PREMIERSHIP 2024

THE AFL FIXTURE GUIDING PRINCIPLES

The AFL has sought to develop a consistent and equitable schedule of matches which connects with the community, assists in growing the game and continues to build the financial stability of the AFL competition.

IN ORDER TO ACHIEVE THIS, OUR GUIDING PRINCIPLES ARE:

1

To develop, as close as is possible, a fixture which gives all clubs equal opportunities.

2

To maximise attendances at AFL matches in all markets, ensuring the best possible accessibility for fans.

3

To maximise audiences across our television, digital and radio broadcast partners, ensuring national exposure for the game.

4

To take into account the specific requests of AFL clubs, players and other key competition stakeholders, particularly venues and broadcasters.

5

To continue developing the game nationally by scheduling matches across all states and territories throughout the season.

6

To ensure the welfare of players by providing a maximum of three five-day breaks, but otherwise minimum six-day breaks between matches for regularly scheduled rounds.

THE 'WEIGHTED RULE' - DOUBLE MATCH-UPS

	TOP 6	MIDDLE	BOTTOM 6
TOP 6	TOP 6 v TOP 6 Minimum 2 return meetings Maximum 3 return meetings	MIDDLE 6 v TOP 6 Minimum 1 return meeting Maximum 2 return meetings	BOTTOM 6 v TOP 6 Minimum 1 return meeting Maximum 2 return meetings
MIDDLE	TOP 6 v MIDDLE 6 Minimum 1 return meeting Maximum 2 return meetings	MIDDLE 6 v MIDDLE 6 Minimum 2 return meetings Maximum 3 return meetings	BOTTOM 6 v MIDDLE 6 Minimum 1 return meeting Maximum 2 return meetings
BOTTOM 6	TOP 6 v BOTTOM 6 Minimum 1 return meeting Maximum 2 return meetings	MIDDLE 6 v BOTTOM 6 Minimum 1 return meeting Maximum 2 return meetings	BOTTOM 6 v BOTTOM 6 Minimum 2 return meetings Maximum 3 return meetings

With the expansion to 24-rounds for the 2023 Toyota AFL Premiership Season, an adjustment was made to the 'Weighted Rule' to accommodate for a sixth double match-up. Top Six v Bottom Six matches now have a maximum of two return matches. Bottom Six v Top Six now have a maximum of two return matches.

FIXTURE PROCESS

The key factors in determining the 2024 Toyota AFL Premiership Season Fixture include:

SEASON STRUCTURE

In 2024, the AFL's standard fixture timeslots for the home and away season will consist of the below, with matches broadcast by our partners the Seven Network, Foxtel and Kayo.

BROADCASTERS

Thursday	Seven	Foxtel	Kayo
Friday	Seven	Foxtel	Kayo
Saturday Early		Foxtel	Kayo
Saturday Afternoon		Foxtel	Kayo
Saturday Twilight		Foxtel	Kayo
Saturday Night	Seven	Foxtel	Kayo
Saturday Night		Foxtel	Kayo
Sunday Night		Foxtel	Kayo
Sunday Afternoon	Seven	Foxtel	Kayo
Sunday Twilight		Foxtel	Kayo

This spread of matches facilitates the widest possible coverage of the game via the outstanding support of our broadcast partners and works to provide fans with alternatives to attend and watch games, taking into account competing demands for supporters' time, such as work, home, junior and community-level sport and other forms of recreation and entertainment.

ON-FIELD EQUITY

On-field equity is a key component of the AFL's philosophy. As such, providing all clubs with the opportunity to be successful and contest the Toyota AFL Finals Series is a crucial element of the AFL fixture.

Given the AFL competition comprises a 25-week season involving 18 clubs playing 23 matches, it is not possible to achieve complete equity with all teams playing each opponent both home and away.

To best manage on-field equity for all clubs under the current competition model, the 2024 fixture has again been constructed around the 'weighted rule', whereby the final ladder from the previous season is grouped into the top six teams, middle six teams and bottom six teams, with double match-ups for all clubs managed as follows:

- TOP SIX: Clubs ranked 1-6 on the 2023 ladder will have a minimum of two and maximum of three return meetings with other top six clubs. They will have a minimum of one and maximum of two return meetings with clubs ranked 7-12. They will have a minimum of one and a maximum of two return meetings with clubs ranked 13-18.
 - MIDDLE SIX: Clubs ranked 7-12 on the 2023 ladder will have a minimum of one and maximum of two return meetings with clubs ranked 1-6 on the ladder. They will have a minimum of two and maximum of three return meetings with other middle six clubs. They will have a minimum of one and maximum of two return meetings with clubs ranked 13-18.
 - BOTTOM SIX: Clubs ranked 13-18 on the 2023 ladder will have a minimum of one and a maximum of two return meetings with clubs ranked 1-6. They will have a minimum of one or a maximum of two return meetings with clubs ranked 7-12. They will have a minimum of two and a maximum of three return meetings with other bottom six clubs.
- While this process cannot take into account form fluctuations between seasons, and a significant performance increase or decrease by any club may impact the fixture for others, the results of the application of the weighted rule to previous season's fixtures demonstrated a relative parity of double match-ups for all sides in the competition.

PUBLIC HOLIDAYS

Easter coincides with Round Three of the 2024 season, which will kick off on Easter Thursday with the Brisbane Lions hosting Collingwood at the Gabba. AFL football will then be played on Good Friday for the seventh time, with North Melbourne hosting Carlton in a twilight encounter at Marvel Stadium, before Fremantle host the Adelaide Crows that evening at Optus Stadium in Perth. Hawthorn and Geelong Cats will then clash in the traditional Easter Monday holiday match to close out the Easter weekend.

The ANZAC Round will be held in Round 7. The round commences with Richmond hosting Melbourne on ANZAC Day Eve before Essendon host Collingwood at the MCG in the annual ANZAC Day match, with the GWS GIANTS then hosting the Brisbane Lions at Manuka Oval that evening.

Port Adelaide host St Kilda in their annual ANZAC match commemorating Peter Badcoe VC on the Friday night at Adelaide Oval, with Fremantle playing the Western Bulldogs in their annual Len Hall Tribute game on the Saturday night.

Collingwood will host Melbourne in the King's Birthday Monday holiday match to be played at the MCG in Round 13, with Essendon playing Carlton the night prior in the King's Birthday Eve match.

PLAYER WELFARE AND TRAVEL LOAD

The AFL competition is extremely demanding on its players. From the start of the pre-season, through to the 2024 Toyota AFL Grand Final on September 28, 2024, teams will play week in, week out across the nation. Therefore, player welfare and travel loads are primary considerations in the preparation of the fixture each year.

In 2024 Clubs may receive a maximum of three five-day breaks between matches but are otherwise ensured a minimum six-day break between matches in regularly scheduled rounds.

A five-day break may be used under the following parameters (excl. ANZAC Round):

1. A maximum of three five-day breaks per Club (inclusive of matches scheduled around public holidays e.g. ANZAC Day / Eve)
2. A minimum six-day break on either side of a five-day break (i.e. minimum 6-5-7 or 7-5-6)

3. A maximum six-day break for the opposition team
4. The provision of two consecutive days off for all players over the week following a five-day break (or other time in that week where agreed by player and Club)
5. In relation to travel:
 - a. No five-day break as part of a double travel
 - b. No five-day break travelling out of Perth
 - c. Travel into a five-day break subject to players having a minimum five nights in their home city (where a team has travelled the week before)
 - d. Travel acceptable out of a five-day break (noting this would be into a minimum seven-day break)
 - e. The AFL also determines that as the clubs with the heaviest travel load in the competition, the West Coast Eagles and Fremantle, will always alternate home and away matches so that they do not travel in consecutive weeks at any stage. In doing this, all other clubs will have to travel at least once to Western Australia, to play either the West Coast Eagles or Fremantle. No other team in the competition travels interstate more than two weeks in a row and where possible, any successive travels are accommodated with a trip to the closest state (for instance, Sydney to Victoria or Queensland).

In 2024, the AFL has again elected to schedule a second bye round at the conclusion of the home and away season. This week's break gives the top eight clubs extra time to prepare for the 2024 Toyota AFL Finals Series.

CLUB REQUESTS

Our clubs make annual submissions relating to the fixture, typically centred on travel, commercial, venue, event and membership-driven requests. The AFL endeavours to accommodate as many of these as possible, on the basis that they help promote the game and maximise attendances and television audiences.

ATTENDANCES

Maximising attendances is a key objective of scheduling and the AFL, thanks to the outstanding work of our clubs and players and with the passionate support of our members and fans, saw a record 7,475,146 fans attended the 2023 Toyota AFL Premiership Season. The AFL has also scheduled showpiece Thursday and Friday night matches in Sydney, Brisbane, Melbourne, Adelaide, Perth, Canberra, Geelong and Darwin, giving as many supporters as possible across Australia the opportunity to take part in the blockbuster match-day experience.

BROADCAST AGREEMENTS

Providing comprehensive coverage of AFL matches on television is a fundamental component of the fixture process, as is ensuring that matches are scheduled in accordance with the AFL's contractual obligations to our broadcast partners in the Seven Network, Foxtel and Kayo.

Some of the factors that must be taken into account from a broadcast perspective include:

- Where possible, the best match in each round to be scheduled on Friday night.
- Matches scheduled in timeslots that enable television coverage of all matches across each round, on the Seven Network and/or Foxtel.
- Fremantle/West Coast Eagles, Brisbane Lions/ Gold Coast SUNS, GWS GIANTS/Sydney Swans and Adelaide Crows/Port Adelaide cannot be scheduled to play in the same or overlapping timeslots, so that matches featuring local sides may be broadcast in full on free-to-air television in the relevant states (regardless of whether the match is produced by the Seven Network or Foxtel).

GAME PROMOTION AND DEVELOPMENT

In line with the AFL's strategic imperatives, matches have again been scheduled in all states and territories of Australia.

The matches to be played include:

- Tasmania - Hawthorn will play four home matches at Launceston's University of Tasmania Stadium, while North Melbourne will host four matches at Blundstone Arena in Hobart.
- Ballarat - The Western Bulldogs will host two matches for premiership points in Ballarat.
- Northern Territory - The Gold Coast SUNS will host two matches at TIO Stadium, while Melbourne will host one match at TIO Traeger Park.
- Australian Capital Territory - The GWS GIANTS will play three home matches at Manuka Oval.
- South Australia - all Round 4 matches to be played in South Australia across three venues - Adelaide Oval, Norwood Oval and, Adelaide Hills - Mt Barker

VENUE AGREEMENTS

The AFL has various venue obligations which must be fulfilled each year, while many of its clubs also have contractual obligations to play minimum numbers of matches at certain venues around Australia. All of these obligations must be taken into consideration when planning each round of matches, ensuring an even spread across the country throughout the season wherever possible, to best accommodate player welfare, club travel loads, broadcast programming, attendances and promotion of the game.
