

Final consultation – have your say

DOGGER BANK TEESSIDE A & B

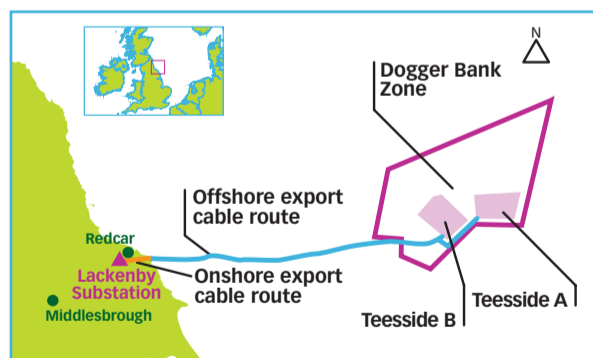

Supported by publication of Statement of Community Consultation in accordance with Section 47 (6)(b) of the Planning Act 2008

Dogger Bank Teesside A & B

Forewind is a consortium comprising four leading international energy companies which joined forces to successfully bid for the right to develop the Dogger Bank Offshore Wind Farm Zone as part of The Crown Estate's third round of UK offshore wind farm leasing (Round 3). The Dogger Bank Zone is in the North Sea, located between 125 and 290 kilometres (77 and 180 miles) off the UK coast. Due to its size it will be developed in stages, with Dogger Bank Teesside A & B the second stage of development within the zone.

Dogger Bank Teesside A & B is a proposed offshore wind development comprising two offshore wind farms, each with a maximum generating capacity of up to 1.2 gigawatts (GW). In total it has the potential to generate around 8 terawatt hours (TWh) of green power every year, which is equivalent to the electricity used annually by approximately 1.8 million British homes.

The development will connect via underground cables into the national grid at the existing Lackenby substation near Euston, in Redcar and Cleveland.

Final pre-application consultation 4 November to 20 December 2013

Publication of Dogger Bank Teesside A & B Statement of Community Consultation

This also serves as notice that Forewind has published a Statement of Community Consultation (SoCC) for Dogger Bank Teesside A & B, in accordance with Section 47 (6)(b) of the Planning Act 2008.

The SoCC describes how Forewind proposes to consult the local community about the proposals for Dogger Bank Teesside A & B.

This SoCC is an update to the one Forewind published in May 2012 for Dogger Bank Teesside. As Dogger Bank Teesside has now been split into two separate development consent order applications ("Dogger Bank Teesside A & B" and "Dogger Bank Teesside C & D") Forewind has produced a SoCC explicitly for the Dogger Bank Teesside A & B application. A separate SoCC will be published for Dogger Bank Teesside C & D at a later date.

The Dogger Bank Teesside A & B SoCC can be viewed from today until at least 20 December 2013 on the Forewind website www.forewind.co.uk and in hard copy at all of the libraries listed above, Kirkleatham Museum and the Wilton Centre. Copies will also be available at the public exhibitions detailed above.
