

stand and appreciate the Narrative, it is necessary to lay aside the office of the editor, and to read the author's words, who would seem to be filled with the indignation of a slaveholder.

It is in this way that we are to be convinced of the value of the Narrative. Only in this way can we be convinced of the value of the Narrative. Only in this way can we be convinced of the value of the Narrative.

FROM THE LONDON INQUIRER, OCT. 18.—DR. E. P. PARHAM, OF AMERICA.—TO THE EDITORS OF THE INQUIRER.

Dear Sirs.—I am glad to find your remarks in the Inquirer of August 30th, in relation to the Narrative, have not passed unnoticed. In your Number of the 20th Sept. I find that you have been informed that I have entered the field in defence of Dr. Parkman and Dr. Dewey...

holding—who pollute the seats of man-nerliness—the hall of the office of the editor, and to read the author's words, who would seem to be filled with the indignation of a slaveholder.

What do you mean by saying, 'Now, on this subject a vast deal of information is required which is not to be found in the Narrative?' Three millions of our fellow-men are held in slavery in America by men who speak the same language as we do...

POETRY.

A RALLYING CRY FOR NEW-ENGLAND, AGAINST THE ANNEXATION OF TEXAS.

By James Russell Lowell.
Where she lies in her dead stark and stiff, with deathstains on her brow.
Though crevices would have us think her heart was never so strong as now.

REFORMATORY.

THE REFORM OF GOD.

By Wm. W. Weston, No. 13, 1845.
I did not intend to say anything to the friends of God who are so ready to take up arms against the Liberator; but I have understood that many persons were very much shocked at my assertions, and that some of them were shocked at such an article being admitted into our columns; and I therefore beg to say a few words in self-defense.

TEXAS!

Up the hillside, down the plain,
Hear the sleeping slumber,
The debt we owe our fathers' graves, and to the yet unborn,
Whose heritage ourselves must make a thing of pride or scorn?

ANOTHER RALLYING CRY.

By J. M. Smith, No. 13, 1845.
O, spirit of the noble Paul, when the Old Bay State was free,
When her soul was untrammelled from Berkshire to the sea.

NON-RESISTANCE.

By J. M. Smith, No. 13, 1845.
I appear before you as a dying man, about to be launched into eternity, and request that you will bear witness to my faith in the Christian religion.

GOOD SETTLEMENTS.

By J. M. Smith, No. 13, 1845.
The following is an extract from the Proclamation of Gov. Stevens, dated the 10th inst., in relation to the settlement of the State.
