This report was written and researched by Alex Camarda, Director of Public Policy and Advocacy at Citizens Union, with assistance from Augustine Bowe, Policy and Research Intern. Editing and feedback was provided by Dick Dadey, Executive Director; Rachael Faus, Policy and Research Manager; Adelia Honeywood Harrison, Executive Assistant; and Citizens Union Board Members Richard Briffault, Tony Cassino, and Alan Rothstein.

II. Executive Summary

Political clubs are formed in neighborhoods and communities across the state by a group of liked-minded individuals to advance a common political agenda, a cause, or a candidate or group of candidates. They raise money and make expenditures on behalf of favored candidates. Clubs are the most localized element of political parties and are part of the political history and tradition in New York State.

Clubs provide a way for local residents to get involved in politics and become active in their communities. In conducting their primary function of advancing the campaigns of particular candidates, they provide an opportunity for members to engage in campaigns and experience fundamental grassroots elements of the political process like collecting signatures to get candidates on the ballot or getting out the vote in support of preferred candidates on Election Day.

Political clubs play an important and needed civic role in our democracy by engaging and mobilizing citizens to participate in our political system. Yet much of the campaign activity of political clubs is not known because many of the clubs do not report to the state or local boards of election. Though visible to candidates and neighborhood political party activists, the activities of at least 224 clubs in New York State are hidden from public view because they have not registered as political committees or filed needed disclosure reports detailing their receipts and expenditures, which typically are made in connection with political campaigns. As a result of not filing and reporting who contributes to them and to whom they make expenditures, a shadowy world of political activity is hidden from view. Citizens Union was only able to identify the activities of these 224 clubs because the clubs are engaged in transactions with other candidates and political committees that did file. Little if any public attention is paid to the operations and activities of political clubs because of this lack of transparency.

This report looks in detail at 20 of the 224 political clubs with the highest dollar value of transactions with candidates and other political committees to examine more closely their political and other activity. For those top 20 clubs, Citizens Union was able to determine many clubs have ties with elected officials and their staffs. These relationships are permissible. However, because clubs do not disclose their contributions and expenditures, Citizens Union is unable to evaluate whether relationships between elected officials and political clubs results in coordination in furtherance of those elected officials' campaigns. If coordination occurs between a candidate and a club to advance a candidate's campaign the contribution must be recorded as an in-kind campaign contribution by the candidate and an expenditure by the club. Coordination in furtherance of a candidate's campaign in excess of contribution limits for the office sought by the candidate would be an over the limit contribution under the law.

Given the recent arrests related to corruption in the legislature, it is essential that the public has full knowledge of political activity of political clubs and their relationships with affiliated candidates. The activity of clubs should be disclosed so the public knows who contributes to clubs, how clubs spend their money, and the relationships between clubs and candidates.

Increased disclosure is integral to campaign finance reform and has been supported by Governor Cuomo as well as the Fair Elections For New York campaign, of which Citizens Union is a part. The campaign has called for comprehensive campaign finance reform emphasizing a public matching system to promote participation by small donors in our democracy, complemented by stronger enforcement and greater transparency of campaign activity. Integral to ensuring greater compliance with disclosure requirements and contribution limits is the establishment of an independent enforcement entity that is adequately resourced to educate candidates and committees and enforce the law when violations occur. With real enforcement and more transparency, a fair playing field will be established for all candidates and committees, and New Yorkers will know exactly who funds campaigns and how the money is being spent so they can make more informed decisions at the ballot box.

A. Major Findings

Citizens Union reviewed the State Board of Elections' registration records and periodic campaign finance filings of candidate and other political committees between January 2009 and January 2013 to identify transactions by those committees with political clubs. Among the 579 political clubs engaged in transactions with candidates and other political committees Citizens Union found the following:

- 1. Political Clubs Failed to Register and File Disclosure Reports Resulting in Unreported Campaign Activity
 - a. 224 political clubs which engaged in transactions of $1,000 or more annually did not register or keep registrations current as required by state election law.¹
 - b. 67 of the political clubs complied with the law and registered with the State Board of Elections.²
 - c. 288 clubs were required to register with local boards of election because their cumulative transactions were less than $1,000 annually. It is unclear if they did so as Citizens Union did not review filings with local boards.
 - d. 224 political clubs required to file campaign finance reports with the State Board of Elections did not disclose their contributions and expenditures. These clubs were required to disclose for at least one of the years between 2009 and 2013 unless they did not receive or expend money in connection with an election, an unlikely prospect considering this is their core function.

² 210 clubs are registered in the State Board of Elections database, which contains all registrations. Citizens Union limited its review to activity between January 2009 and January 2013. Some clubs which are registered and in the State Board's database were not engaged in transactions with candidate and other political committees during the period.

- i. 118 of these clubs did not report in any year even though their transactions at least twice exceeded the $1,000 annual reporting requirement that triggers reporting to the State Board.
 - ii. As many as 2,318 campaign finance reports required of these clubs were not filed.
 - iii. 5,485 known transactions valued at $2.27 million and an unknowable amount more were not reported.
 - iv. Political clubs that did not disclose their political activity engaged in known transactions valued, on average, at $10,088 or 10 times the threshold for disclosure of $1,000.³
 - v. The unregistered clubs also failed to provide all campaign-related material to the State Board such as literature sent by mail. Clubs not providing campaign-material to the Board are required to submit a disclaimer stating that no such materials were produced.
- 2. The State Board of Elections Did Not Investigate One Political Club's Activity or Fine Any of the 224 Clubs for Failing to Register as a Political Committee or Report Their Contribution Receipts or Expenses.
- 3. Lost Revenue from Penalties Would More than Pay for Enforcement Staff at State Board of Elections
 - a. If fined under the law for failure to register and disclose, 224 clubs would be subject to penalties totaling as much as $2.51 million.
 - b. The 18 enforcement unit staff the Board sought in the FY2014 budget could have been funded through assessed penalties.
- 4. Political Clubs Often Have Relationships with Incumbent Candidates and their Staffs Highlighting the Need for Disclosure. Many clubs do not register and disclose their campaign activity, making it unknowable if relationships between clubs and candidates resulted in coordinated campaign activities. While simple association between candidates and clubs is not coordination, coordination occurs when a candidate or his or her agents authorize, request, suggest, foster or cooperate in campaign activity with a political club on behalf of the candidate.⁴

³ The unreported dollar value of known transactions represents the tip of the iceberg, as the actual amounts may be far greater. Citizens Union was only able to determine that political clubs were engaged in reportable activity by examining the filings of candidate committees, unions and other political committees that reported on their filings transactions with the political clubs. If the political clubs engaged in other transactions with other entities or individuals not required to report to the State Board of Elections or with entities or individuals who are required to report but did not, these transactions would not be included as part of the total dollar value of transactions by the clubs. $89,511 of this total is unreported transactions from before 2009 but made known in filings by committees that reported engaging in transactions with political clubs between January 2009 and January 2013.

⁴ The State Board of Elections has not elaborated on what coordination is beyond defining what is independent in the context of defining what a contribution is not. The New York City Campaign Finance Board (CFB) in Advisory Opinion No. 2009-7 in determining whether a particular expenditure is independent (if it is not independent, it would be coordinated) stated that "[t]he critical question in every case is whether, in light of the facts and indicia

Coordination between a political club and candidate committee in furtherance of a candidate's campaign at a value in excess of the contribution limits for that office is not permissible in most instances. Citizens Union identified the following relationships between clubs and candidates demonstrating the need for disclosure (to read full descriptions of the information Citizens Union uncovered about the clubs, see section IX, page 23. To see all transactions between all clubs and candidate and political committees, see appendix B electronically attached as a separate file):

- a. The Bushwick United Democratic Club was founded by Assemblymember Vito Lopez. The club paid just $23,805 in rent or $198 a month to its landlord, Family Respite, a non-profit that is part of Ridgewood Bushwick Senior Citizens Council. Ridgewood Bushwick, in turn, is part of the network of non-profit organizations affiliated with Lopez. Councilmember Steve Levin used the Bushwick United Democratic Club for his campaign office in 2009.
- b. The Wood-Heights Democratic Club was founded by Assemblymember Michael DenDekker. The treasurer of the club is Assemblymember DenDekker's wife. The club's president is former campaign manager Manny Perez. The club collected petitions for DenDekker and conducted a fundraiser for him in 2012.
- c. Several Republican clubs in Nassau County- Elmont North Republican Club, Seaford Republican Club, and the North Bellmore Republican Club- are led by senior level employees working for the Supervisor of the Town of Hempstead Kate Murray. Murray's Chief of Staff Ray Mineo works for the Elmont North Republican Club. Her former Acting Director of the Town's Animal Shelter, Charles S. Milone runs the Seaford Republican Club. Two other senior level of non-independent activity, the campaign authorized, requested, suggested, fostered or otherwise cooperated in a third party's activity on the campaign's behalf, and if so, whether such activity was properly accounted for." The CFB in Rule 1-08(f)(1) stated that the "[f]actors for determining whether an expenditure is independent [of a candidate] include, but are not limited to:

- (i) whether the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure is also an agent of a candidate;
- (ii) whether the treasurer of, or other person authorized to accept receipts or make expenditures for, the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure is also an agent of a candidate;
- (iii) whether a candidate has authorized, requested, suggested, fostered, or otherwise cooperated in any way in the formation or operation of the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure;
- (iv) whether the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure has been established, financed, maintained, or controlled by any of the same persons, political committees, or other entities as those which have established, financed, maintained, or controlled a political committee authorized by the candidate;
- (v) whether the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure and the candidates have each retained, consulted, or otherwise been in communication with the same third party or parties, if the candidate knew or should have known that the candidate's communication or relationship to the third party or parties would inform or result in expenditures to benefit the candidate; and
- (vi) whether the candidate, any agent of the candidate, or any political committee authorized by the candidate shares or rents space for a campaign-related purpose with or from the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure."

The City Campaign Finance Board concludes based on these factors that the candidate or candidate's committee, "authorized, requested, suggested, fostered or otherwise cooperated with a third party's activity on the campaign's behalf", then the candidate and/or third party must prove otherwise (known as a "rebuttal presumption").

Town of Hempstead employees, John Reinhardt and Ronald Insigna are leaders of the North Bellmore Republican Club.

- d. The Tioga Carver Democratic Club's staff includes Assemblymember Denny Farrell's Chief of Staff, Reverend Alfred Taylor. Assemblywoman Gabriela Rosa serves as the club's treasurer. The club received $63,000 in payments to the club, including $30,500 in rent in 2011 and 2012, from Farrell's campaign committee. It also received from Councilmember Robert Jackson $10,650 in rent in 2009 and another $150 in 2012 for overdue rent.
 - e. The Guy R. Brewer United Democratic Club was led for decades by ex-Councilmember Artie Spigner, for whom Leroy Comrie served as Chief of Staff. Former State Senator Shirley Huntley paid the club $2,500 for a campaign office in 2010. Queens Borough President Helen Marshall paid the club $1,200 for campaign space in 2009 along with $300 for campaign signs.
 - f. The Martin Luther King Jr. Democratic Club has provided campaign space and services to several candidates. Public Advocate Bill deBlasio paid the Martin Luther King Jr. Democratic Club $3,300 for campaign space and get-out-the-vote (GOTV) activities between June and September 2009. Comptroller John Liu paid the club $3,500 for two weeks for campaign space and another $2,000 for petitioning in 2009. Attorney General Eric Schneiderman paid the Martin Luther King Jr. Democratic Club $400 for GOTV staging rental for his 2010 campaign for attorney general.
 - g. The North Brooklyn Independent Democratic Club has provided campaign services and space to candidates. Comptroller John Liu paid the club $1,000 for two weeks rent in 2009. Assembly candidate Deirdra Towns paid the Club $30,840 for Election Day services for a special election in 2011, and also paid $679 for rent and utilities.
 - h. The Stars and Stripes Democratic Club provided a campaign office to State Senate candidate Andrew Gounardes.
 - i. The Ridgewood Democratic Club prominently placed Assemblymember Cathy Nolan's name on a fundraising invitation.
 - j. The Ben Franklin Reform Democratic Club's former President is Assemblymember Jeffrey Dinowitz, who led the club three times.
 - k. The Chippewa Democratic Club was previously led by Councilmember Jimmy Vacca.
- 5. Lack of Enforcement Highlights Need for Campaign Finance Reform in Albany
- a. The State Board of Elections' inability to enforce current registration and disclosure requirements, and detect potential coordination between candidates and political clubs that may result in improper contributions, highlights the pressing need for a more independent oversight entity that is adequately funded.

B. Recommended Solutions

Citizens Union recommends the following solutions to address the lack of compliance with campaign finance disclosure laws by political clubs and potential coordination between candidates – including their candidate committees and agents – and political clubs.

1. The State Board of Elections should notify all political clubs of their obligation to register as a political committee and file required campaign finance reports.
2. Offer an amnesty program enabling clubs to register and file reports dating back one year while paying the lesser of a fine of $1,000 for failing to register and $1,000 for failing to file required reports or whatever the clubs actually owe for non-compliance.
3. The State Board of Elections should receive the $1.935 million it requested in a budget “side letter” to Budget Director Robert Megna for Fiscal Year 2013-2014 to hire personnel to fill 18 unfilled positions in the Board’s Enforcement and Campaign Finance Unit.
4. The State Board should promulgate rules pursuant to State Election Law Article 14(9)(3) defining more precisely what is coordination between a political club and candidate committee is.
5. Require political clubs, when registered as party or constituted committees, to adhere to the law requiring them to devise a formula for allocating expenditures to individual candidates when making expenditures on behalf of multiple candidates funded by political contributions to the club.
6. Governor Cuomo and the state legislature should pass comprehensive campaign finance reform that includes structural reforms related to disclosure and enforcement including:
 - A new, independent oversight and enforcement body with responsibility for public financing and all campaign finance law administration.
 - a. Give the Attorney General should be given the power to initiate investigates and prosecute alleged violations of the Election Law.
 - b. Allow only campaign committee should be authorized per candidate per election.
 - c. Fines should be significantly increased for exceeding contribution limits and violating campaign finance disclosure laws.

III. Introduction

Origin of the Report

Citizens Union began to look into the activity of political clubs in New York State as a result of the federal trials in 2011 and 2012 of New York City Councilmember Larry Seabrook. Seabrook was found guilty on 9 of 12 counts of corruption by a federal court, in the second attempt to convict him, of having directed discretionary funding to himself, friends and family members through non-profits he controlled rather than using the funds in their entirety for the community programs the funds were supposed to serve.⁵

Seabrook was also alleged to have laundered money through the political club he founded in 1986, the Northeast Bronx Community Democratic Club, for his personal expenses.⁶ While Seabrook was not found guilty of the three counts related to this allegation, it was established at the trial that his club received $50,000 in contributions between July 2006 and April 2009 from a contractor who received a $300,000 contract to install boilers at the new Yankee Stadium following Seabrook's recommendation of the contractor.⁷ The prosecution also put forth evidence that Seabrook had received payments from the club for travel to Florida, flights to Washington D.C., hotel rooms, gift cards at a local department store, luggage, books, meals at McDonald's and Dunkin Donuts, parking fines and flowers.⁸ Among these payments was a seemingly doctored $177 receipt for a bagel sandwich and Snapple.⁹ Seabrook was also alleged to have sought payment for some of these items twice, with the club paying for the items on his American Express card and for receipts submitted individually.¹⁰

William Lowe, Seabrook's former Chief of Staff in the City Council, who handled finances for the Northeast Bronx Community Democratic Club, testified during the trial that oversight of the club's finances was lax, and that he often signed blank checks for Councilmember Seabrook to pick up in the club's office.¹¹ According to Seabrook's lawyer Edward Wilford, none of this activity was illegal because political clubs can spend their money however they wish.¹²

During the course of the first trial of Seabrook in 2011, Citizens Union looked at campaign statements filed with the State Board of Elections (State Board) to determine if the Northeast Bronx Community Democratic Club was registered as a political committee as required by state election law. Although founded in 1986, the club never registered. Nor did it report its contributions like those from Arlington Leon Eastmond, the Bronx businessman who obtained the boiler installation contract. The club also never reported its many payments to Councilmember Seabrook or any of its expenditures. The failure to do so is a violation of state election law to the extent the club received or expended any money in connection with an election. It is also possible that Councilmember Seabrook coordinated his campaign activities with the political club he founded and for which his former Chief of Staff served as treasurer. A finding of coordination would make illegal the $50,000 contribution from Mr. Eastmond, as it far exceeds the limits on individual contributions to a Councilmember's campaign, which for the 2009 elections was $2,750 for the primary and general election combined.¹³

IV. Methodology

The information for this report was compiled by compiling all data from periodic campaign filings between January 2009 and January 2013 for all political committees registered with the State Board of Elections. Once a listing was created of all political committees' filings for 2009-2013, the data was winnowed down to only those committees which are political clubs by searching for different derivations of entities with the words "political club" or "club" in their name that were engaged in transactions with registered political committees that filed campaign finance reports with the Board.

This process yielded a spreadsheet containing 7,828 transactions between political committees and political clubs. The clubs engaged in these 7,828 transactions were compared with the State Board's list of registered political committees and registered clubs and their corresponding transactions were removed from the list. This resulted in a narrower list of 5,485 transactions involving unregistered political clubs and political committees like candidate committees, unions and others. Citizens Union then gave each unregistered political club with a similar name, taking into account addresses when available, a common name as an identifier. Grouping together the transactions for each unregistered club revealed the dollar value of unreported transactions engaged in by the club with political committees in New York State. The unreported dollar value of transactions engaged in by the political clubs represents the tip of the iceberg, as the actual amounts are likely larger. Citizens Union was only able to determine that political clubs were engaged in campaign activity by examining the filings of candidate committees, unions and other political committees that reported their transactions with the political clubs. If the political clubs engaged in other transactions with other entities or individuals not required to report to the State Board of Elections or with political committees which are required to report but did not, these transactions would not be included as part of the total dollar value of transactions by the clubs.

To determine if political candidates and committees were coordinating their campaign activity, Citizens Union in its online research of political clubs looked for relationships between candidates and the clubs that the New York City Campaign Finance Board has generally identified as factors indicating that coordination may have occurred.

V. About Political Clubs

Brief History

Political clubs have existed in New York since the Revolutionary War era, when clubs existed for loyalists, patriots, and even narrower sections of the population like religious affiliations.¹⁴ Political clubs gained strength during the late 19th and early 20th centuries, when they offered assistance and outreach to immigrants, and subsequently consistently delivered them as a voting bloc.¹⁵ Political clubs were essential to the political machines like Tammany Hall in the early 20th century, as they were a constant source of patronage jobs.¹⁶

In the 1940s and 1950s, clubs began to decline in power and influence. Prior to those decades the political party was more important than the individual elected official because of indirect primary elections and other structural differences.¹⁷ However, many political clubs were wracked by scandals after WWII which diminished political clubs' standing with the broader public. There were several other factors aside from scandals that contributed to the shift of power away from political clubs. The passage of the Hatch Act in 1940 barred federal employees from contributing funds to political organizations, including political clubs.¹⁸ Unionization also contributed to the decline of political clubs as unions organized politically and in the workplace undercutting the clubs' patronage power.¹⁹ It was estimated that in 1933 there were over 2,800 political clubs in New York City yet by the early 1970s the number dwindled to under 275 political clubs. Citizens Union estimates from our work on this report that there are at least 574 political clubs in New York State, 139 of which are in New York City.

Role of Political Clubs

Political clubs originated as a way to show support for a party and that underlying idea still exists today, even though the scope and power of political clubs have changed over time. Political clubs at their most powerful served as sources of patronage for party workers and assistance for the poor, but now their power has shifted to more mundane campaign legwork, including collecting signatures and registering voters.²⁰ More recently political clubs' power further declined because, in many instances, the government is now providing the services that the clubs used to provide.²¹ Clubs have also struggled to maintain their provision of jobs and services, because a greater share of their budgets goes to rent and other overhead expenses.²² Community boards have also ascended to power, and usurped responsibilities that political clubs used to possess; community boards are the most visible form of government as they hold several meetings per month that attract larger crowds than political club meetings.²³

One sphere in which political clubs have retained influence is choosing judicial nominations.²⁴ While patronage used to be the most prominent form of power for political clubs, the capabilities of political clubs to give out jobs has significantly decreased. Other roles and duties that political clubs perform include identifying candidates, serving as campaign launching points, registering voters, hosting speakers, serving as a campaign hub and gathering signatures.²⁵

Overall the reach of political clubs' power has declined significantly since the early 20th century. However, political clubs have been remarkably resilient, maintaining their relevance by adapting to different political environments over the past 200 years.

VI. Registration and Disclosure Requirements for Political Clubs

Political organizations involved in campaign activity in New York State are subject to certain requirements to ensure that the public is aware of their activities and that they abide by requirements of state law such as limits on the size of campaign contributions. This section provides a primer on the requirements for these groups, specifically looking at the requirements for political clubs.

Political Committees

In New York State, virtually any entity or any two or more people who work together to support or oppose an issue, political party, ballot proposal or candidate in connection with a vote at the ballot box must first register with the state or local boards of elections depending upon the anticipated dollar value of their campaign activity. These entities and individuals engaging in campaign activity are considered political committees.

There are different types of political committees under the law. Candidate committees are those authorized by candidate who is running for office or a party position. Party committees are those that are provided for in the rules of a political party. Official political parties are only those parties which received 50,000 or more votes in the last gubernatorial election.²⁶ Examples include the Democratic Assembly Campaign Committee (DACC) and the Senate Republican Campaign Committee (SRCC).²⁷ Constituted committees are committees associated with political parties that represent the party at the state, county or smaller political subdivision level.²⁸ Housekeeping committees are optional and formed only by party or constituted committees but are not permitted to engage in electioneering for specific candidates.²⁹ Other committees include unauthorized committees, which engage in independent expenditures uncoordinated with candidates, and political action committees (PACs) which are often formed by corporations and unions to make contributions to candidates.³⁰

It is not clear as to what type or types of committee political clubs should be registered. Among the 210 committees with “club” in their name that are registered with the State Board, 90 registered under the committee category of “Others”, 63 were registered as PACs, 12 as authorized candidate committees, 11 as party county committees, 14 as constituted county committees, and 19 as duly constituted subcommittees of a county committee. Four clubs were registered as housekeeping committees within these types of committees, and one club was a state constituted committee housekeeping committee. The type of committee a political club registers as is important because only party or constituted committees may make unlimited contributions to party nominees during a general election. All other committees are bound by the limits that apply to contributions.

Political clubs are among the subsets of groups specifically named in state law as political committees. Article 14, section 100 of New York State Election Law states that a political committee is the following:

“any corporation aiding or promoting and any committee, political club or combination of one or more persons operating or co-operating to aid or to promote the success or defeat of a political party or principle, or of any ballot proposal; or to aid or take part in the election or defeat of a candidate for public office or to aid or take part in the election or defeat of a candidate for nomination at a primary election or convention, including all proceedings prior to such primary election, or of a candidate for any party position voted for at a primary election, or to aid or defeat the nomination by petition of an independent candidate for public office; but nothing in this article shall apply to any committee or organization for the discussion or advancement of political questions or principles without connection with any vote or to a national committee organized for the election of presidential or vice-presidential candidates; provided, however, that a person or corporation making a contribution or contributions to a candidate or a political committee which has filed pursuant to section 14-118 shall not, by that fact alone, be deemed to be a political committee as herein defined.”³¹

Registration

Political clubs are political committees under the above definition if they operate or cooperate to, in connection with an election: promote the success or defeat of a political party or principle, a ballot proposal, a candidate for public office, or the nomination of a candidate by a party, including all proceedings prior to nomination. If a club intends to raise or spend more than $1,000 in a calendar year, it must register with the State Board of Elections prior to receiving or expending any funds and within 5 days of appointing a treasurer.³² If clubs intend to raise or spend or plan to raise or spend less than $1,000 in a calendar year, they must register with all local boards of election in which they are supporting or opposing candidates or ballot proposals.³³ Registration with the State Board is typically done by completing a CF-02 form. The CF-02 form, among other items, requires committees to indicate whether they will run a state or local campaign, which candidates or ballot proposals they will be supporting or opposing, the names of the treasurer and others designated to sign checks, the bank in New York State in which the committee will have an account, and the type of committee that is being registered.³⁴ According to the Board’s own campaign finance handbook, “this form must be filed...prior to receiving or expending any funds.”

³² Article 14-118 of Election Law states, “No officer, member or agent of any political committee shall receive any receipt, transfer or contribution, or make any expenditure or incur any liability until the committee shall have chosen a treasurer and depository and filed their names in accordance with this subdivision. There shall be filed in the office in which the committee is required to file its statements under section 14-110 of this article, within five days after the choice of a treasurer and depository, a statement giving the name and address of the treasurer chosen, the name and address of any person authorized to sign checks by such treasurer, the name and address of the depository chosen and the candidate or candidates or ballot proposal or proposals the success or defeat of which the committee is to aid or take part;...”

Disclosure of Campaign Activity

If an entity is registered as a political committee under State Election Law, it is only required to report its campaign activity to the State Board if it raises or spends or expects to raise or spend more than $1,000 in a calendar year. Section 102(4) of Article 14 states the following:

“Any committee which is required to file statements with any board of elections pursuant to this article and which raises or spends or expects to raise or spend more than one thousand dollars in any calendar year shall file all such statements pursuant to the electronic reporting system prescribed by the state board of elections as set forth in subdivision nine-A of section 3-102 of this chapter.”³⁵

Political clubs, like any political committee, therefore must report campaign activity to the State Board of Elections if they raise or spend or plan to raise or spend more than $1,000 in any calendar year. If a club spends less than $1,000 in any calendar year, it must file disclosure reports with the local board of elections of the county or city in which it is supporting or opposing candidates or ballot proposals.³⁶ If a club already is required to file with the State Board, it is not, however, required to additionally file with a local board.

Reporting by political clubs in non-election years to the local or state boards consists of two semi-annual reports in mid-January and mid-July. Even if political clubs do not engage in any activity in a given period, as political committees they are still required to file “non-activity reports” for the reporting period (interest and bank charges, for example, are considered to be activity even if no expenditures are made or receipts are received).³⁷ In election years, two additional reports are required before the primary and general elections and one report after each election. Below was the schedule for 2012 filings. The filing of reports in an election year largely mirrors the 2012 schedule:

Note: According to page 12 of the NYS Board of Elections’ Campaign Finance Handbook, If a committee raises or spends or intends to raise or spend less than $1,000 for an entire campaign in a political subdivision with under 10,000 people it must file a CF-05 form with the local boards of elections indicating it will not reach the $1,000 threshold that triggers campaign activity disclosure. A committee is also exempt from disclosure to local board(s) if they spend or raise $100 or less related to a ballot proposal or they raise or spend money only to influence the outcome of a vote on a town or village ballot proposal that is not during a November election.

In addition to these reports, during an election year filers are required to fax to the State Board any contribution or loan exceeding $1,000 within 24 hours in the 11 days before a primary and 14 days before a general election.³⁹ The two post election reports are also to include all campaign-related material submitted by mail or a disclaimer stating that no such materials were produced.⁴⁰

Penalties for failure to register as a political committee or file required disclosure reports vary from $1,000 to no more than $10,000 in civil penalties varying in severity based on the number of infractions in an election cycle.⁴¹ Any person knowingly and willingly failing to file required disclosure reports ten days after they are due is guilty of a misdemeanor under the law.⁴²

VII. Laws Pertaining to Coordination between Political Clubs and Candidates

Political clubs, like the committees formed by candidates to handle their contributions and expenses, are considered political committees if they operate or cooperate to, in connection with an election, promote the success or defeat of a political party or principle, a ballot proposal, a candidate for public office, or the nomination of a candidate by a party, including all proceedings prior to nomination. As described in the previous section, depending on the dollar value of their campaign activity, clubs are required to register with either the State Board of Elections or the local Board of Elections, and file campaign finance disclosure reports with the appropriate entity.

³⁸ Note that this report covers the previous year's contributions and expenses for a six month period.

Candidate committees and political clubs may coordinate with each other in furtherance of candidates' campaigns in limited circumstances. A political club that is a party or constituted committee may make contributions to and coordinate with a candidate who is party nominee. However, if it is spending on behalf of multiple candidates, for example in a party primary, it is required to devise a formula for allocating all contributions it spends on candidates so the value of expenditures can be determined for each candidate.⁴³ A political club that is not a party or constituted committee may also coordinate with a candidate committee in furtherance of a candidate's campaign provided the value of the expenditure does not exceed the contribution limit for the office the candidate is seeking. Below are the current contribution limits for selected state offices.⁴⁴

Contribution Limits
State Office	Individual Contribution Limit (Primary Election)	Individual Contribution Limit (General/Special Election)	Total
Statewide Office (Governor/Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, State Comptroller)	$19,700 (Democratic Primary)⁴⁵	$41,100	$60,800
State Senate	$6,500	$10,300	$16,800
State Assembly	$4,100	$4,100	$8,200

When political clubs do coordinate with a candidate committee in furtherance of the candidate's campaign, the candidate must report the coordinated expenditure made on the candidate's behalf by the club as a contribution on the candidate's filing.⁴⁶ The club must report it as an expenditure on behalf of the candidate.

Coordination between a political club and candidate committee occurs when the candidate or his or her agents authorize, request, suggest, foster or cooperate in any such [campaign] activity.⁴⁷ If political clubs do not coordinate with candidate committees, the clubs have made

⁴³ See Election Law Article 14-114(4)

⁴⁴ See NYS Board of Elections 2012 Contribution Limits. Available at: <http://www.elections.ny.gov/NYSBOE/Finance/2012ContributionLimits.pdf>

⁴⁵ Contribution limits for party primary elections are determined by the number of registered voters in the party, so may differ for each party.

⁴⁶ State Election Law Article 14(100)(9)(1) defines a "contribution" as:

(1) any gift, subscription, outstanding loan (to the extent provided for in section 14-114 of this chapter), advance, or deposit of money or any thing of value, made in connection with the nomination for election, or election, of any candidate, or made to promote the success or defeat of a political party or principle, or of any ballot proposal, (2) any funds received by a political committee from another political committee to the extent such funds do not constitute a transfer

an independent expenditure that is not a campaign contribution.⁴⁸ State Election Law Article 14-100(9)(3) states what is independent activity. The law states, “For purposes of this article, the term “independent of the candidate or his agents or authorized political committees” shall mean that the candidate or his agents or authorized political committees did not authorize, request, suggest, foster or cooperate in any such activity...”

To Citizens Union’s knowledge, the State Board to date has never investigated any instances of coordination between a candidate and a political club to determine whether contributions were not properly reported, and, if so, whether contribution limits were exceeded for a particular office.

If a person representing a candidate or political committee acts “under circumstances evincing an intent to violate” the law (which means clearly demonstrating intent) in excess of the limits for a particular office, he or she can be fined up to $10,000 in civil penalties in addition to being required to return the excess amount of the contribution.⁴⁹ Any person who “knowingly and willingly contributes, accepts or aids or participates” in the acceptance of contributions above the limits for a particular office is guilty of a misdemeanor.⁵⁰ Furthermore, any person who knowingly and willingly is involved in coordinating activities to evade contribution limits or Opinion No. 2009-7 in determining whether a particular expenditure is independent (if it is not independent, it would be coordinated) stated that “[t]he critical question in every case is whether, in light of the facts and indicia of non-independent activity, the campaign authorized, requested, suggested, fostered or otherwise cooperated in a third party’s activity on the campaign’s behalf, and if so, whether such activity was properly accounted for.” The CFB in Rule 1-08(f)(1) stated that the “[f]actors for determining whether an expenditure is independent [of a candidate] include, but are not limited to:

- (i) whether the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure is also an agent of a candidate;
- (ii) whether the treasurer of, or other person authorized to accept receipts or make expenditures for, the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure is also an agent of a candidate;
- (iii) whether a candidate has authorized, requested, suggested, fostered, or otherwise cooperated in any way in the formation or operation of the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure;
- (iv) whether the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure has been established, financed, maintained, or controlled by any of the same persons, political committees, or other entities as those which have established, financed, maintained, or controlled a political committee authorized by the candidate;
- (v) whether the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure and the candidates have each retained, consulted, or otherwise been in communication with the same third party or parties, if the candidate knew or should have known that the candidate’s communication or relationship to the third party or parties would inform or result in expenditures to benefit the candidate; and
- (vi) whether the candidate, any agent of the candidate, or any political committee authorized by the candidate shares or rents space for a campaign-related purpose with or from the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure.”

The City Campaign Finance Board concludes based on these factors that the candidate or candidate’s committee, “authorized, requested, suggested, fostered or otherwise cooperated with a third party’s activity on the campaign’s behalf”, then the candidate and/or third party must prove otherwise (known as a “rebuttal presumption”).

⁴⁸ State Election Law Article 14(100)(9)(3) in defining a “contribution” notes that “provided however, that none of the foregoing shall be deemed a contribution if it is made, taken or performed by a candidate or his spouse or by a person or a political committee independent of the candidate or his agents or authorized political committees.”

⁴⁹ See Election Law Article 14-126(2)

⁵⁰ See Election Law Article 14-126(4)

make expenditures in connection with a candidate's nomination or election is guilty of a class E felony.⁵¹ Class E felonies are the lowest felony charge, but by definition can be punished by imprisonment of one year or longer, and for current elected officials, would require their resignation.

VIII. Political Clubs' Undisclosed Activity and Relationships with Incumbent Candidates

Citizens Union found that between January 2009 and January 2013, 579 political clubs were engaged in transactions with candidate and other political committees. 224 political clubs whose transactions were $1,000 or more annually did not register with the State Board of Elections or their registrations were inactive.⁵² Sixty-seven clubs which were engaged in transactions between January 2009 and January 2013 did register with the State Board.⁵³ 67 of the political clubs complied with the law and registered with the State Board of Elections. 288 clubs were required to register with local boards of election because their cumulative transactions were less than $1,000 annually. It is unclear if they did so as Citizens Union did not review filings with local boards.

The 224 clubs who failed to register with the State Board also did not disclose their contributions and expenditures even though they were required to for at least one of those years under state election law, unless they did not receive or expend any money in connection with an election, an unlikely prospect given campaigning for favored candidates is a core function of political clubs. 118 of the clubs exceeded the $1,000 annual threshold for reporting in two or more years but did not report. In total, the 224 political clubs failed to file as many as 2,318 campaign finance reports between January 2009 and January 2013. Consequently, the clubs together if fined the maximum amount under the law for not complying would be subject to penalties totaling $2.51 million. Five clubs have already failed to file in 2013 even though they exceeded the $1000 threshold for the year by the January Periodic filing.

Citizens Union identified $2.27 million in transactions by the 224 political clubs required to register with the State Board that were not reported out of the 5,485 known transactions involving political clubs since January 2009. These same political clubs that did not disclose their political activity engaged in transactions valued, on average, at a minimum of $10,088, or 10 times the threshold for disclosure of $1,000.

The top 20 political clubs engaging in the most unreported transactions by dollar value are ranked in the next section. A full list of all 224 clubs exceeding the annual $1,000 threshold for disclosure is available in Appendix A, a separate spreadsheet from this report entitled Minimum Total Unreported Transactions by Political Clubs Ranked by Dollar Value.

⁵² 6 of the 224 clubs registered but their registrations are inactive.

⁵³ 210 clubs are registered in the State Board of Elections database, which contains all registrations. Citizens Union limited its review to activity between January 2009 and January 2013. Some clubs which are registered and in the State Board's database were not engaged in transactions with candidate and other political committees during the period.

The unreported dollar value of known transactions exceeding $1,000 annually represents the tip of the iceberg, as the actual amounts may be larger. Citizens Union was only able to determine that political clubs were receiving and expending money by examining the filings of candidate committees (on whose behalf the clubs typically make expenditures), unions and other political committees that reported on their filings transactions with the political clubs. If the political clubs engaged in other transactions with other entities or individuals not required to report to the State Board of Elections, or with entities or individuals who are required to report but did not, these transactions would not be included as part of the total annual or grand totals in the chart in the next section.

In addition to failing to register as a political committee and file required campaign finance disclosure reports with the State Board of Elections, the clubs also failed to provide all campaign-related material such as literature sent by mail. Clubs not providing campaign-material to the Board are required to submit a disclaimer stating that no such materials were produced.

Citizens Union also identified close political relationships between many elected officials and clubs among the top 20 engaged in the highest dollar value of transactions that we examined in greater detail. These relationships are permissible. However, because the political clubs fail to register and disclose their activity, Citizens Union is unable to determine if clubs coordinated with candidates in furtherance of their campaigns. Coordination occurs when a candidate or his or her agents authorize, request, suggest, foster or cooperate in campaign activity with a political club on behalf of the candidate.⁵⁴ While simple association is not coordination,

⁵⁴ The State Board of Elections has not elaborated on what coordination is beyond defining what is independent in the context of defining what a contribution is not. The New York City Campaign Finance Board (CFB) in Advisory Opinion No. 2009-7 in determining whether a particular expenditure is independent (if it is not independent, it would be coordinated) stated that “[t]he critical question in every case is whether, in light of the facts and indicia of non-independent activity, the campaign authorized, requested, suggested, fostered or otherwise cooperated in a third party’s activity on the campaign’s behalf, and if so, whether such activity was properly accounted for.” The CFB in Rule 1-08(f)(1) stated that the “[f]actors for determining whether an expenditure is independent [of a candidate] include, but are not limited to:

- (ii) whether the treasurer of, or other person authorized to accept receipts or make expenditures for, the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure is also an agent of a candidate;
- (iii) whether a candidate has authorized, requested, suggested, fostered, or otherwise cooperated in any way in the formation or operation of the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure;
- (iv) whether the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure has been established, financed, maintained, or controlled by any of the same persons, political committees, or other entities as those which have established, financed, maintained, or controlled a political committee authorized by the candidate;
- (v) whether the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure and the candidates have each retained, consulted, or otherwise been in communication with the same third party or parties, if the candidate knew or should have known that the candidate’s communication or relationship to the third party or parties would inform or result in expenditures to benefit the candidate; and coordination between a political club and candidate committee resulting in an in-kind contribution in excess of the contribution limits for that office is not permissible except in limited circumstances.

Citizens Union's research uncovered the following relationships between candidates (usually incumbents) and political clubs highlighting the need for disclosure:

- a. The Bushwick United Democratic Club was founded by Assemblymember Vito Lopez. The club paid just $23,805 in rent or $198 a month to its landlord, Family Respite, a non-profit that is part of Ridgewood Bushwick Senior Citizens Council. Ridgewood Bushwick, in turn, is part of the network of non-profit organizations affiliated with Lopez. Councilmember Steve Levin used the Bushwick United Democratic Club for his campaign office in 2009.
- b. The Wood-Heights Democratic Club was founded by Assemblymember Michael DenDekker. The treasurer of the club is Assemblymember DenDekker's wife. The club's president is former campaign manager Manny Perez. The club collected petitions for DenDekker and conducted a fundraiser for him in 2012.
- c. Several Republican clubs in Nassau County- Elmont North Republican Club, Seaford Republican Club, and the North Bellmore Republican Club- are led by senior level employees working for the Supervisor of the Town of Hempstead Kate Murray. Murray's Chief of Staff Ray Mineo works for the Elmont North Republican Club. Her former Acting Director of the Town's Animal Shelter, Charles S. Milone runs the Seaford Republican Club. Two other senior level Town of Hempstead employees, John Reinhardt and Ronald Insigna are leaders of the North Bellmore Republican Club.
- d. The Tioga Carver Democratic Club's staff includes Assemblymember Denny Farrell's Chief of Staff, Reverend Alfred Taylor. Assemblywoman Gabriela Rosa serves as the club's treasurer. The club received $63,000 in payments to the club, including $30,500 in rent in 2011 and 2012, from Farrell's campaign committee. It also received from Councilmember Robert Jackson $10,650 in rent in 2009 and another $150 in 2012 for overdue rent.
- e. The Guy R. Brewer United Democratic Club was led for decades by ex-Councilmember Artie Spigner, who Leroy Comrie was Chief of Staff for. Former State Senator Shirley Huntley paid the club $2,500 for a campaign office in 2010. Queens Borough President Helen Marshall paid the club $1,200 for campaign space in 2009 along with $300 for campaign signs.
- f. The Martin Luther King Jr. Democratic Club has provided campaign space and services to several candidates. Public Advocate Bill deBlasio paid the Martin Luther

(vi) whether the candidate, any agent of the candidate, or any political committee authorized by the candidate shares or rents space for a campaign-related purpose with or from the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure."

The City Campaign Finance Board concludes based on these factors that the candidate or candidate's committee, "authorized, requested, suggested, fostered or otherwise cooperated with a third party's activity on the campaign's behalf", then the candidate and/or third party must prove otherwise (known as a "rebuttal presumption").

- King Jr. Democratic Club $3,300 for campaign space and get-out-the-vote (GOTV) activities between June and September 2009. Comptroller John Liu paid the club $3,500 for two weeks for campaign space and another $2,000 for petitioning in 2009. Attorney General Eric Schneiderman paid the Martin Luther King Jr. Democratic Club $400 for GOTV staging rental for his 2010 campaign for attorney general.
- g. The North Brooklyn Independent Democratic Club has provided campaign services and space to candidates. Comptroller John Liu paid the club $1,000 for two weeks rent in 2009. Assembly candidate Deirdra Towns paid the Club $30,840 for Election Day services for a special election in 2011, and also paid $679 for rent and utilities.
 - h. The Stars and Stripes Democratic Club provided a campaign office to State Senate candidate Andrew Gounardes.
 - i. The Ridgewood Democratic Club prominently placed Assemblymember Cathy Nolan's name on a fundraising invitation.
 - j. The Ben Franklin Reform Democratic Club's former President is Assemblymember Jeffrey Dinowitz, who led the club three times.
 - k. The Chippewa Democratic Club was previously led by Councilmember Jimmy Vacca.

Below are brief summaries of known information about the top 20 political clubs appearing on the chart on page 9, including highlights of transactions identified by Citizens Union in reviewing the filings by the political clubs' counterparties in those transactions. For a full listing of all political clubs that did not report their receipts and expenditures, and all of the known transactions between those clubs and other political committees, see the separate PDF Excel spreadsheet entitled All Known Unreported Transactions by Political Clubs (Listed Alphabetically by Club).

Citizens Union believes all 224 clubs are required to register⁵⁵ and, to the extent they received or expended money in connection with an election, file campaign finance disclosure reports with the State Board of Elections. For the 20 clubs we researched in-depth, we identified relationships between particular clubs and candidates that reveal the need for disclosure of political activities of clubs. Without the disclosure we are unable to determine if clubs coordinated with candidates in furtherance of the candidates' campaigns. Candidates may coordinate with the clubs, if they report expenditures made on their behalf as in-kind contributions. If candidates coordinate with clubs any in-kind contributions may not exceed the value of contribution limits for the office the candidate was running for. Candidates can, however, coordinate with political clubs in furtherance of a candidate's general election campaign, provided the political club is a party committee and the candidate is the party nominee. A determination as to whether coordination occurred falls under the purview of the State Board of Elections.

1. Tioga Carver Democratic Club

(Minimum Unreported Transactions: $105,900)

The Tioga Carver Democratic Club, affiliated with Assemblymember Denny Farrell, Chair of the Assembly Ways and Means committee, has failed to disclose to the State Board contributions it has received and expenditures it has made despite exceeding by 19 times the threshold for reporting every year since 2009.⁵⁶ The club's Treasurer is Assemblywoman Gabriela Rosa, according to her Facebook page.⁵⁷ Its staff includes Reverend Alfred Taylor, who has been the New York City Chief of Staff to Assemblymember Farrell since 1984, and Earnestine Bell-Temple, who according to her LinkedIn page, is a Legislative Assistant in the Assembly.⁵⁸ Assemblymember Farrell pays rent to the club through his campaign committee, which totaled $30,500 in 2011 and 2012; payments from Farrell's campaign committees to the club, including rent, totaled $63,000 since 2009. Councilmember Robert Jackson's campaign committee also paid the club rent, $10,650 in 2009 and another $150 in 2012 for overdue rent in 2005. A large contributor is the Manhattan Connection PAC, which made $19,000 in contributions to the club in 2009. The Manhattan Connection PAC was able to contribute to Farrell's club because it received a $40,452 transfer from Farrell's 2009 exploratory committee in May of that year after having a negative balance at the beginning of the year.⁵⁹ The National Leadership PAC run by Congressional member Charles Rangel gave $2,000 to the club in 2012. It is less clear what the club spends its money on. It carried petitions for State Senator Bill Perkins' candidacy in 2010⁶⁰, and received a payment from mayoral candidate Bill Thompson for Election Day Operations in 2009. The New York County Democratic committee paid the club in 2010 for GOTV (Get-Out-The-Vote) from its non-campaign housekeeping account. The club endorsed Mark Green for Public Advocate in 2009⁶¹, Adriano Espaillat for State Senate in 2010⁶², and Charles Rangel in 2012 for U.S. Congress.⁶³ While it was suggested to Citizens Union that the club does not engage in activities in connection with any election, the transactions we identified appeared to indicate otherwise.

2. Elmont North Republican Club

(Minimum Unreported Transactions: $54,849)

Located in the Town of Hempstead in Nassau County, the Elmont North Republican Club was formed in 1926, and remains active today, meeting monthly except during the summer.⁶⁴ In 2002, it even had its own baseball team, although it is unknown whether it still fields a squad.⁶⁵ The club is led by Ray Mineo and its President is Joseph Depano.⁶⁶ According to his LinkedIn page, Ray Mineo is the Chief of Staff for the Town of Hempstead, and Joseph Depano is also an employee of the town government according to the SeeThrough NY database of government employees.⁶⁷ The second largest known recipient of the club's contributions is the Supervisor of the Town of Hempstead, Kate Murray, who has received $6,075 from the club since 2009. Very little is known about how the club spends its money beyond making contributions. They do hold an annual clam bake attended by at least some local officials.⁶⁸

3. Benjamin Franklin Reform Democratic Club

(Minimum Unreported Transactions: $52,375)

The self-described “premier political club in the Bronx” formed in 1959 is not in compliance with the law regarding disclosure of its contributions and expenditures. Its website details its activities which include endorsing candidates, hosting candidate debates and providing “plenty of opportunities to get involved in campaigns for positions at all levels of government.”⁶⁹ The club serves the 81st state assembly district, and counts among its “members and friends” Assemblymember Jeffrey Dinowitz, Councilmember Oliver Koppell, Congressman Eliot Engel, and State Senators Jeffrey Klein, Gustavo Rivera and Adriano Espaillat. Its website also lists Eric Schneiderman as a member, although it is unclear if he still is involved, as he is no longer a local representative in his capacity as State Attorney General. The club’s President is Ellen Feld, but it is reported to be unofficially run by Assemblymember Dinowitz⁷⁰, who was its President three times in the past and inherited the mantle of the club when Oliver Koppell became Attorney General in 1993.⁷¹ Citizens Union identified contributions received but not reported by the club from committees and PACs of Senator Jeff Klein, Senator Adriano Espaillat, Assemblymember and Bronx Democratic Committee Chair Carl Heastie, and even Governor Cuomo. Dinowitz has been one of the biggest backers of the club, contributing $15,850 since 2010, including $2,000 for club renovations. Labor PACs, including the United Federation of Teachers (UFT) and DC37, contributed $4,950 to the club since 2009. It is clear that the club has received many more contributions than those identified by Citizens Union, as the 100PercentBronx blog posted in October 2012 a fundraiser invitation from the club held at the home of endorsed council candidate Andrew Cohen, with tickets ranging from $40 to $550.⁷²

Citizens Union's review of filings made by other committees revealed that the Nassau County Republican Committee was the largest recipient of the club's contributions, receiving $36,767. Other recipients include Town of Hempstead Supervisor Kate Murray, who has received $4,125 since 2009. It is not known who funds the club. The club does hold an annual rally with other local political clubs for members and their friends to drink beer and eat hot dogs while mingling with local elected officials ranging from Congressman Peter King to state senators, assemblymembers, and judicial candidates.⁷³ An annual brunch raises additional funds, but the contributions remained veiled. Local businessman Carl Vernick is promoted as a "great supporter" on the club's website, but it is unclear what form the support takes.⁷⁴ The club is run by committeeman Charles S. Milone, who made $122,189 while working for the Hempstead Town Government in 2011 as an Acting Director of the Town's Animal Shelter. He was removed as Acting Director under allegations and an investigation by both the Town Government itself (headed by Murray) and the Nassau District Attorney's Office that animals were neglected and abused while the animal shelter, known as a haven for patronage, had a budget of $7.1 million rivaling that of Chicago's.⁷⁵

5. Chairman's Club

Citizens Union's review of filings identified numerous clubs dubbed "Chairman's Club" but it was often difficult to distinguish them from each other since every individual club with the name did not register or file required reports with the State Board. Clubs simply referred to as "Chairman's Club" appeared in Cortland and Westbury, New York and as part of longer club names throughout New York State more specifically tied to the location where they exist. A mysterious contribution of $50,000, labeled as an expense on the July 2011 periodic filing of a NYS Independence Party Housekeeping committee account, was given to a "Chairman's Club" with no address or geographic identifying information. It was the largest donation discovered by Citizens Union to a political club.

Heastie, State Senator Jeffrey Klein, Councilmember Jimmy Vacca (the Club's former President), and Assemblymember Michael Benedetto among others.⁷⁷ The biggest recipient of the club's largesse in recent years according to a review of filings of committees in transactions with the club is Assemblymember Michael Benedetto, who as a former teacher once taught special education teacher training courses at the club. Benedetto has received $13,500 in contributions from the club since 2009 and, in turn, has given the club $1,035 for dinner dance and party tickets, advertisements and club dues. Other supporters of the club include labor PACs like the UFT, the Uniform Firefighters Association, the Plumbers Local Union No. 1, Steamfitters Local 638, TWU Local 100, and the Retirees Association of DC37, who have contributed a combined $12,175 since 2009. It is unknown how much money the club brings in its entirety or what it spends it on beyond dinners and parties.

7. Thomas Jefferson Democratic Club

(Minimum Unreported Transactions: $48,136)

The Thomas Jefferson Democratic Club is the oldest political club in Brooklyn at 57 years, and has been home to some of New York's most powerful politicians including Assembly Speakers Stanley Fink and Mel Miller, and Herb Berman, former City Council Finance Committee Chairman.⁷⁸ Today it counts among its members newly minted Brooklyn Democratic County Chair Frank Seddio and Councilmember Lew Fidler, although its membership – and power – have waned since kingmaker Meade Esposito ran the club and “made judges, controlled school and community boards, and handed out thousands of jobs to party loyalists.”⁷⁹ Ethical transgressions and outright corruption have tainted some club members. Carl Kruger, a club member and former State Senator, was jailed for pleading guilty to four felonies related to mail and wire fraud and bribery.⁸⁰ The full scope of the club's revenues and expenditures today are not known since it did not report its political activity as required, although it has received numerous small contributions from candidates and elected officials related to club events. More recently, the club has been actively promoting current assemblyman Alan Maisel's campaign for city Council. The club's Facebook page had two posts advertising that the club would be open on February 21st to “kick off Alan Maisel's campaign for New York City Council.”⁸¹ Contributors to the club identified by Citizens Union include Governor Andrew Cuomo, Mayor Michael Bloomberg, Brooklyn Borough President Marty Markowitz, Councilmember Lew Fidler ($4,448 dating back to 2008), State Senator Eric Adams, Comptroller

Five hundred seventy people attended the club's 57th annual dinner in 2012 but the revenue from the event was not reported.⁸²

8. North Woodmere Republican Club

(Minimum Unreported Transactions: $47,435)

The North Woodmere Republican Club, based in the hamlet of Woodmere in Nassau County, was only recently formed in 2007. Since then, its known activity largely consists of making contributions to the Nassau County Republican committee, totaling $43,225 of the $47,435 in transactions identified by Citizens Union. The club, however, also collects contributions openly online to "carry on a successful campaign in honor of all of our candidates" but has not reported any of its contributions or expenditures as a political committee.⁸³ The club's Leader is Stanley Kopilow, whose wife Robyn works for the Hempstead Town Government earning $50,411 in 2010. The Town of Hempstead Supervisor Kate Murray has contributed $1,400 to the club since 2009. The club's President is Garrett Gray, an attorney who represents Temple Israel of Lawrence (for which Kopilow is also First Vice President⁸⁴) which is seeking a major zoning variance from the Village of Lawrence's Zoning Board.⁸⁵ Because the club has not filed disclosure reports required by law, it is unknown whether the club has made expenditures on behalf of candidates for Village of Lawrence government or the incumbent Mayor, Deputy Mayor or Trustees.

9. Ridgewood Democratic Club

(Minimum Unreported Transactions: $47,225)

The Ridgewood Democratic Club has existed for 105 years, making it the oldest political club in Queens and one that is frequently visited by Queens elected officials. Councilmember Jimmy Van Bramer.⁸⁶ Hosting events is one of the functions of the club. In addition to the annual brunch, it also hosts an annual dinner dance. The 2011 dinner dance was held at Ricardo's in Astoria and offered cocktails and dinner for $75 according to an invitation from Assemblymember Cathy Nolan and the Ridgewood Democratic Club, along with the opportunity to buy ads in the dinner journal ranging in price from $35 (booster) to $500 (gold page).⁸⁷ Citizens Union identified some contributions to this dinner in filings to the State Board of Elections by other political committees, but the club itself failed to register as a political committee and report its contributions and expenditures. Of the $47,225 in transactions by the club discovered by Citizens Union, $30,050 were contributions from labor-related committees including New York State Laborers' Political Action Committee ($5,650), the United Federation of Teachers ($3,275), the New York State AFL-CIO ($2,250), Steamfitters Local 638 PAC ($2,125), and the Plumbers Local Union No. 1 NYC Political Action Committee ($2,025). Assemblymember Cathy Nolan contributed the most among elected officials with $2,750, followed by Senator Addabbo with $2,500 and City Councilmember Jimmy Van Bramer with $2,150. Due to the lack of campaign finance filings by the club, it is not known how the club spent any of this money.

10. 54th A.D. Democratic Club

(Minimum Unreported Transactions: $46,100)

Citizens Union was able to find little information about the 54th A.D. Democratic Club. It is based in the fifty-fourth state assembly district in Brooklyn and endorsed State Senator Velmanette Montgomery in 2010.⁸⁸ Other local elected officials serving the area include State Senator Martin Malave Dilan, and Assemblymember Rafael Espinal. Erik Martin Dilan is the Councilmember serving the area. Contributions identified by Citizens Union to the 54th assembly district club were almost entirely real estate and labor-related political action committees (PACs). The contributions from real estate trade associations likely reflect that the area is a base of power for Assemblymember Vito Lopez, who was the Chair of the Assembly Housing committee and former Chair of the Brooklyn Democratic Party before being stripped of these leadership positions when the Assembly Ethics committee sanctioned him for sexually harassing young female staffers and interns. The Neighborhood Preservation PAC gave $15,000 to the club from 2011 to 2012. The Rent Stabilization Association and the Real Estate Board of New York contributed $7,500 and $5,000, respectively, to the club in 2011. On the labor side, the Plumbing Contractors PAC of the City of New York contributed $10,500 to the club. It is

11. Martin Luther King Jr. Democratic Club

(Minimum Unreported Transactions: $42,740)

The Martin Luther King Jr. Democratic Club is the home club for Congressman Charles Rangel in addition to Councilmember Inez Dickens in Harlem. In 2012, the club was heavily involved in the reelection efforts of Congressman Rangel who was facing a competitive election against State Senator Adriano Espaillat in part as a result of Rangel being censured on the floor of the House of Representatives after being found guilty of 11 charges against him by the House Ethics Committee.⁸⁹ Yet the club did not register with the State Board of Elections as a political committee, nor make known its contributions and expenditures. News reports during the 2012 campaign indicated that Councilmember Inez Dickens and her senior aide Lynette Velasco worked out of the club to assist the Rangel campaign.⁹⁰ A photograph of the club during the campaign season reveals an awning specifically calling for the re-election of Congressman Rangel and other local officials urging them to vote during the Democratic primary and on Election Day.⁹¹ Citizens Union identified several transactions between the club and Councilmember Dickens for rent payments. Between June and November 2009, Dickens paid the club $4,125, or $750 a month and $350 for November, albeit the rent liabilities initially reported by Councilmember Dickens were $6,000. Dickens also made a payment to the club for “support of political activities” of $8,500 in 2012.

While Citizens Union only reviewed state campaign finance filings to uncover political transactions by the club, federal campaign finance filings reveal that Charles Rangel also contributed $6,750 to the club during the 2012 election cycle.⁹² Current Public Advocate Bill de Blasio and Comptroller John Liu also paid rent to the club during their 2009 citywide campaigns, with de Blasio paying $3,300 for space between June and September for get-out-the-vote (GOTV), and Liu paying $3,500 for two weeks for space for GOTV and another $2,000 for petitioning (it is unclear as to why de Blasio’s rent was cheaper for a longer stay). The New York State Democratic Committee paid $5,000 to the club for “GOTV support” and the county committee chipped in another $750 but reported it under non-campaign housekeeping expenses. Eric Schneiderman also paid the club $400 for “GOTV staging rental” for his 2010 Attorney General campaign, while District Attorney candidate Cyrus Vance wrote a check to the club for $1,500 to reimburse election-day expenses. A number of other payments identified by Citizens Union were for tickets to club events with judicial candidates Lucy Billings, Rita Mella,

12. Guy R. Brewer United Democratic Club

(Minimum Unreported Transactions: $39,040)

Nearing 58 years old, the Guy R. Brewer United Democratic Club in southeastern Queens has an illustrious history as a club that once challenged candidates favored by the Democratic Party County committees and elected African-Americans to office for the first time including in 1964, the first black Assemblymember from Queens and in 1974, the first black Councilmember.⁹³ The latter was Archie Spigner, who became Deputy Majority Leader of the Council and held the seat until 2001 when he was succeeded by his Chief of Staff, Leroy Comrie.⁹⁴ Spigner, now 84 years old, is still a district leader and executive member at the club that he ran for four decades.⁹⁵ While the club has a storied history, it has not registered with the State Board as required as a political committee nor filed campaign finance reports even though it has raised funds and been involved in campaigns in recent years. A New York Times article in 2009 detailed the clubs' efforts to back Councilmember Comrie who faced upstart Clyde Vanel in the election that year. The story also details the club's focus on loyal dues-paying members, of which the club had 1,400 in 2005, the largest in the country at that time.⁹⁶ The club has also drawn revenues from dinner dances, like its 56th annual dance in 2011, which charged $85 per person.⁹⁷ None of these contributions were identified in Citizens Union's review of the club's political activity, as the club did not register as a political committee. We did, however, discover $8,400 in contributions from State Senator Malcolm Smith, and $4,850 in payments from Councilmember Comrie, who paid the club $1,200 in rent in 2009, the year he faced off against Vanel while initially reporting the rent as a liability valued at $2,400. Queens Borough President Helen Marshall also paid the club $1,200 for space that year as well as another $300 for campaign signs. Former State Senator Shirley Huntley, who has since been convicted of spending taxpayer funds directed to a sham non-profit organization, paid the club $2,500 for a "campaign office" during her 2010 campaign. The New York State Democratic Committee chipped in another $3,500 that year for "GOTV support." Beyond elected officials, the club has been backed by labor organizations to the tune of $6,360, most notably $3,375 from the Amalgamated Transit Union.

13. Bushwick United Democratic Club

The Bushwick United Democratic Club was founded by Assemblymember Vito Lopez in 1984 when he launched his political career in running for the Assembly. The club, like much of Vito Lopez's political work, is intertwined with the vast network of non-profit organizations that Lopez leads under the umbrella of the Ridgewood Bushwick Senior Citizens Council, a target of both federal and local corruption investigations. District Leader Maritza Davila, for whom Lopez funded a $45,000 project position at Ridgewood Bushwick, is the district leader affiliated with Bushwick United Democratic Club.⁹⁸ According to a 2010 article in the Brooklyn Paper, the club has rented since 1997 the first floor of a building owned by Brooklyn Queens Family Respite, one of the many non-profits that are affiliated with Ridgewood Bushwick and in 2010 received $1 million in government funds.⁹⁹ The club paid just $23,805 in total rent from 2000-2009 to Family Respite, a monthly average of just $198, seemingly far below the market rate.¹⁰⁰ The club failed to report its rent payments along with all other expenditures and contributions to the State Board of Elections because it is not registered as a political committee and has failed to complete required campaign finance reports, which the Brooklyn Paper pointed out in 2010. Three years later, the club continues to violate disclosure laws despite being actively involved in campaign work.

Citizens Union's review found that Lopez's campaign committee has contributed $16,800 to the club since 2009, followed by the Real Estate Board PAC with $5,000 and another $5,000 from the campaign committee of Carl Kruger, the former State Senator who has since been sentenced to seven years imprisonment for corruption. These contributions represent $26,800 of the $37,600 in undisclosed transactions with political committees identified by Citizens Union, and there may very well be many more. The Village Voice reported in 2010 that Lopez gave $50,000 to the club to produce a newspaper that sings his praises.¹⁰¹ Chris Olechowski, a Lopez-backed candidate for district leader in 2012, used the Bushwick United Democratic Club to do his campaign mailings.¹⁰² According to the Daily News, the club's spokesperson noted in Councilmember Steve Levin apparently used the political club for his campaign office during his 2009 race.¹⁰⁴ Yet none of these expenditures were reported by the club. The club's inability to follow campaign finance laws is just one of many problems springing up for Lopez. Since last August, Lopez was found by the Assembly Ethics committee to have sexually harassed staff and interns, and was stripped of his Housing Committee chairmanship and ousted as Chair of the Brooklyn Democratic County Committee.

14. North Bellmore Republican Club

(Minimum Unreported Transactions: $36,380)

North Bellmore Republican Club in the Town of Hempstead, founded in 1942, has engaged in at least $36,380 in unreported transactions according to Citizens Union's review of campaign finance filings by counterparties to those transactions. Like several other Republican clubs in Nassau County in our Top 20, the club's largest beneficiary is the Nassau County Republican committee, which received $25,400 of that total since 2009. Town of Hempstead Supervisor Kate Murray received another $5,575 along with smaller payments to judges and judicial candidates. It is not known from whom the club raises its money or the full scope of all its contributions, as it has not filed as a political committee and completed requisite contribution and expenditure reports. The club holds an annual picnic, and a description of the organization from a posting regarding the 2010 picnic states that the club is a "[l]ocal political organization dedicated to the support of Republican Candidates and Elected Officials representing the North Bellmore Community."¹⁰⁵ Congressman Peter King on his website references attending the annual picnic in the update of his whereabouts between July 15th and 18th of 2010. The club's leader is John "Jay" Reinhardt, who also happens to work for the Town of Hempstead run by Supervisor Kate Murray, where he earned a salary of $129,743 in 2012. Ronald Insigna, the club's president, also works for the Town of Hempstead and earned in $120,419 in 2012.

15. Wood-Heights Democratic Club

(Minimum Unreported Transactions: $35,985)

The Wood-Heights Democratic Club, serving Jackson Heights and Woodside, was founded by Assemblymember Michael DenDekker, who also is the district leader for the 34th Assembly

District Part B.¹⁰⁶ DenDekker has received the most in contributions from the club, $11,230 since 2009, and his wife Angela serves as the club's treasurer.¹⁰⁷ Labor organizations, led by various locals of the International Union of Operating Engineers (IUOE), gave a combined $15,055 to the club. Many of the same labor organizations also contributed directly to DenDekker's campaign committee. The club appears to have openly coordinated with DenDekker's 2012 campaign for the Assembly, with Club President and former DenDekker campaign manager Manny Perez noting on the club's Meetup site on June 27th that, "[t]his coming Wednesday, after work, we will have a 'friends and neighbors' fundraiser for Mike at Cassidy's Ale House... Mike is really happy with our support and wanted to have a small get together before petitioning is over."¹⁰⁸ The Meetup site also issued several calls for volunteers to petition for Mike on June 9th, 10th, 16th, 17th, 23rd and 24th, awarding those who got 20 signatures with a free burger and fries from Mike.¹⁰⁹ DenDekker did report on his own candidate committee's 10-day post primary filing in 2012 receiving a contribution from the club for $4,100 dated September 12, 2012. However, this contribution comes long after the club appeared to assist the Assemblymember with petitioning and fundraising in June. The club did not file any of its required campaign finance filings (even while having its own legal counsel) so it did not report any expenditures made on behalf of DenDekker or any other campaign activities. It is therefore difficult to know whether DenDekker should have reported club activities made in coordination with the candidate as in-kind contributions. There is no doubt the club is generally involved in campaign activities beyond assisting DenDekker, noting on November 14th of this past year on its MeetUp site that "we all participated in supporting Assemblyman Michael DenDekker, our local senators... Congressman Joe Crowley, Senator Gillibrand, our new Supreme Court and Civil Court judges, democratic candidates in neighboring districts, and of course, the nation's best leader and hope for the future: President Barack Obama. Each in our own way were very valuable: Some of us worked directly in different campaigns or electoral activities...." The club does engage in other activities beyond campaigning, for example conducting cleanups to beautify the community.¹¹⁰ It holds an annual dinner dance/fundraiser that drew over 300 people in 2010, charging $75 a ticket.¹¹¹ None of these contributions were reported to the State Board of Elections.

16. Stonewall Democratic Club of New York City

(Minimum Unreported Transactions: $35,305)

The Stonewall Democratic Club, founded in 1986, was organized for among other things “to seek, encourage, and support candidates to public and party office, including qualified members of the LGBT community, who will publicly support and promote issues affecting the LGBT community” and to “to promote participation by members of the LGBT community in the Democratic Party.”¹¹² The club has not registered with the State Board of Elections as a political committee or filed required campaign finance reports despite clearly being involved in campaign activities. In July 2012, the club held a fundraiser for Judge Rita Mella—who was running for Manhattan Surrogate Judge and has since been elected—at the Nowhere Bar in the East Village.¹¹³ In 2010, the club held a pre-Election Day rally with Lieutenant Governor Robert J. Duffy as the keynote speaker.¹¹⁴ Other speakers attending the rally who were also candidates on the ballot were Congressional members Carolyn B. Maloney and Jerrold Nadler, State Comptroller Thomas DiNapoli, State Senator Diane Savino, and Assemblymembers Jonathan Bing, Deborah Glick, Richard Gottfried, and Daniel O'Donnell.¹¹⁵ Citizens Union identified unreported transactions between 86 political committees, 84 of them candidate committees, and the Stonewall Democratic Club reflecting the depth of support for the club in New York City. Virtually all of these transactions were small-dollar exchanges, the largest being a reported outstanding liability of the Melinda Katz for New York campaign committee of $2,700 to the club. While Citizens Union identified transactions between the club and 30 different political committees, the club has contributions it did not report, as it has not registered as a political committee. On May 19, 2011, it held its 25th Year Anniversary Silver Jubilee at Woolworth Tower Kitchen.¹¹⁶ General admission tickets were $100 with sponsor tickets costing as much as $1,000.¹¹⁷ It also collects individual membership dues which range between $13 and $35, according to its website. It is not known precisely what the club spends its money on besides contributions to candidates, events like hosting candidate forums, holiday parties and other activities.

club has not registered with the State Board of Elections as a political committee nor has it filed required campaign finance reports despite clearly being involved in campaign activities. The club's offices are located next to former Assemblymember Darryl Towns' district office, and the two offices have been accused of being closely coordinated.¹¹⁸ Darryl Towns ran unsuccessfully for district leader in the 54th assembly district, a position that works closely with political clubs. The club unanimously endorsed Deidra Towns, sister of Darryl Towns and daughter of Congressman Ed Towns, for the assembly district in a special election held in 2011. Contributions to the club that were identified by Citizens Union between 2009 and the present totaled $34,894; $32,819 of those contributions came from entities related to Deidra Towns' campaign. Towns for Assembly gave the club $30,840 for Election Day services, and also paid $679 for rent and utilities. Additionally, the club received money from Betty J. Williams, a Brooklyn judge, and $1,000 for two weeks rent from City Comptroller John Liu. Another Brooklyn judge, Deborah Dowling, reported paying $75 for a ticket to an awards dinner. As there is no other record of the Awards Dinner, it remains unknown how much money the dinner raised, and how the money was spent from all of these contributions.

18. Massapequa South Republican Club

The Massapequa South Republican Club is located in Nassau County in the Town of Oyster Bay. Despite making contributions to several campaigns, the club has not registered as a political committee, and therefore the public cannot track its contribution and expenditure history. The leader of the club, Lenny Genova, was formerly the Deputy Supervisor of Oyster Bay under Supervisor John Venditto. In 2010, Genova left the Deputy Supervisor's office to become the Town Attorney, though he retained some of the responsibilities of his old office.¹¹⁹ The President of the Club is an MTA policeman and an employee of the Town of Oyster Bay. Supervisor Venditto has received the most in contributions made by the club, having received $16,225 from the club since 2008. The club also made contributions to several other local candidates, in addition to local Republican and Independence party committees. The campaigns of Joe Belesi and Steve Labriola disclosed incoming transfers from the club of $200 and $390 respectively.

19. Lexington Democratic Club

(Minimum Unreported Transactions: $29,876)

The Lexington Democratic club, located in Manhattan, enjoys a broad base of support, as Citizens Union identified contributions from almost 70 different committees, many of which were for an annual benefit dinner, which was held at the Yale Club in 2012. Tickets started at $175 per person, and cost up to $1,000, but the club reported neither the proceeds from the dinner nor how they were spent. Many of the contributions were small donations, with the most being a combined $1,800 made by Assemblymember Micah Kellner since 2009. We know little as to how the club spends its money, although it cites electing Democrats as one of its goals. It did receive funds from the New York County Democratic Committee for GOTV (Get-Out-The-Vote) and made a small contribution to the New York State Young Democrats.

20. Stars and Stripes Democratic Club

(Minimum Unreported Transactions: $29,870)

The Stars and Stripes Democratic Club is located in the 49th assembly district in South Brooklyn. Despite receiving contributions from many campaigns, the club has not registered as a political committee. The president of the club, Joe Bova, is also the male district leader of the 49th assembly district. The assembly campaign of Peter Abbate, the district's assemblyman, contributed $20,500, far more than any other person or entity donated to the club. According to the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, Abbate launched his 2010 assembly campaign at an event at the club.¹²⁰ In the most recent election cycle, Andrew Gounardes, a Democratic candidate for State Senate, opened a campaign office in the Stars and Stripes Club¹²¹; the female district leader, Betty Ann Canizio, aggregated photos from the office's opening in a YouTube video.¹²² There is no record, however, of Gounardes paying rent for the office, nor is there disclosure of an in-kind contribution to his campaign. The club also holds an annual fundraising dinner, but doesn't disclose how much money it raises, or how it spends the funds—in apparent violation of state law.

X. Citizens Union Recommended Solutions

Citizens Union recommends the following solutions to address the lack of compliance with campaign finance disclosure laws by political clubs and potential coordination between candidates – including their candidate committees and agents – and political clubs.

1. The State Board of Elections should notify all political clubs of their obligation to register as a political committee and file required campaign finance reports.
2. As part of that notification process for the clubs who have not previously reported, the State Board may wish to offer an amnesty program enabling clubs to register and file reports dating back one year while paying the lesser of a fine of $1,000 for failing to register and $1,000 for failing to file required reports or whatever the clubs actually owe for non-compliance. Clubs that fail to file during the amnesty period should be penalized to the fullest extent of the law for all years in which they did not comply.
3. The State Board of Elections should receive the $1.935 million it requested in a budget “side letter” to Budget Director Robert Megna for Fiscal Year 2013-2014. The additional funds will fill 18 unfilled positions in the Board’s Enforcement and Campaign Finance Unit and allow for modernization of its computer systems to facilitate candidate and campaign financial disclosure.
4. The State Board should promulgate rules pursuant to State Election Law Article 14(9)(3) defining more precisely what coordination between a political club and candidate committee is. The State Board should identify specific factors that may be indicative of campaign coordination so it would be clearer to candidates and their committees specific actions that would be considered authorizing, requesting, suggesting, fostering or cooperating in any such activity with a political club.¹²³ The

¹²³ The State Board of Elections has not elaborated on what coordination is beyond defining what is independent in the context of defining what a contribution is not. The New York City Campaign Finance Board in Advisory Opinion No. 2009-7 in determining whether a particular expenditure is non-independent (meaning coordinated) or independent, stated that “[t]he critical question in every case is whether, in light of the facts and indicia of non-independent activity, the campaign authorized, requested, suggested, fostered or otherwise cooperated in a third party’s activity on the campaign’s behalf, and if so, whether such activity was properly accounted for.” The CFB in Rule 1-08(f)(1) stated that the “[f]actors for determining whether an expenditure is independent [of a candidate] include, but are not limited to:

- (i) whether the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure is also an agent of a candidate;
- (ii) whether the treasurer of, or other person authorized to accept receipts or make expenditures for, the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure is also an agent of a candidate;
- (iii) whether a candidate has authorized, requested, suggested, fostered, or otherwise cooperated in any way in the formation or operation of the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure;
- (iv) whether the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure has been established, financed, maintained, or controlled by any of the same persons, political committees, or other entities as those which have established, financed, maintained, or controlled a political committee authorized by the candidate;
- (v) whether the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure and the candidates have each retained, consulted, or otherwise been in communication with the same third party or parties, if the Board should also presume coordination occurred when certain factors are met and require that candidates or clubs rebut a presumption of coordination, as is done by the New York City Campaign Finance Board.

5. Require political clubs, when registered as party or constituted committees, to adhere to the law requiring them to devise a formula for allocating expenditures to individual candidates when making expenditures on behalf of multiple candidates funded by political contributions to the club.

6. Governor Cuomo and the state legislature should pass comprehensive campaign finance reform that includes structural reforms related to disclosure and enforcement including:
 - d. A new, independent oversight and enforcement body with responsibility for public financing and all campaign finance law administration. This body should:
 - i. be independently and adequately funded;
 - ii. be vigorous in enforcing campaign finance law;
 - iii. monitor the public financing program and regularly propose improvements to enforcement and administration;
 - iv. serve as a candidate resource that assists with administration and compliance;
 - v. write regulations and advisory opinions regarding oversight and enforcement of the campaign finance system.
 - e. The Attorney General should be able to initiate investigates and prosecute alleged violations of the Election Law.
 - f. Only one campaign committee should be authorized per candidate per election.
 - g. Fines should be significantly increased for exceeding contribution limits and violating campaign finance disclosure laws. The penalty for failing to file should be increased. Violations that are a class A misdemeanor or a class E felony should be subject to higher civil penalties, particularly for knowing and willing violations of campaign finance law.

candidate knew or should have known that the candidate's communication or relationship to the third party or parties would inform or result in expenditures to benefit the candidate; and
(vi) whether the candidate, any agent of the candidate, or any political committee authorized by the candidate shares or rents space for a campaign-related purpose with or from the person, political committee, or other entity making the expenditure."

The Board concludes based on these factors that the candidate or candidate's committee, "authorized, requested, suggested, fostered or otherwise cooperated with a third party's activity on the campaign's behalf", then the candidate and/or third party must prove otherwise (known as a "rebuttal presumption").
