My quest for a compassionate Carpenter

Dear reader,

I wanted to grab your attention for the following. Finally, after weeks of being in contact with different people and organisations, I settled with a new project on Lesvos.

Refugee 4 Refugees together with Infinitum Limits is setting up a new project, called Mandala, right next to the Olive Grove and camp Moria. A field of +/- 4000 m² will be transformed into a child friendly space, offering education, sports and play activities, with the aim to create a safe space.

I will go there with a small team to help out in the design and build activities from half of March to the end of May. At the moment I am with a civil engineer and another architecture student, but I'm still looking for a fairly skilled carpenter to strengthen the team for any amount of time in above period, on site! I'm able to offer free accommodation.

Would you all like to consider whether this could apply on you or someone you know well that would open-minded for this? It would mean a lot to find someone!

Also if you're not a carpenter but would like to learn more, contact me!

Thank you, and feel free to share. Have a nice sunny afternoon! 😊
