Instructions

Ten across and six down clues contain a word superfluous to the definition or wordplay involved. In each case, this word provides a cryptic instruction as to how that solution is to be modified before insertion in the grid. All the required entries are real words.

Deadline for entries is 23:59 GMT on Saturday 4 June. You need to register once and then sign in to theguardian.com to enter our online competition for a £100 monthly prize.
