all with distinct styles to tempt every palate.

Gramp's Shiraz

Barossa Valley, SA 2011

"Complex and alluring, with a spicy, gamey bouquet of dark, brooding berry and plum-like fruit, cigar boxes and violets, it's both sumptuous and elegant. How they've done this for the price, I simply have no idea! There's no doubt in my mind that it's one of the best value wines on the Australian market today." 94 Points, Jeremy Oliver, jeremyoliver.com.au

Blue Pyrenees Shiraz

Pyrenees, VIC 2011

The bouquet displays aromas of black pepper over blueberry fruit and a background of cedar and vanilla oak. The regional blueberry fruit gives way to the classic Shiraz pepper and spice notes and a vibrant mid-palate of chocolate, vanilla, and balanced acidity. The soft tannin structure of this wine allows lingering fruit flavours to shine throughout the long dry finish.

Thousands of red varieties are planted around the world, however, these are just a few that we here are loving at the moment. Grenache is another native French variety that has for many years thrived in the Australian climate, particularly in South Australia. It is a spicy and savoury grape that acts as the base for the famous 'GSM' blend where it is mixed with Shiraz and Mourvedre (Mataro).

While now seeing a surge in Australian offerings, the best known Tempranillos come from Spain's Rioja winegrowing region. The high altitude vineyards benefit from the warm growing season to result in rich and spicy red wines showing berry and plum fruit flavours.

Cabernet & Cabernet Blends

Long one of the world's most planted noble varieties, Cabernet Sauvignon has its spiritual home in Médoc, north of Bordeaux, and is grown in nearly every major wine producing country. In Australia its small thick-skinned grapes thrive in warmer climates like Margaret River and along the famous terra rossa soils of the Coonawarra, which is globally renowned for refined Cabernet wines of great longevity and complexity. Easily recognised by its powerful blackcurrant aromas along with cassia and cedar, Cabernet Sauvignon enjoys an enduring friendship with its other Bordeaux brothers, Merlot, Cabernet Franc, Malbec and Petit Verdot. In Australia it has also struck a great partnership with Shiraz. Cabernet Sauvignon is the 'king of red grapes' and loves being paired with red meats, especially lamb dishes.

Gramp's Cabernet Merlot

Red Blends

The blend of soft, fleshy early ripening Merlot with the tannic later-ripening Cabernet Sauvignon is one of the Australia's most popular, easy-drinking styles and one of the best classic varietal combinations that there is inspired by the world renowned wines of Bordeaux which also contain Cabernet Franc and Petit Verdot.

GSM is another one of Australia's most popular blended styles. It is a red wine consisting of Grenache, Shiraz and Mourvèdre (sometimes called Mataro) or Malbec and is also a famous blend in the wines of France's Southern Rhône. The spicy Grenache contributes alcohol, warmth and fruitiness; the black fruity and peppery Shiraz gives the blend body, backbone and balance, whilst the elegance of the Mourvèdre provides structure and acidity. With all varietals thriving in South Australia, its no wonder the region is a leading Australian producer of delicious GSM.

Head Red Grenache Shiraz Mourvèdre

Barossa Valley, SA 2012

"Bright, clear crimson-purple; a blend of old vine grenache, shiraz and mataro; fresh red cherry, raspberry and black cherry fruit drive the medium-bodied palate, quite possibly untroubled by oak, and certainly not by tannins.
