

Scavenger Hunt

Sunday's News Break challenges you to hunt through the Sunday, March 26, 2017 print replica of The Seattle Times to find answers to the following questions.

1. Uber said Saturday that it was suspending the testing of its self-driving vehicles, a day after one of the vehicles was involved in what? Was the Uber vehicle at fault? (MAIN)
2. Proclaiming "Europe is our common future," 27 leaders of the European Union signed a statement Saturday in Rome declaring their commitment to what? (MAIN)
3. Residents of a posh Washington neighborhood say Ivanka Trump and her family don't make for very good neighbors. Why? (MAIN)
4. More people are opting to do what during operations? What are doctors learning to deal with? (MAIN)
5. Having been interred in three places since his death in 1849, James K. Polk, the 11th president of the United States, faces the prospect of having his sleep disturbed yet again. A proposal making its way through the Tennessee Legislature calls for digging up the bodies of Polk and his wife, Sarah Childress Polk, both of which have been buried on the grounds of the state Capitol for more than a century. They would then be relocated to a resting place at a Polk family home and museum in the small city of Columbia. Supporters say the move will properly honor an unjustly overlooked president. What three main things did Polk do during his presidency? (MAIN)
6. In recent years, as demand for cheap protein raged in China and the Persian Gulf countries, India quietly became the world's largest exporter of meat, chiefly flash-frozen _____, which approached $5 billion in exports in 2015. (MAIN)
7. In a race against time to prevent four famines in Africa and western Asia, the U.N. and its humanitarian agencies need to raise $ _____ billion — fast. (MAIN)
8. Police in Massachusetts have served a sixth-grader with no-trespass orders after neighbors grew wary of the girl doing what? (MAIN)
9. What is an encephalophone? How does one play it? How does it work? (MAIN)
10. "Sesame Street" is introducing a new Muppet character. Who will it be? (NW Arts & Life)
