THE HERALD OF FREEDOM ONCE MORE

It is a great pleasure to see the Herald of Freedom in the columns of the Liberator...

As against those who say that the Herald of Freedom is a mere vehicle for the views of its editors...

POETRY.

From the Middle Standard.
O' my dear little girl!
From my arms, my dear little girl!

Written on reading the late "A Massachusetts Freeman" for meeting in Faneuil Hall, &c.
The words of the olden days,
The words of the olden days,

Through your eyes and sunny hair,
How the bright sunbeams gleam,
Through your crown the wreathing stars,

Rock your fathers' Hall!
Up, and tread beneath your feet,
Let your feet be as the feet of men,

LET US UNCHAIN THEM!
Up, to your banner lead the van,
Lead the van, lead the van,

From the Liberty Bell.
THE HAPPY MARRIAGE.
By JAMES HERRICK LOWELL.

It is not that the wicked hate,
And that the faithful love,
It is not that the good are kind,

And yet what man is single as this?
He who makes other men's wives his,
Shut out and exile from the bliss

God speed the way of jubilee,
The wide world wide,
To the oppressed shall fall the lance,

God speed the way of jubilee,
The wide world wide,
To the oppressed shall fall the lance,

REFORMATORY.

For the Liberator.
CHRISTIAN REFORM CONVENTION.
Coleridge, George C. N. J.

To C. A. WILSON and others, who have signed a Convention to consider what shall be done to reform the Christian Church...

Some say, man's natural reason is the chief guide;
that the Bible is the "only rule of faith and practice"; and others...

My father was a clergyman, and had in his library
I think, seven different versions or translations of scripture.

GRUEL TREATMENT.

Coleridge, N. Y. Dec. 25, 1844.
You have doubtless, heard the reports, O' Better
I have been a witness to the cruel and unchristian treatment...
