COMMITTEES OF THE COURT OF APPEALS

The Court has three committees that include attorney members: the Advisory Committee on Procedures, the Committee on Admissions and Grievances, and the CJA Panel Committee.

The Advisory Committee on Procedures, established in 1976, is composed of not less than 15 members of the bar of this Court. The Committee initiates recommended rule changes and evaluates internal operating procedures in effect or under consideration. The Committee also serves as a channel of communication between the Court, and the bar and the public.

The Committee on Admissions and Grievances has six attorney members who assist the Court as it acts on applications for admission to its bar and on complaints of misconduct or neglect.

The CJA Panel Committee is composed of two active circuit judges, the Federal Public Defender and two private attorneys experienced in criminal law, one of whom is on the CJA appointments list. The Committee compiles the list of attorneys eligible to receive CJA appointments by evaluating applications from interested counsel.

Vacancies on Court Committees are advertised in the Daily Washington Law Reporter, and interested attorneys are encouraged to apply.

PACER (Public Access to Court Electronic Records)

Public Access to Court Electronic Records (PACER) is an electronic public access service that allows users to obtain case and docket information from the CM/ECF system of any federal court via the internet. The PACER Case Locator is an additional national index to federal cases offered as part of the PACER service. The index serves as a search tool where users may conduct nationwide searches to determine whether or not a party is involved in federal litigation, or to find cases based on nature of suit or bankruptcy chapter. Search results show party name, case number, court where the case was filed, filing date, and provide a hyperlink to the electronic docket.

You should review the Electronic Public Access Fee Schedule, located on the court's Internet site, for information on any electronic access fees which may apply. If you do not already have a PACER account, call the PACER Service Center to set up an account or register on-line at <http://www.pacer.gov/index.html>.

D.C. Circuit docket sheets, orders, judgments, briefs and case documents can be accessed through the PACER link on the court's Internet site. Callers needing specific case information should contact the Clerk's Office Intake Counter or the Case Administration Unit.
