Elite schools in clean sweep of DSE honors
A DOZEN TOP REASONS TO CELEBRATE

Beatrice Siu, Kenneth Lau and Yupina Ng
The top schools swept the top marks in the Diploma of Secondary Education Examination results yesterday. The 12 top scorers came from nine elite schools, with St Paul's Co-Educational College collecting three and St Paul's Secondary School two. Seven other top schools had one each.

to be useless," he said.
His schoolmate Susan Wong Yui-hin, another top scorer, has a different opinion.
"Occupancy is inevitable if the final election proposal is not by universal and equal suffrage," she said.
"There should be no filtering of candidates either."
Anna Tsui
Wing-yin and Anson Wong Hiu-ching (left) from St Paul's Secondary School study politics while Wong prefers legal bedfellows his value," Tsui said. "But me to it happens now in Hong Kong? It has some time to discuss the pros and cons of the law, she said. The school doesn't allow me to answer that it has no fixed stance on the moment."

Mak Chi-cheung, the first top scorer from King's College since the DSE was introduced in 2012, said he wants to study medicine at Hong Kong University and become a doctor, possible with Medicines sans Frontiers.
As a recipient of the textbook allowance, Mak said he did not have the opportunity to learn a musical instrument.
"My parents taught me to be satisfied with what I have," he said. "Although we are poor, we weren't upset and did not feel inferior."
A Wa Ying College student became the first to achieve seven 5 as well as extended maths since 2004.
The "super top" scorer, Yeung Chi-chung, comes from a low-income family and plans to study business at the University of Science and Technology.
Yeung said he agrees with the principle of Occupy Central but will not take part. "It is a little bit unreasonable to highlight the unrighteousness of a constitutional law by breaching the law on public order," he said.

Chan Wing-in, from Heep Yuen School, scored 5 in seven subjects as well as extended maths. She wants to be both a medical researcher and a food critic.
She agrees Occupy Central is meaningful. "Some figures suggest that Occupy Central may hurt GDP but I think it's worthwhile to bear a short-term loss in exchange for universal suffrage."
Ivan Ma Kwok-ming, the only top scorer from Queen's College, said he respects the organizers of Occupy Central but fears radicals will hijack the movement and this will lead to violence.
Ma, who comes from a grassroots family with household monthly income of about HK$10,000, wants to be a doctor.
The chairwoman of the Hong Kong Association of the Heads of Secondary Schools Lee Suet-ying believes the traditional top schools adapted quickly to the change of syllabus for the new exam and hence their better results.

Conditions of acceptance

1. The Standard, hereinafter called the Publisher, reserves the right to refuse, replace, cancel or amend all or part of any advertisement copy and/or artwork which may be deemed unsuitable for publication without prior notice to the Advertiser or his Agent. Nor does it accept responsibility for errors which occur in the typesetting of advertisements. No terms stated by the Advertiser on his order shall be binding unless agreed to in writing by the Publisher, nor is an order considered a contract.
2. While exercising normal care, the Publisher cannot accept liability for damage or loss to advertisement copy or artwork or for any loss arising out of non-publication, or amendment aforesaid.
3. The Publisher shall endeavor to adhere to the publication date(s) in the Advertiser's insertion order. Insertions missed inadvertently will be made good on date(s) agreed with the Advertiser.
4. Booking dates may only be varied if the Advertiser gives notice not less than two days (48 hours) prior to publication date. No cancellation of insertion orders will be accepted after order deadline.
5. The Advertiser and its appointed Agency shall be liable to the Publisher and indemnify the Publisher against all claims, demands, and costs resulting from or arising out of publication of any advertisement or advertisements, including all legal fees incurred.
6. The Standard reserves the right to preempt the front page booking by news without prior notice and the right to make the final decision in the choice of front page advertisement.
7. All accounts rendered are due for payment on the eighth day of the month following publication. Credit of 30 days is allowed only to recognized Advertising Agencies after which time all accounts become due. Casual advertising must be prepaid.
8. A commission of 15% on the gross amount billed is applicable to Advertising Agencies recognized by the Publisher.
9. All requests for advertising space must be accompanied by an official Insertion Order and Publisher's Contract. The submission of an advertisement constitutes a warranty by the Advertiser to the Publisher that it has all the necessary authority/ies and / or permission for insertion and that the said advertisement does not constitute a breach of any laws of Hong Kong, restrictions or prohibitions. Any claims must be made in writing within 48 hours after publication or date of agreed publication to the Advertising Director of the newspaper concerned at its published address. Unless such claims are made in the time stipulated, they shall be deemed to have been waived.
10. ROP (Run of Paper) insertions may appear on any page within the publication for which they are booked at the sole discretion of the Publisher. Specified Positions (for which a surcharge is added) will be accepted subject to space being available on the page specified. Whereas every effort is made to ensure that competitive advertising does not appear on the same page, there is no guarantee that this will not occur due to space limitations.
11. Attention is drawn to the deadlines applicable to different publications of The Standard. Failure to meet them may result in the non-appearance of an insertion for which the Publisher will not accept responsibility or liability, and will charge the Advertiser accordingly.
12. The Publisher is not responsible for errors in key numbers.
13. While every care is taken to ensure accuracy, the Publisher cannot be held responsible for errors in advertisements.
14. Advertisers who have entered into a contract with The Standard will enjoy a limited rate protection in the event of increases by published announcements in the newspaper, but the Publisher reserves the right to amend any of its advertising rates without prior notice.
15. The Advertiser shall be responsible for the amount of space booked or for cancellation or non-receipt of copy after deadline.
16. The Publisher accepts no responsibility for any expense incurred in the preparation of artwork for advertisements in supplements or other publications included with copies of their newspapers in the event of their being cancelled for whatever reason or any loss incurred because of this cancellation.
17. Color separation costs should be borne by the Advertisers/ Advertising Agencies.
18. In the case of color advertisements, the Publisher will match color samples supplied by the Advertiser within the technical limitations of processing equipment but accepts no liability for deviations in color when published, nor any costs incurred by the Advertiser or his Agent because of such deviation.
19. All color proofs must be supplied on newsprint.
20. When Advertisers fail to submit advertising copy/ artwork before copy deadline, the Publisher reserves the right to use any on-hand artwork/copy of the same Advertiser. The Publisher will not accept any responsibility or liability, and will charge the Advertiser accordingly.
