

2014 Phantom European Challenge

Alaçati is an idyllic village situated on the west coast of Turkey, only 40 minutes drive from Izmir's International Airport. Known primarily for its stunning natural stone villas and small winding café-filled streets, Alaçati has also made its name as a true windsurfing paradise, with its crystal clear water and constant reliable winds for an average of 300 days a year.

Every year between 8.000 and 10.000 professional and amateur windsurfers from all over the World flock to the turquoise waters of Alaçati bay to either participate in a variety of internationally recognized competitions, practicing or just cruising around enjoying the best conditions the planet has to offer.
