

Global Day of Action against Unilever International industrial action & solidarity

Support Unilever mercury workers in Kodaikanal India Friday 7 March at 10 am Unilever offices - 990 Toorak Road Camberwell

Unilever bought a thermometer factory in Kodaikanal in 1986. The factory was on a mountain in Tamil Nadu in South India, to take advantage of the low wages and the cold climate suitable for mercury manufacturing. But they neglected to tell the workers that mercury is a poison! Workers were breathing mercury vapours, handling mercury and scooping up spills with bare hands, no personal protective equipment was provided. Mercury waste was dumped in the forests near the factory and in town.

When workers became aware of the dangers they started a campaign to demand clean-up and compensation. In response Unilever closed the factory on 7 March 2001 and dismissed all workers. Some cleanup has now occurred. At least 19 workers have died and hundreds of workers and their families are suffering. They have received no compensation.

The workers at Kodaikanal ask you to support their demands:

- Clean up all mercury from Kodaikanal's environment
- Pay compensation to the workers exposed to mercury and their families
- Long term medical monitoring and assistance for Kodaikanal workers and residents struggle song

Workers across the world united
Stand up for justice & what's ours
With my comrades beside me
See the power of our class

Dare to fight ! Dare to win !
March together arm in arm
With my comrades beside me
See the power of our class

Workers across the world united
Stand up for justice & what's ours
Are we Union? Yes we are
See the power of our class

Dare to fight ! Dare to win !
March together arm in arm
With my comrades beside me
See the power of our class

Dare to fight ! Dare to win !
March together arm in arm
With my comrades beside me
See the power of our class

Workers across the world united
Stand up for justice & what's ours
Are we many? Yes we are
See the power of our class

Dare to fight ! Dare to win !
March together arm in arm
With my comrades beside me
See the power of our class

With my comrades beside me
See the power of our class

the story of the struggle song

On 17 May 1980 martial law was declared in South Korea. In the industrial city of Kwan-ju protests continued for nine days. The government sent in troops. More than 2000 workers were killed. The Struggle Song was written to commemorate this massacre. Korean unions have said that the Struggle Song belongs to all workers. They ask all unions in the Asia Pacific region to sing it. Already Korean, Indonesian, Taiwanese and Thai workers sing versions of this song. This is the Australian version
