Tall Ship Maybe

Maybe has a rather famous history, built in 1929 for Jan Jacob Van Rietschoten, father of The Flying Dutchman, Cornelis 'Conny' Van Rietschoten, the only skipper to win the Whitbread Round the World Race twice. In the hands of the Rietschoten family, Tall Ship Maybe spent many years sailing around the world. Jan Jacob Van Rietschoten wanted a strong sea worthy vessel, so had Maybe built with extra strength by using steel frames, a hardwood hull and teak decking.

Interesting Fact

Maybe took part in the first ever Tall Ships Races in 1956. She is one of the few vessels who took part in the first race who is still participating in the races today.

Life on board Tall Ship Maybe

Tall Ship Maybe has the capacity for up to 18 crew members on each sailing voyage, which includes 2-4 permanent crew and 14 places for trainee crew members or 12 passengers.

She has extensive comfortable accommodation below deck including five newly refurbished cabins, all with own wash hand basin, single bunk beds and electric 3-pin plug socket.

There is a large saloon/galley area fitted with all modern conveniences including TV, DVD Player, fully fitted kitchen with microwave, fridge, freezer, cooker, hob and slow cooker.

For the comfort of the crew, central heating has been installed to make even winter sailing a pleasure.

All trainee crew are provided with a life jacket and waterproof coat and trousers when they arrive.

Whitby - Blyth. 27th March - 1st April
Blyth - Hull. 2nd April - 7th April

Whitby - Blyth

Highlights: Holy Island, Farne Islands, Whitby

Join Tall Ship Maybe in Whitby and we head North to Amble, visiting Coquet Island, an RSPB managed nature reserve. We then continue our journey North to The Farne Islands, the most famous bird sanctuary in the UK. Our final stop is Holy Island of Lindisfarne, a delightful, unspoiled historic island just off the extreme Northeast corner of England near Berwick-upon-Tweed. Lindisfarne is famous for its medieval religious heritage and also its more recent picturesque 16th century castle. Wander the island, sample the Lindisfarne Mead or Pilgrims Coffee. We then return south to the Port of Blyth, Host Port for the 2016 International Tall Ships Regatta.
