

Contents

The Politics of a Racist Game	v
Preface	vii
Acknowledgements	x
Contributors	xi
Introduction: Can Indigenous Peoples' Experiences of Colonisation Reshape our Constitutional Language? Barbara Ann Hocking	xv
1. 'Indigenous Self-determination in the Commonwealth of Nations' Helen Whall	1
2. Self-determination or 'Deep Colonising': Land Claims, Colonial Authority and Indigenous Representation John Bradley and Kathryn Seton	32
3. Consensus and Sovereignty: Rethinking Policing in the Light of Indigenous Self-determination Chris Cunneen	47
4. Patriarchal Whiteness, Self-determination and Indigenous Women: The Invisibility of Structural Privilege and the Visibility of Oppression Aileen Moreton-Robinson	61
5. Trust, Truth and Fatuity Philip Morrissey	74
6. Why Norfolk Island But Not Aborigines? Michael Mansell	82
7. Maori Legal Forum: Representation Issues and the Maori Land Court Andrew Erueti	93
8. Indigenous Political Representation: Identified Parliamentary Seats as a Form of Indigenous Self-determination Catherine J Iorns Magallanes	106
9. Indigenous State Relations in Aotearoa/New Zealand: A Contractual Approach to Self-determination John Buick-Constable	118
10. Kanaka Maoli: Right of Self-determination Joshua Cooper	133
11. The Search for a More Appropriate Form of Government in Solomon Islands Jennifer Corrin Care	159
12. Indigenous Self-determination. Is Canada As Good As It Gets? Peter H. Russell	170

13. Indigeneity, Self-determination and Sovereignty	Anne Waters	190
14. Indigenous Self-determination: Dispute Management	Cleopatra Magwaro	210
15. Sovereignty as a Trojan Horse: How the Convention on Biological Diversity Morphs Biopiracy into Biofraud	Joseph Henry Vogel	228
16. Commenced Constitutional Business? Reflections on the Contribution of the Saami Parliaments to Indigenous Self-determination	Barbara AS Hocking	248
Conclusion. 'A Change Of Sovereignty': During the Age of Empire	Barbara J Hocking	277
Index		280