

This morning sucked...

After work,
I just got back into bed

May 28, 2003

I might have a cold
I guess.

On the way to work I decided
I could be a lot hotter than I am now

I got salad for lunch and I was all inspired, but also doubtful about the idea of eating the same thing
every day

On the way home this marly
lady sat across from me

Walking behind me once we were out of the subway, she was singing in this beautiful voice

(My part moves from side to side in this strip!) May 30, 2003

Earlier this week...

Pff girls!

"... Cat Power... the kind of music girls listen to while watching the rain..."

Then:

I can't help it if it's raining and I like looking out the window!

I don't blame you...

I always try to part my hair in the middle, but I can't really because of my cowlick.

You're my himbo accessory, J.J.!

I know, man!

Jason and I had lunch in the park today, but a bird pooped on him so he took off his shirt to clean it off.

Junior Senior is so awesome in concert. So much fun energy. Senior picked me first to pull up on the stage but my pants were so sweaty I couldn't stretch enough. Someone helped me up which was rad but embarrassing. It was so fun being up there dancing--I felt happy + crappy all at once! Knitting Factory June 3, 2003

I really want a little punky hairdo like this (I drew this 2 years ago wishing I had it) but I am afraid my head is too small already for my body. Plus I also want long hair parted down the middle tucked behind my ears. So right now I have neither one. June 4, 2003

Little girls are so cute--Too bad when girls grow up they often don't greet each other with a big smile and stickin' their tongue out. It gets all different.

After the Brendan Benson concert, Katy and I were drunk and went to visit my friend Rogan at his bar. He gave us mojitos

French-clown-hooker top

The bar is in SoHo and all sleazy and pseudo-stylish. But the guys who talked to us all night were kind of "geek-sleazy" instead of straight-up slick n' sleazy.

I slept all day and stayed up all night doing nothing.
