I started knowing New Forests Project many years ago through my brother. Initially the seeds were difficult to raise, but with time they could germinate and spread on our compound. The ~~plants~~ trees have been very useful for soil conservation, soil fertility, wind break, feed for livestock etc. These had taken place before existence of my organisation, Tropical Research & Conservation Centre. The continuity and management of the project, planting of more ~~seed~~ trees, community education is now under Tropical Research & Conservation Centre.

We promise to do our best to help conserve our environmental/natural resources as we have good collaboration with New Forest Project.

Thank you

IKPANKA W. KRANTIA

Q 21. REMARKS:

First, I congratulate you for this vital Program in our present time - which contributes to "Making the Earth green".

My comments are that;

- In your program, include as much fast growing or short term species as you can, as these will help to some extent - resolve the problem of fuelwood shortage in different communities, since synthetic oils (fuels) are expensive likewise is the Electricity, as the result forests are threatened as they remain as an alternative-energy source.

- In progression of your Program, I suggest that you review the quantities of seeds' packages you dispatch to your partners, such that they can reflect the importance of the reforestation campaigns, I mean you have to consider to increase the size of the seeds' packages.

- Finally whenever and wherever possible, supply periodically your Partners with Educational materials (documents) to enhance their reforestation activities by adding some technique to them.

QUESTIONS:

- Are you having your Local Agents Worldwide?
- Arent there any plans to introduce them so as to decentralize your services hence maximize your support?
