CENTRE FOR DEMOCRATIC ACTION. (C.D.A.)

S.D.S. has a large house in Carlton, occupied by eight S.D.S. members. It provides a duplicator, extensive library, meeting rooms and a small theatre. Many important discussions will be held there throughout the year.

Other activities include the Free University, films, meetings and debates.

C.D.A. as an off-Campus base is an important asset of S.D.S. and should be frequented and supported by S.D.S. members. It is about ten minutes walk from the University and is at 57 Palmerston St, Carlton. Ph. 34 5734.

S.D.S — ARTS

S.D.S. is largely engaged with the individual's participation in social change. And social change is a function of the quality of thought in society, which is directly related to the standards in art, music, theatre and writing. Hence S D.S. should nurture an artistic life and an artistic environment as much as it can, by holding functions and publishing creative work.

The struggle to maintain high standards in all fields of art is integrally fused with social and political analysis, in the development and change of society. But by the very nature of art as art none of the functions held by S.D.S. will have a specific political bias, or be used in any way for propoganda purposes. They will be purely artistic.

First SDS ARTS Committee meeting for 1969: Monday
March 10 4.30 p.m., SDS
Office, third floor Union, Melbourne University

SDS ARTS will hold at least one function every three weeks in the form of:

- musical workshops and recitals
- poetry and play readings
- guerilla theatre
- discussion meetings
- concerts
- art and photography exhibitions

SDS will only be able to organise these activities if people are willing to join the ARTS committee. SDS ARTS needs both people to work on the committee, and to help establish new contacts with performing artists, musicians and theatre groups.

If you are interested in helping the committee, or joining it, please come to the first SDS ARTS committee meeting, Monday March 10 (first day of term 1969)
at 4.30 p.m., in the SDS Office, third floor, Union.

If you wish to help in a performing capacity, please write or call so that your name may be included in our file.
