

THE LIBERATOR: PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY, BY W. WILLIAMS, General Agent: No. 25 CORNHILL, BOSTON.

REFUGE OF OPPRESSION. The following piece of pious badinage...

DEEDMAN, Oct. 31, 1843. Mr. Editor, in my last, that I had a...

That there was the politician, who had his...

Among them was the dapple-gray. He...

There was another, which I imagined was...

There was also one which was evidently a...

There was another, which I imagined was...

There was also one which was evidently a...

There was another, which I imagined was...

There was also one which was evidently a...

There was another, which I imagined was...

There was also one which was evidently a...

There was another, which I imagined was...

There was also one which was evidently a...

There was another, which I imagined was...

There was also one which was evidently a...

There was another, which I imagined was...

There was also one which was evidently a...

There was another, which I imagined was...

There was also one which was evidently a...

There was another, which I imagined was...

There was also one which was evidently a...

OUR COUNTRY IS THE WORLD—OUR BOSTON, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1843.

SELECTIONS.

From the National A. S. Standard. 'Transfer of the Emancipator.'

When I first read Charles T. Torrey's communication on this subject, in your paper of the 10th, it seemed to me hardly worth while to say any thing further.

Mr. Torrey wishes to know why it happened that no measure of publishing the Emancipator for six weeks longer, towards the close of 1840, could be had.

In the early part of 1840, I thought, for one that too much prominence was given in the columns of the Emancipator to the political...

The old committee were unwilling to assume any measure pecuniarily, because it was personal, and they expected that Mr. Garrison would come to the annual meeting, as in fact he did, to outvote the members of the society opposed to his policy.

During the spring of 1840, the Executive Committee had very little money. It had been decided that Messrs. Birney and Stanton should proceed to England as delegates to the General Anti-Slavery Convention in London.

When the old committee went out of office, they would have been very glad to have surrendered up all the society's property in their hands, or under their control, if their successors would have indemnified them satisfactorily for the pecuniary responsibilities they had assumed.

I have been reluctant to make this statement, because I did not wish to trumpet my advances in money, as it appears egotistical to say so much of my agency in the matters alluded to.

Mr. Torrey seems to make it necessary, by a long and tedious account, to show that he is not a slaveholder, and that he is not a slaveholder, and that he is not a slaveholder.

LEWIS TAPPAN.

OUR COUNTRY IS THE WORLD—OUR BOSTON, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1843.

SELECTIONS.

Remarks of the Editor of the Standard.

We hesitated whether to publish the foregoing first, because it does not touch the merits of the case; and secondly, because the party which Mr. Tappan on this occasion represents, has not, at any time, done us the justice to publish any of our statements, nor those of any friend of this society.

The great point which the case presents is, that the Emancipator was taken away from this society under the pretence that the executive committee had no means to carry it on, until the annual meeting of this society in May, 1840.

We have recently proved that this pretence was false; by showing that Mr. Leavitt, Mr. Tappan, and their colleagues did, after all, provide at their expense for paying Leavitt's salary, and all other expenses of publishing the paper up to, and beyond the day of the annual meeting.

To this controlling and decisive fact, no answer is made, nor ever will be. They dare not encounter this fact. With such views of the case, we will not occupy time and space in playing round the subject with Mr. Tappan or anybody else.

Our readers will recollect that, immediately prior to the late election, we published a synopsis of the speech of J. R. Giddings, delivered at Oberlin, on Friday evening, Sept. 30, 1843.

Since its last annual meeting, this Society has not been altogether inactive. Quietly, but more effectively, it has plied its assaults against the citadel of oppression, and employed its energies for the restoration of prostrate humanity.

For one month past, C. M. Burling, of Connecticut, has been in the employ of the society as lecturing agent.

DEAR SIR—Yours of the 15th is received. You inquire: 'Did Mr. Giddings (in his late speech at Oberlin) read a letter purporting to come from Henry Clay, expressing views favorable to abolition?'

H. A. TENNEY, Esq.

AGENTS. MAINE—A. Soule, Bath; Wm. A. Dunn, Hallowell; Wm. H. Burdett, Bangor; N. P. Rogers, Concord; Wm. Wilbur, Dover; Leonard Chase, Milford.

OUR COUNTRY IS THE WORLD—OUR BOSTON, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1843.

SELECTIONS.

What is his offence against us? He hates slavery! This is all. But does he not love American liberty? He abhors the slavery of the black man; but has he ever forged chains for the white? He struggled for emancipation in the British colonies; does he not bid God-speed to the efforts now on foot for the elevation of the oppressed in the British Isles?

Some men seem to carry with them an abiding faith in total depravity. They see nothing around them but whited sepulchres. No matter how glorious a man's deeds, they are but the pretences of a hypocrite. Consistency, in their estimation, is only the result of a more enlightened selfishness.

They hate the man, too, because he is an agitator—one of those men who delight in turning the world upside down. They believe in an everlasting sabbath of evil. The poetic fiction, 'whatever is, is right,' with them is soder prose. Reformers they esteem as irreverent innovators.

A grave offence was committed last night against the laws of his Majesty, George the Third—God bless him! It is another fearful evidence of the radical, disorganizing spirit abroad among the people—a spirit of anarchy and libertinism—in fact, of rank nullification. The law must be obeyed. This is our only protection. A way with these vain abstractions about equality of rights, as if naturally proclaimed by those who would be above what is written.

It is evident there are two classes of advocates among us for Repeal. The first, and I fear much the largest, is composed of those who feel an interest in it because Ireland is the sufferer, or because they are very loath to argue to us our duty in this respect. I do this with pain; but neither truth nor justice could justify Ireland.

The meeting of the friends of Ireland and Liberty. The meeting of the friends of Liberty and Ireland at the court-house on Saturday evening was a fine one. Many Irishmen were there upon his part. One man undertook in a tone of confidence to repeat certain epithets applied by O'Connell last summer, to the apologists of slavery, but sticks behind!

We regret that any American can find it in his heart to sneer at, or denounce O'Connell. What has he done—what is there in his character, his principles, his position, that can offend a genuine lover of liberty? Has he been wavering, inconsistent, or false, as a politician? Has he played the traitor to his countrymen? Has he violated his own professions? Has he ever lost his countenance to Despotism, under any form? When has ever the invader of Human Rights found in him an ally?

DEAR SIR—Yours of the 15th is received. You inquire: 'Did Mr. Giddings (in his late speech at Oberlin) read a letter purporting to come from Henry Clay, expressing views favorable to abolition?'

H. A. TENNEY, Esq.

LEWIS TAPPAN.

shall revile you, and persecute you, and... The names of the Northern Traitors...

The Anti-Slavery Fair at Amory Hall. We improve this last opportunity to urge upon our readers in this vicinity and the neighboring towns...

The 'One Hundred Conventions.' The great, extensive, all-giving scheme, projected at the last annual meeting of the New-England Anti-Slavery Convention...

Another Blow to the Right of Petition. Nothing has yet transpired in Congress on the subject of slavery, except the following incident...

Shocking Depravity. The Rev. H. C. Taylor, editor of the Oberlin Evangelist, was on Friday last committed to the jail of Lorain county on a charge of stealing money...

THE LIBERTY BELL. The beautiful Souvenir of the Fair for 1844, containing articles from Dr. Bowring, Emily Taylor, Garrison, Rogers, Pierpont, Harriet Martineau...

TREASURER'S REPORT. At the last New-England Anti-Slavery Convention, held in Boston in May, 1843, the following resolutions were adopted...

Donations. Hon. Seth Sprague, Duxbury, $25.00; William Ashby, Newburyport, 5.00; John C. Carr, Hanover, 5.00; John Hill, 2.00; Nathan Webster, Haverhill, 1.00; John Cushing, 1.00; John R. Morse, Walpole, 50c; John Noyes, Jr., 1.00; John W. Weymouth, 1.00; A. Friend, Hanover, 1.00; Albert Gardner, 1.00; E. J. Hobart, Jr., Abington, 2.00; Ana Eliza Bacon, Philadelphia, 2.00; Jedediah Sanger, 2.00; John M. Fisk, West Brookfield, 1.00; Henrietta Sargent, Boston, 5.00; Catharine West, 5.00; David Hinckley, Barnstable, 10.00; Wm. Ashby, Salem, 3.00; John Rogers, Boston, 1.00; S. Benson, Jr., W. Ford, 1.00; A. Friend, Cambridgeport, 1.00; A. Friend, by Wendell Phillips, 75.00; A. Friend, by Wendell Phillips, 20.00; Henry Chapman, Boston, 5.00; Mary G. Chapman, 5.00; Mrs. Cornelius Bramhall, 5.00; Lydia G. Jarvis, Concord, 5.00; Wendell Phillips, Boston, 100.00; Francis Jackson, 100.00; Joseph B. Congdon, New Bedford, 10.00; Dr. Sisson, 1.00; Collections at New Bedford meeting, 27.54; A. Friend, by C. M. Burleigh, 15.00; Eliza Lee Follen, West Roxbury, 5.00; John Bunker, Fair Haven, by John Bailey, 7.00; Joseph Winslow, Foxboro', 3.00; Lucy Gates, Townsend, 3.00; Samuel Richmond, North Middleboro', 2.00; Hannah Richmond, 2.00; Beliance R. Shaw, 2.00; A. Friend, by Maria W. Chapman, 7.00; Edwin Eveleth and others, Princeton, 12.00; William F. Stone, Groton, 2.00; Horatio G. Wood, Middleboro', 2.00; John A. Phillips, Dover, N. H., 5.00; Daniel Ois and others, in South Scituate, 22.50; Thomas Sturge, England, 400.44; Abigail Bates, Wareham, 2.00; Sylvanus Bourne, 1.00; L. Packard and J. S. Stafford, of Cumington, 2.00; 1 each, 5.00; Cambridgeport A. S. Society, by Wm. Farwell, Treasurer, 33.00; Simon Warren, East Randolph, 6.25; West Brookfield A. S. Society, by Edward F. Stowell, 25.00; Wm. Stone, (or Stone), of Gardiner, 2.00; A. Friend in W. Roxbury, by Theodore Parker, 1.00; Arnold S. Congdon, New-Bedford, 2.00; Friends in Walpole, by Daniel Turner, 6.00; Stephen Barker, Methuen, by Wendell Phillips, 5.00; Simon Southwick, by S. D. Duxbury, 5.00; Lowell A. S. Society, by H. Foster, 10.00; John Levi, Lowell, 50.00; B. W. Stearns and his mother, Springfield, 1.50; Hosea Trumbull, Upton, 8 25; 25; Overplus of contributions at N. E. Convention to pay expenses, 17.01; A. Allen, Millbury, 3.00; Concord A. S. Fair, by Helen L. Thoreau, 20.00; Rev. B. Peck, Grafton, village of Saundersville, 3.00; Isaac H. Brown, 5.00; Anti-slavery friends in Hubbardstown, by Wm. Jackson, 14.03; Ezra Weston, Boston, by Dr. II. I. Bowditch, 6.00; John R. Emmons, Boston, 5.00; Samuel Downer, Jr., 5.00; Alnor Sargent, Danvers, 5.00; Henry E. Weston, Boston, 5.00; G. Smith, Lynn, 8.00; 'A poor Abolitionist,' Northboro', 1.00; Lydia L. Walker and other friends, Leominster, 10.00; Rachel Williams, by John Bailey, N. Bedford, 6.50; Lamont Morton, Lynnmouth, 1.00; R. B. Byrnes, Boston, 1.00; Moses Savin and others in Southboro', 7.00; Rev. Joseph H. Allen, Jamaica Plain, Roxbury, 5.00; $1289.29; FRANCIS JACKSON, Treasurer.

Political Injustice. The editor of the Emancipator is now in Washington. He, with the Liberty party editors of the same stamp, has been voluble in his accusations against the Standard...

Social Reorganization. The Friends of Social Reorganization are reminded of the meeting of their Convention, which will take place in Boston on the 26th and 27th inst.

General Jackson. A letter dated Nashville, Tenn., says: General Jackson, I regret to say, is in very feeble health. He has given up his room and is confined to his bed...

NOTICE. The Young Men's Literary Society will give an exhibition of elocutionary exercises on Thursday evening, Dec. 25, 1843, in the Smith School Room, Belknap-street.

