

RUSSIA SALUTES THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

ON ITS 239TH
ANNIVERSARY OF INDEPENDENCE
FROM GREAT BRITAIN

Russia is a friend, not a foe

Both nations need a strong alliance to jointly meet the world's enormous security challenges

The following mutual steps are suggested by the American - Russian Dialogue

Joint enforcement of Minsk 2 agreement and immediate lifting of all sanctions

Reviving the work of U.S.-Russia Bilateral Presidential Commission

Reactivating Russia - NATO Council

Joint Arctic exploration

Expanding Science, Education and Cultural Exchanges

A former U.S. Senator Bill Bradley: 5 Steps for Peace in Ukraine

Russian forces would withdraw from Eastern Ukraine, and Russia would accept Ukraine's current borders in a binding treaty.

Ukraine would agree never join NATO.

Ukraine would be allowed membership in both the European Union and the Eurasian Economic Union.

A new, internationally supervised referendum would be held in Crimea on whether to join Russia, remain part of Ukraine, or become independent

All economic sanctions on Russia would be lifted
