

The Great Rehearsal

A week of events on the
World Revolution of '68 and its legacies

September 17-25

1968 was a world revolution. From Mexico City to Tokyo, Paris to Prague, Columbia University to Berkeley, it was a revolutionary event that at once failed and transformed the world. The process it put into place continues today. 1968, the long '68, altered fundamental balances of power and set the stage for today's new movements. '68 was a great rehearsal.

For what, it is up to us to decide.
