U.S. PREPARES FOR WAR

Black soldiers were on the frontlines in Vietnam (top photo, left), World War I (above), and World War II (left). As the U.S. government prepares to revive the draft as a step towards war in the Middle East, millions of young Blacks, who were denied jobs, housing and other rights after fighting for America, have declared that they will not fight again for a country which still considers them "niggers."
