

ADDITIONAL LETTERS TO THE RESCUE CELEBRATION.

FROM REV. THEODORE PARKER. WEST NEWTON, Sept. 26, 1852. My Dear Sir:—I thank you for the honor you have done me, by your invitation to join in celebrating the rescue of Jerry from the hands of the Government...

'Tis highest Heaven's command That guilty sinners should paths pursue; That what enmures the heart should purge the hand, And Virtue's worthless foes be false to glory too.

Sir, in a time of trial, your townsmen stood the rack. I think they had some preaching to encourage their faith, from a non-resistant, whose people never hangs fire in the time of battle; who loves men because he loves God, and is a minister of Piety and Humanity, not of Priestcraft.

Ye loud adorers of departed fame Who warm at Scipio's worth, or Tully's name; Ye, that in fancied vision can admire The sword of Brutus, and the Tullian Lyre; Wrapped in historic armor, who adore Each classic haunt and well-remembered shore...

THEODORE PARKER. SAMUEL J. MAY. FROM J. E. SNOGDROSS. BALTIMORE, Sept. 27, 1852. DEAR SIR:—I have returned from a visit to the glorious region of the great Freedom-blessed Northwest, barely in time to answer your kind invitation to attend the 'Jerry Rescue Celebration,' on the first of October.

DEAR SIR:—I have somewhere recognized a writer complaining of the Abolitionists, for 'aiming to accomplish their object at once, through the operation of the highest and holiest principles; which,' said the writer, 'in a wicked and selfish world, and in relation to extensive and hereditary abuses, it was not wise to do.'

and kidnapping, for 'the law must be enforced.' But at that time, there were in Boston five hundred run-slaves in full, baneful and public operation, well known to the authorities of the place, every one of them in direct violation of the law of the land!

And now, if you care to know my humble opinion, as a Southerner, of the Fugitive Slave Law, I tell you that I believe it to be utterly outside and violative of the Federal Constitution in its provisions, and that it therefore imposes no moral obligation on me.

With thanks to yourself, and the committee whom you represent, for the kindly terms of your invitation, and the expectation that your Jubilee will not have been held in vain, as an instrumentality of so much dreaded 'agitation,' I am, my dear sir, faithfully and hopefully, Yours, J. E. SNOGDROSS.

FROM L. A. HINE. CINCINNATI, Sept. 28, 1852. BRO. JEROME:—Yours of the 24th, inviting me to attend the Jerry Rescue Celebration on the 1st of October, was received to-day. Nothing could afford me more gratification than a participation in this noble celebration.

I need give you no assurance of my spiritual presence with you in the celebration of that memorable event. Having just returned from a lecturing tour of some weeks, it is impossible for me to attend. I hope that thousands will be persuaded by your utterances to entirely disregard all laws, whether of the Nation or State, that strike down the liberty of a fallen man.

MISS HOLLEY'S LECTURES. LOWELL, October 17th, 1852. WM. LLOYD GARRISON: DEAR SIR:—I have somewhere recognized a writer complaining of the Abolitionists, for 'aiming to accomplish their object at once, through the operation of the highest and holiest principles; which,' said the writer, 'in a wicked and selfish world, and in relation to extensive and hereditary abuses, it was not wise to do.'

forwarded' by the same mysterious route. At Detroit, where the fugitive slaves are as thick as blackberries, I saw, taking his departure for the terminus of the road, in the possessions of 'monarchical tyranny, a wanderer direct from this State, accompanied by his wife and babe. Yes, from even this State, which has been signalled and honored (?) by being made the very centre of reformatory efforts, marked by darkest deeds of cruelty and bloodshed, as if taken under the special care and keeping of the Government. All these have gone to join Jerry in his rejoicings!

You can scarcely appreciate the social risk Southerners run in the bare utterance of these natural emotions of the heart. Well, be it so, if it must be, 'a little longer.' If a long term in the State Prison should aid to the fugitive, it is, as yet, no statutory crime, in Maryland (thank God!) to say of the poor fugitive, when once on the wing, as I heartily do, Heaven speed his flight, in search of his birthright!

And now, if you care to know my humble opinion, as a Southerner, of the Fugitive Slave Law, I tell you that I believe it to be utterly outside and violative of the Federal Constitution in its provisions, and that it therefore imposes no moral obligation on me.

TAXATION WITHOUT REPRESENTATION.

The following protest, based on the leading principle of 76, and written by a lady extensively and favorably known in this community, will be read with much interest, as among the first practical fruits of the Woman's Rights movement. It will be easy enough to sneer at this letter, but its facts and argument, so clearly and soberly put, will have their effect on candid and thinking men.

TO FREDERIC U. TRACY, Treasurer, and the Assessors and other Authorities of the City of Boston, and the Citizens generally: HARRIET K. HUNT, physician, a native and permanent resident of the city of Boston, and for many years a tax-payer therein, in making payment of her city taxes for the coming year, begs leave to protest against the injustice and inequality of levying taxes upon women, and at the same time refusing them any voice or vote in the imposition and expenditure of the same.

Wherein, your remonstrant would inquire, is the justice, equality or wisdom of this? That the rights and interests of the female part of the community are sometimes forgotten or disregarded, in consequence of their deprivation of political rights, is strikingly evinced, as appears to your remonstrant, in the organization and administration of the city public schools. Though there are open, in this State and neighborhood, a great multitude of colleges and professional schools, for the education of boys and young men, yet the city has very properly provided two High Schools of its own, one Latin the other English, at which the male graduates of the Grammar schools may pursue their education still further, at the public expense.

Reserving a more full exposition of the subject to future occasions, your remonstrant, in paying her tax for the current year, begs leave to protest against the injustice and inequalities above pointed out. This is respectfully submitted, HARRIET K. HUNT. 32 Green st., Boston, Oct. 18, 1852.

ALMANACS FOR 1853. We have received from the publishers, Jenks, Hickling & Swan, Boston, 'The (Old) Farmer's Almanac, by Robert B. Thomas,' and, from Edward Livermore, 5 Cornhill, Boston, 'Leavitt's Farmer's Almanac,' and Miscellaneous Year Book.' These works are old and familiar acquaintances to the people of New England, and require no eulogiums from us. They are filled with valuable and instructive matter, and will doubtless find their way to every farmer's home.

MICHIGAN. A State Anti-Slavery Convention was to have been held at ADRIAN, in Michigan, on Saturday and Sunday last. The call was signed by men of the first intelligence and worth. James W. Walker, of Ohio, Parker Pillsbury, of New Hampshire, and others, were to be present.

NOTE. The letter of N. B. H. was received; but want of room forbids an answer, this week. In brief, we think your young friends need not desist from their labor of love; our reasons for which opinion we may give more fully, next week. M.

THE NEW AMERICAN AMBASSADOR. A trusty correspondent at Washington has sent us an excellent copy of the instructions of the American Cabinet to Mr. Ingersoll, who comes over to supersede Mr. Abbott Lawrence in his duty of U. S. Ambassador at St. James'. It will be seen that they relate more to the personal conduct of the future Ambassador than to any line of policy between the two countries. They are as follows: 1. You are, on all occasions, to remember that you represent the simplicity of the republican principle. You will, therefore, as seldom as may be, consider yourself the Duke of Washington—the Marquis of Niagara or the Earl of Mississippi. Because it is your duty to respect the equality of men, you are not, therefore, to forget that the American President wears nothing but a hat, (night-caps going for nothing.)

2. You will be courteous and accessible, on all occasions, to your fellow-citizens of the Union—never permitting the least shadow of a monarchy, and, more especially, the intaking and detestable atmosphere of Almacks, of Stonehenge House, Norman-blood Palace, and such high places, to make you forgetful of the equality of all the children of Jonathan, (niggers being cast.)

3. You will, in the fulfillment of your official duties, have to swallow many public dinners, whereas you will be called upon to speak. Always hold out the right hand of fellowship, but keep your back straight. When invited to the high festivals of the Titleholders' Company, you may—or rather must—use a little soft sawdier about the fish business, so amicably settled (with a hook and line.)

4. You will have to propose toasts. Therefore, do not give the immortal memory of King John, because you may see at the board a Jew sheriff whose ancestor had his teeth pulled out by the orders of his appointed Majesty—the King drawing on the Jew's jaw instead of his bank. Finally, you will not spit upon the memory (by the way, you must not spit in company anywhere in England) of Wat Tyler, as a rebel to his lawful King, seeing he once rose against good King George, the father of his people, (Jonathan giving his old father such a tartation licking.)

THE NEW SAFETY LAMP.

What Sir Humphrey Davy's great discovery was to the miners of Great Britain, Mr. John Newell's improved fluid lamp and gas, are to the great mass of housekeepers and traders of our community. Where before were danger, fear and devastation, are now safety, reliance, and security. We speak from experience, from the method used of this lamp, and from having seen every method tried to secure an explosion, both in the lamp and can, without the least success—experiments that made us thrill in every nerve from apprehension of the most serious results—when we say, as we distinctly stated for all the most timid could desire in fluid or camphene apparatus, that we had effected security, in the lamp. We freely use these lamps in our family, and while we handle them with all the confidence of security that we do oil-lamps, it is also with much greater satisfaction from their superior neatness, brilliancy of light, and economy of combustion. We deem it, therefore, for the general welfare of the community, that this superior invention should come as rapidly and as universally into use as possible.

Mr. Newell gives the following description of his improvements: 'In both these lamps and cans, the safety arrangements—which can be attached to common lamps—consist in the principle of the heavy lamp, and the modification in the burning of the gas, which, in common lamps, and highly volatile liquids, is in accordance with the present state of science. The distinctive points in the construction are: 1st, the prevention of inflammation of the fluids, by double diaphragms of wire gauze. By this application, a double protection is ensured, inasmuch as the flame may be extinguished on the one side, and the parts screwed together with impunity. 2d, By the isolation of the wick from the fluid, in a case of wire gauze, these lamps may be filled while burning, from a safety-can, without risk. 3d, The use of wire gauze to prevent the conducting of heat to the escape of air, which, in common lamps, forms by fluid coming in contact with their heated surfaces, and bursts them. 4th, Ample provision for the escape of air, which, in common lamps, forms by fluid coming in contact with their heated surfaces, and bursts them. 5th, The compactness and excellent workmanship of the protecting parts, which allows of their application to solar lamps, or indeed lamps of any form.

These lamps are now in daily use by thousands of persons, and have been subjected to every variety of trial which scientific men have suggested. One uniform result—a complete demonstration of their entire safety—has attended these trials. While this is so, it is surely not otherwise than for the interest of the whole community that their merits should be widely known. We are happy in knowing that extensive facilities for the manufacture of these lamps and cans have been secured, so as to bring the prices within a moderate limit. The extensive warehouse of Messrs. Newell, Caldwell & Coffin, 8 Winter street, should be visited by all interested.

American Emigrants to Santo Domingo.—By the arrival of the barque Chase, at New York, dates from Turkey Island to Sept. 8th have been received. The Royal Gazette announces the arrival at the city of Santo Domingo, from the United States, on the 22d August, of Colonels Ferguson and Pickett, 'to enter into preliminary arrangements for the introduction into Santo Domingo of 4,000 or 5,000 American immigrants.' Who these 'American immigrants' can be, is more than we can tell. The presumption is, that any emigration to Santo Domingo, from the country must be of colored persons; but no such extensive movement of colored population, in that direction, has come to our knowledge.

'Dying Out'—It looks very much like it, indeed. We have in this few days been acquainted with the establishment of six or eight new Halls and Julian parties in various parts of the country. Let us count them up. There are—The Free Democrat, at Syracuse, N. Y. The Laborer, at Gouverneur, N. Y. The Rockingham Messenger, at Portsmouth, N. H. The True Democrat, at Cooperstown, N. Y. The Harpoon, at Cleveland, Ohio. The Telegraph, at Oneida, N. Y. The True Democrat, (German,) at Waukehs, Wis.

A Woman Killed.—Hannah Shair fell between the platform and the cars, at the Providence depot, on Saturday afternoon, as the five o'clock train for New York was starting. She was struck severely, and died of her injuries soon after, at the hospital.

Boston.—The water debts of the city of Boston is almost five millions of dollars. The other funded debt of the city is less than two millions. The last valuation of the estates of the citizens of Boston, by the authorities of the State, was $213,310,067.

The preparations for the departure of the fleet for Japan are going on rapidly, and the line-of-ship Vermont, a sloop-of-war, and the razez Macedonian, have been added to the number of vessels already fitted out. The place of rendezvous for the expedition is Annapolis.

Another Visit to Europe.—The friends and former parishioners of Rev. James Freeman Clarke held an agreeable reunion, on last Monday evening, the occasion being the speedy departure of Mr. Clarke to Europe.

The Clay Medal.—A man has recently been arrested in the Kingdom of Hanover, having in his possession $2000 in American coin, a large quantity of valuable jewelry, and a large gold medal, which is believed to be the very 'Clay Medal' that mysteriously disappeared from New York, some little time since.—The man is an old convict in Hanover, and had recently arrived from America, where he had been for some time.

LECTURES.

The Ninth Course of Lectures before the Salem Female Anti-Slavery Society, comprising eight in number, will be delivered upon successive Sunday Evenings, at Lyceum Hall, at 7 o'clock. Nov. 7th.—Rev. F. P. Appleton, of Danvers. 14th.—Wendell Phillips, of Boston. 21st.—Wm. Lloyd Garrison, of Boston.

OLD COLONY A. S. SOCIETY. A quarterly meeting of this Society will be held in the Universalist Church, in Hanson, on Sunday, Oct. 31st, 1852, at the usual hours of religious worship. In view of the approaching National and State elections, we trust our abolition friends throughout the County will so arrange matters as to be present in goodly numbers, in order that our duties in relation thereto may be duly and thoroughly considered. Daniel Foster and other speakers will attend. BOURNE SPOONER, President. H. H. BRIGHAM, Secretary.

TO LYCEUM COMMITTEES. Prof. W. S. Brewster, Author of 'Chemistry for Beginners,' &c., is now ready to enter into engagements with Lyceum Committees and others, to deliver Lectures on 'Chemistry and Physiology.' His stock of Chemical Apparatus is large, and specially adapted for illustrating Popular Lectures. Prof. B. would direct particular attention to his new lecture, prepared for the approaching season, entitled 'Poetry and Magic of Science.' Address W. S. Brewster, Blackstone, Mass.

NOTICE. Letters for the undersigned should be sent to him at 21 Cornhill, Boston. SAMUEL MAY, Jr. LEWIS W. PAINE. Who was imprisoned in Georgia for aid given to a slave, will give a narrative of his life in that State, in the places named below. Friends of the cause in these places are requested to make arrangements for these meetings. Mr. Paine is about publishing a second edition of his work entitled 'Six Years in a Georgia Prison.' It is a work of interest and value, and we doubt not he will find a ready sale for it.

LEWIS HAYDEN, FASHIONABLE CLOTHING STORE, NO. 121 CAMBRIDGE STREET—BOSTON. A variety of Coats, Pants, Vests, Shirts, Boots, Collars, Cravats, Carpet Bags, Trunks, and Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods in general;—a good assortment of fashionable Hats and Caps, &c. &c., selling at the lowest rates. August 27.

WE would again recommend our worthy and enterprising colored fellow-citizen, Mr. Hayden and his establishment, to the patronage of the public in general, and to that of the friends of the colored race in particular. His position is one of great usefulness and importance in this city, and for very many weighty reasons he is deserving of all the encouragement that can be extended to him. Those who buy of him will not fail to get their goods on the most reasonable terms, while, at the same time, they will help to sustain one who is sedulously endeavoring to prove that an emancipated slave can 'take care of himself,' and be a valuable member of the community.—Ed. PATENT ZOLLIAN PIANO FORTES. THESE instruments, with the improvements made by the subscribers, especially in their construction, and voicing of the ZOLLIAN, renders them capable of the softest tones of an American Harp, and of being increased in power, and suited for any parlor use, and when combined with the ZOLLIAN Forte, as the performer can do at pleasure, can be made to imitate the sweet tones of the Flute or Clarinetto, Horn or Bassoon, with one hand and with the other the Piano Forte accompaniment, thus combining orchestral effects, by the same performer at the same time. Piano Fortes with, or without the attachment, will be selected by ourselves when desired, and sent to any part of the country, and warranted to give satisfaction, or the money refunded. The patent is owned by ourselves exclusively, for the State of Massachusetts, and no other person or persons in Massachusetts have the right to manufacture these instruments. And, as many of the Piano Forte makers and others in their interests have said the ZOLLIAN attachment injured the Piano Forte, and will not keep in tune with it, we hereby notify all persons, that in future we shall apply the attachment to our own instruments made expressly for the attachment, and no others. These can with confidence warrant to stand; several of which we have known to remain in tune one year and over without tuning; and but very few of the attachments, even those applied over five years since, have been tuned at all. We have applied upwards of 1100 of these attachments, and will give the names of the purchasers to those who desire information, in almost every section of the country. T. GILBERT & CO. No. 400 Washington St., Boston.

GREAT CURE! OF MAHALA ROBBINS' SCROFULOUS HUMOR OF THE EYES AND HEAD, BY DR. PORTER'S ANTI-SCROFULOUS PANACEA. DR. PORTER.—Dear Sir:—I feel in duty bound to tender you my grateful acknowledgements for the benefit I have received from the use of your Panacea. I have been afflicted for sixteen years with a scrofulous humor, principally affecting my eyes and head. My eyes were much inflamed, and very painful. I thought sometimes I should lose my sight. The humor affected my head so much that my hair came nearly off. All who saw me knew that my condition was a bad one. I despaired of ever getting better. I tried all kinds of medicine, had the advice of the best physicians, but all without any relief. My own physician finally advised me to try your Panacea. He gave me a bottle; I grew better; to my astonishment; I tried another bottle, and found great help. My hair began to grow, and is now fully restored. I have taken twelve bottles, and am entirely cured of my humor. I can recommend it to the public as a valuable medicine. I advise your Panacea for scrofulous humors every other Panacea. MAHALA ROBBINS. Brewster, Mass., April 2, 1852.
