

Government Surveillance on Both Sides of the Atlantic

6 – 7pm (followed by drinks reception) Wednesday 18th March 2015
University of Notre Dame, 1 Suffolk Street, London SW1Y 4HG

The HRLA, Notre Dame Law School and Washington-based Electronic Privacy Information Centre (EPIC) present a comparative exposition of government surveillance of the electronic communication of individuals. The speakers will discuss, in their view, how governments (particularly the UK and US) can respect the privacy and civil liberties of individuals, while also protecting national security and advancing foreign policy.

Geoffrey Stone (University of Chicago) will talk about his experience of serving on the President's Review Group on Intelligence and Communications Technologies which made recommendations to President Obama in late 2013. Rosa Curling (Leigh Day) will discuss her work, namely the UK government's surveillance of lawyer-client correspondence and the recent findings of the Investigatory Powers Tribunal in relation to intelligence sharing practices between the US and the UK prior to December 2014.

Chair

Chip Pitts, EPIC

Speakers

Geoffrey Stone, University of Chicago

Rosa Curling, Leigh Day

Entry is free but places are limited so please RSVP to administrator@hrla.org.uk
(CPD 1.5)

epic.org | ELECTRONIC PRIVACY
INFORMATION CENTER