EVERY FRIDAY MORNING, - AT THE -

ANTI-SLAVERY OFFICE, 21 CORNHILT.

ROBERT F. WALLCUT, General Agent. TERMS - Two dollars and fifty cents per enanto, in advance. Five copies will be sent to one address for TEX politics, if payment be made in advance. te All remittances are to be made, and all letters relating to the pecuniary concerns of the paper are to be directed, (POST PAID,) to the General Agent. "Advertisements making less than one square inerted three times for 75 cents - one square for $1.00. The Agents of the American, Massachusetts, Remaylvania, Ohio and Michigan Anti-Slavery Societies are authorised to receive subscriptions for Tax I MERATOR. The following gentlemen constitute the Financial Committee, but are not responsible for any of the debts of the paper, viz: - FRANCIS JACKSON, ELLIS GEST LORING, EDMUND QUINCY, SAMUEL PHILBRICK, and WENDELL PHILLIPS.

WM. LLOYD GARRISON, Editor.

Our Country is the World, our Countrymen are all Mankind.

J. B. YERRINTON & SON. Printers.

NO UNION WITH SLAVEHOLDERS.

The United States Constitution is 'a covenant with death, and an agreement with hell."

tial supports of slavery. We are the jailers and constables of the institution. . . There is some excuse for communities, when, under a generous impulse, they espouse the cause of the oppressed in other States, and by force restore their rights; but they are without secuse in aiding other States in binding on men an unrighteous yoke. On this subject, our pathers, in

FRANING THE CONSTITUTION, SWERVED FROM THE

Mourt. We their children, at the end of half a century, see the path of duty more clearly than they, and must walk in it. To this point the public mind has long been tending, and the time has come for looking at it fully, dispassionately, and with manly and Christian resolution. . . . No blessing of the Union can be a compensation for taking part in the enslaving of our fellow-creatures; nor ought this bond to be perpetuated, if experience shall demonstrate that it ean only continue through our participation in wrong doing. To this conviction the free States are tending.

The free States are the guardians and

VOL. XXVII. NO. 49.

BOSTON, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1857.

WHOLE NUMBER, 1404.

- WILLIAM BLIEBY CHANNING.

REFUGE OF OPPRESSION.

From the New York Journal of Commercial REFORMERS.

No quality is more conspicuous in the pseudo-reformers of every age than that of self-conceit. Ig-morance has indeed been a prominent feature in their comptions, but even this saving apology cannot be couple, was a man of genius and acquirements, but that his mind was swollen with self-conceit is proved by various facts in his history, as, for instance, by the style in which he announced to the world his sublime discovery in moral science, that was to overthrow one of the principal pillars on which the Christian system rests—miracles. These are his words: ' I flatter myself that I have discoverel an argument-which, if just, will with the wise and learned be an everlasting check to all kinds of superstitious delusion, and consequently will be useful as long as the world endures. For so long, I presume, will the accounts of miracles and prodi-ges be found in all history, sacred and profane.' has the history of presumption and self-conceit furnish a more flagrant example? From Campbell down to our own eloquent Everett, has this daring felly been rebuked and overthrown, in a manner worthy of immortal truth and divine philosophy Tom Paine was a different sort of reformer, who sur plied his lack of argument with a torrent of ribald ry as vile as his own personal habits. He boasted of his 'Age of Reason,' while pouring out the most contemptible rant. He declared, with infinite selfconceit and impiety, that his single arm should eradiate the system which it took twelve apostles to establish. He would wield the axe of truth that should cut down all the trees in paradise! Behold Ebert Owen—published to the world, a few years since, a string of dull propositions, which one could sarrely read without falling asleep, the object of which was to enlighten men in the doctrines of a now reformation, founded on principles of pure rea-He administered his anodynes in the form of letures, in 1825, to dozing congregations in the Hdl of Representatives at Washington. He pre-dicted immense success in this free country. But the reformer and his doctrines have long since gone lown beneath Lethe's stream.

Shoals of reformers without the Bible have since fested our shores. They have risen up among us, if their business is to throw about firebrands, ars and death. W. L. Garrison is noted among m. Among their nefarious practices, not the assailing the benevolent institutions of the age by are accustomed to speak 'great swelling rois,' and they delight to 'speak evil of dignis.' With characteristic self-conceit, they imaghemselves to have inaugurated an illustrious orm, which will be fully acknowledged when this upid generation shall have passed off the stage of but they 'despise governments,' kick at the much, ignore the Sabbath, mock at patriotism, dereason, and stultify themselves. They prate of berty,—they brandish the Ephesian torch at her hed with their venom, and are deceived with the fiction that if the Bible contains any thing that contravenes our natural sensibilities—the in sinets of our humanity,-it would so far not be received by them! All this is put forth when talk ag about slavery, as if that were the alpha and aga of human depravity. They would not consent to dissolve the system by the influence of Bible ath, but by the principles of eternal reason. These failing, they would resort to fire and sword, and re pat the Sopoy madness, rather than suffer the wrongs of the slave to remain unavenged. The Southern States are happily free from such turbulen spirits. That people are free from such masters of But while we endure them, though we cannot cure them, it is the province of cool and suscientious Northern men to erect barriers against the raging flood, and stand up boldly for the rights all, for the glorious Constitution, for the indissoluble Union, and the freedom and privileges of the Church, which is protected by that Constitution, and enjoys so many blessings under that Union. The South may well be thankful for the peace and sperity she enjoys, even in this time of calamity. Perhaps the clamor of irreligious abolitionists will be abouted, as their arrogance and self-conceit have ben signally rebuked by the progress of events, and the powerful expression of the public sentiment. We pok for still greater improvement in those who are not utterly incorrigible, and hope the best for Correspondence of the Missouri Democrat. LECOMPTON, October 30.

A BORDER RUFFIAN IN CONVENTION.

While the report of the Committee on Slavery was under consideration, the following speech was made by John Randolph of Atchison. This John Randolph is not of Roanoke, but came to Kansas Ma. President,—What does the gentleman mean talking about traffic in human flesh? Does he son) think that niggers are human, that by are flesh and blood like John Bandolph believed that niggers were human, by matter in however slight a degree, this Conventhe would not find John Randolph on the floor of the hall advocating slavery. No! if he thought that niggers were human flesh and blood, possessed of human flesh and blood, possessed of human feelings, affections and thoughts, having as immortal soul, John Randolph would be an abo mist, What! buy and sell our own flesh and Trade in human souls! No! no! He be red in no such sickly stuff as that; and for genmen affecting to hold that slavery was abstractly ight, and who put themselves forward as advocates outhern rights, to talk about the ' traffic in huan fish and blood,' was simply balderdash. He dan't believe niggers to be human any more than a horse or a dog. If he did, he should advocate their right to freedom.

A nigger, he held, was an animal—a cross be wen the baboon and the man; and he could prove distrine by chapter and verse, and by the nig was not their hair woolly, lips thick, nose flat, was not their hair woolly, lips thick, nose flat, scall thick—and couldn't any anatomist tell the base of a nigger from those of any human beings? He held that niggers were animals, but little more intelligent than a dog, and but one remove from the basen, and he hoped gentlemen would not talk much nonsense as 'the traffic in human flesh disgracing our fair soil' again. He should vote against the amendment, because he did not want never. he amendment, because he did not want nigger-traders to have the opportunity to bring here all the fictous and diseased niggers with which the South

The most arrant hypocrite to be found is the black Republican, who pretends to be horrified because the whole of the Kansas constitution is not submitted to the people of the Territory for ratification as ion or rejection .- Washington Union.

The Liberator.

THE SCHOOLS IN NEWBURYPORT. NEWBURYPORT, Nov. 21, 1857.

manifest in all the schools throughout the city. The an instructive portion of it:interest on the part of parents is increasing from Just ponder now what we are witnessing. It is young ladies, who by the loss of parents and other of mischief, would result. causes were thrown on their own resources to work Now, while people are frightened almost out of their way through the world, and who have, by their their wits at a zeal that might be kindled for the attention to their studies in this most excellent institution, placed themselves in a situation to earn a com- dicting a thousand disastrous consequences to flow fortable livelihood, and in some cases to do much to- from it, there has not been the shadow of a fear of the full, and hundreds went away who could not get in. sion for gain to a white heat. What a show has been It is now under the care of most excellent teachers, made of wealth, bewildering and intoxicating the imboth as respects morals and all other qualifications agination of every young man! How calmly has that go to make good teachers,-Mr. Todd as Prin- the whole world looked on with no trembling foreishment has been administered since its organization, the love of riches full play. What pains have we The pupils are made to understand that they must spared in stimulating that? We have not had the keep themselves in order, and to respect themselves, slightest dread of a fanaticism which has money for which they invariably do. So much so, that every its idol. . O, no! there is no fear of that. It is only ers and each other, and the respect paid to all visit- name and by the officers of the Law, only when the ing the school.

elve young ladies, by Rev. Mr. Fisk, would hurry us! Chairman of the Committee for this school, in a very neat and appropriate speech, while his pleasant countenance gave them assurance that he was their friend. Notice was given by Mr. Fisk that the Committee would not occupy the time, but would cheerfully give were John Porter, Esq., (who has always taken great interest in the education of the young, so much so, that every year, at his own expense, he takes one school some four miles to the Laure! ground, where the day is passed in a happy and profitable manner.) Hon, H. W. Kinsman, William Ashby, Deacon Wm Thurston, George J. L. Colby and others. Remarks the occasion. Hon. H. W. Kinsman made a very neat and practical speech, calculated to benefit all present, after which Rev. Mr. Vermyle was called upon. He said-'Mr. Chairman, I have nothing to say, but will say one word, that is, in all the exercises this afternoon, I have not heard, in dialogue or speech, one word on politeness. It is important that young ladies should be polite. To be polite, you would not imitate the Women's Rights women-for instance, Abby Kelley Foster,-a woman with a broad red face, coarse skin, great veins in her neck, and very unkissable.' He said he should not want such a wife. He wanted a wife who would be willing to conform to his wishes, and be willing to be influenced by her husband.' At this point, a voice from the platform, which was heard by all in the room, said, 'You are nistaken in the woman.' The Rev. speaker remarked, 'I'am told I am mistaken in the person,' dropped the thread of his subject, and after a few words, sat down. George J. L. Colby, Esq., editor of the Herald, followed. He said life was made up of trifles. Little things must be done to make up a life of usefulness; and for models of goodness, he held up Miss Dix, Miss Nightingale, and Mrs. Patten. His re- the principles of its own boasted Declaration. marks were listened to with much attention, and closed the exercises of the evening.

I was sorry the Rev. gentleman, on such an occasion, went out of his way to hold up a woman to officer of the Government: Mr. Garrison has not been scorn and contempt. He is not worthy to carry her nominated for the United States Senate, nor Mr. Philold shoes; and long after his name is forgotten, will lips so much as thought of for the Governorship of the name of ABBY KELLEY be remembered with Massachusetts. Neither has there been any real for gratitude and love. He talked about a 'coarse skin,' righteousness agitating the people at large. -We have If true, who is to blame? It is not his fault that he all been as quiet on this score as if we had no idea of does not speak plain. In undertaking to say, 'Good any thing of the kind. The Government is undermorning, uncle John, he would be likely to say, stood to have been doing its very best to discharge Good borded, uncle Jod.' Either the machinery of what it maintains to be its duty, namely, to protect his nose is out of order, or he thinks it a want of politeness to use a handkerchief in public. 'Coarse skin, red face, and unkissable,' is word for word as chargeable with the present distresses. A great pubused by Rev. Mr. Fletcher in describing the women lie calamity has come upon us; and, wonderful to who work in the vineyards of Italy, which is some. tell, it not only has not been caused by the crazy Abwhat remarkable; but as men of large attainments often use the same language, it would be wrong to even thought of laying the blame of it on them. say that he stole Mr. Fletcher's thunder for this occa-Yours, truly,

A SPECTATOR.

DISBELIEF IN A PERSONAL GOD DISQUALIFIES A PERSON AS A WITNESS. A case of the Commonwealth vs. James Tuttle, trader, of South Acton, for assault and battery upon a boy, was recently tried a consolation that would have compensated us a thonbefore Justice Reynolds, of Concord, Mass.

The complainant, Mr. W. H. Gray, was not allowed to testify in the case, because, being interrogated the greatest Truth-speaker that the world has ever in regard to his religious belief, he could not say he known bade his friends rejoice and be exceeding glad believed in a personal God, nor in a future state of to suffer; the consolation of entering, by the fellowrewards and punishments. What gross injustice!

ADDRESS OF REV. WM. H. FURNESS, OF PHILADELPHIA.

At the last annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Anti-Slavery Society, held at West Chester, an admirable address was delivered by that devoted and estimable friend of the slave-of humanity in all its suffering phases-Rev. WILLIAM H. FURNESS, of Phila-I thought a few facts relative to the public schools delphia, whose pulpit testimonies against the colossal of your native city would be of some interest to you. sin of our land have been frequent and uncompromis-The annual examinations have been progressing for ing for many years past. The Anti-Slavery Standard some two weeks. Commendable improvement is of the 14th ult. contains the address entire. Here is vear to year. The Female High School was opened well worth noting. People are dreadfully afraid of for the reception of pupils in 1843. There was much becoming too much interested in the idea of Justice. opposition to its establishment by many of the old This is the one terror with which this great nation fogies, who thought females had no right to be edu- trembles from head to foot. It is frightened out of cated, but were to be left to grope through the world its intelligence, otherwise so bold, at the most distant in ignorance, to be the dupes and lackeys of tyrants prospect of having this simple idea urged home upon and oppressors. Many a poor girl blesses the day the consciences of men. For years, every body, inthat God put it into the hearts of Rev. Thomas B. spired by this fear, has become prophetic, foretelling Fox and others in this place to advocate this seminary that if the people of this country were to become se of learning, and fight their way through bigotry and enamored with the idea of Justice as to set to work to prejudice to its establishment. A portion of the realize it, according to every one, black and white, his teachers in our primary and grammar schools are just rights, disunion and uproar, and I know not what wards the comfort and happiness of aged parents.

Last Tuesday was the annual examination of this we have all been perfectly at our case and unconcerned, Female High School. At an early hour, the hall was while every thing was being done to inflame the pascipal, Miss Green and Miss Clarkson as Assistants. boding, while honor and conscience have been staked One pecular trait of this school is, no corporeal pun- and lost in the game thousands of times! We give one, on visiting the school, is struck with the respect when Justice and Humanity are in question, only and kindness with which the pupils treat their teach- when some monstrous wrong is perpetrated in the Habeas Corpus act, that world-renowned writ for the After concluding the very interesting exercises by protection of personal liberty, is perverted to the base he pupils, which consisted of recitations in English uses of chattel slavery, only when some fugitive slave and Latin, dialogues in Latin and English, and read mother lays murderous hands upon her child to save ing the paper published by the members of the school, it from the hell of slavery-it is only on some occasion (in which the deaths and marriages of its past mem- when the public mind is on the point of bursting out bers are announced, and which contains a very inge- into a light blaze of passion for the Right-it is only nious editorial, in which the names of every member then that people beseech us for God's sake to keep of the school, the teachers and committee, were men. | cool, and to take care that our feelings do not run tioned, with their traits of character, business, &c., away with us, for if they should, heaven only knows Even better men than themselves have in a very happy and amusing manner,) diplomas were what would come of it, into what abysses of woe they

And yet, look, friends, and see what has now come upon the country, from that rage for gain, of which we have never had any fear, which we have done so much to exasperate, and which has gone steadily on, consuming the whole life of the nation to such a deway for remarks from gentlemen present, among whom gree that we have lost, what millions of dollars cannot compensate us for, the power to appreciate the worth and sovereign obligation of Justice. This is the deadliest mischief by far that it has done, the more deadly because people are not conscious of it. But it has had other and more palpable effects, effects which the blindest see and the hardest feel. And Trade, Trade, which is so cowardly as to tremble at every loud word were made by Rev. Dr. Dimmick, very appropriate to spoken, yes, and at every whisper breathed for Right and for Freedom, Trade is now in utter confusion wrapt in the deepest gloom. The very ground o which it stood has gone from under it. What has done all this mischief? What has thrown every thing into such sudden disorder? Has the Fugitive Slave Law been repealed? Has the Dred Scott decision been repented of by the Judges of the Supreme Court sitting in sackcloth seven days and seven nights, and flinging dust and ashes on their heads Has Mr. Buchanan, in some unguarded moment, losing the fear of the Slave Power, uttered some selfevident truth, such as, for example, that all men have equal rights to life and liberty? Or has he, through the grace of God, in some moment of extraordinary inspiration, discovered and declared that this Government was intended not to protect Slavery, but to secure the blessings of Liberty?

> Something of this kind must certainly have occur red to cause all this trouble; for it has been insisted upon for years, that nothing else could disturb the general prosperity but some insane or wicked attempt, on the part of the infidel Abolitionists, to move the country to do justly, and carry out into full practice

> But nothing of the kind just mentioned has happened. There has been no great blow struck for Freedom, no extraordinary conversion of any high sacred with any right. No enthusiasm for Justice i olitionists, but nobody, North or South, has as yet

I tell you what, my friends, if the present condition of things had been brought about through the outbreaking of a mighty passion for Liberty, if this sacred enthusiasm had seized the popular mind, and had prompted us to brave deeds and heroic sacrifices, if in this way trade had become deranged, and commercial failures had been caused, we should have had sand fold for the greatest losses; the consolation, proud and glorious, of suffering for that cause for which ship of suffering, into the immortal friendship of the | good and the great, the heroes and martyrs of all; time. Then those who would have been made poor would have been loaded with honors, made rich in the blessings of those who were ready to perish, rich in the lasting homage of mankind, rich in the grace of Almighty God.

But the present distress has been caused by no generous outburst for Liberty, and, consequently, we solaces and rewards all those who suffer for it. Quite another kind of enthusiasm has done the mischief. Not the sacred furore of Freedom filling the nest sordid minds with great thoughts, and lifting us out of ourselves, but the accursed rage for money wrapping us up in the thickest selfishness, rendering is wholly insensible to the wrongs of the slave, drivwe to comfort us? It has all been caused, they say, humiliating cause one can possibly suffer for. If we would only learn now to transfer the we have of a zeal for Freedom from that to a zeal for gain, could we learn to be less afraid of a passion for Justice, and more afraid of a passion for money, we might turn the present calamity to some account, and make something out of it more enduring than the wealth that has been lost, and save ourselves moreover from a recurrence of such evil times. For my own part, I cannot for a single instant imagine, if the by our own folly and extravagance. This stands confessed as one chief source of the present troubles, our own selfishness and sin, the least consoling, the most

Right. I cannot anticipate any thing but good from Before the ever-deepening splendor of that great Idea, burning in the souls of men, darting its lightnings from their eyes, pouring its celestial harmonies melted away long and amidst the swelling thunders which it grovels, into the flery chariot of this divine

Will that sight ever be granted us? Shall we ever see the heavens open, and the spirit of the Highest descend upon the lowest? We fondly thought we were going to witness something of the kind last year. ously with the powers of darkness. They surely had cause enough to bestir themselves. I cannot easily conceive how they can ever have much greater cause. What fuel then was furnished for the flame is fresh in the recollection of you all; the violation of a sacred compact, the invasion of a territory consecrated to Freedom, by the ruffian power of Slavery, and, in addition to, and more than these two causes, the outrage perpetrated within the sacred walls of the Senate Chamber, than which History has nothing more shameful to record. The savage blows then and there rained down upon the honored head of the representative of the most venerable of these States, fell as directly upon all that was noble in the free Northern heart, and awoke and diffused a spirit that seemed for a time to promise to unite the North as one man in resistance to the cherished iniquity of the land. That spirit was so carnest for a time, and so wide-spread, as well-nigh to deceive the very elect. Some there were of those who are principled against taking part in political action for the abolition of slavery, who profess to put their sole trust, for the doing away of the great Wrong, in Truth, in Reason, in Conscience, in Relirion-some of that small company were so carried away by the public excitement of last fall as actually to vote, and so put on the harness of a political party. They have since been sorry, I do not doubt, for this defection. For my own part, I had very confident hopes that something was certainly to come from such an imposing demonstration, but I was saved from the consistency of giving a vote, and of so manifesting want of confidence in the power of Truth. For, as is now very clear, the spirit that was arouse vas by no means equal to the occasion. It was not the spirit that is born of the highest sense of personal onor, and the profoundest conviction of the supreme value of Freedom. It was checked-damped down by a slavish concers for the stability of the Union. And while it gave utterance to a good deal of Anti-Slavery sentiment, and even with a frightened glance eeped occasionally at the precipice over which the Inion might possibly 'slide,' yet it clamored to mainain friendship and collusion with the Slave Power. t did not say outright to the South, as a decent selfrespect prompted: 'Talk not to us of the Union any onger. The word is growing hateful in our cars, for only reminds us of our dishonor. These gross frauds and outrages of yours have extinguished the confidence, without which the Union is a dead letter, and, like other dead things, is beginning to kill by isoning the whole atmosphere with its corruption. You have yourselves severed the ties that bound us o you. These ties cannot be resumed until you atone or these wrongs by plucking up and easting from you that great root of bitterness which is continually producing these deadly fruits. But no such ground the only manly and honorable one-was taken. The Union was eagerly clung to, after it was found to be a Union in which one party claims and exercises he right to violate solemn compacts at its pleasure, to cat and imprison, while the other must submit to be defrauded and beaten, without being allowed even the poor privilege of remonstrance. And now, bow lainly does it appear that the excitement of last year. astead of being the uprising of a great principle oming forth conquering and to conquer, was only a pasm, violent but brief, destined to pass away as it as done, leaving behind it an exhaustion, a listless ess, a death-like stupor, which the enormities of the Bred Scott decision, that last outrage upon Liberty, have had no power to disturb.

From the New York Evening Post. HOW THEY SUPPRESS SERVILE INSUR-RECTIONS AT THE SOUTH.

A NEGRO REVOLT IN CHARLESTON. BY A FORMER RESIDENT OF SOUTH CAROLINA.

To the Editors of the Evening Post :

Attempts at insurrection by slaves have their erous outburst for Liberty, and, consequently, we origin, as a general thing, in the cruelties to which know nothing of that abounding consolation, that they are the victims. They are not what they are divine exultation, with which a great cause always represented to be by the ultra Southern press—insurrections with preconceived plans; they are mere emeutes, the participators being maddened and goademcutes, the participators being maddened and goad-ed to seek an immediate revenge. To the end of il-lustrating this, by an example that may be taken as a counterpart of nine tenths of those which occur from year to year, I propose giving a few facts in relation to the one which took place at the Charles-ton Workhouse in the year 1849. This insurrection, us wholly insensible to the wrongs of the slave, driving us into the maddest courses—this it is, no outside pressure, no interference from without, but the soul of Trade itself has caused all the ruin. And what have case are very imperfectly known outside of Charleston, the newspaper reports being highly colored, and in harmony only with the fears and apprehensions of their authors. Insurrections are phantoms that rise up, are magnified in, and continually haunt the imagination of the Southerner. In fine, they exist only in his fears, where they become gi-ants which, he funcies, can only be overthrown by the most desperate means. And yet this very South-erner is the man who talks most profanely of dissolving the Union, and thereby protecting his favor-ite institution, which alike excites his fears and absorbs his energies. He forgets that such an unhal-lowed event would find him with the rest of Christendom his enemy. Nicholas was a bright mulatto man, tall of figure, with straight black hair and finely developed features. He was of a restless spirown part, I cannot for a single instant imagine, if the universal heart of this people had been one half as much interested in the idea of Right as it has been in the idea of wealth, how any evil consequences could when he would display a will to maintain his manpossibly have ensued. I cannot be afraid of the liness. His mother was of Indian extraction, and Bight. I cannot anticipate any thing but good from said to have been kidnapped into slavery when a child. The Indian blood coursing in his veins may, in a measure, account for the unbending spirit he evinced under trial. Nicholas was a stucco-worker, by trade, and one of the most skilful workmen i from their lips, all wrong and oppression would have Charleston. His master, a man of the name of melted away long ago amidst the swelling thunders of popular acclamations. That is what we should have witnessed long since, for that would be the speedy and natural effect of an enthusiasm for Justice, kindled in the souls of men. What a thrilling sight it would be, worth any ordinary life-time many times over—the popular mind caught np from the dust in Kelly, than whom no tyrant can be more cruel bargain or return the money. This so incensed Nicholas that he resolved, with feelings natural to a man basely defrauded of his hard earnings, to work no longer for an unjust master, whom he bid defiance. He was tortured; but torture availed nothing. He was sent to New Orleans for sale; but not finding a purchaser, he was brought back to Charleswere going to witness something of the kind last year. ton. Still be refused to work for the man, as he There was a great stirring all over the North. It said, who had betrayed him. He asserted boldly looked as if the Free States were then about to be his determination to die rather than yield to the demoved by the divine afflatus, and to do battle victori- mands of his master; nor did the lash, which had well-nigh cut him to pieces, serve to subdue his pirit. After a time, he was placed in the slave-pen of one Gadsden, where he suffered tortures it would spirit. make one heart-sick to describe. He declared he would die in the struggle for his rights. An attempt was again made to send him to New Orleans. The officers, headed by one McNamara, a constable, enter the cell for the purpose of carrying out the design. Although he was chained by the leg to a ring and bolt in the floor, he drew a knife he had kept concealed in his bosom, and with it disarmed the constable, inflicting a deep wound in his arm Nicholas, goaded to madness, swore he would not again be separated from his family—for he was mar-ried. Forced to capture him in his pen with ropes, tors bound him to the tail of a cart, and, followed by a savage mob, he was dragged, almost lifeless, to jail. The majesty of the law had been outraged! While in jail, the most cruel punishments were resorted to, in the hope of extorting a confession that he had intended to kill McNamara. His resolution at length gave out, and he confessed to an intention he never had entertained. He was then tried before > trates, (I have described his trial at length, in a book called 'Our World,') found guilty, and sentenced to be hanged. The day was set apart for the penalty; but a kind voice—the voice of a true-hearted Southerner—interposed in his behalf, and his case was carried before the Court of Appeals, which issued an order for a new trial. The order was issued on the ground that evidence had been extented by complete. torted by cruelty.

>
> The result of the second trial was that he was The result of the second trial was that he was found guilty of an assault upon a white man, and sentenced to three years' close confinement in the workhouse, at hard labor. In addition to this, it was ordered that five blows of the paddle be inflicted as a punishment on the first of each month. The keeper of the workhouse, however, regardless of the sentence, set about turning the slave's ingenuity to profit. He granted him numerous privileges, accorded him the freedom of the yard, set him to work at making ornamental stucco, and put the profits at making ornamental stucco, and put the profits into his own pocket. Nicholas took advantage of his position to make himself a favorite with his fellow-prisoners, who stood ready to follow his lead. Separated from his family, the convicted man became enamored of a beautiful mulatto girl, who had heavy consigned to the workhouse by one Gillebing.

a court of three freeholders and two judicial magis-trates, (I have described his trial at length, in a een consigned to the workhouse by one Gilchrist, a slave-broker, to await a purchaser. It was on an attempt having been made to take this woman from her place of confinement by Gilchrist and one Aus-tin, that the emeute of which so much has been said was excited. What followed, I have described in was excited. What followed, I have described in 'Our World,' (1) and as it would be impossible for me at this momen 'todraw a more faithful picture, I may be excused for inserting it here:

'A year and two months have rolled into the past since Nicholas, a convict, took up his abode within the four walls of the workhouse. He had served out thus much of Fuddle's 'merciful' sen-During the silent hours of night, fast secured in his dreary cell, had he cherished, and even in his dreams fancied, the means of escaping into that freedom which had been the day-dream of his life. But dearly did he love the woman to whose keeping he confided the secret of his heart. Having secured the confidence of Fladge, (the keeper.) he might have effected his own escape; but the admonition of a faithful heart prompted him not to leave her bohind in slavery. To that admonition he her behind in slavery. To that admonition he yielded, and swore to secure her freedom with his own. Not many days had elapsed since he disclosed to her his resolution, when there appeared at the workhouse the tall figure of Guy Grantham. He had come for the purpose of carrying away the woman, whom he had sold for the Washington mar-man, whom he had sold for the Washington mar-ket, where her charms would be indeed of much Note 1. "Our World," a novel by F. C. Adams Miller, Orton & Mulligan, 25 Park Row, New York.

'Already were the galling chains about her hands, and the miserable woman, in tears, about to be led away unobserved by Nicholas. A companion hastened to him, in his studio, where he had just completed a stucco ornament, and whispered the news in his ear. With almost lightening quickness he bounded from his 'studio,' the anger of his very soul aroused to madness, and rescued the woman before she had left the gate. Having done this, he drew a long stiletto from his broast, and placing himself the tween her and her pursuer, bid him defiance. This, according to slave law, was rebellion, and would have justified the summary process Grantham was about adopting for the disposal of the instigator, at whose head he levelled his revolver, and snapped twice without effect. At this, Nicholas bared his bosom, and taunted him with the epithet of coward! Mr. without effect. At this, Nicholas bared his bosom, and taunted him with the epithet of coward! Mr. Fladge, who now became conscious of the error of his indulgence, could not permit Grantham to practice his bravery upon a slave entrusted to his care; he called in the aid of some ten guardmen, and commanding Grantham to lay aside his weapon, proceeded to hold a parley with Nicholas before taking his life. But his words fell useless, for Nicholas caught the woman up in hisarms, bore her, defiantly, to a block of wood at the extreme end of the caught the woman up in hisarms, bore her, defantly, to a block of wood at the extreme end of the yard, and with his hammer dashed the chains from her hands, and hurled them high in the air. 'Murder me, and not the woman!' he shouted; and, as he did so, the guard-bell rang out its first alarm peal, which was re-echoed over the city, and threw it into a tumult of excitement. The act was the work of a moment. Nicholas cast a glance upward at the alarm bell, as if conscious of the object for which it had pealed forth its solemn music, them turned a look of contempt upon his adversaries, who were mustering in considerable force. Suddenly they made a charge upon him, but before they had secured him, he seized a bludgeon, and, with the aid of his companions, who, armed with small, sharp-pointed stone hammers, rallied to his defence, repelled their attack. Seeing this formidable body thus suddenly come to his rescue, Mr. Fladge and his near full head and another affect in the grant the companions of the content of the companions of the companions of the companions. thus suddenly come to his rescue, Mr. Fladge and his posse fell back, and sought a refuge in the guard-room of the building. Nicholas was now in possession of the yard, and what, with the consternation and confusion that triumphed within the walls, it was only with great effort that he could restrain his sable companions from taking possession of the guard-room, and putting to death those who had sought refuge therein. As he had placed himself sought refuge therein. As he had placed himself between the woman and her pursuers, so also did he place himself before a file of his companions, who, with battle-hammers raised, were rushing to the great gates as the bell rang out its second alarm peal. Calmly but firmly did he appeal to them. He would not have them commit an outrage against life. He told them that, having thus suddenly and unexpectedly been plunged into what was held by the laws of the State an insurrection, they must merely stand on the defensive, and remember that it were better to die defending their rights than live abject slaves. ' And while Nicholas was addressing his forlorn band within the walls of the workhouse, strange indeed was the scene of confusion presented along the streets of the city. A messenger had been despatch-ed to warn the civil authorities, who, in their turn, issued orders to call out the military. Not a moment was to be lost. The great bell on St. Nicholas church answered the alarm peals with two loud tolls, an ominous admonition to the citizens. Simultaneously the city echoed and re-echoed with the report of a bloody insurrection. • • Men breathless suspense waited but the booming of cannon, ere they rushed to bloodshed.

'In that portion of the city where commerce is nost busy, men with anxiety written on their countenances; men making earnest gesticulations; men not knowing whither to proceed, had gathered about street corners, discussing the most direct means of safety. Indies were seeking their homes in fright; now asking questions of hurrying men whose in-tense excitement had carried off their power of speech, then shunning every luckless negro who chanced in their way. The rumor of an insurrec-tion, however falsely founded, turns every negro into a supposed enemy of the white man: the third alarm peal makes him a bloody votary, (I mean in the imagination of the whites,) whom it needs but the booming of the cannon to put to death.
Guardmen, in cross-belts and side arms, anxious and confused, ran to and fro with heavy trend; nerchants and professional men hastened from their merchants and professional men hastened from their labors to their homes, armed themselves with deadly weapons, and endeavored to quiet the fears of their excited families, now imploring protection. That a deadly struggle was at hand, every one was sure, for men had gathered on the housetops to watch the moving mass as it swept along the streets. Now a file of men in loose-sitting uniforms hasten past; now it is followed by a hooting mob of savage-faced figures eager for blood. "To the Workhouse!" is ne cry, and quickly catching it up, the throng hurthe cry, and quickly catching it up, the throng nur-ried onward anxiously to the scene of the outbreak. And, too, these were followed in quick succession by firemen in curious habiliments, half accountered ar-tillerymen, and trimly dressed cadets—all rallying to their stations at the alarm peal's call, as if some-devouring element was about to break over the city and sweep it away. Yonder a green, masking shut-ter is cautiously opened, the head of some trembling female protrudes; she inquires in nervous accents whither is the scene of the outbreak, and suddenly disappears. Alarm had beset the little city, which now moved, a medley of fear and trembling.

'The sound of an imploring voice suddenly broke upon Nicholas's car, as he waited the approach of his adversaries; while the curious, fearing to open the gates, had scaled the walls of the workhouse. The voice was that of a woman for whose liberty he had thus involved himself. She had grasped his hand, and with simple but earnest words was ad-monishing him of the fatal consequences of his rashness. Having by her had his attention drawn rashness. Having by her had his attention drawn from his adversaries, they rushed down from the walls, and had well nigh surprised and secured him, when an alarm given by his companions set him upon his defence. Two shots from a revolver in the hand of a guardman had pierced through the fleshy part of his left arm. The blood streamed from the wound, and yet he, with renewed courage, succeeded in rallying his infuriated companions, and driving back his enemics. Short but deadly was the struggle; shricks and groans rent the air. The won received a fatal wound in the conflict, and lay writh ing in the agonies of death at the feet of Nicholas received a fatal wou At this moment there came a thundering at the great gates, the bristling of fire-arms was heard, and the drums of the military without beat to arms. and the drums of the military without beat to arms. The great gates were thrown open, a solid body of citizen soldiery, ready to rush in, was disclosed; but before they had time to move, Nicholas at the head of his companions dashed forward, threw the soldie y into confusion, and swept triumphantly into the street. The sharp report of musketry followed, and several dead bodies lay strewn between the portals of the gates. Wild with rage, and not knowing whither to go, or for what object they had rushed from the bounds of their prison-house, the infatuated slaves had scarcely reached the second line of soldiery, when Nicholas and several others were pierced through the heart with rifle bullets. Thus died a not to 'remember those in bonds as bound with them.'

to discourage the presentation of these claims at the say, that this is no time to remember him, because we are pinched in our income, or stricken in our business pressingly need assistance; for, as he is the greatest of all sufferers-as his condition is permanently deplor-our brother, in that we saw the anguish of his soul and would not hearken to him when he besought us

-so he has a right to demand special consideration and above all others to challenge our sympathy and as-closest unity of soul and spirit with him who has nothing that he can call his own, whose rights lie bleeding in the dust, and who is bought and sold with the beasts that perish. For such, limited as our means may be, we can do something, and we are bound to contribute to his necessities :- and how can we do in furtherance of filibustering and slavery-extension.

That desperate marauder and piratical adventurer, the soi-disant 'General Walker,' is well supplied with men and arms to make another descent upon Nicaragua, for the sole purpose of extending the area o slavery : because the Southern oligarchy are resolute in purpose, and of an indomitable spirit. But when the all-teeming and wealthy North is implored to show as much zeal in the sacred cause of liberty, and to be as liberal in furnishing the means to make that cause gloriously victorious, the reply is, 'The times are hard-not a farthing to give now-wait a little

Last year, the receipts of the National Anti-Slavery Bazaar amounted to upwards of FIVE THOUSAND longer!

in a crisis like the present?

man whom justice would have awarded a different And now let us turn to the counterpart of this tragic some. The influence of that consternation which had spread over the city was not long in findwhich had apread over the city was not of fort command-ing its way to the citadel, a sort of fort command-ing the city from the east. On the plat in front were three brass field-pieces, which a few artillery-men had wheeled out, loaded, and made ready to belch forth that awful signal which the initiated belch forth that awful signal which the initiated translate into these words: 'Proceed to the onslaught.' At the alarm-bell's first tap, these guns were made ready; at the second peal, match-locks were lighted by men who stood in breathless suspense, waiting the third and fatal peal from the guard-house bell. That peal might have proved the death-knell of thousands of human beings. As the crash of musketry echoed and re-echoed through the air, a confused gunner applied the match. Two vivid flashes, and the booming of the guns rung successively over the city. The third would have conveyed the awful summons. (3) At that moment, veyed the awful summons. (3) At that moment, men might be seen in their domiciles, in the tragic attitude of holding pistols and daggers at the breasts of their terrified but faithful servants — those, perof their terrified but faithful servants — those, perhaps, whose only crime was sincerity and an earnest attachment to their master's interests. Had a third cannon beliched forth, these faithful servants had fallen victims of fear at the feet of their deluded masters. Happily, an act of heroism (which I would here record to the honor of him who discharged it) saved the city that bloody climax one sickens while contemplating. As a gunner was about to apply the match to the third gun, a distinguished citizen of Charleston, Judge Cooper, I tinguished citizen of Charleston, (Judge Cooper, I believe,) ran before it, and cried out at the top of his voice, " For heaven's rake, stop! " The gunne stood motionless, as the man ran to him, snatched the blazing torch from his hand, and quenched it upon the ground. Thus did he save the city that awful scene which the misdirected laws of a State would have been accountable for to civilization and Let the reader contemplate the moral of these much talked of insurrections.

Note 2. I give the picture as it has been many times described to me by distinguished citizens of Charles-ton; and by none more graphically than by a gentleman who took an active part in suppressing the out-break. The names inserted in the extract only are fictitious, Judge Cooper's excepted.

Note 3. Certain alarm bells are rung in case of ar attempt at insurrection by the slaves; and this, if accompanied by the firing of three cannon, is the signal for an onslaught upon the blacks. The writer, on asking a gentleman why he exhibited so much fear, or why he deemed it necessary to put to the sword his faithful servants, answered thus: 'Slaves, no matter of what order assertion with an account of the state of the sword his faithful servants, answered thus: 'Slaves, no matter of what order assertion with an account of the sword his faithful servants. ter of what order, sympathize with one another in the general condition of slavery. How, then, could I leave my family to the caprice of their feelings, while I sought the scene of action to aid in suppressing the

From the Lexington Observer. MR. BENTON ON THE DRED SCOTT

To George Robertson, Esq., Ex-Chief Justice, &c. Lexington, Ky.

DEAR SIR : I have read with infinite gratification your publications in the National Intelligencer, on the decision of the Supreme Court on the Missouri Compromise act, and concur with you most heartily, as you will soon see in the 6th volume of the Abridgment of the Debates of Congress, now in the press (the Messrs. Appleton of New York); and also in an 'Examination' which I have made of the same branch of the decision in a thin octave of 200 pages, likewise now in the same press, and quickly to appear. This decision—that part of it which relates to the nullity of the Compromise act, and to the self-extension of the Constitution to Territories —is the heaviest political blow at ever fell upon my heart, and left me in a state of total impossibility of remaining silent under it. I view it as you do-as dreadfully wrong in itself, and entirely extrajudicial, and of no more weight than the opinion of any half dozen equally respectable citizens coming to the same conclusion, (in much part,) upon inconsistent, incompatible, and contradictory reasons. That compromise act was a political enactment, made by the political power, for political rea-sons, and these reasons among the largest that ever influenced human legislation—no less than to reconcile a divided and distracted country, and to prevent our sacred Union from splitting asunder. As such political enactment, the Court had no right to judge it; even if the question had come fairly before it—which it did not; for the Judiciary cannot judge political questions, neither of right nor in fact; for these questions depend upon considerations of policy which the Judiciary cannot touch, and not upon the interpretation of phases, to which the court is conof the self-extension of the Conatitution to Territories : it was a political question was limited by its own words to States; and has been so acted upon by every Congress, and by all authorities, (State and Federal, Legislative, Executive and Judicial,) from the commencement of the Federal Government to the present day. And I venture the assertion that there has not been one single member of Congress, in the seventy years in which Congresses have been held, who has not voted for objects in the Territories (local internal improvements, for example) which they would not vote for in a State; and upon the express ground that the Constitution did not extend to Territories. The ordinance of 1787 was the Territorial Constitution. given to Territories as a sovereign gives a charter with the Constitution, as you well say, and indispensable to the formation of the Constitution; and as such was provided for-doubly provided for-in the new Government; first, by the clause in the Constitution which devolves all the engagements' of the Congress of the Confederation upon the new Federal Congress; and, secondly, by the act of the new Congress of Aug. 7, 1789—the eighth act pass-ed by the first Congress under Washington—adapt-ing that ordinance to the new Constitution, and adopting it in every word which it contained as a law of the new Government.
You will see in the Abridged Debates (the notes as well as the text) that full justice is done to yourself and to all the patriotic men who acted with you in that great measure of reconciliation and pa-cification; and also in my 'Examination' of the Court's opinion—that part of it which I deem po-litical and extra-judicial, and obiter dicta. As for what concerned the individuals before the Court as parties in the record, I have nothing to say. That part was judicial; and whether rightfully or wrong-fully gotten hold of and decided, I left it alone; for it was the decision of the tribunal of highest resort : and the peace and good order of society require all questions of personal rights to be settled and done with. But in this political decision, in which the Supreme Court acted upon a question beyond its jurisdiction, and lugged it in as a tail to a question of negro freedom, and in which it decided upon a view of the Constitution, which had no more to do with it than the adventures of Robinson Crusoe, and then reversed the action of the Government for seventy years, and made a new Constitution in all that relates to Territorial legislation; in such case I have felt it to be my duty, as one of the few survivors of the old school, to raise my voice against it, and to appeal to the candid intelligence of my fellow-citizens to come to the defence of our Consti-tution, such as our fathers made it, and as it was administered for two generations.

I mean what I say, when I say the Supreme Court had as well been looking into Robinson Crusoe as looking into the Constitution of the United States to find the power of Congress to legislate for Territories; for it is not there, but in the ordinance of '87, adopted by the Constitution and by the first Congress under Washington, and in their right as Congress under Washington, and in their right as sovereign proprietors, having a right to govern what they have a right to acquire, and becomes their duty under the State cession acts, and under the treaties of cession. The 'needful rules and regulation clause,' as the Court said, gave no power to govern the Territories; it only applied to property, and that the property of the United States—its territory, id est, land, and its other property, id est, personal estate. It conferred no powers of government, and that for the reason known to everybody at the time, and to nobody (hardly) now, videlicet: because the government of the Territories was provided for in another place—namely, in the ordinance of 1785, and protected by a clause in the Constitution, and adopted by Congress August 7th, 1789, and in the right of sovereign proprietors. The court looked in the wrong place to find the power of Congress to legislate for Territories.

I was breaking down under the appalling attack which fell upon me when I was writing the 'Examination,' and had to leave some heads unfinished and also to add some part after I had given up this world. My physician, Dr. May, saw with aston ishment that I rose from what he knew I considered ishment that I rose from what he knew I considered the bed of death, (and which he feared to be so,) and went to my table and wrote. I was adding something to the 'Examination,' and could hardly refrain from a postscript: 'This is my political testament, written with a dying hand.' Well! I did not die, but I have to; and will die upon the truth ways been very limited, through the prevailing sub-

Among the heads sketched, but not filled up, are serviency to the behests of the Slave Power, it is to be the Florida Territorial transactions of 1821, in which Gov. Jackson, commissioned with the power of a Captain-General and Intendant of Cuba, under an state of collapse, and mutual confidence is so widely Captain-General and Intendant of Cuba, under an act of Congress continuing temporarily the Spanish system of Government in that Territory, and in which he found occasion to act up to the letter of the law and commission, uniting in himself the supreme, civil, military, executive, and judicial functions, using the military for his arm, and his own flat for authority, sending Gov. Callava to the calaboose, and having Judge Fromentin brought before him at the point of the bayonet for issuing a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of the imprisoned Governor; and laying divers others by the heels for complicity in Callava's fault, to wit, refusing to desting the up, and intending to carry off judicial records on which depended redress to orphan children who had been despoiled of their father's property for fifteen years; and all which actings and doings of Gov. Jackson, exercising over Florida the powers of a Captain-General and Intendant of Cuba, were approved expressly by the Monroe administration, (and a Captain-General and Intendant of Cuoa, were approved expressly by the Monroe administration, (and you know who composed that administration.) and impliedly sanctioned by each House of Congress in their refusal to act upon the complaints of the incarcerated officers; and all upon the ground that the Constitution of the United States did not exwice the sublimest struggle of the age, to replenish the Anti-Slavery treasury, notwithstanding the straits in which they themselves may be placed, as compared tend to a Territory, and that no act of Congress had carried into Florida any of its provisions—any habeas corpus act, any jury trial, or any warrant, general or special, or any security against seizure of to compare with the condition of the enslaved, in point general or special, or any security against seizure of persons, search of houses, or capture of papers and effects. This head, growing out of the transactions in Florida, so recent in date, and so up to the exigency of our argument, was merely named and our justice, transcend all others, (without neglect of sketched in the 'Examination,' but afterward well any) until their deliverance be offered. Service the developed in the forthcoming sixth volume of the Abridgment.

In the same 'Examination' will be seen the manner in which the act abrogating the Missouri Com-promise was passed, and the objects for which it was poned 'till a more convenient season.' The fettered passed, and of which it was only the first step and the wedge; whereof the good people of the United States are at present profoundly ignorant, for telegraph reporting has about killed all popular knowledge of Congress proceedings, confining their reports ledge of Congress proceedings, confining their reports to results, too brief and meager to show how Con-gress acts; and yet this is almost the only report of Congress doings which the people will read in this or because there are so many in the community who go-ahead age of steam and electricity.

It is a long time since we saw each other; and what is called politics have sadly run down since that time, and especially in the last Presidential term, presenting but little for the attraction of any man who has nothing but the public good in view; of his toil, and are more or less 'guilty concerning but here is a question of a new kind, national and elevated, on which all who are for the Constitution as our fathers made it, and as they administered it in their day and generation, and as the next generation administered it, (and that without distinction of party or default of a man,) may come together and stand. For one, I can give no political aid or doubly sweet will they be, if it shall bring us into the comfort to any man or party, in any future election, closest unity of soul and spirit with him who has nother who shall uphold the opinion of the Supreme Court in declaring the nullity of the Missouri Compromise; and in decreeing the self-extension of the Constitution to Territories, carrying slavery with it, and preventing Congress and the people of the Ter-ritory from saying yea or nay to its introduction or

I am now well recovered, and working as usual, and expect to finish the Abridgement next Summer, en to add another volume to the two of the Thirty Years' View, bringing it down to 1860, if I live that long; at all events, to the time of the Pierce Administration, if we must call by his name an Administration in which he was inoperative, and in which nullifiers, disunionists and renegades used his name and his power for their own audacious and criminal purposes.

Respectfully,

THOMAS H. BENTON.

The Liberator.

NO UNION WITH SLAVEHOLDERS. BOSTON, DECEMBER 4, 1857.

REMOVAL OF JUDGE LORING.

In order to insure the desired action upon it it is indispensable that the following petition should be immediately circulated for signatures, and presented to the Legislature at as early a period in January as practicable. Legal voters and non-voters-men and women-are alike urged to sign it. Which shall be the banner town?"

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives of Massachusetts, in General Court assembled : The undersigned, citizens of this Commonwealth, respectfully represent-That by a law passed May 21, 1855, by the Legislature of Massachusetts, it was declared-

'No person who holds any office under the laws of the United States, which qualifies him to issue any warrant or other process, or to grant any certificate under the acts of Congress named in the 9th section of this act, or to serve the same, shall, at the same time, hold any office of honor, trust or emolument under the laws of this Commonwealth.'

Your petitioners further represent-

That in open defiance of this law, and of the voice of the people of Massachusetts, as expressed (without distinction of party) by the action of two separate Legislatures for his removal, but twice rendered inoperative by Executive non-concurrence, EDWARD GREE-LEY LORING, while acting as a Commissioner of the United States, continues to hold the office of Judge of Probate for the county of Suffolk; thus setting an example of contumacy unbecoming a good citizen, and wantonly disregarding the moral convictions of lack of articles for sale—the beautiful, the ornamental, the people of this State as pertaining to the enforce- the useful. Reserve all that you can, in order to ment of the odious Fugitive Slave Bill

They, therefore, earnestly pray the General Court again to recommend to the Governor and Council, the aid, which is so indispensable to the advancement of removal of the said Edward Greeler Louise from our noble cause. Let not the enemies of freedom the office of Judge of Probate; and thus enforce a have any cause for exultation at the result! wholesome law of the Commonwealth, which it is his declared purpose to disregard, and thereby vindicate the sovereignty of the people of this Commonwealth.

EQUAL POLITICAL RIGHTS. Here is a form of petition for such of the wo men of Massachusetts to circulate and sign, as understand their rights, and mean to maintain them.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representative of Massachusetts, in General Court assembled ;

Whereas, the women of the State of Massachu etts are disfranchised by the Constitution, solely on

We do, respectfully, demand for them the right of suffrage; a right which involves all other rights of as the following admitted principles of government

First. 'All men are born free and equal.' Second. Government derives its just powers from the consent of the governed.' Third. 'Taxation and representation are insepara

We, the undersigned, therefore petition your honor able body to take the necessary steps for a revision of the Constitution, so that all citizens may enjoy equal political rights.

BLANK COPIES of the Petition to the Legis lature, asking for the Removal of Edward Greeley Loring from the office of Judge of Probate of Suffoll County, may be had at the Anti-Slavery Office, 21 Combill Roston.

retained, new territory may be occupied, and all the In the tremendous financial convulsion which has vertaken the whole country, it is not to be supposed that the Anti-Slavery movement will not feel a share of the universal pressure, in common with every other the Pennsylvania Anti-Slavery Society, by Rev. Wil-but who have no voice in public affairs. These ta-LIAM H. FURNESS, of Philadelphia, as we have copied ken away, and the absentees flying to Europe or the peared some time since in the New York Evening Post. The character of the slave Nicholas illustrates what nobility of spirit is outraged and crushed by slavery, and his sad fate will excite the deepest commisand the recognized heroes of all ages?

page with a recital of recent crimes and atrocities peculiar to the South, where human life is probably more insecure than in any other portion of the globe, and where slavery is constantly stimulating to the commission of the most terrible deeds, on the part both of the oppressor and the oppressed. Revolting and startling as the record is, we again devote another page to a similar recital, and have still as much more in our hands to be published hereafter. The general features of these horrors are peculiar to the Souththe land of the bowie-knife, the revolver, and the slave-whip. How dreadful is the retribution which alty of high culture and elegant breeding, a quick comes upon the heads of those who enslave their fellow-creatures! Verily, 'God is just.'

DEATH OF HON. JAMES G. BIRNEY. The death of this once prominent advocate of the Anti-Slavery cause is recorded in the New York pa-

from the New York Herald.

this so effectively as by aiding the Anti-Slavery cause These times are far more perilous to men's souls than to their pockets. There is great danger that they will be made a pretext why the heart should cease to feel, the hand to open, the mind to devise liberal things. The land is full of abundance, and as rich as it was six months ago, when all looked bright and prosperous; yet almost every body seems to be afflicted with chronic poverty, and a rich man cannot be found. Now is the time for an apostolic voice to be heard, thundering in every ear, 'Beware of covetousness!' It is the time to enforce the truthful declaration, 'He that giveth to the poor, lendeth to the Lord, and he shall reward him.' Let there be no halting, no look or tone of discouragement, no prophesying failure in a manner to procure it, no concluding that nothing can be done, no resolve to keep the purse-strings closed, no diversion to any other part of the field, friends of the oppressed! Be just in your dealings, careful in your calculations, and con- had filled various public stations of trust and honor could breathe and art was possible? What statesman siderate in your expenditures; but allow nothing to and also that, for his fidelity to his conscience, and has she reared, since Jefferson died and Madison ceasdrive you into meanness, to bring upon you the curse of selfishness, to relax your zeal 'in the cause of all such as are appointed to destruction.' If it is really not in your power to give as liberally as you have hitherto done, do not let this be an excuse for doing nothing. If this must be the day of small things, let it not be despised. If there are no costly gifts to be east into the treasury of the Lord, there remain at least the two mites; and these shall obtain the divine benediction, and carry with them a divine potency. Hard as are the times, money can be easily raised

DOLLARS ($5,250.) How near to that sum shall they reach the present season? That depends, of course, upon individual resolve and self-consecration, as well as upon pecuniary ability. There will be n purchase them, and thus, while gratifying your tastes and supplying your wants, help to give that * material

We hope that many hands are busily at work, in various parts of the Commonwealth, and out of it, in preparing articles for the Bazaar, such as will readily sell because of their cheapness and utility; for the gifts of our European friends will be sufficiently expensive and numerous to meet all demands in that direction, beyond a doubt; while those of a more homely character, but of an every-day value, will be in special demand, and they ought to be abundant in quantity. The Anti-Slavery lecturers, who are now in the field, are numerically a very small body, wholly inadequate to the work necessary to be done, yet remarkable for their persistency, moral power, unquenchable zeal, and rare disinterestedness. All personal considerations with them are made subordinate to the caus citizenship, and one that cannot, justly, be withheld, itself, which it is their joy to advocate and defend through evil report, and through good report. Not one of them can be spared without a positive loss; and it is ever with the deepest regret that the Executive Committee find themselves necessitated to reduce their number; yet, as the treasury of the Society is now empty, unless the receipts of the coming Bazaar shall be far greater than the most sanguine now venture to predict, this painful duty will devolve upon them.

> Remember, then, the Bazsar, with its beautiful Christmas and New Year's gifts-with its godlike object and world-embracing humanity-with its paramount claims to the respect, admiration and patron-age of all who 'despise fraud, loathe rapine, and abhor ood.' Work for it - beg for it - plead for it-visit it - induce others to attend it - and buy all in your power, that thus every faithful field-laborer may be operations of the American Anti-Slavery Society pros-ecuted with unfaltering spirit and unconquerable en-

OUR PRESENT NUMBER.

Several articles, in our present number, will repay a careful perusal, notwithstanding their length. The first is an article of remarkable ability which appears in the Atlantic Monthly for December, entitled 'Where will to Exp?'—and which cannot fail to make a deep impression upon all upright and reflecting minds. It delineates, with masterly skill, the steady growth and increasing surremacy of Slavery. steady growth and increasing supremacy of Slavery, semetimes implies a strength and energy which as an institution, and forcibly declares that 'this bale-compel a kind of respect even from those who hate it ful power has advanced from one position to another, never losing ground, but establishing itself at each successive point more impregnably than before, until it has us at an advantage that encourages it to desum of all who have any direct connection with Slamand the surrender of our rights, our self-respect and very, as owners or hirers, is less than THREE HUNDARD our honor. It has nothing of a partisan spirit, advocates no particular theory of emancipation, but is simply a felicitous historical and philosophical survey this number exaggerates the numerical force of the of the workings of the foulest and profanest system dominant element in our affairs. To approximate to of oppression which ever disgraced a land or cursed the true result, it would be fair to strike from the gro mankind. The Transcript attributes its authorship sum those owning or employing less than ten slaves to PARKE Godwin, Esq., of New York; but, who- in order to arrive at the number of slaves who reall ever the writer is, he has done the cause of freedom compose the ruling influence of the nation. This good service, and will receive the thanks of all its would leave but a small fraction over NINETY THOUtrue friends. We cannot find room for the entire ar-We would next ask the perusal of so much of the chough to unite them in a common interest. And ticle. Get the Monthly, and read it all. excellent address, made at the late Annual Meeting of nors actually owning slaves in their own right, on our first page. Every word of it is most timely. North from the moral contamination or material disdistinguished author. On the same page may be found a thrilling narrative of a negro revolt in Charleston, S. C., which aperation of every humane heart. Is he not worthy to the concentration of the power that determines the whole country on the subject of slavery; exhibiting fallacies of the Order to whose will they how. masterly ability in the use of his pen, which he wield- But no such consolations of delusion remain to us his humanity to his slaves, he was compelled to leave ed to write, save those intrepid discoverers who with quenchless sympathy for the oppressed.

like nobility of soul. in other ways he has indicated a friendly interest in pages of our history?

tion now as it was in 1840.

entered into rest.

CLERICAL 'POLITENESS.'

FOSTER, a woman with a broad red face, (1) coarse a race, on the one hand, and buccancers conspiring skin, (!!) great veins on her neck, (!!!) and fery for the pillage of a sugar-island on the other! unkissable.) We need not say to those who know What men, too, did not Washington and Adams never seen her, or else he maliciously gave this carmany of our readers can name the names of their isfaction, even, with any of the excesses they icature of her personal appearance. Shame on him! successors of the present day? Inflated obscurities, late, can be breathed in safety. A Christian minute.

From the Atlantic Monthly for December WHERE WILL IT END

Success, perpetual and transcendant, such as has always waited on Slavery in all her attempts to mould the history of the country, and to compel the course of more than FIFTY THOUSAND voting men will remain to represent this mighty and all-controlling power !- a fact as astounding as it is incontrovertible.

Oligarchies are nothing new in the history of the world. The government of the many by the few is the rule, and not the exception, in the polities of the times that have been, and of those that now are. But take a position by the side of Warren and Kosciusko, policy, makes the laws, and appoints the ministers of a mighty nation, in the hands of less than the five-hun-A few numbers back, we occupied nearly an entire dredth part of its members, is an improvement on the essence of the elder aristocracies; while the usurpation of the title of the Model Republic and of Pattern Democracy, under which we offer ourselves to the admiration and imitation of less happy nations, is certainly a refinement on their nomenclature. This prerogative of power, too, is elsewhere conceded by the multitude to their rulers generally for some especial fitness, real or imaginary, for the office they have assumed. Some services of their own or of their ancestors to the State, some superiority, natural or acquired, of parts or skill, at least some specisense of honor, a jealousy of insult to the public, an impatience of personal stain, -some or all of these qualities, appealing to the gratitude or to the imagination of the masses, have usually been supposed to inhere in the class they permit to rule over them. By virtue of some or all of these things, the members have pers. It took place at Eagleswood, Perth Amboy, had allowed to them their privileges and their pre-New Jersey, on the 24th ult. For the main particu- cedency, their rights of exemption and preëminence, lars of his career, see the article in another column, their voice potential in the councils of the State, and their claim to be foremost in its defence in the hour of From 1834 to 1840, Mr. Birney occupied a very dis- its danger. Some ray of imagination there is, which, tinguished position in the ranks of American aboli- falling on the knightly shields and hersldie devices tionists-first nobly setting all his slaves free, thus that symbolize their conceded superiority, at least reducing himself at once to comparative poverty, and dazzles the eyes and delights the fancy of the crowd, then giving himself to the work of enlightening the so as to blind them to the inhering vices and essential ed with great industry and powerful effect. What- as we stand face to face with the Power that holds ever he wrote attracted universal attention, and tens our destiny in its hands. None of these blear illusion of thousands of his letters and appeals were scattered can cheat our eyes with any such false presentments. broadcast through the land, awakening attention, ex- No antiquity hallows, no public services consecrate, citing discussion, confirming the timid, and upholding no gifts of lofty culture adorn, no graces of noble the faltering. Indeed, the importance of his adhesion breeding embellish the coarse and sordid oligarchy that to the proscribed Anti-Slavery movement, at a time gives law to us. And in the blighting shadow of Slawhen its friends were few indeed, and all the powers very, letters die, and art cannot live. What book has of darkness seemed let loose for its destruction, can-the South ever given to the libraries of the world? not be fully estimated. The fact that he was of What work of art has she ever added to its galleries Southern birth-a ripe scholar and a prominent mem- What artist has she produced that did not instincber of the bar-a repentant slaveholder, and one who tively fly, like Allston, to regions in which genius Kentucky, because his life was constantly imperilled, taught that Slavery is the corner-stone of republican and to seek a home in the North-all these things institutions, and the vital element of Freedom herself? served to give him special conspicuity, and to make What divine, except the godly men whose theologic him Freedom's 'bright particular star.' It was a skill has attained to the doctrine that Slavery is of the case of sincere and thorough conversion-the great essence of the Gospel of Jesus Christ? What moralinstrument of which, we believe, was THEODORE D. ist, except those ethic doctors who teach that it is Well, to whom so many minds have been indebted according to the Divine Justice that the stronger race for their illumination, and so many hearts touched should strip the weaker of every civil, social and mo ral right? The unrighteous partiality, extorted by After leaving Kentucky, Mr. Birney commenced the threats of Carolina and Georgia in 1788, which the publication of a paper in Cincinnati, called . The gives them a disproportionate representation because Philanthropist, which obtained an extensive circula- of their property in men, and the unity of interest tion, and produced a great deal of excitement, espe- which makes them always act in behalf of Slavery as cially in that region. Such was the fierce spirit that one man, have made them thus omnipotent. The prevailed in that city, that his press was repeatedly North, distracted by a thousand interests, has always destroyed by a mob, his printing-office entered, and been at the mercy of whatever barbarian chief in the all its contents thrown into the street or cast into the capitol could throw his slave whip into the trembling river; and he was in great personal danger, at times scale of party. The government having been albeing compelled to sleep out of the city for self-preser- ways, since this century began, at least, the creature vation. But his courage and faith were equal to the and the tool of slaveholders, the whole patronage of trial-hour, and he maintained his ground with martyr- the nation, and the territory filled chiefly by Northern commerce, have been at their command to help Mr. Birney subsequently relinquished the publica- manipulate and mould plastic Northern consciences tion of the Philanthropist, (which was continued by into practicable shapes. When the slave interest, conthe present Editor of the National Era, Gamaliel sisting, at its own largest account of itself, of less Bailey, Esq., and accepted of the office of Secretary than THREE HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND souls, has and General Agent of the American Anti-Slavery thirty members of the Senate, while the free-labor Society, which he continued to fill until the time of interest, consisting of at least TWENTY-FOUR MILLIONS, the memorable secession from that Society in 1840, SIX HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND souls, has bu when he joined with the malcontents, and committed thirty-two, and when the former has a delegation of an error which proved fatal to his usefulness, and some score of members to represent its slaves in the which, we doubt not, he deeply regretted toward the House, besides its own fair proportion, can we marvel close of his life; for it is only a short time since he that it has achieved the mastery over us, which is made a donation to the treasury of that Society, and written in black and bloody characters on so many

Such having been the absolute sway Slavery hi In 1840, Mr. Birney was a delegate to the World's exercised over the facts of our history, what has been Anti-Slavery Convention at London; and as he was its influence upon the characters of the men with at that time the Presidential candidate of the Liberty whom it has had to do? Of all the productions of a Party, he received marked attention wherever he nation, its men are what prove its quality most surely. travelled in England. He was highly courteous and How have the men of America stood this test? Have dignified in his manners, less able as a speaker than those in the high places, they who have been called as a writer, true to his convictions, and devoid of sec- to wait at the altar before all the people, maintained tarian malevolence. It was in London that he first the dignity of character and secured the general revpublished his tract, 'The American Church the Bul- erence which marked and waited upon their predewark of Slavery, which produced such a profound cessors in the days of our small things? The popusensation on both sides of the Atlantic by its disclo- lation of the United States has multiplied itself nearsures, and which, alas! remains as useful for circula- ly tenfold, while its wealth has increased in still greater proportion, since the peace of 'Eighty-Three. For the last dozen years, Mr. Birney has lived a re- Have the Representative Men of the nation been tired life, an invalid nearly all that time, calmly made or maintained great and magnanimous, too awaiting 'that change which comes to all,' and that Or is that other anomaly, which has so perplexed 'inevitable hour' which none can escape. He has the curious foreigner, an admitted fact, that in proportion as the country has waxed great and powerful, its public men have dwindled from giants in the last century to dwarfs in this? Alas! to ask the A respected correspondent at Newburyport, (see his question is to answer it. Compare Franklin, and letter on our first page,) in giving an account of the Adams, and Jay, met at Paris to negotiate the treaty recent examination of the Female High School, says of peace which was to seal the recognition of their that the Rev. Mr. Vermyle undertook to descant upon country as an equal sister in the family of nations the importance of 'politeness' to the young ladiestelling them that they 'would not imitate the WoOstend to plot the larceny of Cuba! Sages and men's Rights women-for instance, ARBY KELLEY lawgivers, consulting for the welfare of a world and her, that this description of Mrs. Foster is false in call around them in the Cabinet !- how representative every particular; and either this Rev. libeller has of great ideas! how historical! how immortal! How they came or what they are? We know whose isd. they came or what they are: We know whose isd.

ding they were appointed to obey, and what manner of work they are ready to perform. And shall we dare extend our profane comparisons even higher than the Cabinet? Shall we bring the shadowy majesty of Washington's august idea slongside the micro realities of to-day? Let us be more merciful, a take our departure from the middle term between the Old and the New, occupied by Andrew Jacks whose iron will and doggedness of purpose gare def. whose from will and awful dignity, to his image. In his time, the Slave Power, though always the sec spring which set events in motion, began to let in spring which rec events in motion, organ to let in workings be seen more openly than ever before. Any from his time forward, what a graduated line of still diminishing shadows have glided successively through the portals of the White House! From Van Barra to Tyler, from Tyler to Polk, from Polk to Filmer from Fillmore to Pierce! Fine by degrees, as beautifully less,' until it at last reaches the vanishing point!

aint!
The baleful influence thus ever shed by Slavery our national history and our public men has not ve spent its malignant forces, It has, indeed, reached, height which a few years ago it was thought the wild est fanaticism to predict; but its fatal power will no be stayed in the mid-sweep of its career. The Ord nance of 1787 torn to shreds and scattered to the winds, -the line drawn in 1820, which the slavehe ers plighted their faith Slavery should never over Slavery presiding in the Cabinet, scated on the Su preme Bench, absolute in the halls of Congress, -no man can say what shape its next aggression may not take to itself. A direct attack on the freedom of the press and the liberty of speech at the North, wher alone either exists, were no more incredible than the later insolences of its tyranny. The battle not yet over in Kansas, for the compulsory establishment of Slavery there by the interposition of the Federal arm, will be renewed in every Territory as it is ripening into a State. Already warning voices are heard in the air, presaging such a conflict in Oregon. Parasites every where instinctively feel that a zeal for the establishment of slavery where it has been abolished or its introduction where it had been prohibited, is the highest recommendation to the Executive favor. The rehabilitation of the African slave-trade is seriously proposed and will be furiously urged, and nothing ex hinder its accomplishment but its interference with the domestic manufactures of the breeding Slave States. The pirate Walker is already mustering his forces for another incursion into Nicaragua, and rumors are rife that General Houston designs wresting vet another Texas from Mexico. Mighty events are at hand, even at the door; and the mission of them all will be to fix Slavery firmly and for ever on the throne of this nation. Is the success of this conspiracy to be final and eternal? Are the States which name themselves, in simplicity, or in irony, the Free States, to be always the satrapies of a central power like this? Are we for ever to submit to be cheated out of our national rights by an oligarchy as despicable as it is detestable. because it clothes itself in the forms of democracy and allows us the ceremonies of choice, the name of power, and the permission to register the edicts of the sovereign? We, who broke the sceptre of King George, and set our feet on the su remacy of the lin ish Parliament, surrender ourselves, bound hand and foot in bonds of our own weaving, into the hands of the slaveholding Philistines! We, who scorned the rule of the aristocracy of English acres, submit without a murmur, or with an ineffectual resistance, to the aristocracy of American flesh and blood! Is our spirit effectually broken? is the brand of meanness and compromise burnt in uneffsceably upon our souls and are we never to be roused, by any indignities, fervent resentment and effectual resistance? The answer to these grave questions lies with ourselves alone One hundred thousand, or three hundred thousand men, however craft v and unserupulous, cannot for ere keep under their rule more than twenty millions, much their superiors in wealth and intelligence as in numbers, except by their own consent. If the grow ing millions are to be driven by cartwhips along the pathway of their history by the dwindling thousands, they have none to blame for it but themselves. If they like to have their laws framed and expounded, their presidents appointed, their foreign policy den ted, their domestic interests tampered with their and peace made for them, their national fame and personal honor tarnished, and the lie given to all the boastings before the old despotisms, by this insignicant fraction of their number, -scarcely visible tothe naked eye in the assembly of the whole people,-can gainsay or resist their pleasure.

But will the many always thus submit themsely to the domination of the few? We believe that days of this ignominious subjection are already nu bered. Signs in heaven and on earth tell us that on of those movements has begun to be felt in the Northern mind, which perplex tyrannies every where with the fear of change. The insults and wrongs so long heaped upon the North by the South begin to be felt. The torpid giant moves uneasilf beneath his mouttain load of indignities. The people of the North begin to feel that they support a government for the benefit of their natural enemies; for, of all antipathie that of slave labor to free is the most deadly and in reconcilable. There never was a time when the relations of the North and the South, as complicated by Slavery, were so well understood and so deeply ! sented as now. In fields, in farmhouses, and in work shops, there is a spirit aroused which can never be fail or exorcised till it has done its task. We see its work in the great uprising of the Free States against the Slave States in the late national election. Though, trickery and corruption cheated it of its end, the thunder of its protest struck terror into the hearts of the tyrants. We hear its echo, as it comes back from the Slave States themselves, in the exceeding bitter cry of the whites for deliverance from the bondage which the slavery of the blacks has brought upon them also. We discern the confession of its might is the very extravagances and violences of the Slave Power. It is its conscions and admitted weakness that has made Texas, and Mexico, and Cubs, and our own Northwestern Territory necessary to be devoued. It is desperation, and not strength, that he made the bludgeon and the bowle-knife integral parts of the national legislation. It has the American Gov. ernment, and the American Church, in its raffers organizations, on its side a but the Humanity and the Christianity of the Nation and the World abor gd execrate it. They that be against it are more dest they that be for it.

It rages, for its time is short. And its rage is the fiercer because of the symptoms of rebellion against in despotism which it discerns among the white men the South, who, from poverty or from principle, Man no share in its sway. When we speak of the Scale as distinguished from the North by elements of interent hostility, we speak only of the governing factor. and not of the millions of nominally free men, the are scarcely less its thralls than the black slave thesselves. This unhappy class of our countrymes is the first to feel the blight which Slavery spread around it, because they are the nearest to its notice power. The subjects of no European despotism at under a closer espionage, or a more organized spice of terrorism, than are they. The slaveholders, haraf in Tennessee relates an act of fiendish cruelty inflicts the wealth, and nearly all the education that the South can boast of, employ these mighty instrumes of power to create the public sentiment and to cost the public affairs of their region, so as best to seem their own supremacy. No word of dissent to the stitutions under which they live, no syllable of disso isfaction, even, with any of the excesses they dist upon a slave by one of the members of his church and he is forced to leave his charge, if not to fly the country. Another in South Carolina presumes to express in conversation his disapprobation of the murderons assault of Brooks on Senator Sumner, and his pastoral relations are broken up on the instant, as if he had been guilty of gross crime or flagrant heresy. Professor Hedrick, in North Carolina, ventures to utter a preference for the Northern candidate in the last Presidential campaign, and he is summarily ejected from his chair, and virtually banished from his native State. Mr. Underwood, of Virginia, dares to attend the Convention of the party he preferred, and he is forbidden to return to his home on pain of death. The blackness of darkness and the stillness of death are thus forced to brood over that land which God formed so fair, and made to be so happy.

That such a tyranny should excite an antagonistic spirit of resistance is inevitable from the constitution of man and the character of God. The sporadic cases of protest and of resistance to the slaveholding aristocracy, which lift themselves occasionally above the dead level of the surrounding despotism, are representative cases. They stand for much more than their single selves. They prove that there is a wide-spread spirit of discontent, informing great regions of the slave-land, which must one day find or force an oppertunity of making itself heard and felt. This we have just seen in the great movement in Missouri, the very nursing mother of Border Ruffianism itself, which narrowly missed making Emancipation the policy of the majority of the voters there. Such a result is the product of no sudden culture. It must have been long and slowly growing up. And how could it be otherwise? There must be intelligence enough among the non-slaveholding whites to see the difference there is between themselves and persons of the same condition in the Free States. Why can they have no free schools? Why is it necessary that a missionary society be formed at the North to furnish them with such ministers as the slave-master can ap-

Why can they not support their own ministers, and have a Gospel of Free Labor preached to them, if they choose? Why are they hindered from taking such newspapers as they please? Why are they subjected to a censorship of the press, which dictates to them what they may or may not read, and which punishes booksellers with exile and ruin for keeping for sale what they want to buy? Why must Northern publishers expurgate and emasculate the literature of the world before it is permitted to reach them ! Why is it that the value of acres increases in a geometrical ratio, as they stretch away towards the North Star from the frontier of Slavery? These questions must suggest their sufficient answer to thousands of hearts, and be preparing the way for the insurrection of which the slaveholders stand in the deadliest fear, -that of the whites at their gates, who can do with them and their institutions what seems to them good, when once they know their power, and choose to put it forth. The unity of interest of the non-slaveholders of the South with the people of the Free States is perfect, and it must one day combine them in a unity The exact times when the millions of the North and of the South shall rise upon this puny mastership, and snatch from its hands the control of their own affairs, we cannot tell,-nor vet the authentic shape which that righteous insurrection will take unto itself. But we know that when the great body of any nation is thoroughly aroused, and fully in earnest to abate a mischief or to do a wrong, nothing can resist its energy or defeat its purpose. It will provide the way, when its will is once thoroughly excited. Men look out upon the world they live in, and it seems as if a change for the better were hopeless and impossible. The great statesmen, the eminent divines, the reverend judges, the learned lawyers, the wealthy landholders and merchants are all leagued together to repel innovation. But the earth still moves in its orbit around the sun; decay and change and death pursue their inevitable course; the child is born and grows up; the strong man grows old and dies; the law of flux and efflux never ceases; and, lo! ere men are aware of it, all things have become new. Fresh eves looks upon the world, and it is changed. Where are now Calhoun, and Clay, and Webster? Where will shortly be Cass, and Buchanan, and Benton, and their like? Vanished from the stage of affairs, if not from the face of Nature. Who are to take their the African coast .- M. places? God knows. But we know that the scho in which men are now in training for the arena is very different from the one which formed the past and passing generations of politicians. Great ideas are abroad, challenging the encounter of youth. Angels wrestle with the men of this generation, as with the Patriarch of old, and it is our own fault if a blessing be not extorted ere they take their flight. Principles, like those which in the earlier days of the republic elevated men into statesmen, are now again in the field, chasing the policies which have dwarfed their sons into politicians. These things are portentous of e ange, - perhaps sudden, but, however delayed, inev-

And this change, whatever the outward shape in which it may incarnate itself, in the fulness of time, will come of changed ideas, opinions, and feelings in the general mind and heart. All institutions, even those of the oldest of despotisms, exist by the permission and consent of those who live under them Change the ideas of the thronging multitudes by the banks of the Neva, or on the shores of the Bospho rus, and they will be changed into Republicans and Christians in the twinkling of an eye. Not merely the Kingdom of Heaven, but the kingdoms of this world, are within us. Ideas are their substance; institutions and customs but the shadows they cast into the visible sphere. Mould the substance anew, and the projected shadow must represent the altered shape within. Hence the dread despots feel, and hone more than the petty despots of the plantation of whatever may throw the light of intelligence across the mental sight of their slaves. Men endurthe ills they have, either because they think them blessings, or because they fear lest, should they seek to fly them, it might be to others that they know not of. The present Bonaparte holds France in a chain, because she is willing that he should. Let her but breathe upon the padlock, and, like that in the fable, it will fade into air, and he and his dynasty will vanish with it. So the people of the North submit to the domination of the South, because they are used to it, and are doubtful as to what may replace it. Whenever the millions, North and South, whom Slavery gunds under her heel, shall be resolutely minded that her usurpation shall cease, it will disappear, and forever. As soon as the stone is thrown, the giant will die, and men will marvel that they endured him so long. But this can only come to pass by virtue of a change yet to be wrought in the hearts and minds of Ideas everywhere are royal ;-here they are imperial. It is the great office of genius, and eloquence, and sacred function, and conspicuous station and personal influence to herald their approach, and to prepare the way before them, that they may assert their state, and give holy laws to the listening nation. Thus a glorious form and pressure may be given to the coming age. Thus the idea of a true republic, of a government of laws made and executed by the people, of which bards have sung and prophets dreamed and for which martyrs have suffered and heroes died may yet be possible to us, and the great experiment of this Western world be indeed a Model, instead of a Warning to the nations.

We would call special attention, in another column, to the proposed Anti-Slavery Convention at Nashua, N. H. The times demand vigilance, boldness, wisdom, and plainness of speech. Let all the friends of Liberty in that portion of the State exert themselves in behalf of this Convention, and make it memorable for its service to Liberty's cause.

LETTER FROM LEOMINSTER.

not be uninteresting to you to hear that he had, on Sunday evening, one of the most intelligent and at-The New Era says the great stimulus given to the slave trade by this most discreditable transaction on an anti-slavery lecture. I have never heard Mr. Pillsbury when he was more interesting or solemn. He took a general survey of the political and religious aspects of the country, drawing the picture to the life, and painting it in its truest colors. He then remarked to the audience that he was not here to censure any tentive audiences ever convened in our hall to hear one party or religious body. Said he—'I have faithfully drawn the picture, and given you the plain facts in the case. I have no condemnation for any party or body of men. Here is the picture, as truthful as I can draw it. If any of you can do better, take the pencil. I leave you to make the application or deny ed to the audience that he was not here to censure any The unwillingness of the bulk of the inhabitants of pencil. I leave you to make the application or deny these statements, if you can. Has any one a word of objection to these facts? It is plain history, given to you just as all the incidents have occurred. Can any one gair ay them? Can you deny a word of them? (A long negative silence followed.) Well, then, what are you going to do? You call us disorganizers, revolutionists, &c., and complain of our work. Why are you not up and doing? You cannot deny that we are a nation of slaves and cowards, unwilling to make a sacrifice, or even an effort, for freedom.' Men and women all with one voice declare it the grandest lecture ever given here.

Pardon me for making so long a story. I only thought to say a word of the high appreciation our people had of such blessings conferred by the American Anti-Slavery Society, and at its expense? Shame on such meanness!

We have commenced circulating the petition for the removal of Judge Loring.

Truly, yours, F. H. DRAKE.

THE SLAVE TRADE-TESTIMONY OF A MISSIONARY. -At a meeting recently held at Rockaway, near the Traveller. city of New York, under the auspices of the American Board for Foreign Missions, the Rev. Albert Bushnell, of the Gaboon mission, Western Africa, thus spoke of Africa and its people. 'It was, he said, in every respect, a land of darkness. Beyond a few points on the Western Coast, the colony of the Cape, and a single mission of the Scotch near the North-East Cape, the whole continent was a vast unpenetra-East Cape, the whole continent was a vast unpenetra-ted moral wilderness. Yet it was a prosperous coun-Portland folks. These vessels were built and owned try, containing, it was estimated, 150,000,000 of in- for some years in Maine and Massachusetts, and when habitants—equal to about one-seventh of the population of the globe. The converts to Christianity were comof the globe. The converts to Christianity were computed to be about 14,000 on the Western Coast, and about as many in South Africa. In addition, he thought there might be 100,000 children and youth under missionary training in schools. . . . Instead of Africa Description of the state trade.

of the globe. The converts to Christianity were computed by parties in Massachusetts, New York and Maine, and was sold with knowledge that she was intended for the slave trade.

On the 31st of October, the Spanish war steamer General Lezo brought into this port the American bark Vestal, of Boston, captured have the state of the crew. The fourth vessel was probably owned by parties in Massachusetts, New York and Maine, and was sold with knowledge that the state of the state of the state of the crew. The fourth vessel was probably owned by parties in Massachusetts, New York and Maine, and was sold with knowledge that the state of the state o Africa being a vast desert, it was really a densely pepulated country, except the great desert of Sahara.

The 'Mountains of the Moon,' always laid down in the same of the Moon,' always laid down in the same of the Moon,' always laid down in the same of the Moon, always laid down in the same of the same of the Moon, always laid down in the same of the same of the Moon, always laid down in the Moon, always laid down in the Moon, always laid down in the same of the Moon, always laid down in the Moon, always laid down in the same of the Moon, always laid down in the same of the Moon, always laid down in the same of the Moon, always laid down in the same of the Moon, always laid down in the same of the Moon, always laid down in the same of the Moon, always laid down in the same of the Moon, always laid down in the same of the Moon, always laid down in the same of the Moon, always laid down in the same of the Moon, always laid down in the same of the Moon, always laid down in the same of the Moon, always laid down in the same of the Moon, always laid down in the same of the Moon, always laid down in the same of the Moon, always laid down in the same of the Moon, always laid down in the same of the Moon, always laid down in the same o our school geographies until lately, he pronounced mountained. As to the character of the negro, he claimed that we should disabuse ourselves of the pre-bark, found near Sagua le Grande, having on board claimed that we should disabuse ourselves of the pre-judices which are the result of ages of injustice and abuse, through the nefarious foreign slave trade. He is said that the officers and crew especially discredited the plea for that traffic, that the of this vessel are native-born citizens of the negro enslaved his own race when he could. He had States-the officers from the State of Maine, and ists began to inculcate five and twenty years since, can at last be uttered as absolute and unquestioned truths in a meeting held by the great American Board of Ecvaign Missions, even though it he but a local one. Foreign Missions, even though it be but a local one.

A striking confirmation of the truth of Mr. Bushand some one of the officers of the vessels sold genenell's remarks will be found in the article (in another column) showing that a large tribe of native Africans well understood. had been forced, greatly against their will, to quit their peaceful agricultural pursuits and follow their Celestials, by the Peruvian bark Tonito Torices, Perichiefs to war, in order to find victims for the new Slave Trade, which, under the name of exportation of free laborers, the French Emperor has commenced on the African coart. N. J. Herald.

MR. ELIOT DECLINES. In our last number, we bon for England on the 9th ult. She comes from the commented in indignant terms upon the nomination of the Hon, SAMULA. ELLOY (of Fucitive Slave Law that several vessels are on that coast, fitted out as of the Hon. SANUEL A. ELIOT (of Fugitive Slave Law

Hon. James G. Birney. The demise of this gen-Hon, JAMES G. BIRKY. The demise of this gen-tleman took place on Tuesday evening, 24th ult., at his residence at Eagleswood, near Perth Amboy, N. J. Mr. Birney was born in 1793, at Danville, Ky. His father was a native of Ireland, who acquired in Worcester. The Louisiana fugitive made an attempt and accomplishments. Mr. Birney, after passing through his collegiate studies with distinguished success, entered the law office of Mr. Dallas, in Philadelphia. In 1814, he commenced the practice of law in his native State, and, when only 22, was elected a member of the Legislature. He then married, and shortly after emigrated to Alabama, where he became a planter and the owner of slaves. He was soon chosen a member of the Alabama Legislature, where this talents and cloquence gained him great populari-ty. He soon, however, got tired of Alabama, and re-turned to his native State. He there began to give practical effect to the strong anti-slavery sentiments which had early taken hold of him. To carry out his views, he entered warmly into the plans of the was resolved that he would find a grave in the wacolonizationists, and, in 1834, he caused a deed of ters of the river, before he would be captured. He emancipation for the six slaves he brought with him got beyond the reach of his pursuers, and finally se-from Alabama to be entered at the office of the county creted himself on board of a ship bound to the North. court for the county where he resided. Not content with this, he proposed starting an anti-slavery paper in Kentucky, but not finding a printer bold enough to undertake the mechanical arrangements, he com-menced the publication in Ohio. On the death of his menced the publication in Ohio. On the death of his father, Mr. Birney liberated and made a comfortable provision for all the slaves on the paternal estate. The death of his wife occurring soon after, he paid a visit to England in 1840, and took a prominent part in the anti-slavery agitation there. In the following the matried a sister-in-law of the Hon. Gerrit year, he married a sister-in-law of the Hon. Gernt Smith, a lady of the Fitzhugh family. In 1844, Mr. Birney was brought forward as a candidate for the Presidency by the 'Liberty Party.' Owing to the Cincinnati Gazette an account of the escape, at Car-Presidency by the 'Liberty Party.' Owing to the celebrated Raleigh letter of Mr. Clay against the ancelebrated Raleigh letter of M nexation of Texas, the sentiments of which the distinguished writer subsequently disavowed, Mr. Birtinguished writer subsequently disavowed writer subs votes polled for Mr. Berney could have given Mr. Clay a clear majority over Mr. Polk of 23,271. Although Mr. Clay could not have secured the whole of those, it is unquestionable that the Northern votes which he lost through his Raleigh letter would have gained him his election. After this contest, Mr. Birney rehim his election. After this contest, Mr. Birney re-tired almost exclusively from public life. The state of his health for the last twelve years has unfitted him for any exciting occupation. Frequent attacks of paralysis, combined with heart disease, left him latterly a complete wreck. He has nevertheless conlatterly a complete wreck. He has nevertheless conletterly a complete wreck with the complete wreck which we have a complete wreck with the complete wreck wit Jewett, went on to Middletown, from which place he tinued to take a warm interest in the political struggles of the day, and, during the last Presidential canvas, he recorded his vote for Fremont. It is only within the last few years that he took up his residence turned out of the station house. The white man isa Fine, late of this city, was admitted to probate yesterday in the county court. She emancipates nine valuable slaves, provides for the payment of their expenses to Cincinnati, and bequeaths them one hun-dred dollars each. She also makes suitable provision for an old servant, over-seventy years of age, who had been faithful to her, and also frees a young female slave, when the aged one shall have died. At the death of old Milly, three houses and lots on Jefferson street are to be sold, and the proceeds to be divided among her emancipated slaves.

To her brother and other members of the family, ample bequests are made.-Louisville Journal.

LEOMINSTER, Nov. 28, 1857.

Draw Mr. May:

I intended writing you the first of the week, to say a word concerning Mr. Pillsbury's meetings here, but so many domestic cares have pressed upon me, I have not found leisure until now. But though late, it may

An unpopular law, placing a gag upon the press, has lately passed the Legislature of Sierra Leone, but it would not probably have a long existence.—Boston

HAVANA, Nov. 9, 1857. For the particular information of the abolitionist of New England, I have a few items of interest, and I beg their attention to ascertain how many of their they, or their neighbors, have put into the African slave trade. We have now captured, and have as prizes in this port, four slavers, of which three were satisfied himself that the internal traffic in slaves was instigated and kept up by the demands of the foreign market. It had ceased wherever this traffic had been driven from the coast.'

Some of the sailors from that and other States of New England—vessel's name supposed to be the Petrel. It is a fact, that whenever we find a slaver having made a voyage, successfully or not, and the officers are known, they invariably belong to New England. It is pleasant and reasonably encouraging to find that views of the Slave Trade, which the abolition-large part of the active basis in capital invested in

We have also another cargo of free slaves from the

Her Britannic Majesty's ship Scourge notoriety) as a cand date for the office of Mayor of Boston. We are happy to state that Mr. Eliot has raised is, whether, under the present treaty between Great Britain and the United States, English vessels. sels have a right to search and seize such vessels.

FUGITIVE SLAVES. Two fugitive slaves, one from Worcester. The Louisiana fugitive made an attempt this country a handsome competence by his own tal-ents and industry. His mother was an American la-dy, of the name of Reed, celebrated for her beauty however, that he would escape from slavery, and the incidents of his escape are thus narrated in the Providence Transcript :-

· He seized the first favorable opportunity, and fled, determined to die before he should again be taken back. Bloodhounds were put upon the track, but did not overtake him. He adopted a novel expedient to back them, and keep them back. He left cayenne pepper in his tracks, which, after being snuffed by the hounds, rendered their progress slow. He reached the Mississippi, committed himself to a leaky boat, lying close to the bottom of the boat to keep out of sight of his pursuers. He said when he entered the boat, he In a short time he was found. Fearful that he she be returned, he begged, if that was his fate, to be thrown overboard, preferring death to the horrors from which he had fled. The captain told him, to calm his fears, he should not be sent back. And so the captain, 'I wish I had a load just like you.' captain brought him safely to New York, directed his to take the Fall River route, and named the boat. He directed him to come to Providence, where he would to former but for that letter. The 62,263 Dayton Journal gives an account of the affair, by vas, he recorded his vote for Fremont. It is only within the last few years that he took up his residence in Eagleswood. New Jersey, where he peaceably breathed his last, surrounded by his family and friends, who were all warmly devoted to him. His mental faculties contined unimpaired to the moment of his death.—New York Herald.

EMANCIPATION OF SLAVES. The will of Mrs. Lou-ine Eight of this city, was admitted to probate and the negro and the man, which resulted in all being turned out of the station house. The white man then got a wagen, and all started for Franklin, but on the way, the white man attempted to bribe the driver with $60 to go right on to Cincinnati. At Franklin, the driver told of the offer to bribe, and the whole party were arrested. On the examination, the two white men were questioned separate and apart; one swearing that the boy ran away from Tennessee. and the other swearing he escaped from Kentucky. The magistrate sent all of them to Lebanon jail for further proceedings. The pretended master had no further proceedings. The pretended master had no papers or writ to show, and on the way to jail, offered the officer $100 to be allowed to escape.

The Dayton Journal says that it is unknown what became of the other poor boy who was taken to Cin-cinnati.—Cleveland Herald. TF "x-Governor J. H. Hammond is elected U. S. Senator from South Carolina. He is regarded as the ablest man in the State.

From Kansas.—A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune says that a committee of the Free State Territorial Committee posted after Gov. Walker, to urge him to call a session of the Legislature just elected. The Governor, however, wanted time to think of it, and left the Territory without announcing his deci-

The same correspondent says:—
'The excitement in Leavenworth on the subject of the bogus Constitution is intehse. A meeting was held there last Saturday, which was addressed by General Lane, Mr. Parrot, and other prominent Free State men. Mr. Henderson, of the Leavenworth Journal, one of the framers of the Constitution, indiscreetly made his appearance in the hall. The excitement and indignation were so great that the officers of the meeting had great difficulty in restraining the people from visiting him with the punishment of treason against liberty on the spot.

'Another meeting will be held at Leavenworth on the 28th, to decide whether to vote at the constitutional election, or fight.

The President and the Kansas Convention.—The Newburyport Herald, in an allusion to the late Kansas advices from Washington, remarks that if Me. Buchanan has taken the ground alleged, he will hear "shrieks for freedom," and groans, not from "bleeding Kansas" alone, but from the whole laud, such as, in the seventy-five years of his life, were never heard the providence of the seventy-five years of his life, were never heard the providence of the seventy-five years of his life, were never heard the providence of the seventy-five years of his life, were never heard the providence of the seventy-five years of his life, were never heard the providence of the Something New.—The proprietors of the Newbury-port Herald intend celebrating the seventy-fifth an-niversary of their weekly paper, and the twenty-fifth of their daily, on the 17th of January, the anniver-sary of Franklin's birth-day. They propose calling together every living printer who served an appren-ticeship in their office, and every editor or prominent contributor. The list embraces the names of quite a number of distinguished contiernen who now honor.

A Columbus paper says, that during the progress of the late tornado near Crestline, Ohio, Miss White, a young lady aged about 17 years, was carried by the force of the wind several hundred feet, and left dangling on the top of a cherry tree.

The report of the United States Patent Office thus states the value of the leading crops of the country for 1857:—Indian corn, $360,000,000; wheat, $247,500,000; hay and fodder, $160,000; pasturage, $143,000,000; cotton,$136,000,000; onts, $68,000,000 garden products, $50,000,000; potatoes, $41,250,000; sugar, $35,000,000; orchard products, $25,500; total, $1,266,250,000.

Elizur Wright of Boston is still busying him-self with his water-works. In addition to his self-acting stop-cock and water-faucet, he has lately con-trived a method of joining lead pipes without the employment of a plumber, by a very simple process.

Brigham Young, who defies the government and threatens the armies of the United States, is a native of Vermont, and is 56 years of age. His father was a farmer, originally from a town in the vicinity of Boston, and young Brigham is said never to have been to school but thirteen days.

Three Josiahs .- The Boston Transcript states, that at Mr. Mackay's lecture in this city, last week, were seen, 'all seated in a row,' Josiah Quincy, Josiah ly said by a New England poet of the earlier tin Quincy, Jr., and Josiah P. Quincy, father, son, and before school-books were expurgated by slavery—

Liberian Coin.—We have been shown the one cent and two cent pieces of Liberian coin. They are about the same size, though not so heavy, as the English half-penny and penny pieces, and are prominently marked with their respective denominations. On the one side is a representation of a palm tree in bloom, the ocean, with steamer in the distance, and the figures '1847,' the latter referring to the date of formation as a republic. On the reverse, head of Liberty and cap, with a star in the cap, and the words of Republic of Liberia,' and three small stars, representing the three counties or states which comprise Liberian Coin .- We have been shown the one cent Let all take warning to co-operate with us, from those senting the three counties or states which comprise the young nation. The metallic currency of Liberia consists in the one and two cent pieces. They were struck in London in 1851, and present a creditable Fires with Loss of Life. - The town farm buildings in Leeds, Me., were destroyed by incendiarism on the hight of the 25th ult., and two women, named Bridgham and Peare, perished in the flames. At Lancaster, N. H., 21st ult., Mr. David Stockwell, 90 years of age, was burned to death in the destruction of his Protest against Filibusterism .- The Washington Star is informed, on authority in which it places confidence, that both the English and French governments have taken occasion to protest, through their ministers here, to this government, against Walker, the Filibuster's second expedition to Central America. These protests were probably sent to the State Department some time since-before Walker succeeded in eluding the vigilance [7] of the federal authorities at New Orleans and Mobile.

to A curious will case is pending in Dallas county, Alabama. Ephraim Pool, last summer, died after ty, Alabama. Epitamia to, as a short illness, but procured the services of a friend tofore aided us by literary or pecuniary contributions, to draw his will. By that instrument he bequeathed to let us hear from them once again, as speedily as children, his own offspring, and gave the drawer of the will a negro for his trouble, besides making him sole trustee, with direction to send these slaves to a free State. The heirs of Pool contest the will on the ground that he was of unsound mind. No decision

Geo. R. Gliddon, Esq., formerly U. S. consul at Cairo, in Egypt, and distinguished for his contribu-tions to antiquarian science, died at Panama, Novem-ber 16th. Mr. Gliddon had been on a visit to Hon-duras, as agent of the Honduras Interoceanic Railway Company, and was on his way to the United State

TA correspondent, writing from Staten Island Nov. 27th, says, 'The live Democracy of this county amused themselves, on Thanksgiving night, by burning in effigy their representative in Congress, Hon. John A. Searing, for his alleged efforts in retaining in office certain Black Republican postmasters, against the wishes of the party here. The information that he did so is derived from the P. M. G. at Washing-

General Walker .- Tuesday, Nov. 17, says the New Orleans Bulletin, was the day fixed for the appearance of Gen, Walker before Judge McCaleb, of the United States District Court, to answer the charge of having set on foot a hostile expedition against Costa Rica and Nicaragua. The case was duly called, but as and Micaragua. The case was duly called, but as there was no response, the General's bail bond, signed by Col. Slatter, was, as a matter of course, ordered to be forfeited. Mr. Slatter and Mr. Soule both appeared, Mr. Soule offering himself as Gen. Walker's representative. Friday week was appointed by the Court to hear Mr. Soule on the subject.

Chicago, Nov. 25.

The schooner Antelope, which left here last week, with a cargo of wheat for Oswego, was blown ashore at the mouth of the St. Joseph River, on the night of the late gale, and, with her cargo, was a total loss. Capt Budd and four of the seamen were frozen to death.

The Oswego Times of Saturday publishes a list of fifty vessels now on their way from the upper lakes for that port, with 700,000 bushels of wheat, principally from Chicago. It is estimated that half a million bushels will be at Oswego at the close of the mals. All the mills are in operation him five or six slaves, whom he claims a right to keep Johnson. By and work on the free soil of Iowa, under the Dred comes extinct.

In Litchfield, Grayson county, on the 12th ult. John Robert Wells, of Tennessee, was married to Miss Emeline Jeanes, of Grayson. The bride is 28 years old, 36 inches high, and weighs 45 pounds. The bridegroom is six feet high, weighs 160 pounds. and is 35 years of age. The parents of the bride are Sudden Death of an Editor.—Mr. Stimson, Editor of the Day Book, died suddenly in the Long Island cars Monday afternoon. He left the depot for his residence, near Cypress Hills, accompanied by his sons, but upon issuing from the tunnel in Atlantic street, he was discovered to be dead. His death was supposed to have been caused by disease of the heart.

The Thirty-nine persons were scalded by the explosion on board the steamer Cataract, on the Missouri river, twenty-one of them badly. Five of them badly. Five of them badly is the proposed to have been caused by disease of the heart.

Tuckerman, the Embezzler, A Mail Robber.—Mr. William T. Tuckerman, formerly Treasurer of the Eastern Railroad, was arrested on Sunday night, at New Haven, by Mr. Holbrook, secret agent of the Post Office department, for robbing the mail on the route between New York and New Haven. He has confessed his guilt, and is now in jail. There was no mail agent on that route, and at various times for serveral weeks, money has been missed, and an Havana mail for Portland is lost. It is probable that Tuckerman will now get the full punishment for his crime.

(a) Advertiser, and rejoined the editorial corps.

(b) The Syracuse Journal says that thirty-one functions in the slaves have arrived in that city the previous month.

Slavery in Kansas.—An assessment of Leavenworth city shows a total valuation of over three millions, included in which are 32 slaves, valued at $16,000.

A terrible collision took place on Sunday night, 20th ult., between two steamships on the Lower Mississippi. Twenty-five passengers were drowned, one of whom was Gen. Hamilton, of South Carolina.

THE TWENTY-POURTH NATIONAL ANTI-SLAVERY BAZAAR.

The undersigned again call on all interested in their ot only to the three millions of American slaves, but to the American nation and to entire humanity,-for immediate aid, by contributions of money and materials, and by purchase at the next Bazaar; to be open

· ON THE 17TH OF DECEMBER.

Contributions of money at the present time will nable members of the Committee now in Europe to add to the attractions of the exhibition still further. and, in consequence, to increase the funds; which are to be expended, as heretofore, by the American Anti-Slavery Society, in awakening the whole country, means. From a growing conviction of the justice and necessity of this work, for the good and honor of all concerned, every measure possible to be taken will inevitably spring without delay. Our funds, therefore, will be devoted to the primary work of arousis and engaging the public mind; which, as fast as it awakens, never fails to find a way to work its will,through church action, by agitation and withdrawal,by state action, through the customary political channumber of distinguished gentlemen, who now honor the various professions in life. An oration will be pronounced by an eminent statesman, and the occapion will be one of great interest.

by state action, through the customary political channels, or by the profounder policy of creating others,—by legislative and judicial changes,—by individual efforts in the manumission of slaves and the protection efforts in the manumission of slaves and the protection of fugitives,—by economical measures prompted by the greater advantages of free labor,-by humane feel ings creating a preference for its products.

What we ask of the citizens around us, just wakening to some one or other of the manifold aspeets of this great question, is, to enable us to continue the use of the means that have proved so efficacious in their own case, and to sustain the primary cause of whatever Anti-Slavery effects they observe and desire to promote.

Let those who labor for an Anti-Slavery national and State administration, furnish voters with the only sufficient motive to any Anti-Slavery effort, by working with us, so to excite the love of liberty, that every man shall take the risk of trampling down slavery wherever it meets him.

Let them that pity the hunted fugitive, who sees in every Northern man a betrayer, bound to that base function by the great organic law of his country, take the means most effectual to turn the betrayer into the protector, by helping us every where to awaken a stronger sentiment than compassion for the millions who cannot fly : of whose case it was so truly said by a New England poet of the earlier time cause, desiring to communicate them to others. We have all been connected personally with the system of slavery. One has known the evil power of its money temptations; another has felt its political despotism; another its perverting social influence; another its corrupting ecclesiastical bondage; another yet has been identified by Southern birth and education with the slaveholders, and sustained the legal relation of ownership to the slaves; while not unfrequently among our most efficient members have been the wives o slaves, driven from us by the operation of laws from which we cannot protect them, and which make us liable to ruinous fine and crushing imprisonment, as they have done our associates erewhile. But we all, with one accord, testify to the truth of the anti-slavery principles, and entreat the aid of all whom this appeal reaches, to deliver the country from such a despotism, by their promulgation.

'Their wrongs compassion cannot speak.'

THE LIBERTY BELL will be published as usual: and we entreat all our friends who have heretofore aided us by literary or pecuniary contributions,

Our friends in Europe will not fail to take notice that the Bazaar is to open a week earlier than Contributions may be addressed to Mrs. CHAPMAN, 21 Cornhill, Boston, or to the other members of the Committee, at their respective homes. MARIA WESTON CHAPMAN. MARY MAY.

ABBY KELLEY FOSTER. LOUISA LORING. L. MARIA CHILD, ELIZA LEE FOLLEN, ANNE WARREN WESTON. ANN GREENE PHILLIPS. SARAH SHAW RUSSELL. FRANCES MARY ROBBINS. HELEN E. GARRISON. ANN REBECCA BRAMHALL. SARAH H. SOUTHWICK, MARY WILLEY, ABBY FRANCIS, ANNA SHAW GREENE. MARY GRAY CHAPMAN. ELIZABETH GAY. HENRIETTA SARGENT. SARAH RUSSELL MAY, CAROLINE WESTON, SUSAN C. CABOT, MARY H. JACKSON. SARAH BLAKE SHAW, LYDIA D. PARKER, ELIZA F. EDDY, EVELINA A. S. SMITH. ELIZABETH VON ARNIM. AUGUSTA KING. ELIZA H. APTHORP. JUSTINE DE PEYSTER HOVEY. MATTIE GRIFFITH.

The Fairfield (Iowa) Ledger is informed on in the English papers. He was the only son of Sir good authority that a Missouri slaveholder has removed to Warren county, in that State, and brought with him five or six slaves, whom he claims a right to keep Johnson. By his death, the Boswell baronetcy be-The death of Sir James Boswell is announce Marshal Radetzky celebrated his 91st birth day on the 2d ult.

Information is received of the confiscation, b the Austrian government, of all the property of Loui Kossuth within its reach. LF A Mr. Birch, of Cincinnati, distributed one thousand loaves of bread among the poor of that city on Thanksgiving day.

13" Mrs. Swisshelm, formerly editress of the Pitts-burg Visitor, has purchased the St. Cloud (Minneso ta) Advertiser, and rejoined the editorial corps.

as H. B. Payne, who went round the State abusing the Republicans, and affirming that incredible lie, which Cushing takes pains to contradict, that the Republicans were in favor of negro equality.—Ciscinna-believe it, then? Evidently, you are becoming 'pro-slavery.' You will have to take this back. The deslavery. You will have to take this back. The de-claration that the Black Republicans are in favor of 'negro equality' is, then, an 'incredible lie.' That will do.—New Orleans Bulletin.

MR. CUSHING ENCOURAGED. 'A Retired Statesman,' through the columns of the Washington Union, warmly commends Hon. Caleb Cushing for his willingness to go into our Legislature. He is pleased to Such a man as Mr. Cushing, though standing alone in a body like the wild-out Legislature of Massachusetts, may, and I have no doubt will, do much good.

THE LATE MASSACRE OF ENIGRANTS IN THE MORMON SETTLEMENTS. An officer of the army, who was sta-tioned nearly a year in Utah, and who passed over the Spanish trail—from Salt Lake City to Los Angelos—in command of a detachment of United States troops in 1855—informs us that he camped for several days at Mountain Meadows, the scene of the late that there is no room for the shadow of a doubt but that the Mornons were cognizant of and instigated this horrible butchery.—N. Y. paper.

LITERARY. Rev. John B. Willard, the popular leo turer, is preparing for the press a volume of essays apon religion and literature. The Christian Register, (high authority in such matters,) speaking of Mr. Willard, says: 'J. R. Willard, of Still Water, Mass., is one of the most exquisite writers of our country.'

Congress meets on the first Monday in December, which this year comes on the seventh listant (next Monday). As the Democrats have a majority in the House, an immediate organization will undoubtedly be effected, and we shall have the first Annual Message of President Buchanan on the following

AMERICAN ANTI-SLAVERY SOCIETY. Donations.

Charles F. Hovey, to redeem pledge, $200,0 Mrs. Mary May, to redeem pledge, 50 CFRANCIS JACKSON, Treasurer. Boston, Dec. 2, 1867.

CONVENTION IN NASHUA .- An Anti Slavery Convention, for the fullest discussion of the present condition and prospects of the country in all its relations and interests as affected by that 'sum of all villanies, SLAVERY, will be held at Nasiva, N. H., commencing on Saturday evening, Dec. 12th, and continuing through the day and evening of Sunday, Dec. 13th.

WM. LLOYD GARRISON, PARKER PILLSBURY, and others, on behalf of the American Anti-Slavery Society, will be present.
For the Committee,

SAMUEL MAY, JR., Agent.

WM. LLOYD GARRISON will deliver an address on Temperance, by invitation of the Sons of Temperance, at their Hall, corner of Bromfield and Province streets, on Sunday evening next, Dec. 6, at half past 7 o'clock. The public are invited to attend.

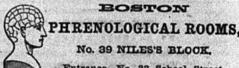

NOTICE .- ABBY KELLEY FOSTER'S post-office address for the future will be Worcester, Mass.

HOPEDALE HOME SCHOOL.

THE next Term of this Institution will commence I on the first Wednesday in January, 1858, and continue fifteen weeks. For Catalogues, containing

W. S. HAYWOOD, ABBIE S. HAYWOOD, Principals. Hopedale, Milford, Mass., Dec. 4, 1867. 2is 2os

MANIFEST DESTINY OF THE UNION. TUST published by the American Anti-Slavery So-Ciety, and for sale at 138 Nassau street, New York, and 21 Cornhill, Boston, The Manifest Des-tiny of the American Union, —reprinted from the Westminster Review, making a near pamphlet of 72 pages. Price 10 cents single; 75 cents per dozen. This masterly and philosophical view of the state of the Anti-Slavery struggle in this country deserves the widest circulation, and is from the pen of one of the brightest intellects in Europe.

Entrance, No. 33 School Street. THE Subscriber, late with Fowler, Wells & Co., announces to his friends and the public generally, that he has opened the above establishment expressly for the purpose of giving Correct Phrenological Examinations, with reliable advice in reference to Choice of Occupa-tion, Health, Habits and Diet, Matrimonial Adaptation, Children—their management, Choice of Help, Clerks, &c., Self-Improvement in general. THOMAS VICKERS.

TREES AND PLANTS.

B. M. WATSON, OLD COLONY NURSERIES, PLYMOUTH, Mass.

WILL send his Fall Descriptive Priced Catalogue of Trees and Plants for Fall planting, to any address. Carriage of all packages paid to Boston or New York.

JUST PUBLISHED, A NEW AND IMPORTANT WORK, ENTITLED DEBT AND GRACE. AS RELATED TO

The Doctrine of a Future Life. BY C. F. HUDSON The Rev. F. D. HUNTINGTON, D.D., says of this book—

'The results of [the author's] thinking and reading, as they appear in this volume, are remarkable for original force and for learning, for depth and extent of theological scholarship in the direction of his theme, and for the ingenuity and courage with which he maintains his particular theory. I believe the work is to excite a great deal of interest, to meet the mind of the religious world just where it is greatly exercised, and to lead to important results through the discussions it may provoke.

My opinion the discussions it may provoke. , . . My opinion [is] that the treatise will command general and respectful attention, both among theologians and the

Another gentleman, one of our most accomplished

· It is not merely a work of learning; it is sull o thought; it every where bears the stamp of an acute and vigorous intellect. . . . It will be regarded by those capable of appreciating it as one of the most valuable contributions to our theological literature which has appeared for many years.

Price, $1.25. Sent post paid. Orders for single copies may be directed to C. F. HUDSON, Boston. Cash orders from the trade to

JOHN P. JEWETT & Co., Publishers, 289 Washington street, Boston.

New York Central College.

THE next term of New York Central College, both Academic and Collegiate departments, will commence the 27th of November, 1867. Miss CAROLINE
A. CAMPBILL, the former accomplished teacher in the department of Drawing and Painting, has consented to resume her connection with the Institution; excellent facilities will thus be afforded to those wishing instruction in this department.

Other and competent teachers will take the places of those who have recently resigned.

The prominent features of the Institution, as here-tofore noticed, are Radical Anti-Slavery and Equality of the Sexes.

LEONARD G. CALKINS. McGrawville, Cort. Co., N. Y., Oct. 27, 1867.

POETRY.

THE GIFT OF TRITEMIUS. The following poem, which appears in the first number of the new Boston magazine, the Atlantic Monthly, is said to be from the pen of John G. Whit-Tritemius Herbipolis, one day, While kneeling at the altar's foot to pray Alone with God, as was his pious choice, Heard from beneath a miserable voice-A sound that seemed of all sad things to tell, As of a lost soul crying out of hell.

Thereat the Abbot rose, the chain whereby His thoughts went upward, broken by that cry, And, looking from the casement, saw below A wretched woman, with gray hair aflow, And withered hands stretched up to him, who cried For alms as one who might not be denied.

She cried : 'For the dear love of Him who gave His life for ours, my child from bondage save, My beautiful, brave first-born, chained with slaves In the Moor's galley, where the sun-smit waves Lap the white walls of Tunis! ' What I can, I give, Tritemius said-'my prayers.' 'O man Of God!' she cried, for grief had made her bold, Mock me not so; I ask not prayers, but gold: Words cannot serve me, alms alone suffice; Even while I plead, perchance my first-born dies.

'Woman!' Tritemius answered, 'from our door None go unfed; hence we are always poor. A single soldo is our only store -Thou hast our prayers, what can we give thee more?

· Give me,' she said, · the silver candlesticks On either side of the great crucifix; God well may spare them on His errands sped, Or He can give you golden ones instead."

Then said Tritemius, ' Even as thy word,

Woman, so be it; and our gracious Lord, Who loveth mercy more than sacrifice, Pardon me if a human soul I prize Above the gifts upon His altar piled! Take what thou askest, and redeem thy child! But his hand trembled as the holy alms He laid within the beggar's open palms; And as she vanished down the linden shade,

He bowed his head, and for forgiveness prayed. So the day passed; and when the twilight came, He rose to find the chapel all affame, And dumb with grateful wonder, to behold

Upon the altar candlesticks of gold!

MY MOTHER'S SONG-SWEET HOME. How oft we hear those gentle words! We hear them breathed in song, When music bursts from happy hearts That still to joy belong! When rosy beams of daylight dawn, Or when the shadows fall, We hear the gladsome echoes tell · Sweet home ' hath charms for all.

Those simple words !- that plaintive air ! My mother sang the strain In days gone past, in happy days, That may not come again ! She sang it by the household hearth, Our father sitting by, And smiles were playing on his lips, But tear-drops filled his eye.

On earth there is no place like home, She taught my lips to say, But all that made my home so dear Long since has passed away! We hear no more her gentle voice, At morning or at even : She has an angel's golden harp, Her song is heard in heaven.

I hear it sung by others now, And o'er my soul, the while, Steal memories, sadly sweet, that bring A tear-drop and a smile! And, oh ! 'tis sweet, e'en now, to hear Those thrilling murmurs fall; 'Home, home, sweet home!' 'tis not of earth, Heaven hath a home for all !

THE EVENINGS BY CHARLES MACKAY.

In the summer evenings, When the wind blew low, And the skies were radiant With the sunset glow. Thou and I were happy Long, long years ago. Love, the young and hopeful, Hovered o'er us twain, Filled us with sad pleasure And delicious pain. In the summer evenings, Wandering in the lane.

In the winter evenings, When the wild winds roar, Blustering at the chimney, Piping at the door, Thou and I are happy, As in days of yore; Love still hovers o'er us, Robed in white attire, Drawing heavenly music From an earthly lyre, In the winter evenings. Sitting by the fire.

From Life Illustrated. THE PLOW. God speed the plowshare ! tell me not Disgrace attends the toil Of those who plow the dark green sod, Or till the fruitful soil. Why should the honest plowman shrink From mingling in the van Of learning and of wisdom, since 'Tis mind that makes the man !

God speed the plowshare, and the hands That till the fruitful earth ! For there is in this world so wide No gem like honest worth. And though the hands are dark with toil, And flushed the manly brow, It matters not, for God will bless The labors of the plow.

THE WIFE.

On earth, to man there is but one His heart can love, his soul can own : Though myriads flit before his view, There is but one to whom he's true-That one can sway him to and fro; Can make him drain the cup of woe; Can give him joy, or blast his life; And that one's name is simply wife.

But in that name a world is sphered, A world by all beloved, revered, Who have the sense to know its worth, And spurn the gaudy joys of earth; For that full heart in her dear breast-If rightly prized-eternal rest-Is not with blissful sweets more rife, Than that pure heart-a loving wife.

PAY THE PRINTER. Pay the printer—pay the printer— All remember his just due; In cold winter, freezing winter, He wants cash as well as you.

ical affair that occurred recently in that vicinity:

'The good citizens of Extra Township, lying some twelve miles south of this place, were, on Wednesday morning last, thrown into a high state of excitement by the commission of one of the most bratal and atrocious murders that was ever perputrated. The particulars of this dreadful affair, so far as I have been able to gather them, are as follows:

'There lived in Extra Township a widow lady named Hill. She being siek, and having no one to wait on her, one of her neighbors, J. L. May, sent a negro woman to attend her. On Friday night last (according to the subsequent confession of one of the negroes,) her house was entered by a white of the negroes,) her house was entered by a white man named Miller, and two negro men, one belong-ing to a Mr. Norrell and the other to a Mr. Perdue. After violating the person of the unfortunate woman by the indulgence of their hellish appetites, they coolly and deliberately murdered her. The negro woman attempted to escape, but it was all in vain, for she had only got outside of the gate, when she was overtaken and crucily murdered. The bodies of the two sunfortunate victims were then placed in the house, and it set on fire and consumed to 'The next morning, all the negroes in the neigh-borhe d were summoned, for the estensible purpose of working on the road, but in fact for the purpose of obtaining, if possible, a clue to the perpetrators of the crime. One of the guilty negroes, fearing detection, would not stand an examination, and broke from the party, mounted his master's horse, broke from the party, mounted his master's horse, and made his escape to the woods. The next day, however, he was decoyed in by another pegro, was arrested, and confessed the whole matter, implicating the above-named Miller and the other negro. The two negroes were to-day, in the presence of an excited multitude, and upon the spot where the murder was committed, burned at the stake. The man Miller was present, and the negro who confessed told him to his face that he was guilty, and even from the very flames reproached him with having been the cause of the horrible deed. The other ne-

The excitement has spread all over the county, and fears are entertained that some difficulty may grow out of the transaction between the owners of the negroes, and the parties acting in the prem-

A Louisiana Free Fight .- The Red River Ameri turbed the parish of Calcasieu :-

'The facts, as near as have been ascertained, these: Claiborne Hart and his son Charles had for several weeks been making violent threats against the lives of James M. Wilburn, Benton Wilburn, William and Jackson McGee.
On Saturday, the 12th inst., Hart and his so went to the residence of Benton Wilburn, and told him that his time had now been limited two hours; that they would most assuredly kill him, as well as the other parties above named; that they had given them ample warning to leave the county, and now they intended killing them, whether they were willing to leave or not. From thence they went to James Wilburn's, and made similar threats. They then went to a neighbor's a mile or two off, and told what they had said and done at the Wilburns. On the following day, Mrs. Wilburn sent a little girl to one of her neighbors, requesting him to come over and see what all the firing of guns near her house meant. Two gentlemen went, as requested; as they entered the lane, they discovered the lifeless bodies of Hart and his son-the latter had his gun in his hands, ready for firing. These bodies were completely filled with buck shot. They appear to have died without a struggle. The two Wilburns and one of the McGees have been missing since the dreadful occurrence.

'The parties on whom suspicion rested as the murderers gave themselves up to the officers. They had their trial before Justice Evans, in Calcasieu parish, by whom they were acquitted. The friends of Hart, over twenty in number, were in attendance at the trial. As soon as the prisoners were acquitted, they took possession of them, saying they would take them to Texas, and give them another hearing. They ordered one of the McGees to cross his hands for the purpose of tying them. On his refusal, the told him that he should either submit or be killed; whereupon, he told them that he would take his chance, and broke. They fired eight guns at him as and acted with energy and zeal. Deputy Sheriff chance, and broke. They are that the same of the same Wilburn, Jackson McGee and Bowie McGee, and at 5 the next morning with his share of the Wilburn, Jackson McGee and Bowie McGee, and proceeded to Texas with them. At Mr. John Thompson's on the Sabine River, they stayed over night. Through the intercession of Mr. Thompson, they liberated James Wilburn, and proceeded over the river. A short time after they crossed the river, witness. Sheriff High was also indefatigable. the river. A short time after they crossed the river, a volley of guns was heard, and, shortly afterward, the three, Benton Wilburn and Jackson and Bowen McGee were found near the road, lifeless—their heads and bodies perfectly riddled with balls. Where this will end, it is impossible to say.'

Lynching an Abolitionist in Mississippi .- A correspondent of the Memphis Appeal, writing from Oxford, Miss., on the 7th inst., gives the following account of the manner in which an Abolitionist was lynched:—

'On Friday night last, a man by the name Snyder was brought here under arrest, charged with organizing an insurrection among the negroes in the neighborhood of Abbeyville, and was tried before, the committing court the next day, and dis-charged. But before he had time to get out of the court-house, a meeting of the citizens was called. Mr. Yancy Wiley was called to the chair, and made some inquiring remarks, which were answered by several of our influential citizens, somewhat recommending mob law, which was received with ap-plause; but this was cooled down by occasional speeches from those opposed to it. After deliberating some two hours, the prisoner agreed to remain in jail one month, to enable him to procure evidence

ked nearly an hour, and consulting, it was proposed to let him have what he chose, and he was carried back to jail. Awhile after supper, he was demanded of the isilor, who referred to the interval of the isilor, who referred to the interval of the isilor, who referred to the isilor, who responded by some severe blows on the head of the isilor, who referred to the interval of the isilor. back to jail. Awhile after supper, he was demand-back to jail. Awhile after supper, he was demand-bis antagonist. The matter then ended.—Charles ton Standard. ed of the jailor, who refused to let him out, but, upon persuading and explanation on the part of the people, he (the jailor) agreed to turn the prisoner out, not having any legal process to imprison him, which was done. He was taken a half-mile from town by a picked crowd, who were watched closely by out-siders. After remaining in the woods about an hour and a half, the crowd (who were scattered abroad as sentinels) met at a fence where the prisoner was. He was again told to strip, which he proceeded to do without molestation; but when he was drawing his shirt, it was caught and fastened around his neck with the sleeves for a blind fastened around his neck with the sleeves for a blind fastened around his neck with the sleeves for a blind fastened around his neck with the sleeves for a blind fastened around his neck with the sleeves for a blind fastened around his reck with the sleeves for a blind fastened around his reck with the sleeves for a blind fastened around his reck with the sleeves for a blind fastened around his reck with the sleeves for a blind fastened around his reck with the sleeves for a blind fastened around his reck with the sleeves for a blind fastened around his reck with the sleeves for a blind fastened around his reck with the sleeves for a blind fastened around his reck with the sleeves for a blind fastened around his reck with the sleeves for a blind fastened around his reck with the sleeves for a blind fastened around his reck with the sleeves for a blind fastened around his reck with the sleeves for a blind fastened around his reck with the sleeves for a blind fastened around his server. fastened around his neck with the sleeves for a blind-fold. A rope was then put about his neck to fright-en him, but it had not its desired effect. He was allowed to stand in that position about fifteen min-utes, when he was carried to the bottom of a hollow badly wounded, and it is thought would die. In utes, when he was carried to the bottom of a hollow nearest where they were, and tied around a tree. He was told what was their intention: to lynch him until he told something. The lashing was commenced by two, who used straps fastened to sticks about ten inches long. After he had taken one hundred and sixty-seven lashes, he began to know something about it, but not enough to satisfy the lynchers; so they commenced again with two other lynchers, and when the number had reached two hundred and thirty-eight lashes, he told the whole tale, which was this: He was to raise a company of some dozen blacks, who were to be furnished with arms (knives and pistols) by him, and go

SOUTHERN ATROCITIES AND HORRORS.

A FRESH CHAPTER—READ THE RECORD.

Theo Negroes Burned Alive.—A correspondent of the Camden (Ark.) Herald, writing from Hamburg, Ashley county, Ark., under date of the 19th ult., furnishes us with the horrible details of a tragical affair that occurred recently in that vicinity:

'The good citizens of Extra Township, lying some twelve miles south of this place, were, on Wednesshave learned to-day that he was taken from the cars at Holly Springs, and confined in fail. I suppose we shall hear from him when the cars arrive here

From another source, we learn that Snyder has been lodged in jail in a neighboring county to La-fayette, to answer for his offence.

Outrage by Free Negroes.—We learn from the Raleigh Standard, that an outrage of a most aggravated character was perpetrated by some free negroes of Wake County, a few miles west of Raleigh, on Thursday-night, the 20th ult., on Messrs. Albert Hinton, James Penny, Barney Jones, and Marion Keith, worthy and respectable citizens of that County. "We clip the following facts from the Standard:

An outrage of a very aggravated character was perpetrated by some free negroes in this county, a few miles from Raleigh, on last Thursday night. As we have gathered the facts, they are as follows:

Messrs. Albert Hinton, James Penny, Barney Jones, and Marion Keith, were patroling, in the discharge of a duty imposed upon them by the county court. About 12 or 1 o'clock, they visited the house of some free negroes, on the lands of Mr. Beverly Jones, where there was a wedding. They discovered there was a collection of free blacks, An outrage of a very aggravated character was discovered there was a collection of free blacks, slaves and some white folks, fiddling and frelicking generally. This assemblage it was their duty to look after; and in order the better to accomplish their purposes, the three first divided off to different doors, Mr. Keith remaining with their horses at a short distance. Mr. Penny was met at the door by two negro women, to whom he spoke, ordering them to remain in the house. They attempted to rush past him, when he struck one of them with his whip, and at that moment he was struck down and knocked senseless. Mr. Hinton at the same time entered at another door, and was felled; and Mr. Jones, running to the assistance of his comrades, was also been the cause of the horrible deed. The other negro protested to the very last that he was innocent of the crime, and that he knew nothing of the murder.

The excitement has spread all over the county, or all of both whites and negroes scampered off, leaving the wounded men more dead than alive. Messrs. Keith and Jones escaped with a few contu-sions on the head. Mr. Penny had the end of his nose and his upper lip split open, and one of his front teeth knocked out, done with the edge of a spade. He also had several bruises on his head. can has seen a private letter giving the following But Mr. Hinton was the greatest sufferer. Besides account of a frightful occurrence which lately disbruises, he received a severe cut on the head, laying the skull bare for two or three inches, and, worse still, had one of his eyes literally burst to pieces We saw several splinters and fragments taken from it the next day by Dr. Hill, of this city. One of those pieces is over an inch long, and nearly three-fourths of an inch wide. This was buried out of sight in the socket of the eye. The pieces are pine showing that he was struck in the eye with a light wood knot or piece of split lightwood. Mr. Hinton's condition is still critical, but w are glad to learn he is considered to be doing well.

The rapidity and efficiency with which the negroe The rapidity and efficiency with which the acted excited the belief that they were anticipating a visit from the patrol, and had collected weapons a visit from the patrol, and had collected weapons to receive them as they did. and laid their plans to receive them as they This belief has been confirmed by subsequent develpments.

The wounded men are all good citizens, and stand there was and is great indignation manifested by both city and country. Judge Lynch is spoken of with more freedom, and a nearer approach to commendation, than was probably ever before heard in our community. The general sentiment is that, surrounded by the circumstances of our position as a slaveholding people, the punishment inflicted by

The ringleaders among the negroes are Wm. Rob inson, Sidney Robinson, Wm. Mills, John Mills, James Mills, and Henry Mims. Two of them were caught on Friday night, at Morrisville, by constable Andrews, of this city, and two others on Sunday night, at the same place, by Dr. Allison. One was caught on Saturday by Messrs. T. J. Utley and L. T. Claton, and the other on Sunday by constable Hinton Franklin, assisted by Mr. Saml. Rowland.

The six are now in jail. Much praise is due to all those concerned in hunt ing and apprehending these scoundrels. Messrs. Utley and Clayton were among the first in pursuit,

Such an occurrence as this is well calculated to make our people reflect on the propriety of pormit-ting free negroes to exist among us. A few such outrages would cause the extirpation of that degraded class. They would be forced to remove, or be sold into slavery.

P. S. Since the above was written, the negroe have had a preliminary trial, and have all been committed, together with three others, who are thought to be implicated. One white man named Joseph Wilson, a witness, was also committed to jail for contumaciousness and probable perjury. B getting quarters with the Sheriff, he probably saved himself from a ride of a colt, the foal of an acorn. The trial was had before Justice Root, Seawell, Human Slaughter in New Orleans .- On the night of the 27th October, a band of some fifteen men suddenly appeared on St. Thomas street, who divided into three squads, one of which passed down the centre, and one on each side, all being masked and blackened, and armed with knives, pistols, and slung shots, executing their work of indiscriminate destruction of human life wherever they passed, without uttering a word, save in a low, muttering tone. Two persons were killed, and many were fatally wounded. More than a dozen names are given of jail one month, to enable him to procure evidence of his innocence, which was put to a vote of the house, and rejected; after which, a committee of five was appointed to dispose of the matter. They agreed to accept his proposition, (one month's imprisonment,) and the meeting adjourned. He (the prisoner) left the house for the jail under the care of two constables, but, on arriving at the gate, he was pushed back, when the efficers had to release their hold, which was immediately taken by two of the crowd. They proceeded to the end of the street leading north from the court-house.

'When they were about one hundred yards out of the corporation, they left the road about a quarter of a mile, and stopped. The man (Snyder) was asked to strip himself, which he did without a word. He was then asked to acknowledge the crime he was charged with. To this he said he had none to make, that he was innocent, &c. After keeping him maked nearly an hour, and consulting, it was proposed who responded by some severe blows on the head of the Commercial Agency of Bouglass & Co., New York, killed James Allen, of Yorkville, on Saturday last. Bell had communicated information injurious to Allen. Bell has been arrested.

On Friday last, a slave woman, named Sarah, was hung at Louisa Court House, Virginia, for the murder of Mrs. Hall, her mistress, at Gordonville, Killed in an Affray.—D. P. Bates was killed by a pistol shot, fired by a man mamed Robinson, near Columbus, Ga., on Sunday week.

resign.

From a gentleman who resides in Sar Antonio, we learn that two negroes were hung by the resign.

citizens there last week for the rape of a white girl. The work of driving out the infamous characters is nearly accomplished.

Officer Killed.—We regret to learn, from a paragraph in the Asheville (N. C.) News, that George Blackwell, sheriff of Polk county, N. C., was murdered week before last, while attempting to levy an execution upon some property.

An Overseer Killed by a Husband .- On the morning of the 15th, Wm. H. Beale, an overseer on the plantation of Dr. Parker, near Braudon, Miss., was found dead in the road, with his skull broken. It was ascertained that he had been killed by one of his employer's slaves, whose wife he had whipped a day or two before.—Mobile Adv.

Execution .- Two negroes, convicted of an attempt to murder Mr. William R. Brothers, in Nansemond county, Va., last May, were hung last Friday morn-ing. They broke into the dwelling of Mr. Broth-ers, and made a desperate assault upon him, cutting off one hand, breaking the other arm, and inflictin severe injuries otherwise, the particulars of which have been published before.—Richmond Enquirer.

Street Fight in Memphis .- In a street fight which occurred in this city this morning, Col. Cochrell, proprietor of the Commercial Hotel, was badly ounded by a pistol in the hands of Dr. Hooke.

Pleasant M. Mask has been convicted, at Holly Springs, Miss., of the wilful murder of Miss Susan Elizabeth Smith.

made a rush for a neighboring stream, but fell exhausted with loss of blood, and then tore out her bowels with her hands, till she relapsed into insensibility. She was picked up, and, strange as it may seem, the hardy African is now in a fair way for recovery.

is not expected to live. Lynch law is spoken of.

Desperate Fight with Runaways .- The Clark Co. Democrat learns from a gentleman from St. Stephens, in that county, that a desperate fight took place on Sunday last, near the mouth of Jackson creek, between two runaway negroes and four white men, the latter from Washington county. The nght lasted several hours, during which guns, pis-tols, knives and clubs were freely used on both sides, the negroes being armed also. The runaways were finally overpowered and committed the state of overpowered, and committed to jail in St. None of the white men were seriously injured, but one of the negroes was said to be mor-

Jas. R. Pollock, a daguerreotypist at Memohis, shot on the night of the 30th ult., a man named Slider, a blacksmith. The ball entered the borhood, by the name of Gray, at length aroused stomach, and the wound is pronounced fatal. The suspicion, and on the 5th ult. he was arrested and quarrel originated about a young woman, whose cause Slider espoused. The latter, after the shooting, managed to effect his escape.—Natchez Courier.

Suicide to avoid Lunch Law .- A man named Geo. Matheny, alias Tucker, was arrested for horse steal-ing in Missouri, and the mob were about to lynch him, and had actually commenced breaking the doors of the jail, when the prisoner hanged himself with a towel to the flooring above him. The mob then dispersed.

avs since, on account of his refusal to pay im a

An Affair of Honor .- A duel was fought oppowith Mississippi rifles. At the first fire, Mr. Cal-houn fell, wounded in the knee joint, but not dan-gerously. Col. Bowers was undurt. A reconcilia-tion thereupon happily took place between the par-

Horrid Murder of an Unknown Man .- On Saturday last, a man was traversing Bloody Island, (the duelling resort opposite St. Louis,) when he stumbled over the carcass of another, whose head and arms had been chopped off, and whose body had been cloven in two! The deed, a week or two old, had been done, doubtless, to destroy the identity, in case the body should be found.

The Charleston (S. C.) Evening News, of Friday week, records the following incident:—
George, the property of Mr. P. O'Donnell, was killed about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in front of a grocery store on Tradd street, three doors east of King, by a boy named John, the property of Mrs. William Lowndes. The blow was inflicted with a briff in the neek severing the incubations. with a knife in the neck, severing the jugular vein, which resulted in death in half an hour.

A Father Shot by his Son .- At a hotel in Atlanta, Ga., last week, Wm. Witcher, agod twenty years, was taken to a room by his father, who reprimanded him for drinking liquor to excess. William immediately drew a pistol, and shot his father, who was not quite dead at last accounts. The guiltered ty son escaped

In Summerville, Ky., two men named Peace and Skaggs quarrelled; a Mr. Beauchamp interfer ed. Peace ordered Beauchamp to get out of the way, or he would kill him. Beauchamp drew a revolver, fired, missed and retreated; was followed up by Peace, who placed his rifle against his antagonist, and literally blew his heart out. The fatal encounter was witnessed by the wife and children of the deceased.

Thomas Ehler, a notorious desperado, was stabbed to the heart on the 22d, in a fracas with a negro in Louisville, Ky. Fatal Affray .- We learn that a serious difficulty took place last Saturday night, in the neighborhood of Indigo Head, in this county, at a corn-shucking, between Verity Farmer and Charles Moody. It appears from what we have learned, that some misur pears from what we have learned, that some misun-derstanding arose between the parties, and they agreed to fight, but from some cause the fight did not ensee immediately, and it was thought that the difficulty was quelled. Soon after, they stepped aside, apparently for the purpose of talking, and di-rectly engaged in combat, in which Moody was stabbed in the breast, cutting his lungs, and inflict-ing mortal wounds.—Dadeville (Ala.) Banner.

ance. Little came out marmed, and Love shot him across the street, discharging both barrels, and kill-ing Little instantly. Love was arrested and lodged in jail. Both men had families.

Lunch Law Proceedings .- In Barton county,

The Mr. Hale, of Carrollton, Mississippi, was returning home on the 9th ult., with four runaway rously beat several men until their lives were denergoes, two men and two women, when they introduced him, and concealed his body in the woods, where it was found several days afterwards, and the murderers arrested.

Murder.—Mr. Bell, agent in Augusta, Ga., for the Commercial Agency of Douglass & Co., New cannot be considered to their houses, and their goods and provisions destroyed, and the whole neighborhood was made desolate. There were from fifty to one hundred men in the cannot be considered to the commercial Agency of Douglass & Co., New cannot be after a horse thief, but who 'slicked' or barbarously beat several men until their lives were denergiable to be after a horse thief, but who 'slicked' or barbarously beat several men until their lives were denergiable to be after a horse thief, but who 'slicked' or barbarously beat several men until their lives were despited of, and when women interfered, some were budly beat several men until their lives were despited of, and when women interfered, some were budly beat several men until their lives were despited of, and then women interfered, some were budly beat several men until their lives were despited of, and when women interfered, some were budly beat several men until their lives were despited of, and when women interfered some were budly beat several men until their lives were despited of, and when women interfered some were budly beat several men until their lives were despited of, and when women interfered some were several men until their lives were despited of, and when women interfered some were several men until their lives were despited of, and when women interfered some were several men until their lives were despited of, and when women interfered some were several men until their lives were despited of, and when women interfered some several men until their lives were despited of, and when women interfered some several men until their lives were desp

Murder in Vicksburg, and Great Excitement.—
On Sunday, the 28th ult., a man named Cornelius M'Coy shot a negro boy 18 or 20 years old, as the boy was quietly riding on horseback through the streets of Vicksburg. The boy was the slave of G.
W. Bender, and the murder without the slightest provocation. Marshal Fagan immediately arrested M'Coy and belowd him in init.

M'Coy, and lodged him in jail.

Great excitement prevailed on Monday. A public meeting of citizens was held at the court-house, and resolutions condemning the conduct of the Marshal were passed, after which he was permitted to Reign of Terror' in Boltimore, Md .- The Bal-*Reign of Terror' in Beltimere, Md.—The Baltimore Star states that on Wednesday evening, a gang of men went to the house of a colored man, named Alexander Johnson, who kept a sailor boarding-house in Caroline street, in that city, smashed in the door, stole every thing they could lay hands on, including eighty-two dollars in cash, then demolished the furniture. The loss is about five hundred dollars in all. On Friday evening, a man named Thomas Pierce, while playing cards at the house of Catherine Shriver, in Caroline street, was instantly killed, by some person unknown, who fired from killed, by some person unknown, who fired from outside the door, putting three balls through his head. On the same evening, as Mrs. Margaret Wehing was assisting her husband to close his store, at the corner of Bond and Shakspeare streets, three men who were passing fired at her and her husband, inflicting a dangerous wound upon Mrs. Wehing. In none of these cases of outrage and murder have any arrests been made.

Fatal Afray.—A letter in the Bedford (Va.)
Democrat says that Frank Greer was shot and killed by James Nichols, in Pittsylvania County, Va. on the 2d ult., while returning from a funeral in Bedford. The letter says that an affray commenced between them, when Nichols drew a pistol and shot Greer in the abdomen. Greer fell and said, 'Nichols, you have killed me for nothing—Lord have mercy on me!' He then asked to be raisd up, which was done. They placed him on a cart to carry him home. He died in about thirty minutes. The writer says that Nichols escaped, and adds: It has been reported that said Nichols killed his mother a few years ago. A brother, by the name of Fatal Affray .- A letter in the Bedford (Va.) A female slave in Anne Arundel county, Md., attempted to cut her throat with a razor, then among the great gashes across the abdomen, reaching the intestines. Finding she was not dead, she dead, she can be repreded that said Nicolas Ribed his matter and survey and a brother, by the name of Arnold, is supposed to have shot his father and killed him, and Burwell, a still elder brother, killing the intestines. Finding she was not dead, she Serious Affray .- Dr. Chase, dentist, and Mr Hill, stage-coachman, exchanged pistol-shots and used kniws in a street encounter in Raymond day before yesterday, which resulted in the instant death of Mr. Hill, who was shot through the liver and cut through the breast, (and heart, as believed,) and Shooting Affray.—A desperate shooting affair cut through the breast, (and heart, as believed,) and occurred at Goldsboro', N. C., recently. Dr. John in the mortal wounding of Da. C., who was shot W. Dayis, a prominent citizen, was shot down by two German Jews named Odenhammer. One of the Odenhammer's had his skull fractured. Dayis was no actual difficulty between the parties in question, but their fatal action grew out of an affair of others, in which they had respectively interested themselves.—Vicksburg Sentinel, Oct. 1.

Editor Killed .- Col. L. B. Luckie, editor of the Pine Bluff (Ark.) Enterprise, was killed in an af-fray at that place on the 6th inst. No particulars of the unfortunate difficulty are given. Col. Luckie was a lawyer of high standing, and a citizen great-ly esteemed for his many excellent private virtues.

Murder and Lynching in Missisippi .- A man named Abernathy, living near Redland, in Ponto-toc county, was shot and killed week before last, while pulling fodder in his field. At first, no one was suspected, and considerable mystery hung around the foul act. The conduct of a man in the neighcarried to Pentotoc county, and lodged in jail. The people in the neighborhood where the killing occurred became very much aroused, and on Sunday a number of them assembled and proceeded in a body to Pontotoe, took Gray out of prison, carried him to Redland, tried, condemned, and executed him by hanging, near the spot where the murder was committed. Gray confessed the murder, after the rope was placed around his neck. Fight at Brownville-One White Man Killed, and

Carrying out Judge Tancy's Decision.—The J. Holliday, of Brownsville, Nebraska Territory, Harrodsburgh (Ky.) Transcript says that Julius Jenkins killed a negro man in Mercer county, a few days since on account of his refusal to account of his refusal t debt of seventy-five cents. The murderer rode off from their actions that they were runaways, he went to Brownsville, reported what he had seen, and a company was soon in pursuit of them. The negroes who were concealed in a hazel thicket, discovered An Affair of Honor.—A duel was lought opposite Vicksburgh, on the Louisiana side, Thursday, between Col. E. J. Bowers and Mr. S. S. Calboun, both of Canton. The parties fought at sixty yards, with Mississippi rifles. At the first fire, Mr. Calboun fell, wounded in the knee joint, but not danhoun fell, wounded in the knee joint, but not danhoun fell, wounded in the knee joint, but not danhoun fell, wounded in the knee joint, but not danhoun fell, wounded in the knee joint, but not danhoun fell, wounded in the knee joint, but not danhoun fell, wounded in the knee joint, but not danhounded in the knee joint of the knee joint at sixty yards, was shot twice by the negroes, and after-houn fell, wounded in the knee joint, but not danhounded in the knee joint of the knee lived but twenty minutes after he was shot. The negroes, after the first fire, fled, but were pursued and fired upon by the other party. Mr. Davis, of Brownsville, came up with one of them, a large mulatto-colored fellow, who appeared to be the leader of the runaways, and the one who first shot Myers, when a hand-to-hand encounter took place. everal shots were fired by each, and the negro re eciving a severe wound in the arm, turned and at-tempted to escape by jumping into the river. His wounded arm being useless, he came near drowning, and Mr. Davis discovering him in a helpless condi-tion, pulled him out, and secured him. The other two negroes escaped, but were being pursued by three gentlemen of Brownsville. It is highly pro-bable the two who cluded the citizens of Brownsville will escape. The negro taken says he has lived in Kansas City, but it is thought he ran away from Leavenworth City; the other two, it is be lieved, are owned in Andrew or Holt county.

Horrible Tragedy.—An absorbing excitement pervades every class of this community at the issue of an unfortunate affray between Col. Lafayette Caldwell and B. R. Chinn, Esq., both of West Baton Rouge, during which the latter was shot, and it is feared, mortally wounded by the former, the pistol ball entering the abdomen, penetrating through and lodging in the back of the body. Two shots were fired, the second, it is supposed, taking effect upon Mr. John Toy, and inflicting upon him a dangerous wound in the groin. Mr. T. was not engaged in the affray, and his wound was altogether accidental. The affray occourred in the bar-room of the Harney House. The parties are all gentlemen of high social standing in this and the community in which they reside, and the unfortunate result of their misthey reside, and the unfortunate result of their mis erstanding has created a feeling of profound sor

Col. Caldwell surrendered himself to Sheriff Babir about an hour after the sad occurrence, and was taken before Justice Sans, who issued a commitm which was immediate served by the sheriff upon the prisoner.—Baton Rouge Daily Advocate, 3d inst. Remarkable Tragedy .- The Dallas (Texas) Herald

Remarkable Tragedy.—The Dallas (Texas) Herald, narrates the following: It becomes our duty to record one of the most desperate and heart-rending tragedies that has ever been enacted in this region of country. John Robinson, living some four or five miles from Birdville, in Tarrant County, on Friday recording for the machine transfer. Friday morning of last week, without previous provocation, as we are informed, almost without an intimation of his fiendish intentions, shot and killed dead two brothers, George and James Anderson, brothers of his wife, then attempted the life of his stabbed in the breast, cutting his lungs, and inflicting mortal wounds.—Dadeville (Ala.) Banner.

Hiram Little, of South Carrolton, Ky., was killed at that place on the 16th inst., by a mannamed Love. They had a quarrel on election day, had met in the street since, and exchanged shots, but neither party was injured. On Sunday, Love was observed in front of Little's house, armed with a double-barrelled shot gun, and he declared his intention to kill Little as soon as he made his appearance. Little came out marmed, and Love shot him across the street, discharging both harrels, and kill.

Brothers of his wife, then attempted the life of his wife, and failing in that, he proceeded deliberately wife, and failing in that, he proceeded deliberately to his neighbor, old man Sublett, a distance of hearly two miles, and while the old man was begging for mercy, shot him dead. Returning to within a short distance of his home. Robinson finished this horrid and unnatural tragedy by placing the muzele of his gun against his own forehead, and pushing the trigger with the ramrod, put an end to his own life instantly. The whole affair occurred in less than one hour.

Duel Between Editors.—The following letter, da-

Duel Between Editors.—The following letter, da-ted Vicksburg, Miss., Nov. 2d, is published in the Southern papers :

A duel took place this afternoon, between Lynch Law Proceedings.—In Barton county.

Southwestern Missouri, great excitement has recently existed on account of the doings of a set of lawless wretches called 'Slickers,' who pretended to a slanderous editorial.'

Aver's Pills

As A PARLIAY PRINCE.

From Dr. E. W. Cortariols, of New Orlean.

"Your Prize are the prince of purgra. Their resilient qualities surpass any cathortic we possess. They are mid-but very certain and effectual in their action on the heart, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily trealment.

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS. Poss Dr. Theolog Bell, of New Post One.

Prom Dr. Theolog Bell, of New Post One.

"Not only are your Prixs attrainedly adopted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the curv of billions on plaints than any one remely I can mustlen. I showedy rejoine that we have at leugth a purrative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people." DYSPERSIA - INDIGESTION.

DYSPERSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Heavy J. Kaar, of S. Losa.

"The Pills you were kind ecough to send me have been all used in my practice, and have astissfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. So peculierly are they adapted to the diseases of the human system, that they seen to work upon them abone. I have cured some cases of depapers and independent with them, which hat resisted the other remarks we commonly use. Indeed I have experimentally found them to be effectual in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them.

DYSENTERY — DIARRHEA — RELAX.

Prou Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicage.

"Your PILLS have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alternitive effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when civen in small doses, for billows dysendery and distribute. Their sugar-coaling makes them very accopitable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION-WORKS-SUPPRESSION. From Mrs. E. Stuart, who practices as a Physician and Midwife in Roston. "I find one or two large doses of your Phils, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the natural secretion when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very statement to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION - COSTIVENESS. CONSTIPATION — COSTURNESS.

From Dr. J. P. Yougha, Montreat, Canada.

Too much cannot be said of your Pills for the curs of conficences. If others of our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who safer from that complaint which, although bed enough in itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. I believe conficence in the liver, but your Pills affect that organ and sure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — EXT-SIPELAS — SALT RIEUM — TETER — TUNORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

—RHIUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Eachiel Hall, Philadelphia.

"You were right, Doctor, in saying that your Phila purify the blood. They do that. I have used them of late years in my practice, and sgree with your statements of their afface, They stimulate the excretories, and carry off the inspuride that stagnate in the blood, eugendering disease. They stimulate the organs of digustion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"Such remedies as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE - SICK HEADACHE-FOUL STON.

FOR HEADACHE — SICK HEADACHE — FOUL STOK-ACH — PILES — DROFST — PLETHORA — PARLYSIS — FITS — &C.

Prem Dr. Edward Bood, Baliners.

"DRIE DR. ATRI: I cannot answer you what complaints I bare cured with your Fitts better than to say all that we ever fread with a purpositive medicine. I place great depend-sures on an effectual cathartic in my daily contest with dis-sate, and believing as I do that your Fitts afford as the best we have, I of course value them highly."

#33 Most of the Pills in market contain Mercary, which, although a valuable remedy in akilful hands, is dargares in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no merca-

Aver's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every onnce of it under his own eys, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from consterfeits, and consequently can be relied on as genuin, without adulteration. It supplies the surest remedy the world has ever known for the curs of all pulmonary complaints; for Couracs, Course, Hourser 26, Astraca, Castr, Windowston Courac, Broncettis, Incuriest Consumeror, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. As time makes these facts wider and letter known, this medicine has gradually become the best religious of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American peasant to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country in every state and city, and indeed almost swerty hambet it contains, Ceramy Promonat is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the thost and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extansively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what men of every station certify it has done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to fit; if we can depend on the assurance of intelligent physicians, whose business is too know; in short, if there is any reliance upon any thing, then is it irrefutably proven that this medicine dose erre the class of diseases it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistiakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have falled, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred consumers on the afflicted they can never forgst, and produced cares too numerous and remarkable to be forgoten.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER, PRACTICAL AND ANALYTICAL CHEMIST, LOWELL, MASS.

BREWER, STEVENS & CUSHING, BROWN & PRICE, Salem;

THEODORE METCALF & CO

H. H. HAY, Portland ; J. N. MORTON & CO., Concord, N. H.;

And by Druggists and Dealers in Medicine every October 9.

IS rapidly rising in favor, and a competent teacher of this art will supply a long-felt want. Miss H. G. GUNDERSON, Teacher to the Mercantile Academy, No. 11 Mercantile Building, Summer street, offers her services in this department to College, Academies, Schools, professional gentlemen, ladiet, and all who wish to acquire a correct style of reading and analysis. and speaking.

Miss G. has permission to refer to the following

ELOCUTION

G. F. THAYER, Esq., late Principal of the Chausey Hall School.

Amos Baken, Esq., Principal of Chapman Hall

Rev. J. W. OLMSTEAD, Editor of the Watchman and Reflector.

Rev. C. F. Barnard, Warren St. Chapel.

Prof. H. B. Hackett, Newton Theological Seminar.

Prof. ALVAN HOVEY,

Rev. O. B. STEABNS, Newton Centre.

Rev. J. NEWYON BROWN, D. D., Philadelphia.

Rev. L. F. BRECHER, D. D., Principal of Saratoga

Female Seminary. Boston, May 1, 1857. HAIR DOCTRESS.

IMPROVEMENT IN CHAMPOOING AND HAIR-DYEING.

MADAM BANNISTER (formerly Medam Carrons and the public, that she has removed to 323 Washington st., and 20 West st.; where will be found her Restorative, the most celebrated in the world, so it prevents hair from turning gray, and produces new in all diseases of the scalp. She stands second to none in Hair-Dyeing and Champooing.

Ladies waited on at their residences, either in or out of town.

out of town.

Hair dressed in the latest style. She can refer to the first people in the cities of Boston, Providesto, Worcester, and elsewhere. Come and try for year

Representative Women. THIS magnificent group includes the Petralis

LUCRETIA MOTT. MARIA WESTON CHAPMAN, ABBY KELLEY FOSTER, LYDIA MARIA CHILD,

HARRIET BEECHER STOWE, LUCY STONE, ANTOINETTE L. BROWN, pies of which will be sent to any part of the United

Copies of which will be sent to any part of the United States by mail, free of postage, and in a safe manner, at the reduced price of one dollar.

A few copies of the above Heads separate from the group can be furmished at 25 cents cach, and in square gilt frames at 75 cents.

An arrangement has been made by which a copy cach of the Heralds and Champions, and of Emissian L. Rose, can accompany the Representative Women at the low price of $4 tor one set.

Agents supplied on the most liberal terms, WM. C. NELL, 21 Cornhill.

WM. C. NELL, 21 Cornhill,

October 23.