

FREE TO GOVERNMENT BUREAUCRATS AND AIDS PROFITEERS

the ACT UP rage

D-DAY JUNE 6 1991

Time's up!

Melbourne's floral clock was subverted last night as part of the escalating campaign to improve access to HIV/AIDS treatments in Australia.

A spokesperson for ACT UP said "the floral clock will grow back, unlike the thousands of people who will die waiting for access to treatments due to the governments inaction on this issue".

People with HIV/AIDS and their supporters are angry.

We are angry at the intolerable delays still occurring in gaining access to promising new HIV/AIDS treatments in Australia. We are angry that the Ministers only response to this crisis is to call for more reports. We are angry that he allows the positions of a few powerful Canberra bureaucrats to prevent new treatments getting into this country.

ACT UP gave Mr Howe until June 6 - D Day to respond to our demands - he hasn't.

Mr Howe - we won't wait!
