

This text comes from a desire to answer some of the questions that arise within the anti-authoritarian environment when a gender's aggression occurs. From wanting to advance and reopen a debate in the related spaces that makes us questions our positions and attitudes. From develop some reflections which will be constancy.

From feminism's perspective, written from criticism and self-criticism, from the experience and the learning, specifically thinking as an approach to attitudes toward non-feminist mates.

Some of the questions that are released:
What is aggression gender? Who assaulted?
How can we defend ourselves? How to position ourselves to other attacks? How to support the abused? What to do with the aggressor?
Antifeminism, statements and non-mixed spaces.

ANTIFEMINISM
AND GENDER
AGGRESSIONS
IN ANTIAUTHORITARIAN
ENVIRONMENTS
AND RELEASED SPACES

INDEX

Prelude	page 1
We	page 2
Antifeminism in the released spaces
Attack	page 2
What do we understand by gender aggression?
How we can identify an aggressor?
What determines the severity of the assaults?
Answer	page 4
What determines the self-defense?
How to react and defend us against an aggression?
How to position ourselves against aggression?
How to support the abused?
What to do with the aggressor?
Strategy	page 10
How socialize an aggression?
What is and what is the use of a non-mixed space?
Close	page 12
Without constancy there are no fruits
Other texts	page 14