For consent to publication of personal information or photograph in the British Journal of Psychiatry

Part 1 – to be completed by the author

Title of paper: _____

Reference number (if allocated): _____

Authors: _____

Name of person described: _____

Part 2 – individual's consent

I give my consent for this material to appear in the British Journal of Psychiatry and associated publications. I have seen and read the material to be published.

I understand the following:

- (1) The material will be published without my name being included and every attempt will be made to ensure my anonymity. I understand, however, that complete anonymity cannot be guaranteed. It is possible that somebody somewhere – perhaps, for example, a relative or somebody who looked after me if I was in hospital – may identify me.
- (2) The material may be published in the monthly British Journal of Psychiatry, which has a circulation of around 13 500 and goes worldwide. The journal goes mainly to doctors but is seen by many non-doctors, including journalists.
- (3) The material will also be placed on the British Journal of Psychiatry's website. Although the main users of this are doctors, the website may be viewed by anybody and is available worldwide.
- (4) The material may also be used in local editions of the British Journal of Psychiatry, which are published in countries such as India, Italy and Scandinavia.
- (5) The material may also be used in books, article collections or educational materials published by the Royal College of Psychiatrists.
- (6) The material will not be used for advertising.
