ANU

MESSAGE FROM THE VICE CHANCELLOR

Welcome to Australia's national university.

I am proud to be leading a university that over the past seven decades has grown to be one of the finest universities in the world.

ANU offers a research and learning environment second to none. I encourage all post-graduate students making the extremely important decision of where to commit themselves for their postgraduate study, to consider ANU.

Sitting in a beautiful park-like setting in the heart of Australia's capital, we are the national university, and we represent Australia as a whole. We welcome students from all over the country and the world. We are one of the world's most diverse and international universities.

We attract and reward the best teachers and researchers, so that the experience at ANU will be one of innovative learning, passion and inspiration. For those who choose ANU, you will have the opportunity to work with some of the world's top researchers.

We have an added charter – to use our expertise to inform public policy. Through social change and economic transitions, our role is, and has always been, to provide academic rigour and expertise to help politicians and policymakers guide their decisions.

Because of this, ANU students receive an exemplary education in an exciting and relevant environment that produces graduates who are among the most employable in the world.

Students can also benefit from the strong relationships the University has with government, business and other national and international institutions.

An ANU education will give you the basis to play your part in shaping the future of Australia and the world. I look forward to welcoming you to ANU in 2018.

Professor Brian P. Schmidt AC
Vice-Chancellor and President

WHAT YOU CAN STUDY

Postgraduate coursework

Postgraduate coursework will deepen your knowledge, expand your skills and equip you for a successful career in your field.

Our postgraduate coursework programs include Master degrees, along with a range of graduate-level Certificates and Diplomas. Some coursework programs also involve a research component, where students work with the assistance of a supervisor.

Admission into a postgraduate coursework program requires the completion of a Bachelor degree as a minimum.

Graduate Certificate: six months' full-time study, or approximately 24 units

Graduate Diploma: one year full-time study, or approximately 36–48 units

Master degree: two years' full-time study, or approximately 72 units

Master degree (Advanced): two years' full-time study, or approximately 72 units. Includes a 24-unit equivalent supervised sub-thesis.

Flexible options

Flexible Double Master: ANU has pioneered the Flexible Double Master degree so you can study two Master-level programs at the same time to strengthen your expertise, and fast-track your qualifications and your career. Unique to ANU, our Flexible Double Master degree is offered through the ANU College of Arts and Social Sciences.

For more information and a list of possible combinations, visit programsandcourses.anu.edu.au/program/7050FDM

Graduate Studies Select: Create your own postgraduate study program with Graduate Studies Select (GSS). You can choose from a broad range of postgraduate courses offered across most of our academic colleges, including some pre-approved courses from our partner universities.

You can choose from three GSS programs, depending on your needs:

- > Graduate Certificate of Studies
- > Master of Studies
- > Master of Studies (Advanced)

“I love teaching. I have so much fun seeing the look of understanding on students faces when you can see a concept just clicks. I believe a good teacher pushes students outside of their comfort zone but provides a safe landing for failure, and a learning pathway forward.”

“ANU was the number one university in Australia when it came to the type of research I wanted to do. Its strong interdisciplinary focus is really unique for my software engineering field. It is a truly international university that provides a conducive environment and many opportunities encouraging you to grow.”

Richa Awasty

Postgraduate research

Postgraduate research, or a Higher Degree by Research (HDR) program, is a research-focused degree usually undertaken by someone who has completed a previous degree with a significant research component.

You can undertake an HDR program at ANU through a Doctor of Philosophy (PhD), a Master of Philosophy (MPhil) and other professional doctorates.

To be considered eligible for admission to an HDR program at ANU you must:

- > Hold, or be about to complete, an Australian Bachelor degree with at least Second Class Honours – Upper (First Class Honours is often required) or its international equivalent; or a Postgraduate degree with a significant research thesis component.
- > You must have already identified a supervisor at ANU, willing and available to supervise your research.
- > All applicants must meet the University's English Language Admission Requirements for students.

You can apply online throughout the year. If you are applying for a research scholarship, be aware of scholarship application deadlines. You must indicate on your application form if you still wish to be considered for admission if your scholarship application is unsuccessful.

T Admission by Internal Transfer. Please refer to programsandcourses.anu.edu.au

Total cost dependent upon personal course selection.

YOUR APPLICATION

Apply and take the first step towards a postgraduate qualification.

Domestic students

You are a domestic applicant* if you:

- > are an Australian or New Zealand citizen
- > hold an Australian Permanent Residency Visa
- > hold an Australian Humanitarian Visa.

If none of these criteria apply, then you are an international student.

You can apply for a postgraduate coursework program if you hold a Bachelor degree or are about to graduate. Some programs will require you to demonstrate a certain GPA. Some programs may also require professional work experience. For more information please refer to

W programsandcourses.anu.edu.au

All applicants must meet the English Language Requirements.

How to apply

To apply for most postgraduate coursework degree programs, you will need to submit your application through the Universities Admissions Centre (UAC) and pay a fee.

W uac.edu.au

You must apply directly to ANU for the following programs:

- > Graduate Certificate of Public Policy
- > Graduate Diploma of Legal Practice
- > Master of Climate Change

Important dates

As a guide, Semester One applications close in early January and Semester Two applications close at the end of May. Always check application deadlines on the UAC website.

W uac.edu.au/postgraduate

* Consistent with current legislation at time of printing. Please note legislation that relates to the classification of Domestic Students is currently under review for 2018.

International students

How to apply

International students can apply directly to ANU, or through an official ANU agent.

Apply to ANU

You can apply online at
W anu.edu.au/study/apply

Check that you meet the admission and English language requirements for your chosen course. You will need to pay a A$100 application fee.

ANU will assess your application and we may contact you if we need more information.

If your application is successful, you will receive a Full Offer or a Conditional Offer, depending on any further requirements.

Apply through an official ANU agent

ANU has official agents in over 50 countries around the world. ANU agents will help you with all aspects of your application – from answering your questions and helping you select the right program for your needs, to submitting and processing your application.

Important dates	Semester 1 (February)	Semester 2 (July)
Application closing dates	15 December	31 May
Acceptance deadline (offshore students)	15 January	30 June
Acceptance deadline (onshore students)	31 January	10 July

 The term 'offshore student' ordinarily applies to you if you have not completed your entry qualification in Australia under an Australian student visa, and will be applying for a student visa from overseas.

 The term 'onshore student' ordinarily applies to you if you have completed your entry qualification in Australia under an Australian student visa and you are applying for ANU and your new student visa without a break in your study (ie you may be going home for a short holiday after your previous studies, but you will be coming back to start at ANU in the next intake).

ENGLISH LANGUAGE REQUIREMENTS

You must provide evidence of English language proficiency for admission to ANU.

You may meet this requirement if your tertiary studies were taught and assessed entirely in English during the past two years.

If you are an international student and you completed your English studies more than two years ago, you may need to provide an English proficiency test certificate, such as the International English Language Testing System (IELTS) or the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL).

ACCOMMODATION

Live on campus or take a short commute from one of Canberra's well-connected neighbourhoods.

On-campus

ANU gives you more opportunities to live on campus than any other Australian university, so you can make the most of your time here. Apply to join nearly 5,000 students from across Australia and around the world who call ANU home.

Postgraduate students can apply for on-campus accommodation in these residences:

Self-catered

- > Burgmann College Postgraduate Village
- > Davey Lodge
- > Fenner Hall
- > Graduate House
- > Kinloch Lodge
- > Lena Karmel Lodge
- > Toad Hall
- > Warrumbul Lodge
- > Bruce Hall Packard Wing
- > Ursula Hall Laurus Wing

We cannot guarantee that on-campus accommodation will be available. Also, student residences are not suitable for children, so you may need to explore renting off-campus (non-ANU).

We recommend arriving in Canberra early to find non-ANU accommodation.

Share a house or apartment

Shared accommodation can be hard to find if you're not in Canberra.

Shared households in Australia take different forms; some share meals and rotate household chores, while others have multiple people living in the same house but keeping separate lives.

A good place to start looking for shared accommodation is ANU Housing Online.

W housingonline.anu.edu.au

W anu.edu.au/study/accommodation/advice-procedures/group-housing

Rent privately

You can rent an apartment or house privately through a real estate agent or direct from the property owner.

The best place to start your search is online. We suggest these sites:

W allhomes.com.au

W domain.com.au

W realestate.com.au

W gumtree.com.au

Because Canberra is a university town, the highest turnover of rental properties is during the December/January summer break.

Renting Advice:

anu.edu.au/study/accommodation/advice-procedures/renting

Applying for a lease

In Canberra, real estate agents and property owners often insist that prospective tenants see the property before applying for a lease, to be seriously considered.

To apply, you will need to fill out an application form which will ask you about your personal circumstances, including your financial situation. You will also be asked for referees, people who can verify that you are trustworthy, like a previous landlord or employer.

If you are applying from overseas, it's a good idea to attach written references to your application. Given the time differences between Australia and the rest of the world, this will make the process easier for you and the person assessing your application.

The agent should let you know within a week if your application has been successful.

Setting up your home

Your lease will usually be for a period of six to 12 months. You will be responsible for organising the utilities connections. Water will be connected by the owner but you will need to pay for the water you use.

Factor in these costs when setting up your new home:

- > Bond is usually four weeks' rent and is held by the ACT Office of Regulatory Services. Provided you don't cause damage to the property and maintain it, the bond will be returned to you in full at the end of the lease
- > As well as bond, you will probably need to pay four weeks' rent in advance
- > Connection fees for the telephone, electricity, gas and any other utilities you choose to connect at the property
- > It's a good idea to take out household contents insurance
- > Moving expenses
- > Canberra has a broad range of recycled, second-hand and brand new furniture and household suppliers.

If you have a dispute with the landlord or real estate agent, Accommodation Services and the Tenants Union ACT can give you advice and advocate on your behalf.

The Postgraduate and Research Students' Association

The Postgraduate and Research Students' Association (PARSA) is the student representative body for postgraduates at the ANU. They provide a range of services aimed at providing support for the specific needs of postgraduate students in relation to both their studies and daily life. The primary focus of PARSA is the interests and welfare of all research and coursework postgraduate students at ANU.

All postgraduate students at ANU automatically become members of PARSA.

PARSA is run by students, for students and represents postgraduates both collectively and individually.

SCHOLARSHIPS, FEES AND OTHER COSTS

Scholarships

There are a number of scholarships available to current ANU students to help with the cost of your studies. Donors and benefactors, external organisations and the Australian Government fund many of the scholarships we offer.

W anu.edu.au/study/scholarships-fees

Scholarships for Higher Degree by Research

ANU funds a range of scholarships for HDR students.

Domestic students

Most domestic postgraduate coursework and non-award students at ANU must pay domestic tuition fees. The amount you have to pay is based on the courses in which you enrol. Each course has a set fee, so you will be invoiced for the total fees for all the courses you enrol in for a semester or session.

You can defer part or all of your tuition fees using FEE-HELP if you meet these citizenship and residency requirements:*

- > You are an Australian citizen or permanent humanitarian visa holder (living in Australia for the duration of your enrolment).
- > You are a permanent visa holder undertaking bridging study for overseas-trained professionals, and will be living in Australia for the duration of your enrolment.

If you use FEE-HELP, the Australian Government will pay your tuition fees while you study, but you will be required to pay back those fees through the taxation system or voluntary payments.

W studyassist.gov.au/sites/studyassist/helppayingmyfees/fee-help/pages/fee-help-

A small number of postgraduate programs offer Commonwealth Supported Places (CSP)* where the Australian Government subsidises your tuition fees. For information about CSPs see anu.edu.au/students/scholarships/graduate-commonwealth-supported-places

W programsandcourses.anu.edu.au

International students

If you are an international student, you will have to pay international student fees. The amount you have to pay is based on the courses in which you enrol. Each course has a set fee, so you will be invoiced for the total fees for all the courses you enrol in for a semester or session.

Refund policy for international students

If you are an international student and have enrolled at ANU for the first time and you are in your first semester or session, your tuition fees may be refunded in full if you discontinue your studies before the relevant census date.

W anu.edu.au/pg/fees

Health insurance

All non-Australian citizens living in Australia must have health insurance. Overseas Student Health Cover (OSHC) is private health insurance that will cover the costs of your medical and hospital care if you need it. We recommend Allianz Global Assistance but you can choose another provider that offers this cover.

Higher Degree by Research International Students - School Fee Waiver

From 1 January 2016 the children of HDR international students studying in Canberra are eligible to have their fees waived in ACT Government schools. This eases the financial burden on HDR students' families and helps cement Canberra's position as Australia's education and research capital.

An eligible HDR international student will need to hold a Postgraduate Research Sector visa (Subclass 500) issued by the Department of Immigration and Border Protection and be enrolled in a Masters degree by research or a Doctoral degree.

W education.act.gov.au/school_education/international_students/temporary_residents_and_dependants

Services and amenities fee

Domestic and international students at ANU must pay a services and amenities fee. This helps to support services like student counselling, recreational facilities, sporting and cultural events held on campus throughout the year.

W anu.edu.au/pg/ssaf

Cost of living

In addition to tuition fees, there are other costs you may want to consider before starting your postgraduate degree at ANU, particularly if you're moving to Canberra from interstate or overseas.

The ACT Government website Canberra: Create your Future explores a range of topics about living, studying and working in Canberra, including living costs.

W canberrayourfuture.com.au

For international students, the Australian Government's Study in Australia website is also full of useful information about studying in Australia.

CANBERRA

You will come to understand why Canberra is consistently rated one of the world's best cities for quality of life.

Most livable city

The world's best city to live in, according to the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD).¹

Global community

A city of just over 398,300 people with more than 25% of our residents born overseas, countless embassies and national institutes, Canberra has a strong sense of community; our global community.²

Best student city

QS Best Student Cities 2016 has ranked Canberra in the top 20 cities in the world to live and study.

Safest

Canberra is considered one of the safest cities in Australia with one of the lowest crime rates.³

1. OECD Better Life Index 2015, oecdregionalwellbeing.org/region.html#AU8 2. Australian Demographic Statistics, Australian Bureau of Statistics, September 2016, abs.gov.au/ausstats/abs@.nsf/mf/3101.0 3. Police.act.gov.au

CANBERRA

Best in the country

You will find some of Australia's best museums and galleries in Canberra including the National Gallery of Australia, National Portrait Gallery, the National Museum of Australia and the Australian War Memorial.

Home to the Australian Institute of Sport, Canberra has excellent facilities for those who love to live an active lifestyle.

The region is etched with bike paths and walking trails and there are plenty of places to swim, kayak and windsurf. Mount Stromlo Park is great for mountain bike riding, horse riding and running activities.

Getting around

A planned and relatively young city, Canberra is easy and economical to get around.

Our suburbs are arranged around several shopping and commercial hubs. There's a safe and reliable public bus service and a comprehensive network of bicycle paths. Many buses are equipped with bike racks, so cyclists can hop on the bus for longer journeys.

The road system is excellent and traffic jams are rare. For interstate and overseas travel, Canberra Airport is only about a 15-minute drive from the CBD.

Exploring the region

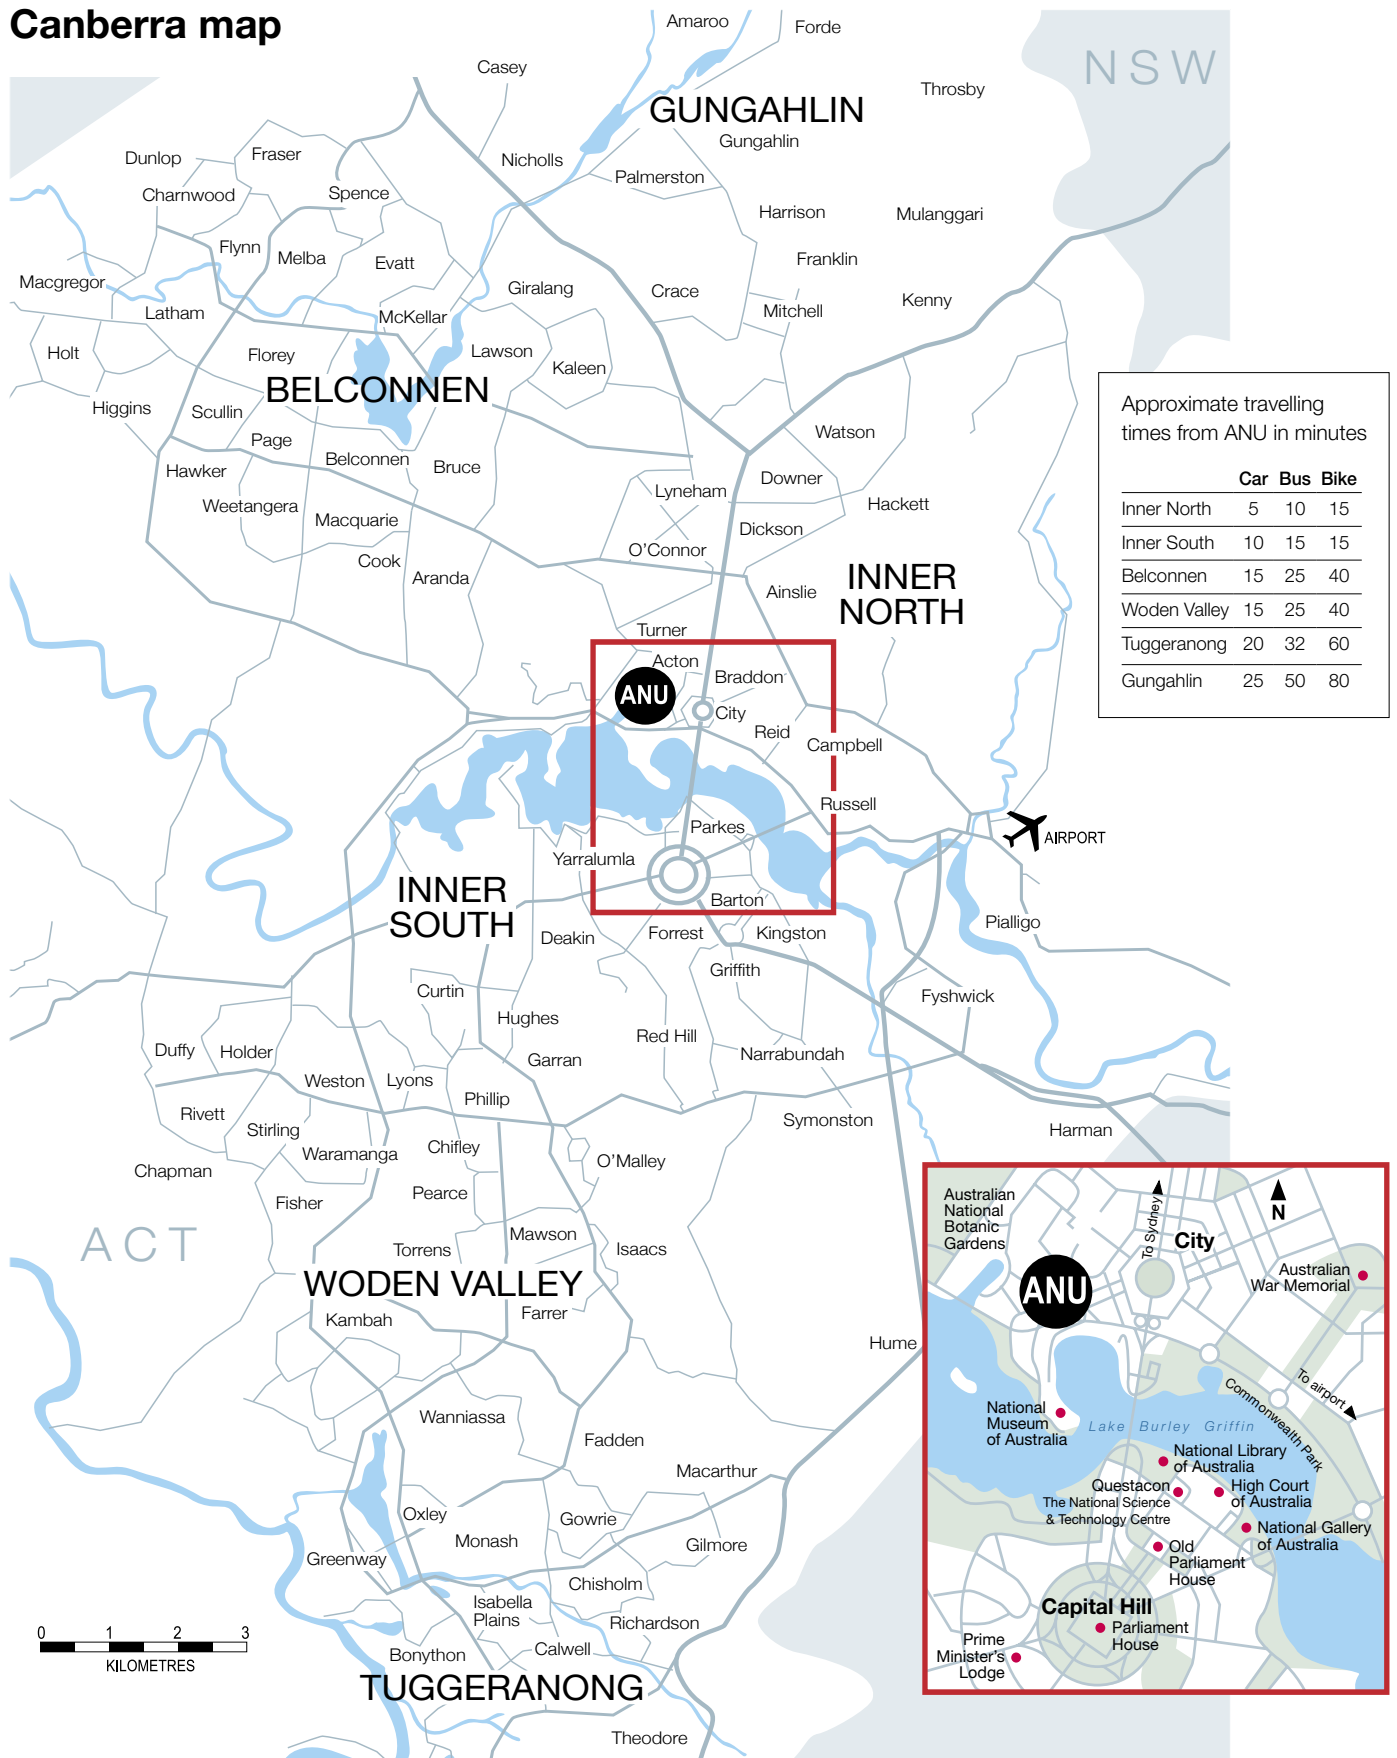

Canberra is in the Australian Capital Territory. Beyond Canberra, the Namadgi National Park includes many walking trails and lookouts and includes the Tidbinbilla Nature Reserve where you can see Australian native animals like brolgas, emus and rock wallabies in their native habitats.

South of Canberra is the stunning Kosciuszko National Park, home to Australia's highest peak. Camp and bushwalk in the high country during the warmer months and ski in the winter.

The unspoiled New South Wales South Coast is a two-hour scenic drive east. With white beaches and turquoise waters, country villages and wineries to explore.
