Great, you got closer!

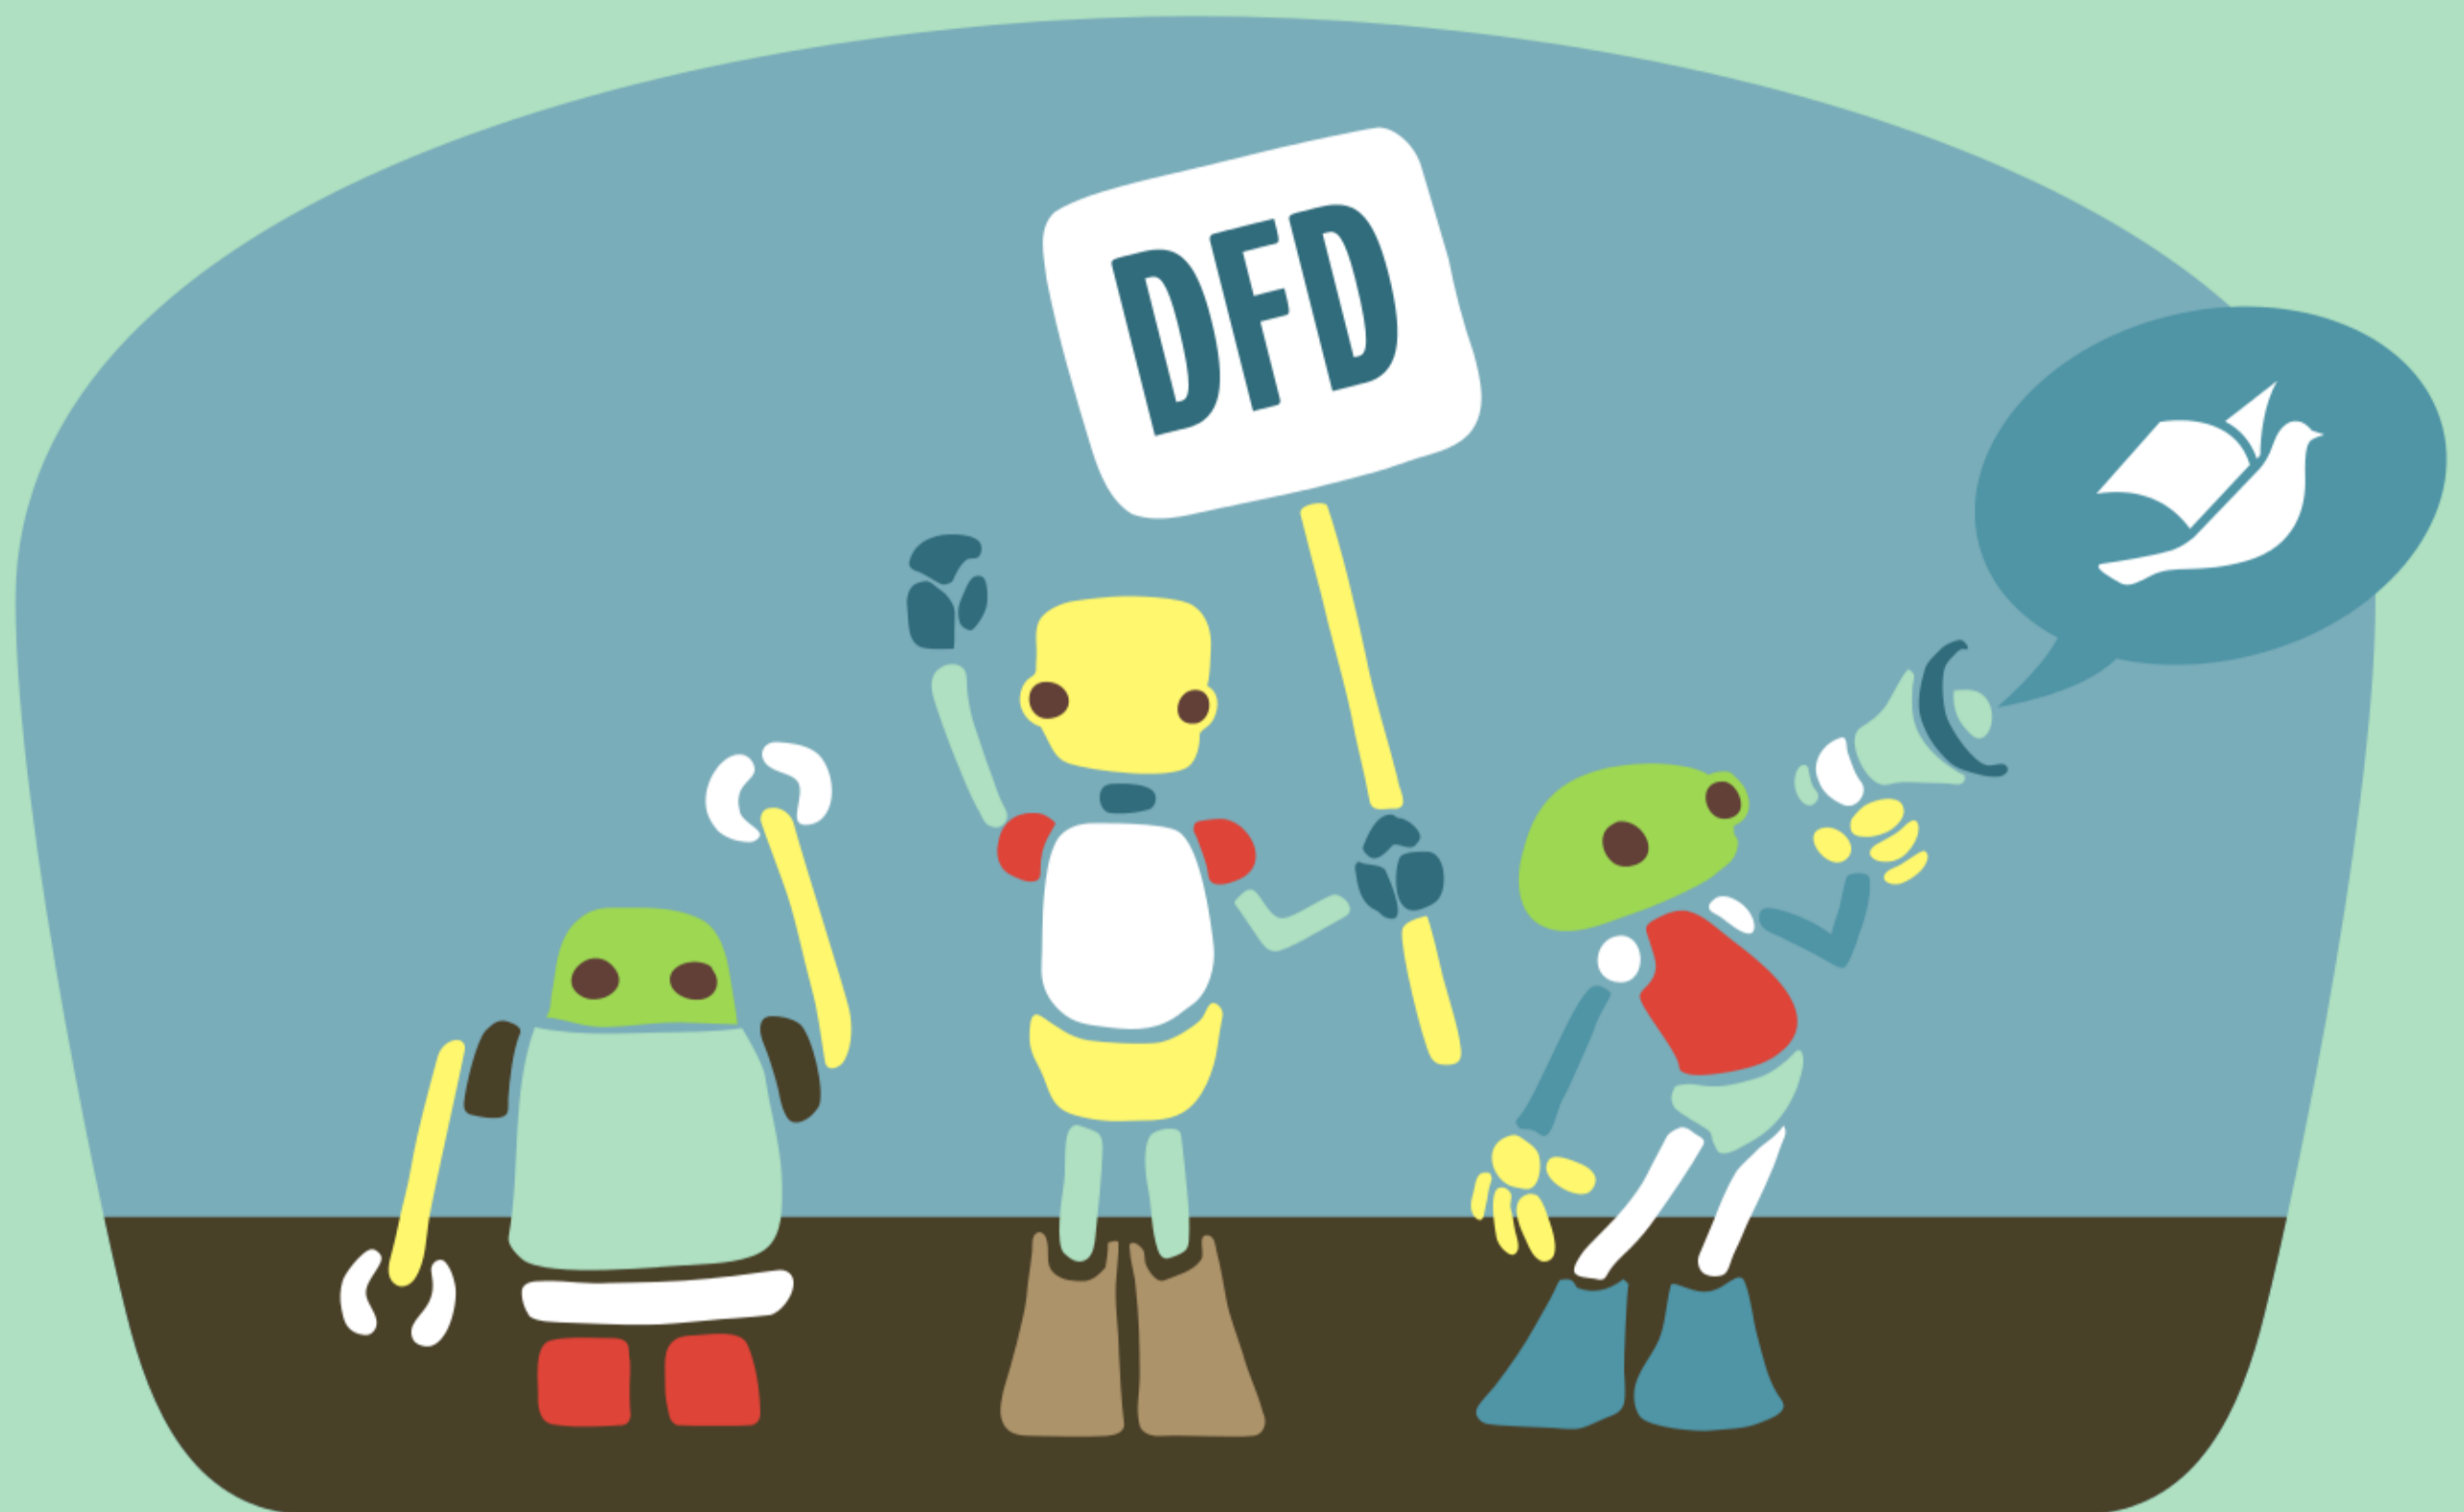

Now here are the small words...

DFD is a worldwide action day promoting Open Standards. But what are Open Standards? Open standards provide a platform for users to build upon as a community, for the benefit of the user, rather than the interests of private organisations. Open Standards promote the freedom of choice, exchange and development amongst users, without the implementation of artificial barriers. Open Standards allow equal participation in a digital society. They give us a chance, let's use it!
