Friends of Arena

Supporting publications seeking to explore how we should live in an era of transformation

Arena Publications is an independent cooperative whose members work towards the interpretation of the emerging crisis of contemporary life.

Friends of Arena was established in preparation for our 2013 fifty year anniversary symposium. Friends are committed to the ongoing support of our publications, public discussions and other activities in the public realm.

Arena seeks to contribute to a public response to the unreflective corporate domination of our institutions. Unprecedented changes in the relation of humankind to what we have long taken to be our natural world call for a determined commitment to extend public understanding of all that is at stake. Friends of Arena invites you to contribute to renewing our commitment to principles of cooperation, equality and direct concern for the well-being of each other.

As we live now in a time when our constitution, democracy, security and trade relations with the wider world, our media and our universities are engulfed in fundamental change, our future depends upon us working together.

Can you help Arena to play its part? Become a Friend of Arena.

You may be in a situation to think of Arena Publications in your will. If this is something you would like to consider, feel free to contact one of the Arena editors or a member of the Friends of Arena Committee.

Become A Friend of Arena

Arena Magazine and Arena Journal play a crucial role in Australian politics and culture, bringing alternative arguments and ideas into the public and academic spheres and influencing discussion and debate about key contemporary issues.

Arena has never relied on or received government funding. It has sustained its activities largely through the voluntary work and funding provided by editors and supporters. If Arena is to continue and to expand its readership, we need your support to do it.

Joining Friends of Arena is a way of showing your support through financial donations. Our targets for 2014 are:

- 1. Ongoing costs of production $15,000
- 2. Enhanced wage support $5,000
- 3. Enhanced website and e-books $5,000

We are asking supporters to make donations on a once-off or ongoing basis. Becoming a Friend means your support will be noted in Arena Magazine (if you wish). Friends will also be kept up to date with Arena activities and fundraising goals.
