

VOICES OF THE UPF II

James Vella

I think one of the biggest problems with the UPF is that the public figures and leaders all come off sounding abit stupid and dramatic !

Islam is filthy and has no place in Australia but Muslims only live in the big smoke , country QLD is where the spirt of Australia is found and is still alive strong , along with the rest of country Australia . Don't wanna live with towel heads move to the bush !!! Simple ..... Who the fuck would wanna live in. Sydney or Melbourne ! Hahaha

Well it had its peak, this is now dead, they will all hate each other and nothing will get done, bye UPF it was awesome whilst it lasted, unfortunately it seems egos go to the leaders.

Of course you were fucking fleeced! I mean lets look at it in detail. Sherman announces on video that he has lost so much to the movement. Lost his job, nearly lost his pretty new car, kid needs glasses. A definite call for sympathy. I especially liked the bit about the kids glasses, pull at all the mum and dad supporters heart strings. Says he is leaving the movement because its too much of a financial hardship. Next minute there is a fundraiser and I bet nearly everyone who donated, did so thinking of the poor kid and her need for glasses. Now lets just look at the glasses for a minute. If the mother is a sole parent (and I'm assuming she is), she will be on a sole parent payment that will include a health care card that WILL provide free or very nearly free prescription spectacles. How are we feeling now? The car? well for fuck's sake, if you have financial commitments get another fucking job. I have to say I don't think much of any of the leaders of this movement, but he is right. Get off your lazy ass and get a job. Or sell the fucking car. If he sold the damn car he would probably find himself no longer in financial difficulties (if he even is to begin with). Cause lets face it, doesn't he live with his mum? minimal rent, minimal bills, minimal expenses. I call bullshit on Sherman and yes, everyone who donated was fleeced.
