

SUNDAY.

The Convention assembled at Westminster Hall at 10 o'clock, the President, Dr. CLARKE, being in the chair.

Prayer was offered by Mrs. Sophia L. Little. Mr. GARRISON read selections from the New Testament.

The Committee on Business reported, by Mr. GARLAND, the following resolutions: Whereas, in the Daily Transcript, of Saturday, (1) a wanton and malignant editorial attack is made upon this Convention...

Resolved, That the pretended veneration for the Sabbath, in postponement of the claims of suffering humanity, is a sure indication of religious hypocrisy and heartless selfishness...

C. L. REMOND expressed the hope that any persons present, who have objections or doubts respecting the Anti-Slavery movement, would offer them while there was time...

Mr. GARRISON said the Union once had a meaning which represented much good; but it had lost it all, and now stood for a most fearful system of selfishness, avarice, social pride, oppression, and blood.

Mr. HILL of Pawtucket asked leave to interrupt the speaker, which was readily granted. Mr. H. went on to express his difficulty, and that, as he believed, of many others.

Mr. FOSTER resumed, saying he was just about to take up that point; but gave way for a motion to adjourn, to 3 o'clock, P. M., which was carried.

Mr. GARRISON, from the Business Committee, reported the following additional resolution: 11. Resolved, That the American Church still continues to be the bulwark of American slavery...

Mr. GARRISON expressed his satisfaction in hearing Mr. K. and in the good spirit of his remarks. But he thought that Mr. K. had misapprehended him.

Mr. GARRISON said that he was not about to take up that point; but gave way for a motion to adjourn, to 3 o'clock, P. M., which was carried.

Yesterday we were called upon to give publicity to a communication, concerning the holding of a Convention in this city on the subject of slavery, upon the Sabbath.

Very little sin, said Mr. G., is committed for the pure love of sin. Nearly all comes of the delusion that the end sanctifies the means.

Mr. G. W. DOWNING said he entertained the Spenser view of the Constitution, which he did not propose, however, now to discuss; but he had objections to some of the positions which Mr. Keach had taken in behalf of the Republican party.

Mr. GARRISON said that as Cato of old never addressed the Roman Senate that he did not say, (a topic which he might,) 'Delenda est Carthago'—CARTHAGO MUST BE DESTROYED—so he felt the desire, in every speech, to say—NO UNION WITH SLAVEHOLDERS!

but fulsome panegyric upon the character of Washington, and to secure for himself thereby the applause of an idolatrous multitude, ostensibly as a mark of profound veneration for the memory of the 'Father of his country'...

Resolved, That the character of Washington needs no such ostentatious effort to render it safe or illustrious; that in making no reference to the brightest act in the career of Washington—the emancipation of all his slaves—Mr. Everett indicated how utterly insensible he is to the value of a grand example, now that the Slave Power avows its purpose to extend and perpetuate slavery to the end of time...
