Subject: "The Lost Legions explores the cultural interactions between Indigenous peoples and European settlers. Paterson draws especially on archaeological evidence from central Australia, where European pastoralists found themselves in the heart of the territory of the Aborigine Arabana people. Paterson also considers other sources of information - such as oral histories, onomastics, and evidence of culture contact in the Americas and southern Africa - to develop a broad understanding of what happens when such different civilizations encounter one another."--

Title: Indigenous at the heart / Veronica Arbon and Lester-Irabinna Rigney

Publication date: 2014

Annotation: "Indigenous involvement at all stages of research has been called for over several decades and is now an increasingly accepted requirement. This paper outlines the research approaches of the 'Community Based Adaptation to Climate Change: The Arabunna, South Australia project', which in the initial development phase identified a number of basic tenets. The intent is to outline these tenets, discuss the level of Indigenous involvement and activity within this project and analyse the approach taken in the context of key features articulated within Indigenous research over previous decades. Finally, this paper reflects on future research directions, particularly the importance of informed Indigenous involvement, the need for respectful relationships in multi- knowledges and multi- disciplinary research and the importance of communication."
