

I would like to thank the management of RasputinMusic Store for honoring the Legacy of the BPP by having the Photo exhibit in their main Shop on Telegraph for the last two years. They also have shown "All Power to the People" the movie on their big screen facing the street for two years 24/7. I remember coming from an event on the UC Berkeley campus, and walking by the shop about 1am and it was still showing and people showing it.

Rasputin Music has supported the legacy and we suggest that people support the Rasputin, they're the largest music store in California, with six music stores in the Bay area. I have had exhibits in the SF store, which thousands of people pass every hour.

New exhibit coming in July. When in Berkeley check out the exhibit.
