

Not ideal that ... not sure where the 'Brisbane suburbs only' is from as the media announcement back in May talked about south east Queensland and media from then even highlighted some areas in Logan, Moreton and Ipswich as the high target places.

As I wasn't here at the time I can only go on the briefing notes and statements from then and info in the Budget and Annual Report.

Not sure if it assists but I could contact Lea.

In regards to the format you are asking for, as mentioned on Friday the latest one is being compiled and will be provided as soon as it is completed through the formal Dept-Ministerial briefing processes as it contains sensitive information.

Regards

Graham

Yes... I just had a stoush with her on the phone and repeated that it's not a Gold Coast story, that the teams are targeting Brisbane suburbs

Please request that SPER go back to reporting in the old 'tranche' format so that we know what is happening where and when.

Thanks

Subject: FW: Ministerial questions re SPER

Dear Natalie,

Do we need to discuss how we respond here?

If we provide this information, I think we need to also consider providing details of the increasing volumes of referrals of debts to SPER, and the improved finalisation rates of late ie that the changes being implemented are having an effect.

Also we need to get the message out that the $1.1Bn includes debts that are under payment arrangement, ie that it is not debt that is just sitting idle on the books.

Regards,

Liz

Hi Guys,

In addition to this, can I also get a breakdown of the total amount of SPER debt by fines and specifically what the make-up of the $100 million increase reported in today's paper (By type of infringement/crime).

Steve Austin will be asking for this 6am tomorrow morning on ABC.

Can I also get the financial year-on-year rises in debt for:

2010-11
2011-12
2012-13
2013-14
2014-15
2015-16

I expect journalists will start to question the success of SPER's debt recovery efforts to date.

Please advise how long this will take to be sent through.

Cheers,
-Scott

Attached is the template I sent through last week.

Can I get that updated. I'll speak with Logan and Ipswich media tomorrow afternoon.

Tomorrow morning I'll need to know which suburbs the two vehicles on the Gold Coast were clamped in and the model of vehicle.

Cheers

No, don't contact the journalist. We did good work last year in keeping media abreast of movements and updates, which was tedious but necessary.

Last year we did a suburb-by-suburb breakdown for all of them over Christmas.

We need to maintain that level of engagement to keep media involved in the narrative, but SPER has been very reluctant to assist.

The filming with Channel7 was a breakthrough, but we need regular reports and we need it factored into our forward plan.

Cheers
