

Sundown in Southern Illinois

Directed by: Elena Esquibel with Andrea Baldwin

"The most important show we've done in a long time."
- Dr. Craig Gingrich-Philbrook

"Until we solve the problem of sundown neighborhoods and towns we do not have a chance of solving America's race problem."
- James W. Loewen

This performance features oral history narratives from southern Illinois residents exploring stories and experiences about "sundown towns" that have historically banned African Americans after dark.

October 28 - 30th 2010
The Marion Kleinau Theatre
2nd Floor Communications Building
$7 General Admission $5 Students For Reservations Call: 618-453-5618

Find us on Facebook: Sundown in Southern Illinois