EXTRACTIVE IMPERIALISM IN THE AMERICAS

CAPITALISM'S NEW FRONTIER

By James Petras and Henry Veltmeyer

Available at a discounted rate of 30% off the cover price to students with use of the coupon code: "SCSScourse"

Including contributions from Paul Bowles, Dennis Canterbury, Norman Girvan, and Darcy Tetreault

IN THIS WIDE-RANGING COLLECTION leading scholars from different disciplines critically examine the new extractive imperialism bearing down on the Americas

Recent changes in the global economy, particularly the growing demand for energy and natural resources, have produced a massive and devastating pillage of resources in the developing world by multinational corporations and States. These developments have also brought about a major change in the form taken by imperialism, and a renewed focus on the Americas as a source of plunder. Extractive Imperialism explores the changing face of US imperialism in the regional context of the Americas, a major stage in the unfolding drama of a system in crisis

JAMES PETRAS, is Professor Emeritus in Sociology at Binghamton University, and author of over 60 books on Latin American affairs and world affairs, including Imperialism and Capitalism in the 21st Century and Social Movements in Latin America.

HENRY VELTMEYER is Professor of Development Studies at Saint Mary's University and Universidad Autónoma de Zacatecas. He has authored and edited over 40 books on Latin American and world affairs, including Imperialism, Crisis and Class Struggle: The Verities of Capitalism
