FOR YEAR 12 UK STUDENTS

UNIQU summer schools – July/August

Applications to our UNIQU summer schools are welcome from students currently in their first year of A-levels (or equivalent) at UK state schools/colleges, from low socio-economic backgrounds and/or areas with low progression to higher education. The summer schools are free, week-long intensive academic programmes run by current tutors at Oxford. Participants live in an Oxford college and take part in a variety of social activities. The UNIQU application deadline is in January.

Shadow an Oxford student

Each year, over 200 Year 12 students come to Oxford to shadow a current undergraduate through the Target Schools scheme run by OUSU (see page 33). The aim is to debunk the various myths about studying at Oxford, and to increase representation from students whose schools don't have much history of coming to study here. Find out if you're eligible: email studentshadowing@ousu.ox.ac.uk or visit

targetschools.ousu.org

In 2015/16, at over 2,500 outreach events
we opened doors to nearly 345,000 people

FOR SCHOOLS

Pathways

The Oxford Pathways Programme provides information, advice and guidance on higher education and Oxford for targeted UK non-selective state schools. It runs free events in Oxford from Year 10 Taster Days to a Year 13 Application Information Day. Schools can check eligibility by emailing pathways@admin.ox.ac.uk or visiting www.pathways.ox.ac.uk.

WIDENING ACCESS AND PARTICIPATION

Oxford works with parents, teachers and state school students aged 11–18 (Years 6–13), both locally and nationally, to help them understand what they could gain from further or higher education, and what type of study might suit them best. From one-hour workshops to residential events, we offer an exciting range of opportunities for a variety of ages and target groups. Get in touch: wap@admin.ox.ac.uk.

FOR TEACHERS

We recognise the key role that teachers, careers advisors and counsellors play in students' decision-making. Oxford offers a variety of events to support teachers in their work, such as conferences and study weeks and summer schools. Find the list and sign up for email updates at ox.ac.uk/teachers.

Each year, Oxford undergraduates are asked to make nominations for an Inspirational Teachers Award. This could be for someone who inspired them to apply to Oxford, fostered their passion for a particular subject or supported them through the application process.

Each February we offer a two-day residential conference for international guidance counsellors which provides an insight into life at Oxford as well as our admissions process.

SCHOOL AND COLLEGE VISITS

Oxford runs a range of events for potential applicants. Travelling throughout the UK and beyond, we meet with students, teachers, parents and carers. We welcome the chance to deliver presentations and workshops, and talk with interested students about all aspects of applying to, and studying at, Oxford. Where possible, we encourage schools to coordinate with others in their area. This enables us to work with more students and, we believe, enriches students' interaction. For more details and to arrange a visit, please get in touch:

liaison@admin.ox.ac.uk

UK

Each local authority in the UK is linked with a particular Oxford college. This means that every school and college has a first point of contact within the University.

These regional links are part of our commitment to engage with schools and colleges, and do not have any bearing on the admissions process.

To find your college link or arrange a visit please see ox.ac.uk/linkcolls.

International

We hold events for prospective applicants, their parents and guidance counsellors in a number of countries around the world. If we can't come to your school in person, we are happy to deliver Skype presentations to students.

For information on events in your country, please email: international.recruitment@admin.ox.ac.uk or see ox.ac.uk/intvisit.

CONFERENCES AND CONVENTIONS

For teachers

We offer a series of Regional Teachers' Conferences across the UK to equip teachers with the best possible advice for their students on applying to Oxford, and to break down any misconceptions that might deter students from applying. The conferences cover all aspects of the admissions process: from identifying candidates to writing references and preparing candidates for admissions tests and interviews. The conferences visit different regions across the UK on a biennial basis. For details and to sign up to our teachers' e-newsletter, please visit ox.ac.uk/teachers.

For schools

Oxford University attends higher education fairs and conventions across the UK. These are an opportunity to speak to an Oxford representative face to face, to find out more about our undergraduate courses and get advice on the application process. ox.ac.uk/hefairs

Oxford and Cambridge Student Conferences are another way to find out more about Oxford without travelling far from home. They take place in March each year, with detailed sessions on the admissions process, student life, interviews, student finance and the many different courses at Oxford and Cambridge. Admissions tutors, admissions office staff and current undergraduates are there to answer questions about applying to Oxford or Cambridge. studentconferences.org.uk

Study Higher is a partnership of Buckinghamshire New University, Oxford Brookes University, the University of Oxford and the University of Reading along with six further education colleges. As a partnership, Study Higher is committed to providing informative and inspiring educational events and activities for pre-16 students based in Milton Keynes, Oxfordshire, Buckinghamshire and Berkshire. www.studyhigher.ac.uk

In recognition that many schools and students would like joint advice from Oxford and Cambridge, a collaborative network was created through the HEFCE National Networks for Collaborative Outreach (NNCO) scheme. This brings together Oxford's Regional Links Scheme and Cambridge's Area Links Scheme through collaborative events and a joint outreach website, including a series of webinars. www.oxfordandcambridgeoutreach.co.uk

Visiting Oxford

PLACES TO VISIT

Many colleges are open to visitors, especially during the afternoons. The University's museums and some other buildings are also open to the public. University departments are not usually open to visitors, except on open days (see page 184). Find out more at: ox.ac.uk/ugvisit and ox.ac.uk/visitors.

With so many colleges, you won't be able to visit them all in one day. We recommend that you first check which colleges offer the course you are interested in (see page 146) and then pick a few to look round. This will give you a good idea of the differences and similarities between colleges. For more advice on choosing a college please see page 148.

The Ashmolean Museum, Oxford University Museum of Natural History, Museum of the History of Science and Pitt Rivers Museum are all free to visit and are an important resource for many of our students. See page 22 for more about museums.

ADMISSIONS INFORMATION

You don't have to visit Oxford to contact one of our experienced and knowledgeable staff. Our admissions information team can help with any questions you might have about applying to study at Oxford, or what it's like to be a student here.

The University will seek to deliver each course in accordance with the descriptions set out in the relevant course webpage at the time of application and the corresponding Course Information Sheet sent to applicants with their offer of a place. The course webpages can be accessed at ox.ac.uk/courses.

However, there may be situations in which it is desirable or necessary for the University to make changes in course provision, either before or after enrolment.

The University will not make very substantial changes to courses (for example, a change to the course title, significant restructuring, substantial change in course content, or the introduction of a progression hurdle) which would impact on students who have already begun their course. In exceptional circumstances it may be necessary for the University to make such a change after acceptance of a place by an offer-holder. This will not happen less than 3 months before enrolment. The offer-holder will be notified of the change (as compared to the description in their Course Information Sheet) and offered the opportunity to withdraw from the course.

Other changes could be made to course content, delivery and teaching provision because of developments in the relevant subject, enhancements in teaching or assessment practice, requirements of external accreditation processes, changes in staffing, resource constraints or changes in the availability of facilities. Such changes will take account of the reasonable expectations of prospective and current students.

Offer-holders will be notified of any material change (as compared to the description in their Course Information Sheet) and offered the opportunity to withdraw from the course.

On-course students will be consulted about any proposed material course change (except changes which are solely for their benefit) which would affect the part of the course which they have already started studying.

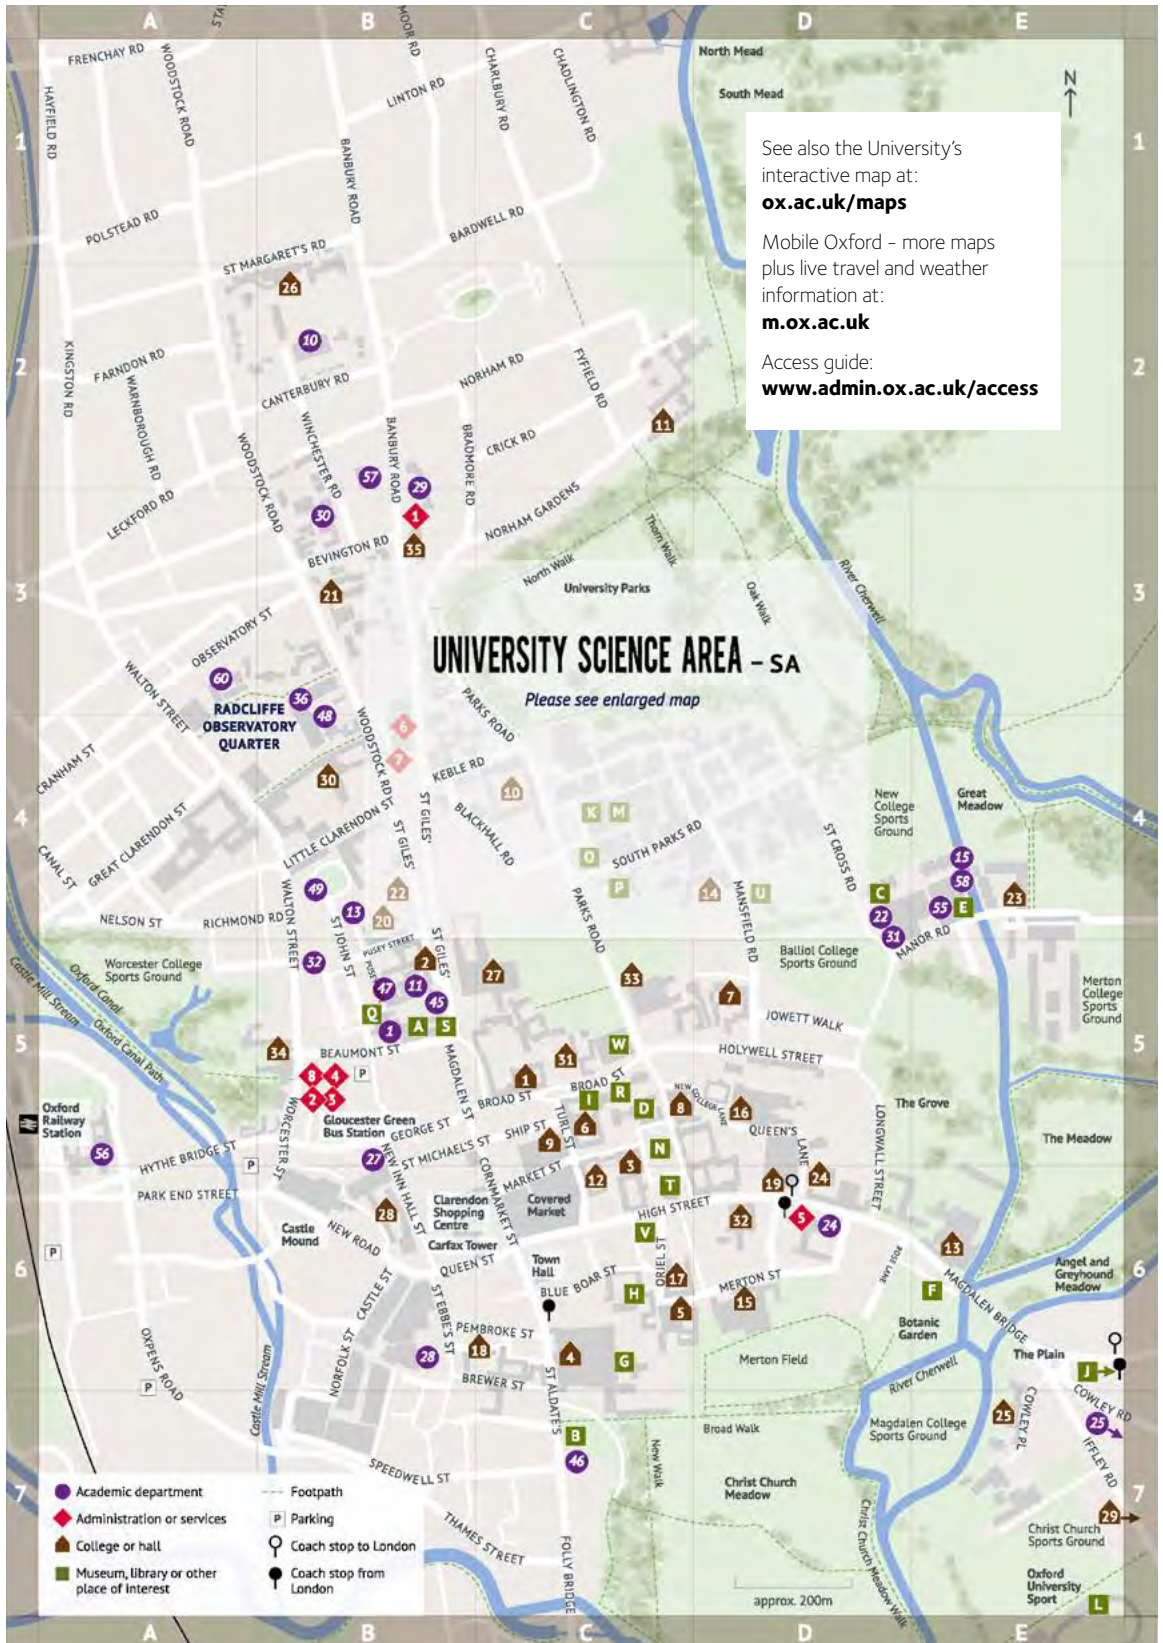

The provision of course options which depend on the availability of specialist teaching, or on placement at another institution, cannot be guaranteed in advance.
