WORTH NOTICING

Any squatter who followed the adventures of Anal 2.0 a few months ago might get a frisson on recognition if they've been around a few years. Artist squatters the Dai Collective did exactly the same thing in 2009, squatting high end properties in Mayfair and crowing about how much their empires and it looks like Dai took complete advantage of that. It seems, also, that owners have smartened up somewhat as reports at the time show that at the first eviction hearing the owner forgot to bring evidence that he was... the owner! Hopefully a new group of publicity minded squatters will rise up to attract all the media and have attention so everyone else can get on with their shit in peace.

JENNIE MATTHEWS - Faded eighties singer and current have krishna shop manager has taken up a new profession, that of a fucking scumbag landlord! After the Hope and Anchor pub in Camden was evicted last year the property stood empty until, through some no doubt underhand shenanigans, Mathias moved in unofficial guardians and charged them 50 quid a week to live there! Leaving aside all the problems of profiting off of people's precarious housing Mathias didn't bother with basic things like a contract and when she wanted her tenants to leave she turned up with the pigs in tow and told them to get out, claiming that she never had a deal with the people living inside! If it wasn't for the fact one of the tenants had a text message from her demanding money then the residents would have been evicted there and then. Jennie didn't give up on the dodgy tricks however. Once told she had to provide the tenants with a notice to quit she came back with a cloyingly sweet eviction notice thanking them for their help and giving them a month to leave, the only problem being she had backdated it a month!

Jennie is the shop manager at Matchless Gifts in Kings Cross. Shop number: 02086170499 Twitter: @REDTRESPASSURE. Facebook: /jenniemathias

HEAT THE DOORSTEP OF YOUR SQUAT

Recently, two EU squatters were served deportation papers for flyposting and not having a fixed address, squatters have been threatened with deportation at the police station. Immigration Enforcement (IE) have shown up at squat evictions and a homeless charity has plans to extend their collaboration with IE to eventually target squats. Under the climate of racism, any visits to the police station will often see foreigners questioned about their immigration status. If you're an EU national and questioned about your status, have a fixed address ready to give them. Under EU law, they can't deport you for living here if you're either working, self-employed, studying, job-seeking or if you have a shit ton of money on your bank account. So when questioned by immigration insist that you're not rough sleeping and fulfilling your treaty rights by doing one of the above. Resistance can't only take the form of fitting into their legal categories. We need to get out of our squat and fuck up IE !! If you threaten our friends and our scene, expect our VENGEANCE !!

YOU'VE BEEN SERVED!

Southwark Street squatters have swung a rare legal win: 2 weeks into their residency, hungover occupiers were awoken by bailiffs trying to break into their building with paperwork from the previous eviction. After convincing the bailiffs to come back a week later, the would-be lawyers took the opportunity to get arguments from ASS, raise 50 quid for a court form and get a High Court order stopping the eviction! The papers were then served on the not-at-all happy bailiffs, who had to explain to their masters why they had to pay a hundred quid costs to some hobo alcoholics. LAWYER UP!!!

FASH VS ANTIFA: MATCH CALLED OFF DUE TO POLICE ON THE PITCH

On the back of last month's terrorist attack, the far right Britain First and the EDL cynically organised a march 'against terrorism' to generate support for their racist political projects. Antifascists went out to Gandalf them. Despite doing their utmost to get to grips with the fash, they were kettled and harassed by a giant drift of pigs. The show was stolen by the cops who flooded Trafalgar Sq, targeting and arresting anti-fa. It's clear that their gang is bigger than ours, the question is what are we gonna do about it... BASH THE FASH!!!

BORDER FORCE ROUND THE CORNER
Squatters who aren't citizens of the United Kingdom beware. Border Force is out to get you! Recent reports of squatters harassed by the racist state are worrying and we need to make sure no one faces immigration proceedings on their own. See more in our feature below.

BAILIFF'S BASHED BONCE CAUSES SQUATTER'S MEATRY
Bailiffs all round at the eviction of the hilarity on Hinton Road when a bailiff nursery on the head taking down a bashed himself on the clumsy barracade. The clumsy two persons who painted accused him! The squatters cunt accused but then released Brixton there of attacking him! support outside were nabbed but then released Brixton raucous arrestee ON YER HEAD SON!!! police station.

WHERE'S

Athens: In December 2012 in the midst of a wave of repression the state proceeded to evict one the oldest squats in Athens named Villa Amalias. In January 2013 93 individuals collectively fought their way in against riot cops that were still guarding the building and successfully reoccupied it. A few hours later police special forces invaded the building and arrested everyone. After more than 4 years wait, the 93 began their trial at the end of march. Solidarity and strength to those that retook Villa Amalias.

Bure (France): Over 700 people mobilised against ANDRA's attempt to build the biggest nuclear waste dump in Europe and evict the occupiers of the proposed site in the Lejuo Forest. During the demo, the fences of Andra's nuclear laboratory were attacked and ripped down. For many individuals who've been struggling against this project for 25 years, this action renewed their belief in destroying this ecological project. Another victory quickly followed in the form of a court ruling. It declared that the process through which Andra acquired ownership of the Lejuo forest is irregular and has given 4 months to sort out these irregularities before any further work can be done.

Montevideo (Uruguay): At the end of March, a demonstration against the eviction of the social centre "Solidaria" led to clashes with Molotov cocktails against the police and the targeting of the headquarters of the communist party and police buildings. Not satisfied with evicting the Solidaria, the State conducted a series of raids and arrests with 5 comrades detained and is promising more repression on those who dare fight for their self-organisation!

Brussels: At the end of the demo "Housing for all, Stop Evictions" which marked the end of the so-called "winter amnesty", a new Anarchist social centre was opened. The squat situated a few streets away from the EU commission is already hosting an array of events and meetings. It is also serving as a convergence point for different social struggles including the one against the proposed anti-squat law which would see squatting entirely criminalised.

Thessaloniki: In the beginning of April the Albatross a squatted house was brutally evicted at gun point. 13 people were arrested and 12 of them were released 32h later awaiting trial. One person was kept incarcerated for not having papers and could face 6 months in prison just for this. 2 arrestees were transferred to hospital during their time at the pig station. One for a severe head-wound sustained at the police station and the other cause the cops refused to allow them to take their medication for hours. This eviction and police violence is part of the ongoing repression against squatters and those without papers in Greece.
