

RPM was founded in 2005 by musicians, managers, and advisors from bands including Pearl Jam, The Beastie Boys, and R.E.M. ...

...to make it easier for artists to create change.

In the past 10 years, RPM has grown to serve:

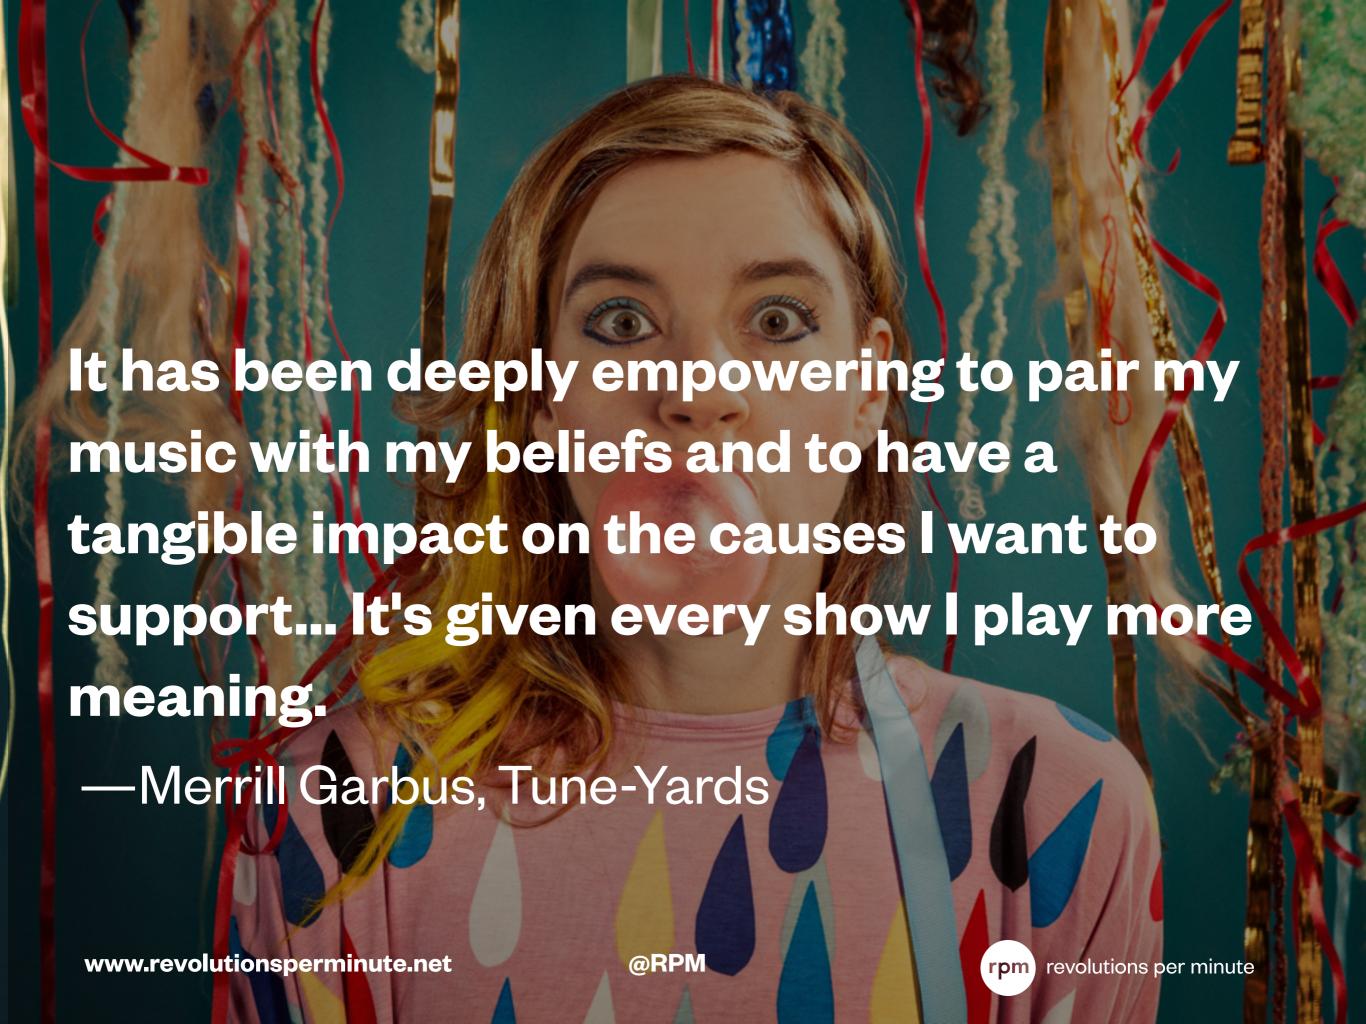

- Over 1300 musicians & comedians (& their managers).
- 18 genres and artistic mediums including Hip-Hop, Indie, Country, EDM, and everything in between.
- On over 43 important issues including: Elections, Environment, Education, Immigration, Racial Justice, and Disaster Response.

@RPM

Art From Scrap

ASPCA BUILDING SITTED TO STATE SITTED TO STAT

RPM's network has raised and directed $2 Million to

Innocence Project

Important Nonportation

Innocence Project

Rape Con Edvocates

The Control of the Control of

www.revolutionsperminute.net Assoc of Free & Char

revolutions per minute

This donation is more energizing to our movement than much bigger donations because of who it came from!

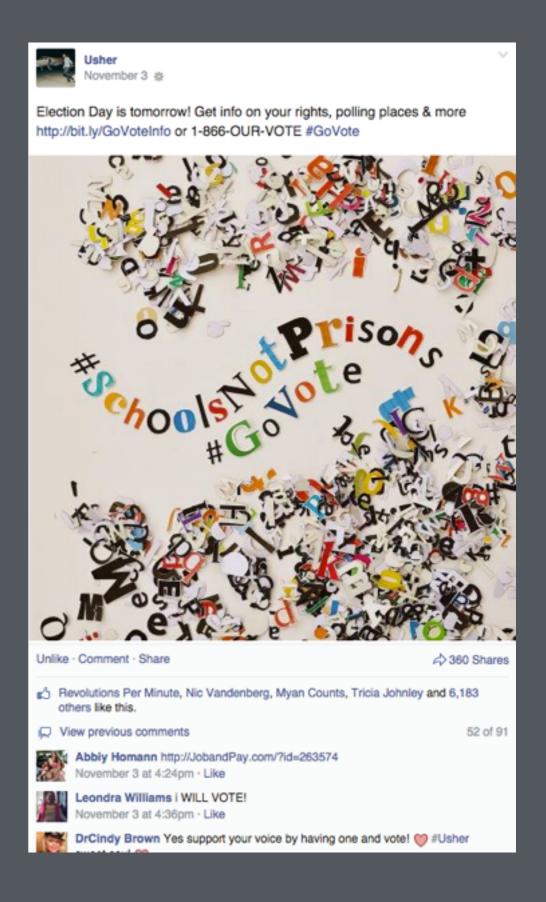

— Jessy Tolkan, Executive Director of Energy Action Coalition about a $2,500 donation a musician made.

Through our social media programs, we have generated over $5M in artist-powered earned media for important issues.

Results from RPM's work in the 2012 Election:

- 620 million fans reached via social media
- 11,442 music fans registered to vote
- 3,000 voter protection impressions
- 150 artists resourced including Mary J. Blige and D'Angelo, Ozomatli, Usher, Rise Against, The Head & The Heart, Beach House + more

@RPM

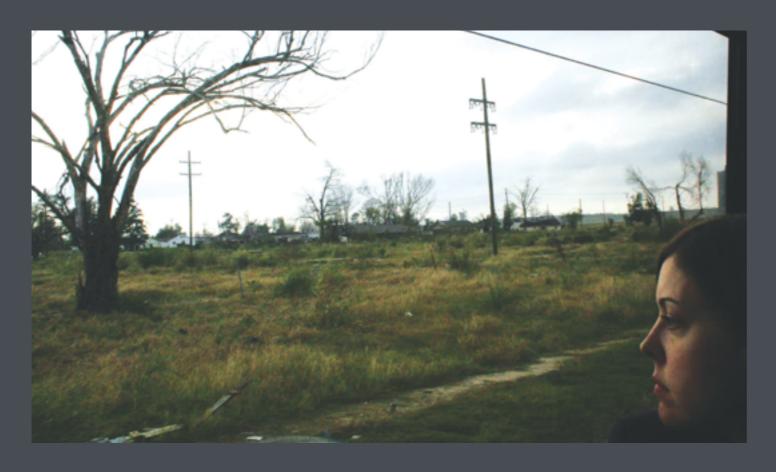

RPM's staff have supported and produced dozens of creative projects and artistic responses to some of the most pressing issues of our times...

...and helped artists respond to (and stay engaged in) every major disaster—New Orleans, Southeast Asia Tsunami, the Japan Tsunami, Haiti, Hurricane Sandy, Nepal.

In short, RPM has engaged hundreds of artists—and tens of thousands of their fans—in democracy, voting, climate change, media justice, music and education, and many, many, more important causes.

There are a lot of crap reasons to be a rock star. This is one of the good ones.

— Thom Yorke, Radiohead

After a decade of work, RPM is proud to be the lead nonprofit dedicated to helping artists be powerful allies for change. join us.

revolutionsperminute.net @rpm www.facebook.com/RPM