

ABA Section of
Civil Rights and Social Justice
Honoring Our Past, Charting Our Future

FREE TELECONFERENCE*

New Developments in Consumer Privacy: From Spokeo, Inc. to Apple

This program will provide an overview of two significant developments related to consumer privacy in the United States. The discussion will be helpful to lawyers across the spectrum who deal with both compliance (reviewing policies and procedures) and litigation. First, we will discuss the much-anticipated decision of the U.S. Supreme Court in Spokeo, Inc. v. Robins, concerning Article III standing requirements and consumer privacy claims. Next, we will discuss the ongoing fight between Apple and the FBI over the use of strong encryption. One case, currently pending before a federal magistrate judge in California, will be heard later this month. Please join us to learn more.

Friday, March 18, 2016
12:00 - 1:00 p.m. Eastern

REGISTRATION REQUIRED: please RSVP here

Speakers

- Alan Butler, Senior Counsel, Electronic Privacy Information Center; Co-Chair, ABA Section of Civil Rights and Social Justice Privacy & Information Protection Committee
- Brendan O'Connor, Senior Security Advisor, Leviathan Security Group; Vice Chair, ABA Section of Science & Technology Law Information Security Committee

Moderator

- Daniel Appelman, Partner, Montgomery & Hansen, LLP; Co-Chair, ABA Section of Civil Rights and Social Justice Privacy & Information Protection Committee

Co-sponsor

*The content of this program does not meet requirements for continuing legal education (CLE) accreditation. You will not receive CLE credit for listening.